IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list or manifest of passengers of alien members of the crews (Form I–418) shall not be returned on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate address is a "worksheet," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of alternate American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a complete list of all the persons on board of such vessel, whether they are passengers or members of the crew, and full information concerning each person before any of them shall be allowed to land in the United States from any foreign port or place; and such officer shall have the right to go on board any vessel at any time before the departure of the vessel from the port for the purpose of examining the list of passengers and crew and inspecting the same and to question any person whose name is contained therein touching his right to enter the United States. Any person willfully failing to comply with the requirements of this section or any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who refuses to permit any such immigration officer to go on board such vessel for the purpose aforesaid, or who refuses to deliver a list containing the names of all passengers and crew, or who willfully makes a false statement in any such list concerning the right of any person to enter the United States, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any person willfully failing to deliver to any such immigration officer at the time of the arrival of the vessel at the port where the inspection is made the list required by this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner who refuses to deliver to the principal immigration officer at the time of the arrival of the vessel at the port where the inspection is made the list required by this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner who wrongfully brings to the United States any alien who has been refused a visa to his passport by the consular officer, or who brings to the United States any alien who is afflicted with any of the mental or physical defects or diseases which would be the cause of the exclusion of such alien from the United States, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner who refuses to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival the certificate of the medical examination of each alien required by section 16 of this Act, or who refuses to detain on board any alien who has been certified by the medical officers as suffering from any disease or mental or physical defect or disability which would be the cause of the exclusion of such alien from the United States, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner who refuses to detain on board any alien who has been certified by the medical officers as a probable public charge, or who refuses to detain such alien on board pending the final decision in his case, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner who refuses to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival the certificate of the medical examination of each alien required by section 16 of this Act, or who refuses to detain on board any alien who has been certified by the medical officers as suffering from any disease or mental or physical defect or disability which would be the cause of the exclusion of such alien from the United States, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner who refuses to detain on board any alien who has been certified by the medical officers as a probable public charge, or who refuses to detain such alien on board pending the final decision in his case, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner who refuses to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival the certificate of the physical examination of each alien required by section 16 of this Act, or who refuses to detain on board any alien who has been certified by the medical officers as suffering from any disease or mental or physical defect or disability which would be the cause of the exclusion of such alien from the United States, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner who refuses to detain on board any alien who has been certified by the medical officers as a probable public charge, or who refuses to detain such alien on board pending the final decision in his case, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner who refuses to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival the certificate of the physical examination of each alien required by section 16 of this Act, or who refuses to detain on board any alien who has been certified by the medical officers as suffering from any disease or mental or physical defect or disability which would be the cause of the exclusion of such alien from the United States, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner who refuses to detain on board any alien who has been certified by the medical officers as a probable public charge, or who refuses to detain such alien on board pending the final decision in his case, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws but employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of sickness or injury certified by the medical officer in charge of the port of arrival, or for the purpose of obtaining surgical treatment as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 168.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to detain on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), or who fails to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or shall be ascertained by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to detain or deport after treatment by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived will cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General. (43 Stat. 164–165, 58 Stat. 818; 8 U. S. C. 168 (a), 168 (c).)

SEC. 10. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, including transportation in the coastwise trade, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily to visit a hospital for medical treatment, or hospital to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the alternate deposits, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, removal, or hospital to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the alternate deposits, removal, or return from any place outside thereof, or hospital to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the alternate deposits, removal, or return of any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), or has in lieu thereof accepted a certificate from a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service or a duly authorized surgeon of the port in which the vessel is located that the alien seaman is free from any contagious disease, and has delivered to such seaman a certificate to that effect, and has collected the head tax from the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel, as provided in section 2 of this Act. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, in such cases and upon such terms and conditions as he may prescribe, issue a permit to any alien seaman to go on board his vessel prior to the examination of such seaman by the medical officers of the United States Public Health Service, and may, in his discretion, waive the examination of any such seaman who has been certified by such medical officers at a foreign port. Upon the departure of the vessel from the last port in the United States the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel shall deliver to the immigration officer in charge at the port a list or manifest of all alien seamen employed on board, which list or manifest shall show the name, age, sex, nationality, last permanent residence, calling, port in which each such alien seaman was shipped, and such additional information relative to each such alien seaman as the Attorney General may prescribe. Such list or manifest shall be verified by the master and by the chief medical officer of the vessel, or, if there be no such medical officer, by the master alone, in such form and manner as the Attorney General may prescribe. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer who shall refuse or fail to deliver such list or manifest, or who shall refuse or fail to detain any alien seaman specified therein, when ordered so to do by the immigration officer in charge of the port, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all vessels arriving subsequent to June 2, 1940.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart from the United States in the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or who has been reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to depart after treatment by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman or may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, his duty may be performed by any other vessel which is owned by the same interests and which is scheduled to depart from the United States to the country to which such alien seaman is deported, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid to its payment satisfactory to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The oil described below shall be treated as alien owned unless approved by the Department and be taught for delivery to the immigration inspector pending the receipt of the report of crewmen (Form I-418) shall not be construed as a permit to land, but shall be retained on board the vessel. The act of Congress of February 5, 1917, makes it unlawful for any alien seaman, including members of the crew, to enter the United States unless in possession of a valid passport and visa, if required by the President. In order to facilitate inspection by immigration officers, masters are requested to have all aliens employed on such vessels assemble in the forward part of the vessel, and shall be ready to land at the time of arrival at the port. Masters are also requested to have ready for inspection by immigration officers at the time of arrival at the port of entry the following information concerning each alien employed on such vessels: Name and address in full of each alien; nationality; last permanent residence; calling or occupation; whether seeking admission to the United States as a quota immigrant or nonquota immigrant; whether in possession of an immigration visa, if required, and if so, where issued; whether in possession of a valid passport, if required, and if so, where issued; whether ever in the United States, and if so, when and where; whether ever deported or excluded from admission to the United States, and if so, when and where; whether ever arrested or convicted, and if so, when and where; whether coming to the United States at the expense of himself or others, and if others, their name and address; whether going to join a relative or friend, and if so, what relative or friend, name and address; whether ever connected with the business or institution of any character in the United States, and if so, what connection; whether going to any place in the United States in pursuance of a prearranged plan, and if so, where; whether having a ticket through to his ultimate destination, and if so, where such ticket was issued; whether having been in prison or almshouse or institution for the care of the insane or supported by charity, and if so, which; whether a polygamist; whether coming to the United States to perform labor, and if so, what kind of labor, for how long a time, and at what compensation per day, week, month, or year; whether having a contract, oral or written, to perform labor in the United States, and if so, with whom such contract exists; whether having been deported from the United States, and if so, when and where; whether having been refused a visa by a consular officer, and if so, when and where; whether having been refused admission to the United States by an immigration officer, and if so, when and where; whether having been refused admission to the United States and subsequently allowed to enter upon appeal

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the contiguous territory of North America, adjacent islands, Cuba, Panama, or the Canal Zone, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of sickness or injury certified by such immigration officer, until the master or agent of such vessel shall have given a bond to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located, in the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. The form of such bond shall be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor and approved by the Attorney General, and shall be conditioned that such vessel will carry such alien seaman to a foreign port, or will pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the liability to payment of such sum, or while the sum remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such sum, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit or cancel any such bond or portion thereof, or may, upon such terms as the Attorney General may prescribe, authorize the substitution of other security therefor, or the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such sum, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof. The decision of the Attorney General shall be final. Such bond shall be void if such seaman shall depart to a foreign country, or shall be deported in pursuance of the immigration laws, or shall die, or shall become a public charge, or shall be found upon subsequent examination to have been incorrectly certified as a seaman, or shall be certified by the medical officer of the port of arrival as unable to proceed to sea by reason of sickness or injury not existing at the time of inspection of such seaman by the immigration officer, or shall be certified by such officer as a seaman employed on board a vessel which has been allowed to discharge seamen in a foreign port, or shall be found by the Secretary of Labor to have been unable to secure employment as a seaman after reasonable effort, or shall be certified by such officer as a stowaway, or shall be certified by such officer as having been refused a visa by the consular officer of the country of which he is a subject or citizen after such consular officer has been informed by the immigration officer that such seaman is not in possession of a valid passport, or shall be found by the Secretary of Labor to be a member of a class of seamen habitually shipped in the United States but habitually employed on vessels touching only at ports in countries contiguous to the United States, or shall be found by the Secretary of Labor to be a member of a class of seamen habitually employed on vessels touching only at ports in countries contiguous to the United States and habitually remaining in such countries when in port, or shall be found by the Secretary of Labor to be a member of a class of seamen habitually employed on vessels touching only at ports in countries contiguous to the United States and habitually remaining in such countries when in port, unless such seaman has been in the United States for a period of five years next preceding the date of his application for admission and has during such period been employed on vessels engaged in the foreign trade touching at ports in countries contiguous to the United States for periods averaging not less than one month in each year: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, waive the provisions of this section in favor of any alien seaman who has served in the United States Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard, or Coast Guard Auxiliary during the World War, and who has been honorably discharged from such service, and who has resided in the United States for a period of one year next preceding his application for admission.

(a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the contiguous territory of North America, adjacent islands, Cuba, Panama, or the Canal Zone shall, before the departure of such alien from the United States, cause such alien seaman employed on such vessel duly to be examined by a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service at the port of departure (which examination as to the alien seaman shall include a personal physical examination by such medical officer of the United States Public Health Service, and such certificate as to the mental and physical condition of such alien seaman as such medical officer may deem necessary), and shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of departure is located the sum of $10 for each such alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the liability to payment of such sum, or while the sum remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such sum, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit or cancel any such bond or portion thereof, or may, upon such terms as the Attorney General may prescribe, authorize the substitution of other security therefor, or the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such sum, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof. The decision of the Attorney General shall be final. Such bond shall be void if such seaman shall depart to a foreign country, or shall be deported in pursuance of the immigration laws, or shall die, or shall become a public charge, or shall be found upon subsequent examination to have been incorrectly certified as a seaman, or shall be certified by the medical officer of the port of arrival as unable to proceed to sea by reason of sickness or injury not existing at the time of inspection of such seaman by the immigration officer, or shall be certified by such officer as a stowaway, or shall be certified by such officer as having been refused a visa by the consular officer of the country of which he is a subject or citizen after such consular officer has been informed by the immigration officer that such seaman is not in possession of a valid passport, or shall be found by the Secretary of Labor to be a member of a class of seamen habitually shipped in the United States but habitually employed on vessels touching only at ports in countries contiguous to the United States, or shall be found by the Secretary of Labor to be a member of a class of seamen habitually employed on vessels touching only at ports in countries contiguous to the United States and habitually remaining in such countries when in port, unless such seaman has been in the United States for a period of five years next preceding the date of his application for admission and has during such period been employed on vessels engaged in the foreign trade touching at ports in countries contiguous to the United States for periods averaging not less than one month in each year: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, waive the provisions of this section in favor of any alien seaman who has served in the United States Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard, or Coast Guard Auxiliary during the World War, and who has been honorably discharged from such service, and who has resided in the United States for a period of one year next preceding his application for admission.

(b) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the contiguous territory of North America, adjacent islands, Cuba, Panama, or the Canal Zone shall cause such alien seaman employed on such vessel duly to be examined by a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service at the port of departure of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside contiguous territory of North America, adjacent islands, Cuba, Panama, or the Canal Zone shall cause each alien seaman employed on board such vessel to be examined by a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service at the port of arrival (which examination as to the alien seaman shall include a personal physical examination by such medical officer of the Public Health Service, and such certificate as to the mental and physical condition of such alien seaman as such medical officer may deem necessary), and shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each such alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the liability to payment of such sum, or while the sum remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such sum, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit or cancel any such bond or portion thereof, or may, upon such terms as the Attorney General may prescribe, authorize the substitution of other security therefor, or the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such sum, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof. The decision of the Attorney General shall be final. Such bond shall be void if such seaman shall depart to a foreign country, or shall be deported in pursuance of the immigration laws, or shall die, or shall become a public charge, or shall be found upon subsequent examination to have been incorrectly certified as a seaman, or shall be certified by the medical officer of the port of arrival as unable to proceed to sea by reason of sickness or injury not existing at the time of inspection of such seaman by the immigration officer, or shall be certified by such officer as a stowaway, or shall be certified by such officer as having been refused a visa by the consular officer of the country of which he is a subject or citizen after such consular officer has been informed by the immigration officer that such seaman is not in possession of a valid passport, or shall be found by the Secretary of Labor to be a member of a class of seamen habitually shipped in the United States but habitually employed on vessels touching only at ports in countries contiguous to the United States, or shall be found by the Secretary of Labor to be a member of a class of seamen habitually employed on vessels touching only at ports in countries contiguous to the United States and habitually remaining in such countries when in port, unless such seaman has been in the United States for a period of five years next preceding the date of his application for admission and has during such period been employed on vessels engaged in the foreign trade touching at ports in countries contiguous to the United States for periods averaging not less than one month in each year: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, waive the provisions of this section in favor of any alien seaman who has served in the United States Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard, or Coast Guard Auxiliary during the World War, and who has been honorably discharged from such service, and who has resided in the United States for a period of one year next preceding his application for admission.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that any person has violated any provision of this section, or any rule, regulation, or order thereunder, or any term or condition of any bond given hereunder, such person shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General. (43 Stat. 164–165, 28 Stat. 818; 8 U. S. C. 167 (a), 167 (c).)

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The vessel described below shall be prepared on plans forms approved by the Department and no change for deposit to the immigration officer at the port of arrival, or pier designated by the immigration officer at the port of arrival, and such vessel shall not be inspected or passed for shipment or landing at any port in the United States. The list of passengers of each immigrant must be delivered by the master to the immigrant inspector at the time of inspection. Failure to deliver such list shall be deemed a violation of the immigration laws.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That from and after the first day of July, nineteen hundred and seventeen, all aliens, including those who are in possession of valid unexpired immigration visas, who may come to the United States from the Canal Zone, or from any island possession of the United States, or from the Republic of Panama, shall be subject to the provisions of this Act regulating the exclusion, admission, and deportation of aliens coming to the United States from foreign countries adjacent thereto, and the Commissioner General of Immigration, the boards of special inquiry, and all other officers charged with the administration of the said provisions are hereby authorized and empowered to enforce the same in accordance with the terms thereof: Provided, That the provisions of this Act shall not apply to citizens of the United States or aliens lawfully admitted to permanent residence therein entering the United States from foreign countries within the Western Hemisphere, nor to aliens coming to the United States for a temporary stay, but shall apply to all aliens coming to the United States in search of employment, and to all aliens entering the United States who have been debarred or excluded therefrom and who shall thereafter return or attempt to enter the United States, and to all aliens coming to the United States who are not clearly and beyond a reasonable doubt entitled to admission under the immigration laws, rules, and regulations or who may be excluded under the provisions of this Act: Provided, That the provisions of this Act relating to the payment of the head tax shall not apply to aliens in transit through the United States in immediate and continuous passage for the purpose of immediately departing therefrom for foreign countries, to aliens who have been lawfully admitted to the United States and who later go in transit from one part of the United States to another through foreign contiguous territory, to aliens who have been lawfully admitted to the United States and who are returning from a temporary visit to foreign contiguous territory, to aliens previously lawfully admitted to the United States who are returning after having been deported at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act, to aliens who were admitted to the United States not more than two years before application for deportation and who are found to have been at the time of entry thereto members of the classes excluded by law then in force, to aliens who shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that they are seeking admission to the United States solely for the purpose of escaping persecution because of race, religion, or political opinion, and to aliens who are found by the Secretary of Labor to have been officials of the former Austro-Hungarian Government or officials of the Government of Germany or Austria, who were such officials at the time of the alleged persecution, but who are not subject to any of the other provisions of this Act: Provided further, That the provisions of this Act shall not apply to an alien who has been convicted of a purely political offense or of an offense of which the essential element was his religious belief or his belief that governments should not exist, or to any alien who is the father or mother of a citizen of the United States who is under twenty-one years of age, or who is the husband of a citizen of the United States who is his wife, if the marriage occurred one year prior to the sailing of the vessel from the last port from which she departed, and the husband or father shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he actually has a bona fide intention of living with the citizen husband or wife or father or child, as the case may be, and that he is not coming solely for the purpose of securing the admission of the citizen husband or wife or father or child, as the case may be, to the United States: Provided further, That the provisions of this Act relating to the payment of the head tax shall not apply to any alien who has been lawfully admitted to the United States and who has been employed on board a vessel during the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival that he intends to depart on board such vessel without unnecessary delay, and who has been certified by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival to the master of such vessel at the time of inspection and allowance for landing as a person entitled to admission to the United States upon the return of such vessel without inspection other than such as may be necessary to establish the identity of such alien: Provided, That the master of such vessel shall be liable to a penalty of $200 for each and every such alien who shall land from such vessel at any port in the United States prior to the inspection of such alien by the immigration officers at such port, and in addition to such penalty shall be liable to the same extent as the owner of such vessel for the head tax and expenses of maintenance and care of such alien pending the completion of the inspection of such alien by the immigration officers at such port: Provided further, That the provisions of this Act relating to the payment of the head tax shall not apply to any alien who has been lawfully admitted to the United States and who has been employed on board a vessel during the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival that he intends to depart on board such vessel without unnecessary delay, and who has been certified by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival to the master of such vessel at the time of inspection and allowance for landing as a person entitled to admission to the United States upon the return of such vessel without inspection other than such as may be necessary to establish the identity of such alien: Provided further, That the provisions of this Act relating to the payment of the head tax shall not apply to an alien seaman who has been lawfully admitted to the United States and who is employed on board a vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States solely for the purpose of obtaining medical treatment, or hospital relief, and who is certified by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival to be suffering from a contagious disease, a mental defect, or physical disability of such character as to require special treatment or care under the immigration laws, rules, or regulations, or who is certified by the United States Public Health Service officer at the port of arrival to be helpless from illness to such extent as to require medical treatment or care during the period of quarantine, and who is found upon examination by such officers to be not otherwise inadmissible under the immigration laws, rules, or regulations, or who is certified by the United States Public Health Service officer at the port of arrival to be destitute or afflicted with tuberculosis in any form or with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, and who is found upon examination by such officers to be not otherwise inadmissible under the immigration laws, rules, or regulations, and who shall be certified by the United States Public Health Service officers at the port of arrival to be in a condition to be landed without danger to the public health, may be so landed in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor and under such conditions as he may prescribe, but no bond previously given by the master or owner with respect to such alien shall be discharged until such alien has been duly inspected and landed or has departed from the United States or has been removed therefrom at public expense within the period specified by the Secretary of Labor: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, waive the provisions of this Act, in the case of aliens coming temporarily to the United States as members of the regular crews of vessels entering ports of the United States, and may by general rules make provision for the admission of such aliens and for the return of such aliens who have been admitted to the United States, to the ports from which they came with such vessels or to the ports to which they shall proceed in the usual course of navigation, without inspection by the immigration officers at the ports of arrival: Provided further, That the Secretary of Labor may issue rules and prescribe conditions, including the form and amount of bonds, necessary to carry into effect the provisions of this Act: Provided further, That the provisions of this Act shall not apply to any person who has been convicted of a felony or other crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, unless the person shall prove to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he is not coming to the United States for an immoral purpose: Provided further, That the provisions of this Act relating to the payment of the head tax shall not apply to any alien who has been lawfully admitted to the United States and who has been employed on board any vessel plying between the United States and foreign contiguous territory, and who is certified by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival to the master of such vessel at the time of inspection and allowance for landing as a person entitled to admission to the United States upon the return of such vessel without inspection other than such as may be necessary to establish the identity of such alien: Provided, That the master of such vessel shall be liable to a penalty of $200 for each and every such alien who shall land from such vessel at any port in the United States prior to the inspection of such alien by the immigration officers at such port, and in addition to such penalty shall be liable to the same extent as the owner of such vessel for the head tax and expenses of maintenance and care of such alien pending the completion of the inspection of such alien by the immigration officers at such port

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on board from time to time as may be required by the Department and be kept from the arrival of the immigration inspector to the departure of the vessel at the port. (For list of persons to be landed at the first port in the United States, see "Notice" to be posted in the vessel as required on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the immigration officer at the port. Note.—If there is no immigration officer at the port, the list shall be delivered to the customs officer.)

SEC. 36. That upon arrival in the United States from any foreign port to which it shall be the duty of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel, another than a vessel solely navigating the waters of the United States, to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival a list or manifest of all persons on board such vessel, whether cabin passengers or those in the steerage, who may be landed in the United States, or who may be destined to some foreign country but may come ashore while the vessel is in port, and such other information in relation to such persons as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, under the direction of the Secretary of Labor, and in such form as he may prescribe, which list or manifest shall be signed and sworn to before an immigrant inspector at the time of the vessel's entry at the port of arrival by the master or commanding officer thereof, which list or manifest shall be valid only when certified by the consular officer at the port of foreign departure, and in the absence of a consular officer at the port of foreign departure, then by the consular officer at the nearest port to the place of departure, and in the absence of a consular officer at the place of departure, then by the master or commanding officer of the vessel, which certification shall be based upon personal knowledge of the consular officer or upon the sworn statement of the master or commanding officer of the vessel, or, if the vessel departs from a foreign contiguous territory, then by the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, which certification shall be based upon personal knowledge of the immigrant inspector or upon the sworn statement of the master or commanding officer of the vessel or of the head of the family to which the immigrant belongs or with which he is coming. The master or commanding officer of the vessel shall also certify to the facts stated in such list or manifest in relation to each and every person therein named, and shall sign the same in the presence of the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival and deliver the same to him, and shall furnish to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival such additional information relative to the persons named therein as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, under the direction of the Secretary of Labor, and in such form as he may prescribe. The master or commanding officer of the vessel shall also furnish to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival a separate list or manifest of the persons employed on board said vessel who are destined to some foreign country, which list or manifest shall be certified by the consular officer, or person performing the duties of consular officer, at the port of departure of said vessel, in the manner hereinbefore provided, and shall be delivered by the master or commanding officer of the vessel to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival at the time of the departure of said vessel from the United States. Any master or commanding officer of any vessel who shall refuse or neglect to deliver such list or manifest, or who shall refuse or neglect to answer questions or furnish information in relation to the persons named therein at the time of inspection or at any time prior to the departure of the vessel from the port, or who shall refuse or neglect to detain on board any person ordered by the immigrant inspector to be detained on board, or who shall land or permit to be landed any person without the certificate or permit of the immigrant inspector, except in case of members of the crew employed on the vessel who are destined to some foreign country and who are discharged in accordance with the regulations of the Secretary of Labor, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both, at the discretion of the court: Provided, That the master or commanding officer of any vessel may, with the permission of the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival, detain in the service of the vessel any alien member of the crew employed on such vessel who is destined to some foreign country for such length of time as may be necessary to enable him to secure the services of some other person to take the place of the person so detained, and the cost of the maintenance of such alien while detained on board such vessel shall be borne by the master of such vessel: *Provided further

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival a list or manifest of all persons, including the crew, who may be brought in the vessel at the time of its arrival, and to make oath before the proper immigration officer, or his assistant, to the truthfulness and accuracy of such list or manifest in such form as may be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, approved by the Secretary of Labor. Such list or manifest shall contain the name of every alien who may be brought in the vessel, his sex, age, calling, nationality, last permanent residence, final destination, whether he has a ticket through to such destination, whether the passage is paid by himself or by others, whether in possession of money, and how much, whether he has been in prison or almshouse or an institution for the insane or supported by charity, whether a polygamist, whether under contract or agreement to perform labor in the United States, his ability to read or write, whether he has been deported, and if so, when and why, whether going to join relatives or friends, and if so, what relatives or friends and their names and addresses, whether he has ever been in the United States before, if so, when and where, whether he has a ticket through to the place to which he is destined, the name and address of the nearest relative or friend he is leaving behind him in the country whence he comes, his occupation, and whether skilled or unskilled, the height and complexion of each alien, the color of his hair and eyes, the name and last residence of his wife if married, the name and last residence of his father and mother if living, whether he has a father or mother, wife or husband, or relatives in the United States, and if so, what relatives and where they reside, whether he has been in any penal institution or reformatory, and if so, what institution or reformatory and for what length of time, whether he is coming under contract or agreement to perform labor in the United States, and if so, what is the nature of such contract or agreement, whether he intends to become a citizen of the United States, whether he is a person who believes in or advocates the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States or of all forms of law, whether he is a person who believes in or advocates the unlawful destruction of property, whether he is coming to the United States to follow any particular occupation, and what occupation, whether he has a contract or promise of employment in the United States, and if so, with whom, whether he has been deported from the United States previously and the cause thereof, whether he is coming for a criminal or immoral purpose, whether he is an anarchist, and whether he believes in or is affiliated with any organization that entertains a belief in or teaches the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States or of all forms of law, and whether he is a polygamist. Such list or manifest shall also contain such other information as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, approved by the Secretary of Labor, concerning the right of aliens to enter the United States. The master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel shall also deliver to the said immigrant inspector at the port of arrival a separate list or manifest of all aliens who may be in the United States and who may depart therefrom on said vessel, setting forth as to each such alien his name, age, sex, calling, nationality, last permanent residence, and such information as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, approved by the Secretary of Labor, concerning the departure of aliens from the United States. Such list or manifest shall contain such other information as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, approved by the Secretary of Labor, concerning the departure of aliens from the United States. Such list or manifest shall contain such other information as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, approved by the Secretary of Labor, concerning the departure of aliens from the United States. Such list or manifest shall contain such other information as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, approved by the Secretary of Labor, concerning the departure of aliens from the United States.

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the Canadian or Mexican border, or departing from the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or detained on board account of sickness, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of an emergency, and thereupon shall be deported in the manner provided in the case of aliens employed on such vessel. Such aliens shall be placed in the custody of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel on which they arrived, and such vessel shall be responsible for the deportation of such aliens. The cost of maintenance while in the United States and of deportation of such aliens from the United States shall be a lien against such vessel, which may be enforced by libel in any district court of the United States within the jurisdiction of which such vessel may be found. The Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, may, in his discretion, pay the cost of maintenance and deportation of such aliens, or any of them, from any appropriation for the enforcement of the immigration laws. Any such alien who shall land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of an emergency, shall be deported in the manner provided in the case of aliens employed on such vessel. Such alien shall be placed in the custody of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall be responsible for the deportation of such alien. The cost of maintenance while in the United States and of deportation of such alien

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or from any possession of the United States, or who has been employed on board any vessel departing from the United States for any foreign port or for any possession of the United States, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, or injury requiring such treatment, or for the purpose of obtaining treatment, or because of the shipwreck of the vessel on which he was employed, or for the purpose of taking passage on a vessel sailing from the United States to a foreign port, or to a possession of the United States other than the possession in which he was employed, or for the purpose of taking passage on a vessel sailing from the United States to the possession in which he was employed, and who is in possession of a valid seaman's identity certificate issued pursuant to section 2 of the Act of February 5, 1917 (39 Stat. 874; U. S. C., title 46, sec. 231), and a valid passport, or who is in possession of a valid seaman's identity certificate issued pursuant to section 2 of the Act of February 5, 1917 (39 Stat. 874; U. S. C., title 46, sec. 231), and who is in possession of a valid visa, if a visa is required by the regulations governing the admission of aliens to the United States, or who is in possession of a valid nonimmigrant passport and visa, if a visa is required by the regulations governing the admission of nonimmigrants to the United States, or who is in possession of a valid nonimmigrant identification card issued by the Secretary of State under such conditions as he may prescribe, or who is in possession of a valid border crossing identification card issued pursuant to the provisions of section 4 of the Act of May 22, 1918 (40 Stat. 559; U. S. C., title 8, sec. 224), and who is otherwise admissible under the immigration laws: Provided, That the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, may, in his discretion, permit the temporary landing of any such alien seaman who has been certified by a consular officer to be suffering from a contagious disease, under such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, and may require such alien seaman to be detained in a hospital at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived pending the departure of such vessel from a port of the United States: Provided further, That any such alien seaman who has been permitted to land temporarily as provided in this section and who has been found upon examination by a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service to be suffering from a contagious disease shall be deported as provided in section 19 of this Act, notwithstanding the departure of the vessel upon which he arrived.

SEC. 14. No alien seaman shall be employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place, or any vessel departing from the United States for any foreign port or place, unless there is on board such vessel at the time of its departure from each port in the United States at which it shall touch for the purpose of taking on board seamen a list or lists, certified by the master or commanding officer of such vessel, containing the name, nationality, last permanent residence, calling, age, personal description, and last port from which he was shipped of each alien seaman on board such vessel at the time of its departure from such port, and such other information relative to such alien seamen as the Commissioner General of Immigration may prescribe. Such list shall be prepared in quadruplicate, and the master or commanding officer of such vessel shall, before the departure of such vessel from each port in the United States, deliver one copy of such list to the immigration officer in charge at such port, and shall, upon the arrival of such vessel at any port in the United States, deliver one copy of such list to the immigration officer in charge at such port, and shall deliver one copy of such list to the collector of customs at the customs district in which the port of arrival is located, and shall retain one copy for not less than two years from the date of such arrival, which copy shall be subject to inspection at any time by any immigration officer or any person authorized by the Secretary of Labor. Any master or commanding officer of any such vessel who shall fail to prepare or deliver any list required by this section, or who shall refuse to permit any immigration officer to enter upon such vessel for the purpose of inspecting such list, or who shall refuse to answer truthfully to the best of his knowledge any question touching the information required to be contained in such list asked by any immigration officer, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which such vessel arrives a penalty of $10 for each alien seaman concerning whom correct information is not contained in such list, and shall not clear such vessel from any port in the United States as long as any penalty incurred under this section remains unpaid. Any such penalty may be remitted or mitigated by the Secretary of Labor upon such terms and conditions as he may deem just and proper. The Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, permit the landing temporarily of any alien seaman whose name is contained in such list, upon the giving of a bond with sufficient surety, in such sum not exceeding $500 for each alien seaman, as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, conditioned upon the production of such alien seaman when required for examination or for deportation, or upon the giving of a bond with sufficient surety, in such sum not exceeding $500 for each alien seaman, as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, conditioned upon the production of such alien seaman when required for examination or for deportation, or upon the deposit of such sum with the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, withdraw such bond, or reduce the amount thereof, and upon the cancellation of such bond the money deposited as security thereon shall be returned to the depositor. Any such bond not withdrawn or reduced shall be void and shall be delivered or returned to the surety upon the production of such alien seaman within the time limited in such bond for his production, or upon the payment of such sum not exceeding the amount of such bond as may be imposed in lieu thereof by the Secretary of Labor upon the giving of such alien seaman, or upon the deposit of such sum with the collector of customs, or upon the cancellation of such bond, or upon the reduction of the amount thereof, a certificate in duplicate shall be issued by the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure, one copy of which certificate shall be delivered to the master or commanding officer of the vessel on which such alien seaman is to be employed, and the other copy forwarded to the collector of customs of the customs district in which such bond was given. Upon the presentation of such certificate to the collector of customs he shall cancel such bond or return such deposit, as the case may be. Such certificate shall be prima facie evidence of the performance of the conditions of the bond or deposit with respect to the alien seaman named therein. Nothing in this section shall be construed to require the detention of any alien seaman who has been lawfully admitted to the United States, or who is in possession of a valid nonimmigrant passport and visa, if a visa is required by the regulations governing the admission of nonimmigrants to the United States, or who is in possession of a valid border crossing identification card issued by the Secretary of State under such conditions as he may prescribe, or who is in possession of a valid border crossing identification card issued pursuant to the provisions of section 4 of the Act of May 22, 1918 (40 Stat. 559; U. S. C., title 8, sec. 224), and who is otherwise admissible under the immigration laws: Provided, That any such alien seaman who has been permitted to land temporarily as provided in this section and who has been found upon examination by a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service to be suffering from a contagious disease shall be deported as provided in section 19 of this Act, notwithstanding the departure of the vessel upon which he arrived.

SEC. 150.15 Duties of alien employees; manning clearances of vessels granted. Clearances shall not be granted any vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure has been informed by the master or commanding officer of such vessel that all the alien members of the crew are on board and that no others have been taken on board, except such as have been specifically authorized by the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure to be taken on board. Any alien member of the crew who is ill or injured at the time of departure of the vessel may be left behind in the hospital, and the master or commanding officer shall report the name of such alien member of the crew to the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure. Any alien member of the crew who has been left behind in a hospital shall be reported by the master or commanding officer of the vessel to the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure, and the master or commanding officer shall deposit with the collector of customs a sum sufficient to cover the cost of the return transportation of such alien member of the crew, unless such sum or transportation has been otherwise provided. Clearance shall not be granted for the vessel if any alien member of the crew has been left behind, unless the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure is satisfied that sufficient provision has been made for the return transportation of such alien member of the crew. Any alien member of the crew who has been left behind shall be deported at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, unless the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, shall otherwise direct. ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. (a) No alien seaman shall be admitted into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place, except a bona fide alien seaman who has been lawfully admitted to the United States and is employed on board the vessel on which he arrived, and who intends to depart on board a vessel leaving a port in the United States, or an alien seaman employed on board any vessel touching at ports in the United States, solely in pursuance of his calling as such seaman, and who intends to depart on board the vessel on which he arrived or some other vessel touching at ports in the United States: Provided, That any alien seaman who has been admitted to the United States and who has been employed on board any vessel touching at ports in the United States may be granted a landing permit to go ashore temporarily from such vessel while in port, subject to such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States (except Canada, Mexico, Cuba, Newfoundland, the Canal Zone, the Virgin Islands, and the islands belonging to the United States in the West Indies) shall, before the departure of such vessel from the port at which it arrives, deliver to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival a complete list or manifest of all persons on board such vessel, whether passengers or members of the crew, and whether citizens or aliens, in such form and manner and containing such information as the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, may prescribe. Such list or manifest shall be signed by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of the vessel, and sworn to before the immigration officer at the port of arrival. Such master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser shall also deliver to such immigration officer a certificate of the surgeon of the vessel, if any, or, if there be no surgeon, of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser, stating the number of persons who have died on board during the voyage, and the cause of death in each case, and the sanitary history and condition of the vessel during the voyage. Such master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser shall also deliver to such immigration officer a certificate of the boarding officer at the last port of departure of the vessel in the United States, stating that the vessel has been boarded by such officer and that all persons on board have been mustered at quarters, and stating the number of persons on board at the time of boarding

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived has been prevented by the immigration officer of the port, he shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to obtain or deport alien crewmen by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport the seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such expense shall not be treated as a fine or penalty. Payment of deportation expenses hereunder shall be a condition precedent to the granting of clearance until such expenses have been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

ALIEN SEAMEN

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1954, AS AMENDED

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place, if such seaman is certified by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be permitted to land in the United States except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or casualty of such vessel, but not upon completion of the discharge of cargo or the sailing of such vessel from a port, unless specifically authorized by the Attorney General after a determination that such seaman did not desert without reasonable cause, or that no suitable substitute seaman could be obtained at such port or place, or that the refusal of such seaman to proceed on such vessel was based upon grounds which would seriously endanger his life or health if he returned on such vessel, and that such vessel can proceed on her next voyage without such seaman. Any seaman who shall land in the United States under this section shall be deported in the same manner as provided in the case of aliens crewmen: Provided, That deportation shall not be limited to a period within three years after the date of such seaman's entry.

SEC. 50. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States who fails to detain on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection shall in all cases be completed before the departure of the vessel from such port), or who fails to detain any such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required to do so by the Attorney General (which he is hereby authorized to do), shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to accord the payment thereof $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs when such seaman is found by the Attorney General to have been a bona fide member of the crew of the vessel at the time of its departure from the United States and to have left the vessel in a foreign port or place in connection with the illness or injury of such seaman requiring his removal from the vessel. Nothing in this section as amended shall apply to all bona fide seamen employed on vessels regularly plying between ports in the United States and ports in foreign contiguous territory.

(b) Fines under this section shall not be remitted or refunded except upon payment to the United States of the costs of the proceedings and expenses incurred in connection with the detention, maintenance, and removal of such seamen, and a sum sufficient in the opinion of the Attorney General to pay the wages of such seamen for the period they may be detained by reason of their absence from their vessels, but not exceeding three months' wages in any case.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that a fine has been incurred under this section and that the vessel was prevented from sailing by reason of the detention of one or more alien seamen, he may cause such fine to be remitted or refunded.

(d) Fines imposed under this section shall be in addition to any other penalty prescribed by law.

(e) The Attorney General shall prescribe such rules and regulations as may be necessary for the enforcement of this section.

(43 Stat. 164, 165; 22 Stat. 318; R. S. C. 181 (a), 191 (c).)

SEC. 150.15 Limit of alien crewmen's leave; extension of vessel's period. (a) General. Except as provided in paragraph (b) of this section, no alien crewman shall be permitted to land temporarily under section 252 of the Immigration Act of 1924 (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 191) for a period in excess of that prescribed by section 32 of said Act (43 Stat. 166; 8 U. S. C. 193) unless the master, agent, owner, charterer, or consignee of the vessel on which he arrived has been granted an extension of such period of time. An application for such extension shall be made to the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization at the port where the vessel is located, and shall be granted only upon a showing that the vessel will not be ready to depart from the United States within the period of time originally granted. Each such extension shall be for a period of time sufficient to cover the actual time required to complete the repairs, discharge or take on cargo, or perform such other business as may have caused the delay, but in no case shall such extension be granted for more than 30 days. Application for such extension shall be made in writing, shall state the reasons for the delay, and shall be supported by such documentary evidence as may be required by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization. Any alien crewman who remains in the United States after the vessel on which he arrived has departed therefrom, without the permission of the Attorney General, shall be deported as an alien crewman who has failed to depart with the vessel on which he arrived, unless he has been granted permission to remain in the United States for a longer period of time for some other purpose.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector at the port of arrival and from time to time thereafter on demand. The list of aliens on board vessels arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place shall be prepared by the master or commanding officer, or purser of such vessel, and shall be delivered to the immigration officer at the port of first arrival. (Form I-418 shall not be returned on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the immigration officer at the port of arrival.) When an alternate manifest is required, a duplicate to that which should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of aliens coming to the United States, the master or commanding officer of vessels bringing such aliens to the United States shall cause the list or manifest required to be prepared to be delivered to the immigration officer at the port of arrival at least 24 hours before the vessel is scheduled to arrive at such port, and if the vessel is not scheduled to arrive at such port 24 hours before the vessel is sighted by the master or commanding officer, he shall cause the list or manifest required to be prepared to be delivered to the immigration officer at the port of arrival as soon as the vessel shall have been sighted. Such list or manifest shall be prepared in the order and shall contain the information called for by the headings of the following form, to wit:

Name in full.	Age.	Sex.	Married or single.	Calling or occupation.	Personal description.	Height.	Complexion.	Color.	Hair.	Eyes.	Name and complete address of nearest relative or friend in country whence alien came.	Final destination.	Whether going to join relative or friend, and if so, what relative or friend.	Whether ever before in the United States, and if so, when and where.	Whether ever in prison or almshouse or supported by charity, and if so, what and when.	Whether a polygamist.	Whether an anarchist.	Whether coming by reason of any offer, solicitation, promise, or agreement, express or implied, to perform labor in the United States.	Whether in possession of $50 in money, and if less than $50, how much.	Whether in possession of railroad ticket or other conveyance to final destination.	Whether any of the immigrant's transportation was paid for by others, and if so, by whom.	Whether owns a home in the country whence he came, and if so, where.	Race or people.	Nationality.	Last permanent residence.

(a) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien assigned on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such alien assigned he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or it be otherwise arranged to the satisfaction of the Attorney General. (43 Stat. 164, 165, 28 Stat. 818; 8 U. S. C. 161 (a), 161 (c).)

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens and the information called for by the headings of the following form: and upon the completion of such lists, together with such information likely to lead to the apprehension of any alien not entitled to admission to the United States, in writing as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has been found on board, and thereupon it shall be the duty of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has been found on board, and thereupon it shall be the duty of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer at the time of the arrival of the vessel at such port, or as soon thereafter as practicable, a list or manifest of all aliens employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who will leave such vessel at the time of her departure, and the cause of the separation, and the intended destination of each of such aliens, and such other information in regard to them as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or master who refuses to deliver such lists, or who refuses to report, deliver, or cause to be reported, delivered, or presented any such alien for examination, or who refuses or fails to detain any such alien on board or at such place as the immigration officer in charge of the port may designate, or who refuses to detain any such alien when ordered to do so by such officer, or who refuses to comply with the requirements of the immigration laws in respect to any such alien, or who refuses to pay the head tax provided for in section 2 of this Act, or who refuses to deliver to the immigrant the certificate provided for in section 3 of this Act, or who refuses to pay the cost of maintenance and support of such alien while a detained immigrant, or who refuses to pay any fine or penalty imposed by this Act, or who refuses to pay the cost of the return of such alien, shall be severally liable to a penalty of $10 for each alien concerning whom complaint is made, collectible with costs in any action brought for the purpose in the district in which the vessel may arrive or depart or in which the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master may be found, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty; and no such vessel shall, after the expiration of ten days from the date of the arrival of the vessel at the port of arrival, be granted clearance pending the payment of such penalty, unless a bond in the penal sum of $300 is deposited to guarantee the payment thereof. Such penalty shall not be remitted or refunded: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine: Provided further, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 15. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, or to visit a consular officer, or for such other reasons as may be satisfactory to the Secretary of Labor and under such regulations as he may prescribe, and any such seaman who lands in the United States shall be deported in the same manner as provided in section 20 of this Act. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to detain on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner of such port) or who fails to detain on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if ordered by such immigration officer or the Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $500 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. The section, as amended, shall apply to all penalties arising subsequent to June 2, 1924.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not abscond upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from a foreign port or place to which he is destined, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to detain or deport such alien seaman

The gist described below shall be inserted in plain terms appearing by the Department and be read, for identity, to the master at the time of entering; and shall be delivered by the master to the immigration officer at the port of arrival (General Form 431). A master who willfully delivers a manifest containing false answers as well as omits to enter the name of any alien shall be subject to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien so omitted, unless the master establishes that he had obtained from the vessel's surgeon a certificate showing the name of such alien and the reason for omitting to enter his name on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection by immigration officers at the port of arrival, masters are required to deliver to such officers, at the time of arrival, a separate list containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel. Failure to deliver such list to the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival may result in the imposition of a penalty of $300 for each alien not listed. Masters are also required to report the names of all aliens who may desert while in port, and to deliver to the immigration officer in charge of the port of departure a complete list of the crew at the time of departure, showing the names of all aliens who have deserted since the date of arrival. Masters are required to report desertions of alien members of the crew within 24 hours after the vessel sails, stating the number of such deserters, and the names, ages, nationality, last residence, and description of each alien. Masters are also required to report the illness or injury of any alien crewman, stating the name, age, nationality, last residence, and description of such alien, together with the nature of the illness or injury, and the length of time he has been ill. Masters are required to deliver to the immigration officer in charge of the port of departure a complete list of all alien members of the crew who have been discharged from the vessel, showing the name, age, nationality, last residence, and description of each alien so discharged. All cases in which the vessel is detained by reason of illness, injury, or quarantine must be reported at the time of the first communication between the vessel and the shore. Masters are required to deliver to each alien crewman employed on a vessel arriving at a port in the United States a copy of the notice to alien crewmen, Form I-95, which will be furnished by the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival. Masters are required to see that each alien crewman has in his possession a valid certificate of identity and nationality (Form I-95) before he is permitted to leave the vessel. The list of crewmen furnished immigration officers at the port of arrival (Form I-418) must be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration officer at the time of inspection. The original and duplicate of the list must be signed by the master, and attested to by the ship's surgeon, when one is employed on board. A master who willfully delivers a manifest containing false answers as well as omits to enter the name of any alien shall be subject to a penalty of $1,000 for each such offense and may be prosecuted therefor. In order to facilitate inspection by immigration officers at the port of departure, masters are required to deliver to such officers, at the time of departure, a separate list containing the names of all alien members of the crew who have been discharged from the vessel, stating the duration of such alien's employment on board, and the reason for discharge. Masters are also required to report the illness or injury of any alien crewman, stating the name, age, nationality, last residence, and description of such alien, together with the nature of the illness or injury, and the length of time he has been ill. Masters are required to report the names of all alien members of the crew who have been discharged from the vessel, stating the duration of such alien's employment on board, and the reason for discharge. All cases in which the vessel is detained by reason of illness, injury, or quarantine must be reported at the time of the first communication between the vessel and the shore. Masters are also required to report the illness or injury of any alien crewman, stating the name, age, nationality, last residence, and description of such alien, together with the nature of the illness or injury, and the length of time he has been ill. Masters are required to deliver to each alien crewman employed on a vessel arriving at a port in the United States a copy of the notice to alien crewmen, Form I-95, which will be furnished by the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival. Masters are required to see that each alien crewman has in his possession a valid certificate of identity and nationality (Form I-95) before he is permitted to leave the vessel. The list of crewmen furnished immigration officers at the port of arrival (Form I-418) must be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration officer at the time of inspection. The original and duplicate of the list must be signed by the master, and attested to by the ship's surgeon, when one is employed on board. IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of aliens to be examined by the immigration officer at the port of Puerto Rico shall not be destroyed or removed, but shall be delivered by the master to the immigration officer at the port. When an alternate vessel name is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of aliens seeking admission at ports other than the port of arrival, the following should be noted: Name of vessel; name of master; name of alternate vessel; name of agents; number of aliens embarked at each port; and the number destined to each port.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The law requires that no one be employed as able seaman unless he can speak English sufficiently to understand simple orders and to be understood in the ordinary performance of his duties. Before you sign on any alien as able seaman, you must be sure that he can meet this requirement. If he cannot, he may be employed only as ordinary seaman.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 16. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or unless and to such temporary extent as the Alfonso (general) may prescribe for the sublimate detriment, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, who shall fail to detain on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Alfonso (general) to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such tax, or while the tax remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such tax, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Alfonso (general) may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Alfonso (general) in his discretion shall think proper. The next section, as amended, shall apply to all penalties arising subsequent to June 2, 1924.

(b) Every such alien seaman who shall not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or shall be known to have been landed by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport, after reasonable effort by the immigration officer or the Alfonso (general).

(c) If the Alfonso (general) finds that such deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Alfonso (general).

SEC. 19. An alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board a vessel arriving at a port of the United States from any foreign port or place adjacent thereto, or touching at any such port or place in order to complete his complement of seamen, or to secure a substitute for a seaman who has been left behind sick or disabled at such port or place, may be permitted to land in the United States temporarily and under such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the purpose only of obtaining medical treatment, or pending the departure of the vessel from such port or place, or pending the performance by such seaman of such other temporary service as may be specified by the Attorney General: Provided, That no such seaman shall be permitted to land in the United States unless the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival shall be satisfied that such seaman intends to depart from the United States upon the departure of the vessel from such port or place, or pending the performance of such other temporary service specified by the Attorney General: Provided further, That no such seaman shall be permitted to land in the United States if the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival knows or has reason to believe that such seaman intends to land unlawfully, or to proceed to some place in the United States other than that to which he may be destined, and for which he may have been granted a permit to land, or that such seaman intends to enter the United States in violation of the immigration laws: Provided further, That no such seaman shall be permitted to land in the United States if he is afflicted with any of the diseases or mental defects set forth in section 2 of this Act: Provided further, That no such seaman shall be permitted to land in the United States unless he is in possession of a valid passport issued by the country of which he claims nationality, or unless such country has no passport system, or unless he is otherwise satisfactorily identified as such seaman in accordance with such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe: Provided further, That no such seaman who is a native of a country contiguous to the United States and who is in possession of a valid passport issued by the country of which he claims nationality shall be required to obtain a visa before being granted permission to land temporarily in the United States: Provided further, That no such seaman who is a native of a country contiguous to the United States and who is in possession of a valid passport issued by the country of which he claims nationality shall be required to obtain a visa before being granted permission to land temporarily in the United States solely for the purpose of obtaining medical treatment, or pending the departure of the vessel from such port or place, or pending the performance by such seaman of such other temporary service specified by the Attorney General: Provided further, That no such seaman who is a native of a country contiguous to the United States and who is in possession of a valid passport issued by the country of which he claims nationality shall be required to obtain a visa before being granted permission to land temporarily in the United States solely for the purpose of obtaining medical treatment, or pending the departure of the vessel from such port or place, or pending the performance by such seaman of such other temporary service specified by the Attorney General, if the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival is satisfied that such seaman intends to depart from the United States upon the departure of the vessel from such port or place, or pending the performance of such other temporary service specified by the Attorney General: Provided further, That no such seaman who is a native of a country contiguous to the United States and who is in possession of a valid passport issued by the country of which he claims nationality shall be permitted to land in the United States if the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival knows or has reason to believe that such seaman intends to land unlawfully, or to proceed to some place in the United States other than that to which he may be destined, and for which he may have been granted a permit to land: Provided further, That no such seaman who is a native of a country contiguous to the United States and who is in possession of a valid passport issued by the country of which he claims nationality shall be permitted to land in the United States if he is afflicted with any of the diseases or mental defects set forth in section 2 of this Act: Provided further, That no such seaman who is a native of a country contiguous to the United States and who is in possession of a valid passport issued by the country of which he claims nationality shall be permitted to land in the United States unless he is in possession of a nonimmigrant visa or border crossing identification card, except that a citizen of Canada who is in possession of a valid passport issued by the country of which he claims nationality shall be required to obtain a nonimmigrant visa or border crossing identification card only if he is destined to a point in the United States more than twenty-five miles from the Canadian border, or remains in the United States more than thirty days: Provided further, That no such seaman who is a native of a country contiguous to the United States and who is in possession of a valid passport issued by the country of which he claims nationality shall be required to obtain a nonimmigrant visa or border crossing identification card if he is destined to a point in the United States within twenty-five miles of the Canadian border, or remains in the United States thirty days or less: Provided further, That the Attorney General may waive the provisions of this section with respect to nationals of any country, foreign area, or island adjacent thereto, in which the United States maintains military bases, whenever in his discretion he deems such waiver to be consistent with the public interest: Provided further, That the Attorney General may prescribe such limits and conditions, including the giving of bond, as he may deem necessary to control the movements of any alien to whom he grants a waiver under the provisos of this section: Provided further, That the Attorney General may, in his discretion, waive the application of this section to aliens coming in transit from foreign contiguous territory to the United States, but only when reciprocal privileges are granted by the government of such foreign territory to citizens of the United States.

SEC. 36. That when arrival by sea is made to the United States from any foreign port or by land from the contiguous territory of Canada or Mexico, every alien, including persons entering under the provisions of section 3 of this Act, shall be examined by an immigrant inspector at the port of entry or at such other place as may be designated by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, or by the Secretary of Labor, and for this purpose the master, agent, owner, or consignee of any vessel bringing an alien to the United States shall cause such alien to be detained on board such vessel or at such other place as may be designated by the immigrant inspector in charge until admission or such further time as may be allowed by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, or by the Secretary of Labor, not exceeding five days, except in cases certified by the medical officer in charge to be in need of further observation or treatment, or to be mentally or physically defective, such certification affecting the right to land or the ultimate admissibility of the alien to which it relates. Such immigrant inspector shall have power to administer oaths and to take and consider evidence touching the right of any alien to enter, reenter, pass through, or reside in the United States, and may appoint and employ interpreters and other employees necessary to assist in the examination of aliens. Such immigrant inspector shall have power to require the production of books, papers, and documents touching the right of any alien to enter, reenter, pass through, or reside in the United States, and may require the attendance of and examine under oath any master, agent, owner, consignee, or passenger in relation to any such matter, and may administer or cause to be administered such oath and take and consider such evidence. Any person who shall willfully refuse to appear, or refuse to answer any question pertinent to the matter under investigation, or shall knowingly make false answer thereto, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned not more than one year, or both. Any master, agent, owner, consignee, or transportation company who shall refuse or fail to detain any alien on board vessel or at such other place designated by the immigrant inspector in charge, or shall refuse or fail to deliver any such alien upon the request of the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, or the Secretary of Labor, or shall refuse or fail to comply with any regulation made by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, or the Secretary of Labor, for the detention, inspection, or exclusion of aliens, or shall refuse or fail to perform any duty imposed upon him by this Act, or shall violate any of the provisions of this Act, for which a penalty is not specifically provided, shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each such offense. Any person who shall bring to the United States any alien not duly admitted by an immigrant inspector, or not duly permitted to land temporarily under the provisions of section 3 of this Act, or who shall bring to the United States any alien afflicted with any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, which would be likely to endanger the health of persons residing in the United States, unless such alien has been specially admitted by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, or by the Secretary of Labor, after having been informed that such alien is afflicted with such disease, shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each alien so brought, and may be imprisoned not more than one year. Any person who shall bring to the United States any alien who has been excluded from admission and deported, unless such alien shall have subsequently been lawfully admitted to the United States, shall be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned not more than one year, or both. Any person who shall bring to the United States any alien who has been excluded from admission and deported, and who shall thereafter have been lawfully admitted to the United States, shall, if such alien shall become a public charge within three years after the date of such admission,

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms obtained by the Department and be used for the purpose indicated. Any other form or change or addition (No) shall not be accepted or used, but shall be returned by the master to the person from whom received. If the list is changed in the number of the aliens on board, the master shall sign his name at the end of each such change and shall indicate the number of aliens (No) added or subtracted.

At the port of arrival the master shall deliver the list to the immigrant inspector in charge, or if there is no such officer at the port, to the officer in charge of the customs service at the port. If the vessel is to call at other ports in the United States before finally discharging all aliens destined to the United States, the master shall deliver the list to the immigrant inspector in charge at the first such port. At each subsequent port of call in the United States the master shall deliver to the immigrant inspector in charge a list containing the names of all aliens remaining on board the vessel. If the vessel is to call at any port in Canada before finally discharging all aliens destined to the United States, the master shall deliver the list to the immigrant inspector in charge at the first port in the United States at which the vessel shall call after leaving Canada. If the vessel is to call at any port in Canada after having called at a port in the United States at which aliens were discharged, the master shall deliver to the immigrant inspector in charge at the last port in the United States at which aliens were discharged a list containing the names of all aliens remaining on board the vessel. If the vessel is to call at any port in Canada before finally discharging all aliens destined to the United States, the master shall deliver the list to the immigrant inspector in charge at the last

The list recorded below shall be prepared in block letters only and be ready for delivery to the immigration officer at the port of arrival not less than twenty-four hours before the vessel is due to arrive. The list is to be numbered consecutively from one to whatever number of crew there may be. Write in ordinary figures 1, 2, 3, and so forth, and not in words. Do not begin a new series of numbers on each page. Write surnames first, then the other names in full, as they appear in the passports. Write the name of the master last on the list.

Write "None" in ordinary figures if a "no" answer is to be given to any question. Do not use ditto marks. Any question left unanswered will be returned for completion. Any alteration must be initialled by the master. Erasure with rubber is not permitted.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 39. That when aliens arrive at any seaport in the United States from a foreign port or have a shift of the ship's company, other than such as have been previously shipped or entered, and are destined to the port of arrival, or have commenced the payment of head taxes, they shall be taken before the proper immigration officers for examination, and no such alien shall be admitted to land in the United States or be granted a certificate of admission, or be permitted to enter the limits of the port, until he shall have been duly examined by said officers, and a certificate of admission granted him by the proper officer: Provided, That in the case of any such alien who is certified by the examining surgeon to be afflicted with a contagious disease, or to be a person who has come into contact with any person so afflicted, and who, in the opinion of the examining officers, is likely to become a public charge, or who is found upon the certificate of the examining surgeon to be mentally or physically defective, such certificate stating in what particular, the decision of the immigrant inspector may be appealed to the Secretary of Labor, whose action in the premises shall be final: Provided further, That any such alien who may be certified by the examining surgeon as being afflicted with a contagious disease may be detained for treatment in a hospital at the expense of the appropriation for the maintenance of the immigrant station at which he may be detained, or at the expense of the steamship company bringing him, as the Secretary of Labor may direct: Provided further, That any such alien who may be certified by the examining surgeon as being afflicted with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease shall be detained in a hospital at the expense of the appropriation for the maintenance of the immigrant station at which he may be detained, or at the expense of the steamship company bringing him, as the Secretary of Labor may direct: Provided further, That any such alien who may be certified by the examining surgeon as being afflicted with a mental disorder shall be detained for observation and treatment in a hospital at the expense of the appropriation for the maintenance of the immigrant station at which he may be detained, or at the expense of the steamship company bringing him, as the Secretary of Labor may direct, and if such disorder be certified as having existed prior to the departure of such alien from the foreign port from which he came, and to have been concealed by him, he shall be returned in the manner provided for the return of aliens who become public charges from causes existing prior to landing: Provided further, That the decision of the Secretary of Labor in any case as to the practicability of the treatment of any alien at any institution or hospital to which he may be sent for treatment shall be final: Provided further, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, permit any alien certified by the examining surgeon as afflicted with a mental disorder to enter the United States without being subject to treatment in a hospital for the insane during a period not exceeding five years from the date of his entry, upon the deposit of security or the filing of a bond in such sum not exceeding $1,000 as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, conditioned upon the care of such alien so that he will not become a public charge during said period: Provided further, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, permit any alien certified by the examining surgeon as afflicted with tuberculosis in any form or with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease to enter the United States without being subject to the provisions of this section relative to the deposit of security or the filing of a bond, when such alien is in the company of and is coming to the United States to join a husband, wife, father, mother, child, brother, or sister lawfully admitted to the United States and who is able to care for him, and such security or bond may be accepted in lieu of the deposit required of such husband, wife, father, mother, child, brother, or sister: Provided further, That the duty to collect the head tax from any alien who may be admitted to the United States, or who may remain therein under the provisions of this section, shall be imposed upon the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel in which such alien shall arrive from a foreign port, and such head tax shall be a lien upon such vessel, and shall not be granted clearance from any port while such lien remains undischarged, and such master, agent, owner, or consignee shall be liable to the United States for any head tax which may have been collected from any alien by the master of the vessel in which he arrived, and which has not been paid to the officer in charge of the collection thereof, and may be sued therefor in the name of the United States: Provided further, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, refund any head tax which has been erroneously collected from any alien who is subsequently admitted to the United States, or who is allowed to remain therein under the provisions of this section, or refund any head tax paid by any alien who departs voluntarily from the United States within one year from the date of his entry, or refund any head tax paid by any alien who is refused admission to the United States: Provided further, That no bond given or security filed under the provisions of this section shall be valid or binding for any greater sum than $1,000 or for any longer period of time than five years: Provided further, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, cancel any bond given or security filed under the provisions of this section, or permit the substitution of other sufficient security, in his discretion, and upon the application of the surety or sureties at any time after one year from the date of the filing thereof, and shall cancel such bond or security five years from the date of the filing thereof, or at the death or legal dissolution of the surety or sureties upon the filing of other sufficient security, or upon the deposit as security of lawful money of the United States in the amount of such bond or undertaking, and shall cancel such bond or security upon the payment over of such deposit as directed by the court making the order providing for the payment over: Provided further, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, refund any money deposited as security for the bond of any alien who shall have been admitted to the United States, or who shall have been granted the privilege to depart voluntarily from the United States within one year from the date of his entry, or who shall have been

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port to which it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of the district at which the vessel shall first arrive lists containing the names of all aliens employed on board such vessel, stating the nationality, last permanent residence, calling, and intended final destination of each alien who may be destined to the United States, and such other information as the Attorney General shall require for the proper administration of the immigration laws. Such lists shall be prepared and delivered in such manner and at such time as the Attorney General shall prescribe. Any master who willfully refuses or fails to deliver such lists, or who knowingly and willfully delivers a false list or manifest, or who refuses to allow any immigration officer to go on board of his vessel for the purpose of inspecting the same, or who refuses to detain any alien on board when ordered by such officer, or who refuses to land any alien duly certified for landing by a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 and by imprisonment for not more than one year: Provided, That no master of a vessel shall be required to detain any alien passenger for examination by special inquiry unless such alien shall have been certified for such examination by the examining surgeon at the port of embarkation or at the first port of arrival in the United States, or unless the master shall have been notified by the immigrant inspector in charge at the last port at which such alien shall have landed during the progress of the vessel to the United States that such alien has been certified for special inquiry at some other port of arrival in the United States: Provided further, That no master of a vessel shall be subject to the provisions of this section with respect to any alien who shall have been duly certified for special inquiry at the last port of call outside the United States or the adjacent islands specified in section 3 of this Act, unless such master shall have failed to detain such alien on board the vessel after notification of the decision of the immigrant inspector in charge at such port: And

NOTE.—Failure to furnish full or correct information as to any item called for may subject master to penalty of $200 and 5 years imprisonment. Each alien must be listed on a separate line. Lines are numbered to correspond with the numbers on the passenger list. Where the space provided is insufficient, the information may be continued on a separate sheet, which must be securely attached to this form. Each sheet must be numbered at the top, and the number of the last sheet must be entered on the last line of the last page of the list. If there are no aliens employed, a list must be made out containing the words "No aliens employed" and signed by the master.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on board every vessel documented under the laws of the United States. It shall be the duty of the master to enter in the list the name of every person who shall be employed or engaged on board the vessel at any time during the voyage, and also the name of every person who shall be shipped or discharged during the voyage, and the place where each person was shipped and the place where he is to be discharged, and the date of each shipping and discharge. Before the departure of the vessel on her next voyage, the list shall be signed by the master, who shall swear thereto before the collector of the district in which the vessel belongs, or before some other officer authorized to administer oaths for the purposes of the navigation laws. Any master who fails to enter in the list the name of any person required to be entered therein, or who fails to enter the place where or the time when any person was discharged, or who fails to make oath to the list when required, shall be liable to a penalty of $100 for each such offense.

R.S. 4596, sec. 2, as amended (46 U.S.C. 713).

SEC. 36. Alien about vessel.—A vessel, in the United States from any foreign port or place, which has on board any alien who is required by the immigration laws to be certified to the immigration officer at the port of arrival, shall not be granted clearance or a permit to depart from the port, except in case of distress, until the master has reported to the immigration officer at the port of departure the name of each such alien, the manner in which he obtained or secured his certificate, and such other information concerning him as may be required by the rules prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. Any master who knowingly violates any of the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense, and shall be liable to the United States for the cost of maintenance, while detained, of any alien who is required to be reported by this section and who is detained by the immigration officers at the port of departure or at any subsequent port or place at which the vessel may touch before the departure of such alien is authorized by the Secretary of Labor. Clearance may be granted to such vessel prior to the departure of such alien upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient in the opinion of the Secretary of Labor to pay the cost of maintaining such alien while detained, and upon the refunding of such deposit, less the cost of maintenance, upon the departure of such alien. Such deposit may be remitted in whole or in part by the Secretary of Labor if it is established to his satisfaction that the alien has been unable to depart because of illness. Nothing in this section shall be construed to repeal, alter, or affect the provisions of section 2 of the Act of February 27, 1907 (34 Stat. 898), as amended by section 3 of the Act of March 26, 1910 (36 Stat. 263), relating to the refusal of clearance to vessels carrying alien stowaways or alien seamen who have deserted.

SEC. 150.15 Duty of alien employees; report of departure of vessel desired. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the list required by section 36 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 889; 8 U.S.C. 137) has been furnished and the final manifest before the vessel departs from the last port in the United States. If the vessel is destined to a foreign port, the master shall deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of departure a list containing the name of each alien employee who has been employed on board the vessel since the last list was delivered, or since the vessel arrived from a foreign port if no list has been delivered, and the name of each alien employee who has been discharged from the vessel since the last list was delivered, or since the vessel arrived from a foreign port if no list has been delivered, and the name of each alien employee who is on board at the time of departure. The master shall also report the name of each alien employee who has deserted since the last list was delivered, or since the vessel arrived from a foreign port if no list has been delivered, and the name of each alien employee who has been left behind in hospital, jail, or otherwise, and the reason why he was left behind. The master shall report the name of each alien employee who has been shipped or discharged

The consular officer of the United States to whom application is made for the visé of the passport of an alien seaman will require the production of the seaman's discharge or discharges, or other satisfactory evidence of the time and place of his last departure from the United States, and will not visé the passport unless he is satisfied that the seaman has been employed on board a vessel of the nationality of the vessel on which he intends to depart from the United States, or that he has been employed on board a vessel of the nationality of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, or that he has been employed on board a vessel of the nationality of a country contiguous to the United States, or that he has been employed on board a vessel of the nationality of a country in which he has a domicile.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 3. That immediately after the arrival at a port of the United States from any foreign port of any of the vessels, aliens, or persons mentioned in section 2 of this Act, the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel shall report the name, nationality, last permanent residence, calling, and intended length of stay in the United States or Canal Zone of each alien on board, the number and locality of any unexpired permit to reenter the United States issued to any such alien, the port at which such alien intends to land, whether such alien has in his possession a ticket through to a foreign country and the name of the country to which he intends ultimately to proceed, and shall present each such alien for examination before a medical officer of the United States at the port of arrival, when such medical officer is available at such port, and if not available, then before such immigrant inspector at the port of arrival as the Commissioner of Immigration may designate. Masters of vessels may be required to detain any such alien on board pending examination or to deliver him to the proper immigration officer at the port of arrival, when such officer is available at such port, and masters of vessels shall not permit any such alien to leave the vessel after arrival at a port of the United States except as directed by the immigration officers at the port. Masters of vessels may be required to report the sanitary history and condition of the vessel, the sanitary conditions at the ports from which the vessel comes, and the sanitary precautions taken on board such vessel. Masters of vessels who refuse or neglect to perform any of the duties required of them by this section or who violate any of the provisions of this section shall be fined not more than $500 for each such offense, and may be imprisoned for not more than five years. The Attorney General may remit such fines and cancel such bonds wholly or in part, and may upon application in writing therefor, in his discretion, authorize the withdrawal of any vessel from the jurisdiction of the United States without the payment of duties or the exaction of bonds required by the navigation laws of the United States, upon such conditions as he may prescribe, whenever he may be satisfied that such vessel has been put in distress solely by stress of weather or other cause of force majeure. Any fine imposed under this section may be remitted or reduced by the Secretary of Commerce upon such terms as he may think just, and shall be a lien upon the vessel which incurred the same, and such vessel may be libeled therefor in the district court of the United States for the district in which she may be found or into which she may depart. Clearance may be withheld or granted and such vessel may depart notwithstanding the pendency of such libel or the nonpayment of such fine or exaction of such bond, upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such fine or exaction and a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may also prescribe additional regulations governing the application to vessels of the provisions of this section, and may employ such persons and make such expenditures as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this section, to be paid out of appropriations for the enforcement of the immigration laws. The provisions of this section shall not apply to any public vessel of any foreign government.

(As amended by act of May 10, 1940)

(a) Every alien seaman shall apply to the commissioner of immigration at the port of arrival in the United States for the issuance of a certificate of identity. The application shall be made under oath and shall contain such information as may be required by the Attorney General. Every alien seaman shall be photographed and fingerprinted by the immigration officer at the time of application, and shall present such photograph with his application. Upon the approval of the application by the Attorney General, the alien seaman shall be issued a certificate of identity containing his name, age, nationality, personal description, and such other information as the Attorney General may prescribe. Every alien seaman shall present his certificate of identity for visé upon each arrival in the United States and upon each departure therefrom, and shall surrender the certificate upon demand by any immigration officer.

(b) Every alien seaman who fails to present his certificate of identity upon arrival in the United States or upon departure therefrom, or who violates any of the provisions of this section, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $500 or by imprisonment for not more than six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

(c) The Attorney General may prescribe such rules and regulations as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this section, and may employ such persons and make such expenditures as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this section, to be paid out of appropriations for the enforcement of the immigration laws.

(d) This section shall apply to all persons arriving from foreign countries on vessels of the United States.

(As amended by act of June 21, 1941)

(e) Every alien seaman who shall be refused a certificate of identity by the immigration officer at the port of arrival in the United States may, within five days after such refusal, appeal to the Board of Review, Department of Labor, which shall review the case and affirm or reverse the decision of the immigration officer. Pending such review, the alien seaman shall be detained on board or at such place as the immigration officer may designate. If the decision of the Board of Review is adverse to the alien seaman, he shall be deported to the country whose nationality he claims, or to the country from which he came to the United States, at the option of the master of the vessel on which he arrived, and the cost of his maintenance while detained and of his deportation shall be borne by the master of such vessel. If the decision of the Board of Review is favorable to the alien seaman, he shall be permitted to land temporarily for such period of time as the immigration officer in charge may prescribe, and shall be required to depart on the vessel on which he arrived or on some other vessel, unless the master of such vessel shall satisfy the immigration officer that the alien seaman will not be employed on any vessel while in the United States. The Attorney General may prescribe such rules and regulations governing the application of this subsection as he may deem necessary.

(As amended by act of May 10, 1940)

(f) Every alien seaman who shall desert while on board a vessel in the United States shall be deported on board such vessel or some other vessel to the country whose nationality he claims, or to the country from which he came to the United States, at the option of the master of the vessel on which he arrived, and the cost of his maintenance while detained and of his deportation shall be borne by the master of such vessel. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, in his discretion, authorize the withdrawal of any vessel from the jurisdiction of the United States without the payment of duties or the exaction of bonds required by the navigation laws of the United States, upon such conditions as he may prescribe, whenever he may be satisfied that such vessel has been put in distress solely by stress of weather or other cause of force majeure. Any fine imposed under this section may be remitted or reduced by the Secretary of Commerce upon such terms as he may think just, and shall be a lien upon the vessel which incurred the same, and such vessel may be libeled therefor in the district court of the United States for the district in which she may be found or into which she may depart. Clearance may be withheld or granted and such vessel may depart notwithstanding the pendency of such libel or the nonpayment of such fine or exaction of such bond, upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such fine or exaction and a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may also prescribe additional regulations governing the application to vessels of the provisions of this section, and may employ such persons and make such expenditures as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this section, to be paid out of appropriations for the enforcement of the immigration laws. The provisions of this section shall not apply to any public vessel of any foreign government.

(As amended by act of June 21, 1941)

(g) That nothing in this section shall be construed to repeal, amend, or alter section 4 of the Act of February 5, 1917 (39 Stat. 875), as amended by section 3 of the Act of May 10, 1940 (54 Stat. 230), or section 2 of the Act of June 21, 1941 (55 Stat. 252; 8 U. S. C. 137).

Sec. 150.5. Leave of absence; penalty. A seaman's discharge shall not be granted to a seaman employed on board any vessel until the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel certifies that the seaman has been paid in full the wages due him, or that the amount due him has been deposited with the Commissioner of Immigration at the port of arrival, or that the seaman has been granted leave of absence by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel, and that the seaman has been informed that he will be required to deposit with the Commissioner of Immigration at the port of arrival the amount due him before he will be permitted to land in the United States except for the purpose of proceeding to the consulate of the country of which he claims nationality, or to the consulate of the country from which he came to the United States, or to the consulate of the country in which he has a domicile, and that he will be required to proceed on board the vessel on which he arrived or on some other vessel to the country whose nationality he claims, or to the country from which he came to the United States, or to the country in which he has a domicile, at the option of the master of the vessel on which he arrived, before he will be permitted to land in the United States except for the purpose of proceeding to the consulate of the country of which he claims nationality, or to the consulate of the country from which he came to the United States, or to the consulate of the country in which he has a domicile. Leave of absence granted to a seaman employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States may be withdrawn by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel at any time before the seaman has been permitted to land in the United States, and the seaman may be required to proceed on board the vessel on which he arrived or on some other vessel to the country whose nationality he claims, or to the country from which he came to the United States, or to the country in which he has a domicile, at the option of the master of the vessel on which he arrived, before he will be permitted to land in the United States except for the purpose of proceeding to the consulate of the country of which he claims nationality, or to the consulate of the country from which he came to the United States, or to the consulate of the country in which he has a domicile. Any seaman employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States who shall desert while such vessel is in port shall be deported on board such vessel or some other vessel to the country whose nationality he claims, or to the country from which he came to the United States, at the option of the master of the vessel on which he arrived, and the cost of his maintenance while detained and of his deportation shall be borne by the master of such vessel. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, in his discretion, authorize the withdrawal of any vessel from the jurisdiction of the United States without the payment of duties or the exaction of bonds required by the navigation laws of the United States, upon such conditions as he may prescribe, whenever he may be satisfied that such vessel has been put in distress solely by stress of weather or other cause of force majeure. EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1934, AS AMENDED

SEC. 15. No alien seaman employed upon any vessel arriving in the United States shall be permitted to land temporarily or permanently in the United States except upon such conditions as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor and shall be deported on board such vessel or some other vessel to the country whose nationality he claims, or to the country from which he came to the United States, or to the country in which he has a domicile, at the option of the master of the vessel on which he arrived, unless such alien seaman (other than a seaman employed in any capacity on board any vessel during its stay in any port of the United States) establishes before the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival that he has been lawfully admitted to the United States, that he is in possession of a valid passport viséed by the consular officer of the country to which he intends to proceed, if such country requires a passport and visé, and that he intends to depart on board a vessel for which he has been granted a conditional landing permit by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival. Masters of vessels shall be responsible for the prompt departure from the United States of alien seamen granted conditional landing permits. Masters of vessels shall not be required to detain on board their vessels alien seamen after the vessels have been cleared from customs and are ready to depart from the port, but masters of vessels may be required to deposit with the Commissioner of Immigration at the port of arrival the amount of wages due such alien seamen, or to furnish a bond in such amount as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, conditioned upon the delivery of such alien seamen on board their vessels before departure. Masters of vessels who fail to report the sanitary history and condition of their vessels, the sanitary conditions at the ports from which the vessels come, and the sanitary precautions taken on board such vessels, or who refuse or neglect to detain such aliens on board pending examination or to deliver such aliens to the proper immigration officers at the time of departure, or who refuse or neglect to deport such aliens on the vessels on which they arrived or on other vessels, or who refuse or neglect to perform any of the duties required of them by this section or who violate any of the provisions of this section shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each such offense, and may be imprisoned for not more than five years. The Attorney General may remit such fines and cancel such bonds wholly or in part, and may upon application in writing therefor, in his discretion, authorize the withdrawal of any vessel from the jurisdiction of the United States without the payment of duties or the exaction of bonds required by the navigation laws of the United States, upon such conditions as he may prescribe, whenever he may be satisfied that such vessel has been put in distress solely by stress of weather or other cause of force majeure. Any fine imposed under this section may be remitted or reduced by the Secretary of Commerce upon such terms as he may think just, and shall be a lien upon the vessel which incurred the same, and such vessel may be libeled therefor in the district court of the United States for the district in which she may be found or into which she may depart. Clearance may be withheld or granted and such vessel may depart notwithstanding the pendency of such libel or the nonpayment of such fine or exaction of such bond, upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such fine or exaction and a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may also prescribe additional regulations governing the application to vessels of the provisions of this section, and may employ such persons and make such expenditures as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this section, to be paid out of appropriations for the enforcement of the immigration laws. The provisions of this section shall not apply to any public vessel of any foreign government.

(As amended by act of June 21, 1941)

(g) That nothing in this section shall be construed to repeal, amend, or alter section 4 of the Act of February 5, 1917 (39 Stat. 875), as amended by section 3 of the Act of May 10, 1940 (54 Stat. 230), or section 2 of the Act of June 21, 1941 (55 Stat. 252; 8 U. S. C. 137).

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or entering the navigable waters of the United States from any place outside thereof, or who has been granted shore leave pursuant to section 20 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 884; 8 U. S. C. 171), and who does not depart therewith on the vessel or some other vessel in possession of the master thereof, shall be granted a visa and admitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or unless he is a member of a class of aliens admitted as nonimmigrants under section 3 of the Immigration Act of 1924 (43 Stat. 154; 8 U. S. C. 203).

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 180.)

foreign port shall be granted on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination of such seaman), or Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. Upon such failure the Attorney (general in his discretion shall think proper.

This section, as amended, shall apply to all seamen (except citizens of the United States) employed on such vessel, whether such seaman was or was not theretofore inspected and admitted (d) Proof that an alien seaman did not obtain shore leave independent to June 2, 1940.

from any place outside thereof, or that he was rejected by the immigration officer at the vessel on which he arrived in the United States to obtain or depart after readmittance by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(e) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seamen on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seamen he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of aliens of alien members, and also persons (Form I 418) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate seaman is a "workaway," a duplicate to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of alternate American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

MASTER'S OR COMMANDING OFFICER'S OR FIRST OR SECOND OFFICER'S AFFIDAVIT

I, Mykola Bohdanovych Makarov of the Bosn. o/s MARIOLE, do depose and say that the foregoing is a full and true list of all the crew thereof in addition to officers, from and port of which vessel arrived, and that I have noted the color of section 30 of the Act of February 5, 1917, extract from Title 8, Code of Federal Regulations, and that I have noted the color of sections 13 and 30, Act of May 26, 1924, which appear below.

Sworn to before me this [illegible] day of [illegible], 19[illegible]

[illegible]
Immigrant Inspector.

21-d/182

Sec. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof to which such alien belongs, or in which he has resided, is hereby required to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival a complete manifest, in triplicate, in the English language, containing the name of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the position they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those to be held on board in the United States; the name of all aliens employed on such vessel who are discharged from the vessel, or who desert therefrom in the United States, and the cause of such discharge or desertion so far as known; the name of all aliens employed on such vessel who fail to report on board thereof at the completion of each voyage; the name of all aliens employed on such vessel who are not citizens of the United States, and such information as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, or his assistants, for the identification of any of such aliens; the name of all aliens employed on such vessel who are detained at any foreign port for any cause, and the cause for such detention; and such other information relative to such aliens as the Commissioner General of Immigration may prescribe. Such lists shall be prepared at such time before the departure of such vessel from the last port outside the United States, and in such manner, as the Commissioner General of Immigration may prescribe, and shall be subject to such examination by immigrant inspectors as the Commissioner General of Immigration may direct. Such lists shall be produced upon the demand of any immigrant inspector, and a true copy thereof, duly certified by the master, or person in charge of such vessel, shall be delivered to such inspector at the time of the departure of such vessel from any port of the United States. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any such vessel who refuses or fails to deliver such lists, or who refuses or fails to report, or who reports incorrectly or falsely, the name of any alien employed on such vessel, or who refuses or fails to deliver to any immigrant inspector any such alien employed on such vessel, or who refuses or fails to report the cause for failure to deliver any such alien employed on such vessel, shall pay a penalty of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered, to a fund thereby to be known as the immigrant fund, in the event such fine is imposed, which it remains during that the amount of wages due to such alien may be withheld to the amount of such fine, and such alien may be detained on board the vessel by the master or person in charge thereof, and no such vessel shall be cleared while any such fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. Upon such return as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. The section, as amended, shall apply to all penalties which accrued after June 2, 1920.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart from the outlying territory of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or from any reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to obtain or deport after temporary by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel cannot be obtained for the return of such seaman by the master of such vessel, the expense of the passage of such seaman shall be paid from the appropriation for the enforcement of the immigration laws. Any vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the deportation of such seaman if security satisfactory to the Attorney General is given for the return of such seaman when required. Any master who shall refuse or neglect to comply with the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the deportation of such seaman if security satisfactory to the Attorney General may be required, or while such seaman remains on board after being ordered to be deported, except upon the certificate in writing of the immigrant inspector in charge that the cause for detention no longer exists, or upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to pay the cost of such deportation, or the giving of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the Commissioner General of Immigration. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 160.)

Sec. 50. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof to which such alien belongs, or in which he has resided, is hereby required to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, prior to the departure of such vessel from such port, a complete manifest, in triplicate, in the English language, containing the name of all aliens employed on such vessel who are not citizens of the United States, and such information relative to such aliens as the Commissioner General of Immigration may prescribe. Such lists shall be prepared at such time before the departure of such vessel from the last port outside the United States, and in such manner, as the Commissioner General of Immigration may prescribe, and shall be subject to such examination by immigrant inspectors as the Commissioner General of Immigration may direct. Such lists shall be produced upon the demand of any immigrant inspector, and a true copy thereof, duly certified by the master, or person in charge of such vessel, shall be delivered to such inspector at the time of the departure of such vessel from any port of the United States. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any such vessel who refuses or fails to deliver such lists, or who refuses or fails to report, or who reports incorrectly or falsely, the name of any alien employed on such vessel, or who refuses or fails to deliver to any immigrant inspector any such alien employed on such vessel, or who refuses or fails to report the cause for failure to deliver any such alien employed on such vessel, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered, to a fund thereby to be known as the immigrant fund, in the event such fine is imposed, which it remains during that the amount of wages due to such alien may be withheld to the amount of such fine, and such alien may be detained on board the vessel by the master or person in charge thereof, and no such vessel shall be cleared while any such fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the Commissioner General of Immigration. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 160.)

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

[illegible] to be filled before sailing, by the master of the vessel, and also by the owner or agent, if the vessel is bound to a foreign port. The list of questions to which answers are required is printed on the back of the manifest, and the master should be careful to read the questions and to answer them correctly and fully. In order to facilitate inspection, it is requested that the manifest be written in ink, and that the answers be written in a plain, legible hand. Any omission to answer fully any question, or any false answer, will render the master liable to the penalties provided by law.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 3. That alien seamen may land temporarily in the United States from any foreign port or place if issued the duly visaed certificate provided for in section 2 of this Act, and shall be entitled to the privileges of seamen lawfully engaged, and may be granted by the proper immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival, upon compliance with such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, a permit to go ashore temporarily, to be returned to the vessel before its departure from port, or to ship on board another vessel, or to proceed to any immigration station for examination, under such conditions as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, but no such alien shall be permitted to land at any port where the immigration officer in charge of the port shall certify that the physical condition of such alien is such that he would be likely to become a public charge, unless such alien shall be specifically admitted upon the certificate of a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service that such alien may be permitted to land without danger to the public health: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, waive the certificate of a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service in the case of any alien seaman who has been certified by the public health authorities of a foreign port to be suffering from a disease other than one of those named in section 2 of this Act, if such alien seaman shall have been treated for such disease at the expense of the master, owner, agent, or consignee of the vessel on which he arrived at such port, and such master, owner, agent, or consignee shall furnish a bond in such sum as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, conditioned that such alien seaman will be properly treated for such disease during the period of his detention in the United States and will be returned to such foreign port on the vessel on which he arrived or on some other vessel designated by the master, owner, agent, or consignee of the vessel on which he arrived, or pay the cost of his return passage: Provided further, That no such alien seaman shall be permitted to land temporarily under the provisions of this section if the immigration officer in charge of the port has reason to believe that such alien seaman intends to enter the United States unlawfully or to remain therein permanently, or to go to some other country other than that to which he may be entitled to return, or to land temporarily for the purpose of applying for a visa. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States, Alaska, Hawaii, or Porto Rico, who shall remain therein for a longer period of time than sixty days, or who shall go more than five miles from the port of arrival without the permission of the immigration officer in charge of the port, or who shall ship on board any vessel from any port in the United States, Alaska, Hawaii, or Porto Rico, or who shall fail to report on board the vessel on which he arrived at the time of its departure from such port, shall be deemed to have entered the United States for permanent residence, and shall be subject to all the provisions of this Act relating to aliens who enter the United States for permanent residence. Any alien seaman who shall desert from any vessel in the United States shall be deported as provided in section 19 of this Act. Any alien seaman who shall be employed on board any vessel in the United States, Alaska, Hawaii, or Porto Rico, the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of which has failed to deport such alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, or has failed to pay the cost of such deportation, or has failed to comply with any of the requirements of this section, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien seaman so employed, which may be remitted or mitigated by the Secretary of Labor, upon such terms as he shall deem just. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such penalty, or while the any question remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of such sum as may be required by the collector of customs or other officer of the United States charged with the duty of collecting

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival. Lines must be drawn to separate the names of all persons, if any, who are not to be examined at the port of arrival. Any omission of the name of any alien required to be listed will be considered a violation of section 30 of the act of February 5, 1917, and subject the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel to the penalties prescribed by law for such violation. Any additional data desired by the Commissioner General of Immigration concerning any alien must be furnished when required.

(Form I. 425.)

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 30. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel to deliver to the immigrant officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the business they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and whether they intend to depart from the United States or to land in the United States, and such other information, touching the identity, nationality, and history of such aliens, as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration and prescribed on general blanks to be furnished by the Department of Labor for the purpose. Such lists shall be produced for the inspection of, and verified by the oath of, such master, agent, consignee, or charterer, or his subordinate having charge of the same, before any such immigrant officer shall go on board such vessel, and no person shall leave such vessel before the inspection is completed and the permission of the immigrant officer in charge of the port to land has been granted, except in case of sickness or accident requiring immediate removal to a hospital, or except such as may be specially authorized by the Commissioner General of Immigration to leave the vessel before inspection. Any master, agent, consignee, or charterer who refuses to deliver such lists, or who refuses to produce such vessel and the persons on board thereof for inspection, or who refuses to the immigrant officer in charge of the port such information in regard to the persons on board as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, shall pay a penalty of $300 for each and every such refusal; and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the production of such vessel for inspection, the delivery of such lists, and the payment of such penalties, nor thereafter unless such clearance papers be specially granted by the Commissioner General of Immigration. Any master, agent, consignee, or charterer who shall refuse to carry any alien passenger specified in the certificate issued in his behalf by the examining surgeon at the port of embarkation provided for in section 11 of this Act, to the port of destination of such alien passenger, shall pay to the collector of customs for the district in which such port of destination is situated a penalty of $200 for each such alien passenger specified in said certificate, and no such master, agent, consignee, or charterer shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of said penalty. Such penalty shall not be remitted or refunded except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the question of remission upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such penalty or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit such penalty or any part thereof if he is satisfied that the master, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel in connection with which the penalty was incurred had no reason to believe that any alien on board such vessel was unlawfully in the United States or not duly authorized by the proper officers of the United States to proceed to the port at which application for the remission of such penalty is made, and that such master, agent, consignee, or charterer has paid the cost of the return of such alien to the country whence he came, or to the country in which he embarked him, or has furnished a bond sufficient to cover the cost of such return, and that such master, agent, consignee, or charterer has not in any way been instrumental in bringing such alien to the United States, and has not profited by his unlawful entry. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of remission of the penalty incurred by the master, agent, consignee, or charterer thereof on account of the unlawful entry into the United States of any alien employed on such vessel, whether such alien was employed or shipped as a member of the crew or otherwise, or on account of the refusal of any master, agent, consignee, or charterer to detain any such alien on board such vessel when ordered so to do, or on account of the failure to detain any such alien on board such vessel until the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival has had due opportunity to examine such alien and has granted permission to land, or on account of the refusal of any such master, agent, consignee, or charterer to deliver to the immigrant officer in charge of the port of arrival any such alien for examination or to detain any such alien on board such vessel until the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival has had due opportunity to examine such alien and has granted permission to land, or on account of the failure

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924, AS AMENDED

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of an emergency affecting the safety of the vessel, or for such time as the Attorney General may prescribe in his discretion to the extent necessary to enable him to make such investigation as he may deem necessary, or pending the departure of such seaman on board the vessel or other vessel for which he may be shipped or discharged, or pending the departure of such alien from the United States, or pending the examination by the medical officer in charge at the port of arrival (which examination shall be conducted as soon as practicable after the vessel arrives at such port), or pending the certification by such medical officer of the seaman's fitness to land, or pending the granting or refusal by the Attorney General of a permit to land under such regulations as he may prescribe, or pending the settlement of any question as to the right of such alien to land, or pending the transportation of such alien to a place outside the United States. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the provisions of this section shall be permitted to land in the United States at any time during the period of his employment on board any vessel arriving in the United States, except in case of medical certification that he is unable to proceed to sea with the vessel on account of illness, or except in case of shipwreck, or except when, in the discretion of the Attorney General, he is destined to the United States to accept employment on board some vessel other than the vessel on board which he arrived in the United States, or except when, in the discretion of the Attorney General, he has been lawfully admitted to the United States for permanent residence. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported in the manner provided by section 19 of this Act

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be furnished on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspectors at the port of arrival and departure of each vessel carrying passengers to the United States. The list shall contain the names of all persons embarked on such vessel, whether the destination of such persons is the port of arrival or place beyond. In the case of transportation from one foreign port to another, the list required to be delivered to the immigration officer at the port of arrival shall contain the names of all persons embarked on such vessel, whether the destination of such persons is the port of arrival or place beyond. In the case of transportation from one foreign port to another, the list required to be delivered to the immigration officer at the port of arrival shall contain the names of all persons embarked on such vessel at the port of departure, whether destined to the port of arrival or to some other port. The list shall be prepared in the order of the names of the persons therein contained, and the following information with respect to each person named therein shall be given, in the English language, before the departure of the vessel from the port at which the list is prepared, to the immigration officer at the port of arrival, or in case of transportation from one foreign port to another, before the departure of the vessel from the port at which the list is prepared, to the immigration officer at the port of departure:

Full name of each person; whether married or single; age; sex; calling or occupation; whether able to read or write; nationality; last permanent residence; whether in possession of a ticket to destination and whether such ticket is paid for directly or indirectly by the person or by others; whether in possession of $50 in money or not, and if less than $50 the amount possessed; whether going to join a relative or friend, and if so what relative or friend, and his complete address; whether ever before in the United States, and if so when and where; whether ever in prison or almshouse or supported by charity; whether a polygamist; whether an anarchist; whether coming by reason of any offer, solicitation, promise, agreement, or prepayment of labor; whether coming to perform labor, and if so what kind; whether assisted to come by any corporation, association, society, municipality, or foreign government, and if so what; whether connected with the military or naval service of any foreign government, and if so what; whether ever before rejected, and if so what cause; whether ever before deported, and if so what cause; whether under contract or agreement to perform labor, and if so what kind; the height; whether deformed or crippled, and if so how; color of hair, eyes, and complexion; marks of identification; and nationality, race, and last birthplace of each person.

The list described above shall be verified by the oath of the master or commanding officer of the vessel, taken before the consul, vice consul, commercial agent, consular agent, or other officer of the United States duly authorized to administer oaths to masters of vessels, at the port or place from which the vessel sails, and shall be delivered by the master or commanding officer of the vessel to the immigration officer at the port of arrival in the United States at the time of the inspection of the vessel by such officer. Such master or commanding officer shall also, at the time of delivering such list, report and deliver to the immigration officer at such port the original certificate issued to him by the consul, vice consul, commercial agent, or consular agent at the port of departure, and shall report the names of all persons who may have been taken on board the vessel after the granting of such certificate, and produce and deliver to such immigration officer the certificate issued by the consul, vice consul, commercial agent, or consular agent for each of such persons.

Any master or commanding officer of any vessel who refuses or neglects to deliver the list required by this section, or who refuses or neglects to deliver to any such immigration officer any certificate issued by a consul, vice consul, commercial agent, or consular agent, or who refuses or neglects to report and deliver the name of any person who may have been taken on board his vessel after the granting of such certificate, or who refuses or neglects to perform any other duty required of him by this section, or who makes any false report, or who refuses to pay any tax imposed by section 2 of this Act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each and every such offense.

SEC. 36. That when arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival data containing the names of all persons embarked on such vessel, whether the destination of such persons is the port of arrival or place beyond. In the case of transportation from one foreign port to another, the data required to be delivered to the immigration officer at the port of arrival shall contain the names of all persons embarked on such vessel at the port of departure, whether destined to the port of arrival or to some other port. The data shall be prepared in the order of the names of the persons therein contained, and the following information with respect to each person named therein shall be given, in the English language, before the departure of the vessel from the port at which the list is prepared, to the immigration officer at the port of departure: Full name, age, sex, whether married or single, calling or occupation, whether able to read or write, nationality, last permanent residence, whether in possession of a ticket to destination and whether such ticket is paid for directly or indirectly by the person or by others, whether in possession of $50 in money or not, and if less than $50 the amount possessed, whether going to join a relative or friend, and if so what relative or friend, and his complete address, whether ever before in the United States, and if so when and where, whether ever in prison or almshouse or supported by charity, whether a polygamist, whether an anarchist, whether coming by reason of any offer, solicitation, promise, agreement, or prepayment of labor, whether coming to perform labor, and if so what kind, whether assisted to come by any corporation, association, society, municipality, or foreign government, and if so what, whether connected with the military or naval service of any foreign government, and if so what, whether ever before rejected, and if so what cause, whether ever before deported, and if so what cause, whether under contract or agreement to perform labor, and if so what kind, the height, whether deformed or crippled, and if so how, color of hair, eyes, and complexion, marks of identification, and nationality, race, and last birthplace of each person. ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 16. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, shall be permitted to land in the United States except temporarily for medical treatment, or temporarily to secure repairs to such vessel unless specifically authorized by the Secretary of Labor, or except in case of the actual necessity for the safety of the vessel or the crew or passengers thereof, and no alien seaman employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory shall be permitted to land temporarily for any purpose unless he shall have been duly certified by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival after such investigation as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the purpose of this section, which certificate shall be delivered to the master of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived, upon the departure of such vessel from such port, and shall be produced by every alien seaman seeking to land temporarily in the United States and to depart on such vessel. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States without having been certified by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, or who shall fail to depart on the vessel on which he arrived, or on some other vessel, within the period for which he was certified, or who shall fail to report on board such vessel at the time of her departure from any port in the United States, shall be deemed to be unlawfully in the United States and shall be deported in the manner provided by section 19 of this Act. (39 Stat. 890; 8 U. S. C. 155.)

SEC. 50. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the contiguous territory of Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, Cuba, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, or the Canal Zone, or from any place outside the United States through the Panama Canal, shall report the arrival of such vessel to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, and shall report the presence on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has granted such alien seaman a permit to land, or has ordered such alien seaman detained on board or at quarantine, or has given such alien seaman written notice that a permit will be refused. Such report shall be made in advance of the arrival of the vessel at such port, in accordance with such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe. Any such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master who fails to report the presence on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge has granted such alien seaman a permit to land, or has ordered such alien seaman detained on board or at quarantine, or has given such alien seaman written notice that a permit will be refused, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of such question, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, upon application in writing therefor, and the deposit with the collector of customs of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, or of a cash deposit in the sum of $2,500 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, and upon the recommendation of the Secretary of Labor, remit or cancel any fine, or any part thereof, or any bond given or deposit made under the provisions of this section, whenever he shall be satisfied that such fine was improperly or unjustly imposed, or that such bond or deposit should be remitted or canceled in order to conform to the decision of the Secretary of Labor as to the cases in which such fine should be imposed. SEC. 36. That alien entering at any seaport in the United States from foreign port or place if shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a list or manifest of all aliens employed on board such vessel, stating the nationality, last permanent residence, and destination of each alien who may be employed on board such vessel and who may be ordered to depart from the United States under the provisions of this Act, and such other information relative thereto as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, which list or manifest shall be prepared and sworn to by the master or commanding officer of such vessel, or by the purser, surgeon, or chief officer thereof, as may be designated by the master, before the departure of such vessel from the port where such list or manifest is required to be delivered: Provided, That in case of the illness of the master or the chief officer, or the death of either, during the voyage, the list or manifest may be delivered and sworn to before the successor of any such officer: And provided further, That the master of any vessel shall not be required to include in the list or manifest the name of any alien employed on board such vessel who is a bona fide member of the crew and who is destined to return on board the vessel on which he arrived, and who has been lawfully admitted to the United States and has resided therein for a period of not less than one year immediately preceding the departure of such vessel from a port in the United States, unless the master, commissioner, or immigrant inspector in charge of the port of arrival shall have reasonable cause to believe that such alien will not depart on such vessel, in which case he shall include in the list or manifest the name of such alien, with a statement of the reasons for such belief. The master, commissioner, or immigrant inspector in charge of the port of arrival shall have the right to require the master to furnish such additional information as may be deemed necessary for the proper administration of the immigration laws.

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a list containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or entered, and whether they intend to depart from the United States or not after the discharge of the vessel, which list shall be prepared and sworn to by the master or commanding officer of such vessel, or by the purser, surgeon, or chief officer thereof, as may be designated by the master, before the departure of any such vessel from the port where such list is required to be delivered, with such information thereon as the Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of any such vessel at a port in the United States it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof to deliver to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any alien employed on board such vessel has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with any information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all aliens employed on board such vessel who have not previously been reported, stating the manner in which such aliens have illegally landed from such vessel, and all such information as may be required by such immigration officer as to the movements of such aliens: Provided, That the master of any vessel may discharge any alien seaman employed on board such vessel at any port in the United States, except Honolulu, Territory of Hawaii, or Puerto Rico, with the consent of the Commissioner General of Immigration, or the immigrant inspector in charge of the port, upon the filing of a bond in such sum, not exceeding $300, as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, conditioned that such alien seaman will depart from the United States on board the vessel on which he arrived, or on some other vessel, within such time as may be specified by the Commissioner General of Immigration, and will comply with all the requirements of this Act and the rules and regulations made thereunder with respect to aliens employed on board vessels arriving at ports of the United States: Provided further, That the master of any vessel may, in lieu of filing a bond as hereinbefore provided, deposit with the Commissioner General of Immigration, or the immigrant inspector in charge of the port, the sum of $300 for each alien seaman employed on board such vessel, which deposit shall be refunded to the master of such vessel upon the departure of such alien seaman from the United States on board the vessel on which he arrived, or on some other vessel, within such time as may be specified by the Commissioner General of Immigration, and upon the performance of all the requirements of this Act and the rules and regulations made thereunder with respect to such alien seaman: Provided further, That the Commissioner General of Immigration may, in his discretion, permit masters of vessels to deposit with him such sum as he may deem sufficient to cover the cost of the return of any alien seaman employed on board such vessel to the country to which he belongs, or to the country from which he last came to the United States, or to such other country as will accept him, not exceeding the sum of $300 for each alien seaman so employed, and may refund to such masters such sums from time to time as may be expended in excess of the sums deposited by them for the purposes aforesaid.

SEC. 50. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the foreign contiguous territory of the United States who shall refuse or fail to deliver on board such vessel, upon the arrival thereof at the port of entry, or at any time or times before the departure of such vessel from the United States, any list or lists required by section 12 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 880; 8 U. S. C. 171), have been furnished, and for each person concerning whom any required information is not contained in such list or lists, or concerning whom any such information is incorrectly stated, shall pay a penalty of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct information is not furnished, and in the event such fine is imposed, while it remains unpaid, no clearance shall be granted any such vessel by the Attorney General, or by any person designated by him for the purpose, or by the collector of customs of the district in which the port is located, and in addition thereto such vessel shall be prohibited from carrying any alien passenger to any port in the United States on the next succeeding voyage.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to depart after reshipment by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may grant a clearance that is to be deposited on shipboard under the control of the master of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or quarantine requirements, and no alien seaman shall be granted a visa by any consular officer in China at the port of departure of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, unless such alien seaman shall present to such consular officer a certificate from a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service, or other medical officer designated by the Secretary of Labor, stating that such alien seaman has been examined by him and found to be in good health and free from any mental or physical defect or disease likely to endanger the public health, and that such alien seaman has been treated for any communicable disease during the period of detention. Such certificate shall be prepared in triplicate, on forms prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, and the original thereof shall be delivered to the alien seaman, a duplicate retained by the medical officer issuing the certificate, and the triplicate forwarded to the Commissioner General of Immigration. Such alien seaman shall present the certificate to the immigration officer at the port of arrival in the United States, and shall be subject to such further examination as the immigration officers may deem necessary. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported in the manner provided by section 19 of this Act, irrespective of the time limitations therein contained. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such violation occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance by any immigration officer or the Attorney General so long as any fine, or any part of a fine, remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or a part of a fine, in a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit, upon payment to the collector of customs of a sum not in excess of $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such fine occurs, any fine in excess of one-half of the amount thereof, and any bond given to secure the payment thereof in so far as the same shall have been satisfied by the payment of such fine or any part thereof. This section as amended shall apply to all deportable aliens arriving subsequent to June 2, 1924.

(d) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to depart after readmission by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(e) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may grant a clearance that is to be deposited on shipboard under the control of the master of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws but employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily to secure treatment in a hospital certified by the Surgeon General of the Public Health Service, or to obtain supplies or make repairs, or because of illness requiring his detention, or for such other reasons as may be approved by the Secretary of Labor, under such conditions as he may prescribe, but shall be deported on board the vessel or other vessel or vessels bringing him to the United States, or on board some vessel sailing for a foreign port, to the country to which he belongs, or from which he came to the United States, or to the country of which he is a subject or citizen. (42 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof shall deliver to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival manifests, in duplicate, of the persons on board such vessel, and the immigration officer may require any such manifest to be verified by the oath of the master or commanding officer and by the oath of each alien therein as to the matters contained in the manifest touching the identity, nationality, last permanent residence, and admissibility of such alien. Such manifests shall be in such form and contain such other information as may be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor. One copy of such manifests shall be delivered to the immigration officer at the port of arrival before the vessel shall be granted clearance papers, and another copy shall be delivered to the immigration officer at the port of departure upon the completion of the inspection of the passengers by the immigration officers at such port. Such other lists or manifests of persons on board such vessel shall be furnished to such officers at such time as may be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor.

(b) Every alien who shall come to the United States from any place outside thereof, or who shall come from the United States to any place outside thereof, and every person who shall depart from the United States, except seamen employed in the regular service of vessels of the United States, shall be inspected by the immigration officers at the time of his entry into or departure from the United States, unless specially exempted by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, and every alien who shall depart from the United States shall present a valid passport viséed by the consular officer of the country to which he is going, if such country requires passports and visés, and if he fails to present such passport viséed as required he shall be deported in the manner provided for the deportation of aliens who have entered the United States unlawfully.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 21. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws has been employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of shipwreck or other casualty or for such other reasons as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to deport on board the vessel on which any alien seaman employed on such vessel lists the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), or to cause such alien seaman to be so deported, or who fails to report such seaman for inspection or to deport such seaman if detained by said immigration officer at the port, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not less than $1,000 nor more than $2,000 for each seaman so failing to report or deport, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman so failing to report or deport, and remit the remainder of such penalty. The decision of the Attorney General in the determination of the amount of such penalty shall be final. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, and upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such cost, or to a bond with sufficient surety to cover such cost, and upon such other terms as he may prescribe, issue a permit to any such seaman to go ashore temporarily from any vessel on which he has arrived, pending the decision of the Attorney General as to the deportation of such seaman. Such permit may be revoked by the Attorney General at any time and the seaman be taken on board the vessel on which he arrived or some other vessel for deportation. The Attorney General may prescribe rules and regulations governing the granting of such permits and providing for the taking of bonds for the return of such seamen to the vessels on which they arrived, and for the deportation of such seamen. Such bonds shall not be required in respect of seamen who are citizens of the United States.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall remain in the United States for a period longer than the period allowed by the immigration officer at the time of inspection or by the Attorney General, or for a longer period than that for which he may obtain a permit to go ashore temporarily, shall be deported in the manner provided in the case of other aliens unlawfully in the United States, unless the Attorney General shall be satisfied that such alien seaman has been lawfully admitted to the United States or has become a bona fide resident thereof.

(c) If the Attorney General shall find that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived will cause undue hardship, such alien may be permitted to remain in the United States for such time and under such conditions as the Attorney General may prescribe. (43 Stat. 164–165, as amended; 8 U. S. C. 191 (a), (b), (c).)

AFFIDAVIT OF THE MASTER OR COMMANDING OFFICER, OR FIRST OR SECOND OFFICER

I, Richard Henry Mosley, of the Fish Boat Lippy 55 do depose
and say that I am the master (or officer in charge) of the vessel (name and port of documentation) of Tampa 1 tons net, built at Morgan City, La. in 1951, and that the crew of said vessel, consisting of 6 persons, including myself, are all citizens of the United States, except the following aliens, who have been employed on board said vessel for the following reasons and periods:

Name	Nationality	Reason employed	Period employed
None

(Insert "None" if no aliens employed.)

I further depose and say that the following persons, who were employed on board said vessel during the last 30 days, have severally refused to proceed on board said vessel for the following reasons:

Name	Nationality	Reason refused
None

(Insert "None" if no persons refused.)

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 30 day of April, 1954.

[SEAL]

Richard Henry Mosley
Master, Fish Boat Lippy 55

Notary Public

My commission expires: 6-30-54

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The law requires that the following notice shall be posted in a conspicuous place on board the vessel. The penalties mentioned may be incurred by the master or any other person who shall violate any of the provisions of the immigration laws.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That from and after the passage of this Act it shall be unlawful for any person, company, partnership, or corporation to bring to the United States from any foreign port or place any alien not duly admitted by an immigration officer at the port of entry or granted permission to land temporarily under such rules and regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, and it shall be unlawful for any person, company, partnership, or corporation, or any agent, owner, master, commanding officer, purser, or consignee of any vessel or aircraft bringing any alien to the United States to land or permit to land any such alien from any vessel or aircraft at any port or place in the United States from any foreign port or place, or for any master of any vessel or aircraft or any owner of any vessel or aircraft bringing any alien to the United States to land or permit to land any such alien from any vessel or aircraft at any place other than the designated port of entry for aliens: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may issue rules and regulations providing for the landing of alien seamen in the United States for the purpose of shore leave, under such bond and such conditions as he may prescribe, and may refuse to issue any such rules and regulations, or any part thereof, and may revoke any such rules and regulations, or any part thereof, except those providing for the granting of shore leave to seamen employed on board of vessels which shall have been duly certified by the public health service as being free from quarantinable disease, whenever he deems such refusal or revocation necessary in order to protect the United States or any locality therein from contagious disease: Provided further, That any master, commanding officer, purser, or consignee of any vessel or aircraft bringing any alien to the United States who shall have been granted shore leave under the provisions of this Act or such rules and regulations issued thereunder, and who shall fail to exercise due diligence to prevent the departure of such alien from the United States except in accordance with such rules and regulations, shall pay to the collector of customs for the district in which such vessel or aircraft shall arrive a sum not exceeding $1,000 for each such alien, as he may determine, having due regard to the circumstances of the case and the gravity of the offense: And provided further, That nothing contained in this Act shall be construed to require the detention in the United States of any alien entitled to enter the United States under any treaty now existing and not abrogated by the United States, or any alien entitled to enter the United States as a bona fide representative of any foreign government recognized de jure by the United States and accredited to and by the United States Government, or to require the detention in the United States of the husband, wife, minor children, or affianced fiancée coming to join any such alien entitled to enter the United States as a bona fide representative of any foreign government recognized de jure by the United States and accredited to and by the United States Government, or to require the detention in the United States of any such alien seeking to depart temporarily therefrom for business or pleasure, under such rules and regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, without the payment or exaction of any tax, fee, or charge.

SEC. 37. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel or aircraft bringing an alien to the United States from any foreign port or place, except from Canada, Newfoundland, or Mexico, shall be responsible for the proper maintenance while in the United States of such alien, and in default of such maintenance he shall be liable to a penalty of $30 per month or fraction thereof during which such alien shall remain in the United States, unless such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master shall deposit with the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization a sum sufficient in the opinion of the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization to provide for such maintenance for a period not exceeding six months, and such deposit shall be refunded if the alien departs within such period. Such maintenance may be furnished in any suitable manner, including boarding with private families.

(b) Any such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel or aircraft bringing an alien to the United States from any foreign port or place who shall refuse or neglect to comply with any order or requirement of the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization made in pursuance of this section shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each such refusal or neglect.

(c) The Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization may, in his discretion, refuse to permit the landing in the United States of any alien brought to a port of the United States by any vessel or aircraft, and may cause such alien to be detained on board such vessel or aircraft or, if he shall consider it necessary, in the custody of the owner, master, agent, consignee, or commanding officer of such vessel or aircraft, at such port of entry or place in the United States as he may designate, pending the determination of such alien's right to land in the United States, and may cause such alien to be returned to the country whence he came, or to the country from which he sailed, or to the country of which he is a subject, citizen, or national, at the option of the master, agent, consignee, or commanding officer of the vessel or aircraft bringing such alien to the United States, and such master, agent, consignee, or commanding officer shall comply with the requirements of the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization with respect to the detention and removal of such alien. Nothing contained in this section shall be construed to require the detention in the United States of any alien who is in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa, reentry permit, or other document required by this Act and who is clearly and beyond doubt entitled to enter the United States under this Act, or to require the detention in the United States of any alien who is in possession of a valid unexpired nonimmigrant visa or border crossing identification card and who is clearly and beyond doubt entitled to enter the United States under this Act as a nonimmigrant, or to require the detention in the United States of any alien who is in possession of a valid unexpired boat landing permit and who is clearly and beyond doubt entitled to enter the United States under section 235(c) of this Act.

(d) Any such master, agent, consignee, or commanding officer who shall fail to comply with any such order or requirement of the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization shall pay to the collector of customs for the district in which such vessel or aircraft shall arrive a sum not exceeding $1,000 for each such alien, as he may determine, having due regard to the circumstances of the case and the gravity of the offense. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure has issued a certificate that all such orders and requirements of the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization with respect to the detention and removal of all aliens on board such vessel have been complied with, and such certificate shall be delivered to the master, agent, consignee, or commanding officer of such vessel. No such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to pay any such charge, or while any such charge is unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such charge or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing made prior to the granting of clearance, remit any charge, or any part or parts thereof, imposed or accruing under the provisions of this section, or may cancel any bond entered into hereunder, in whole or in part, under such conditions and limitations as he may prescribe. The decision of the Attorney General shall be final as to the remission or cancellation of any bond or charge hereunder. Clearance may be granted to any vessel prior to the determination by the Attorney General of the question of the remission or cancellation of any charge or bond if there is deposited a sum sufficient in the opinion of the collector of customs to cover such charge, or a bond with sufficient surety approved by the collector of customs is given to secure the payment thereof.

(e) The section as amended shall apply to all immigrant aliens arriving in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory or adjacent island (except Cuba) on or after the first day of July 1940.

(f) Penalties incurred under this section may be remitted or mitigated by the Attorney General upon such terms and conditions as he may deem just and proper.

(g) Fines collected under this section shall be deposited into the Treasury of the United States as miscellaneous receipts.

SEC. 38. (a) No alien seaman shall be admitted into the United States under the immigration laws unless at the time of application for admission he is in possession of and presents a valid passport and an unexpired immigrant visa, except that nonimmigrant aliens described in subparagraph (C) or (D) of section 101(a)(15) may be admitted without such documents in such cases as may be prescribed by the Attorney General.

(b) Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States during the period his vessel is in port without obtaining a permit therefor from the Attorney General or his agent, or who shall land at any place other than a designated port of entry for aliens, or who shall land at any time or place other than as designated by the immigration officers, or who shall remain in the United States after the departure of the vessel on which he arrived, or who shall violate any of the conditions under which he was permitted to land, shall be deemed to be an alien who entered the United States without inspection or who was found in the United States in violation of this Act, and may be arrested and deported in the same manner as provided for the deportation of any other alien who entered the United States without inspection or who was found in the United States in violation of this Act.

(c) Any master, agent, consignee, or commanding officer of any vessel or aircraft who shall refuse to deliver to any alien seaman who has been granted shore leave under the provisions of this Act a certificate or other document required by the Attorney General to be delivered to such alien seaman, or who shall refuse to detain such alien seaman on board his vessel or aircraft when required so to do by the Attorney General, or who shall refuse to pay any fine or fines imposed upon such alien seaman under section 237(b) of this Act, or who shall refuse to deliver to the Attorney General any such alien seaman for deportation under this Act, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which such vessel or aircraft arrives a sum not exceeding $1,000 for each such alien seaman in respect of whom such default occurs. Clearance shall be refused any vessel or aircraft while any such master, agent, consignee, or commanding officer is in default hereunder, but clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the question of such default upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such charge or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing made prior to the granting of clearance, remit any charge, or any part or parts thereof, imposed or accruing under the provisions of this section, or may cancel any bond entered into hereunder, in whole or in part, under such conditions and limitations as he may prescribe. The decision of the Attorney General shall be final as to the remission or cancellation of any bond or charge hereunder. Clearance may be granted to any vessel prior to the determination by the Attorney General of the question of the remission or cancellation of any charge or bond if there is deposited a sum sufficient in the opinion of the collector of customs to cover such charge, or a bond with sufficient surety approved by the collector of customs is given to secure the payment thereof.

SEC. 15(15). Duty of alien entrusted: upon departure of vessel, denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure has issued a certificate that all the provisions of section 38 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been complied with, and such certificate shall be delivered to the master, agent, consignee, or commanding officer of such vessel. No such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to pay any charge, or while any such charge is unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such charge or of a bond with sufficient surety approved by the collector of customs is given to secure the payment thereof. 39 Stat. 889, 890; 8 U.S.C. 1171 (a).

EXTRACT FROM 8 CFR 150

Subject to section 38 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 889; 8 U.S.C. 1171), duty may be imposed upon the master, agent, consignee, or commanding officer of any vessel bringing an alien to the United States from any foreign port or place, or upon any person who shall land in the United States from any vessel, temporarily or permanently, or intransit to such destinations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the aliens seamen employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel or aircraft arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be determined by the Attorney General, and such duty shall be paid to the collector of customs of the district in which such vessel or aircraft arrives. Such duty shall be in addition to any other duty imposed by law. Such duty shall be paid by the master, agent, consignee, or commanding officer of such vessel or aircraft, or by the person who shall land in the United States from any vessel, before such vessel or aircraft shall depart from the port at which it arrives, and before such person shall land in the United States, as the case may be. Such duty shall be in the amount of $10 for each alien seaman concerned, unless it remains unpaid for more than 4 months from the date it was imposed, when it shall be increased to $30 for each such alien seaman. Such duty shall not be refunded in the case of the death of such alien seaman, desertion of such alien seaman, or the departure of such alien seaman from the United States for any reason within 4 months from the date it was imposed, unless it remains unpaid for more than 4 months from the date it was imposed, when it shall be increased to $30 for each such alien seaman. Such duty shall not be refunded in the case of the death of such alien seaman, desertion of such alien seaman, or the departure of such alien seaman from the United States for any reason within 4 months from the date it was imposed, unless it remains unpaid for more than 4 months from the date it was imposed, when it shall be increased to $30 for each such alien seaman. 39 Stat. 889, 890; 8 U.S.C. 1171 (a).

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 10. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or humanely to such exceptions as the Attorney General may prescribe for the aliditude deportee. Temporary or (SEC. 26. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel shall be responsible for the proper maintenance while in the United States of each alien seaman employed on board such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure has issued a certificate that all such orders and requirements of the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization with respect to the detention and removal of such alien seamen have been complied with, and such certificate shall be delivered to the master, agent, consignee, or commanding officer of such vessel. No such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to pay any charge, or while any such charge is unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such charge or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing made prior to the granting of clearance, remit any charge, or any part or parts thereof, imposed or accruing under the provisions of this section, or may cancel any bond entered into hereunder, in whole or in part, under such conditions and limitations as he may prescribe. The decision of the Attorney General shall be final as to the remission or cancellation of any bond or charge hereunder. Clearance may be granted to any vessel prior to the determination by the Attorney General of the question of the remission or cancellation of any charge or bond if there is deposited a sum sufficient in the opinion of the collector of customs to cover such charge, or a bond with sufficient surety approved by the collector of customs is given to secure the payment thereof.

(b) Any such master, agent, consignee, or commanding officer who shall fail to comply with any such order or requirement of the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization shall pay to the collector of customs for the district in which such vessel or aircraft shall arrive a sum not exceeding $1,000 for each such alien seaman in respect of whom such default occurs. Clearance shall be refused any vessel or aircraft while any such master, agent, consignee, or commanding officer is in default hereunder, but clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the question of such default upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such charge or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing made prior to the granting of clearance, remit any charge, or any part or parts thereof, imposed or accruing under the provisions of this section, or may cancel any bond entered into hereunder, in whole or in part, under such conditions and limitations as he may prescribe. The decision of the Attorney General shall be final as to the remission or cancellation of any bond or charge hereunder. (43 Stat. 164; 102 Stat. 24; 818; 8 U.S.C. 191 (a), 191 (c).)

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place or any port or place in the possessions of the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the shipping or discharge of such alien seamen, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for deportation or such alien seamen on board such vessel, and any such alien seaman who lands in the United States, except temporarily or as above provided, shall be deported in the manner provided in section 19 of this Act. Any such alien seaman who shall land temporarily as above provided and who shall fail to depart on the vessel on which he arrived or some other vessel within the time specified by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, or within such further time as may be allowed by the Commissioner-General of Immigration, shall be deported in the manner provided in section 19 of this Act. Any such alien seaman who shall land in the United States, except temporarily or as above provided, or who shall violate the conditions of his landing temporarily, or who shall be found in the United States in violation of this Act or any amendment thereto, shall be deported in the manner provided in section 19 of this Act. Any such alien seaman who shall land in the United States, except temporarily or as above provided, or who shall violate the conditions of his landing temporarily, or who shall be found in the United States in violation of this Act or any amendment thereto, shall be deported in the manner provided in section 19 of this Act. Any such alien seaman who shall land in the United States, except temporarily or as above provided, or who shall violate the conditions of his landing temporarily, or who shall be found in the United States in violation of this Act or any amendment thereto, shall be deported in the manner provided in section 19 of this Act.

SEC. 16. That from and after the 1st day of July, 1917, no person shall be admitted to the United States who can not read and write the English language or some other language or dialect, including Hebrew or Yiddish, but a literate passport shall be granted any alien otherwise admissible under the provisions of this Act who is coming to the United States to join a father, grandfather, husband, wife, mother, grandmother, child, sister, or unmarried or widowed daughter over sixteen years of age, who is in the United States, if the relative in the United States shall prove to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he has sufficient means to support such alien relative without becoming a public charge, and that such alien relative is not otherwise inadmissible under the immigration laws. Nothing in this section shall exempt from the operation thereof any alien who is a member of any of the classes excluded by section 3 of this Act.

SEC. 17. That in every case where any person or persons, entitled under this Act to become citizens of the United States, shall file a petition for naturalization in accordance with the requirements of the Act entitled "An Act to establish a uniform system of naturalization and to provide for the registry of aliens coming into the United States subsequent to March twenty-sixth, eighteen hundred and sixty-seven, and to amend and supplement the Act entitled 'An Act to establish a uniform system of naturalization throughout the United States,' approved March twenty-sixth, eighteen hundred and sixty-seven," approved June twenty-ninth, nineteen hundred and six, and the Acts amendatory thereof, and it shall appear to the satisfaction of the court hearing the petition that the petitioner can not speak the English language, but has resided continuously in the United States for the period required by law, and has in all other respects complied with the law, the petitioner may be admitted to citizenship if he declares his intention to become a citizen of the United States in the English language, and in all other respects complies with the requirements of the Act of June twenty-ninth, nineteen hundred and six, and Acts amendatory thereof, except that petitioner shall not be required to speak the English language.

SEC. 18. That no person who is a member of the anarchistic or other classes excluded from admission into the United States under the provisions of this Act shall be naturalized or admitted to citizenship.

SEC. 19. That any alien who at any time after entering the United States is found to belong to any of the classes excluded by section 3 of this Act shall, upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, be taken into custody and deported in the manner provided by this section. If any alien shall have been admitted to the United States, or shall have secured entry thereto by reason of a visa granted him before the consular officer discovers the fact that he is subject to deportation under section 3 of this Act, and the consular officer has not revoked such visa, or if any alien shall have been admitted to the United States without having been required to obtain a visa, and it shall be made to appear to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor at any time within five years after any alien shall have entered the United States that such alien was at the time of entry a member of any of the classes excluded by section 3 of this Act, the Secretary of Labor shall cause such alien to be taken into custody and deported in the manner provided by this section: Provided, That any such alien shall be allowed to depart voluntarily from the United States at his own expense in lieu of being deported, if such privilege is granted by the Secretary of Labor. Any such alien who shall enter the United States after the issuance of a warrant of deportation and shall not depart voluntarily from the United States within a period of ten days from the date of such warrant shall be arrested and deported upon the warrant previously issued and outstanding without the issuance of any warrant or warrants in addition thereto. Any such alien against whom a warrant of deportation is outstanding shall be subject to arrest and detention pending the execution of such warrant, and if practicable shall be required to furnish a bond in such amount, not exceeding $500, with such security as may be required, conditioned upon such alien's departure from the United States when and as directed. Pending deportation, such alien may, in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor, be released from custody upon the furnishing of such security. Any such alien who shall fail to depart from the United States when directed shall forfeit the security furnished for his release, and in addition thereto shall be liable to a penalty of $100, to be sued for and recovered by the United States attorney in the district in which the bond was given. Any such alien who shall depart voluntarily or be deported in pursuance of the provisions of this section shall be required to pay the cost of his transportation, or reimbursement therefor, to the port, place, or station from which he entered the United States, or to the country from which he came to the United States, as may be directed by the Secretary of Labor, unless in his discretion he shall determine that such alien is unable to pay the cost of transportation and that he is not likely to become a public charge. Any such alien who shall return to the United States without the consent of the Secretary of Labor after having been deported shall be guilty of a felony and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by imprisonment for not more than two years. Any such alien who shall return to the United States without the consent of the Secretary of Labor after having been deported shall be incapable of becoming a citizen of the United States and shall be deported upon the warrant previously issued and outstanding against him upon the discovery of the fact that he has returned. Any such alien who shall return to the United States without the consent of the Secretary of Labor after having been deported shall be incapable of becoming a citizen of the United States and shall be deported upon the warrant previously issued and outstanding against him upon the discovery of the fact that he has returned. Any such alien who shall return to the United States without the consent of the Secretary of Labor after having been deported shall be incapable of becoming a citizen of the United States and shall be deported upon the warrant previously issued and outstanding against him upon the discovery of the fact that he has returned.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The law described below, also, requires that no vessel shall depart for foreign ports without the Department's permit. Application for permit must be made by the master. In order to facilitate prompt departure of vessels, it is suggested that application be made at least 24 hours before vessel is ready to depart. Penalty for violation of this law is $1,000 fine for each alien passenger not entered on permit. Penalty for violation of this law is $1,000 fine for each alien passenger not entered on permit. Penalty for violation of this law is $1,000 fine for each alien passenger not entered on permit.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924, AS AMENDED

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving at a port of the United States from any place outside the Canal Zone, Puerto Rico, or the Virgin Islands of the United States shall be permitted to land in the United States except temporarily to secure medical or other treatment necessary for the immediate welfare of the alien seaman, or for such other purposes as may be approved by the Secretary of Labor. Such alien seaman shall be deported in pursuance of the provisions of section 19 of this Act, and shall be deported to the country to which he belongs or in which he resided prior to coming to the United States, unless the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived shall pay the cost of his deportation to such country or place. Such alien seaman shall not be entitled to a hearing before a board of special inquiry unless he claims that he is a citizen of the United States, and establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he has a substantial case. Pending the decision as to whether a hearing before a board of special inquiry shall be granted, such alien seaman shall be detained in such manner as the Secretary of Labor may direct. Any alien seaman who shall be granted a hearing before a board of special inquiry and who shall be found by such board to be not clearly entitled to admission shall be deported in pursuance of the provisions of section 19 of this Act. Any alien seaman who shall be granted a hearing before a board of special inquiry and who shall be found by such board to be clearly entitled to admission shall be admitted notwithstanding the provisions of section 3 of this Act. Any alien seaman who shall be granted a hearing before a board of special inquiry and who shall be found by such board to be clearly entitled to admission shall be admitted notwithstanding the provisions of section 3 of this Act.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be furnished on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector posted at the port of arrival and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien inspection at the port of arrival. If no alien seaman is a "newcomer," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, including names of artificial, American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 28. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively engaged, their intended length of stay in the United States, and whether they intend to become citizens thereof. Such lists shall be delivered to the immigration officer at the port of arrival, or their equivalent as known, and shall accurately state the facts in relation to each alien. Lists or manifests of alien passengers required to be delivered by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel bringing aliens to the United States shall contain such additional information relative to each alien as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, and such lists or manifests shall be prepared and delivered or transmitted in such manner as the Secretary of Labor may direct. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any such vessel who refuses or fails to deliver such lists or manifests, or who refuses or fails to answer truthfully and fully to the best of his knowledge and belief all questions propounded to him concerning any alien on board such vessel, whether a passenger or member of the crew, or concerning the compliance of any such alien with the requirements of the immigration laws, or who refuses or fails to detain any such alien on board such vessel when directed so to do by an immigration officer, or who refuses or fails to prevent any such alien from landing at any port in the United States except as provided by the immigration laws, or who refuses or fails to comply with any of the provisions of the immigration laws relative to such aliens, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each such alien, or by imprisonment for a period not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court: Provided, That the masters of vessels shall not be required to deliver lists containing the names of alien passengers who are in transit through the United States to some foreign country, and whose passports have been viséed by the proper United States consular officer, unless the immigration officers at the port of arrival shall have reason to believe that any such alien intends to remain permanently in the United States.

EXTRACT FROM 8 CFR 150

SEC. 150.15 Duties of alien employees; watch clearance of vessel desired. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the following requirements have been complied with to the satisfaction of the immigrant inspector in charge:

(a) If the vessel has arrived at a port in the United States from a foreign port or place, the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer thereof shall deliver to the immigrant inspector in charge a list or manifest of all the crew members employed on board such vessel, stating the nationality, last permanent residence, and intended length of stay in the United States of each alien crew member, and the nature and length of service on board the vessel by each alien crew member. The list or manifest shall show the name of the vessel, the date of arrival, the name of the port from which the vessel arrived, and the name of the port at which the vessel will depart from the United States. The master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer shall certify to the correctness of the list or manifest by his signature thereto.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the articles of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory or from any adjacent island shall be furnished by the master of such vessel as a clearance, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver or depart alien crewmember by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General determines that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such alien seaman, he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

ALIEN SEAMEN

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924, AS AMENDED

SEC. 19. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the adjudgment of the deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to detain on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit such fine, or any part thereof, if he is satisfied that the vessel has arrived at the port of arrival by reason of stress of weather or other cause compelling such action, and that reasonable diligence was exercised by the master and owner of such vessel both before and after such vessel arrived at such port of arrival, to prevent the illegal landing of such alien seaman, and that such fine was incurred without fault on the part of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the articles of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory or from any adjacent island shall be furnished by the master of such vessel as a clearance, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver or depart alien crewmember by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General determines that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such alien seaman, he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described above shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector at the port of arrival. It is not to be filled out by the master, but by the alien passengers themselves. The list of members of each family must be kept together, and the names of all aliens in the group must be preceded by the name of the head of the family. Each alien must write his own name and answer the questions legibly and in the English language, unless prevented by illness or other physical cause. Any alien who cannot write must have his name written by a person who can write, and must make his mark in the presence of the writer. The master must certify to the correctness of the list by his signature at the end thereof.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 20. That aliens arriving at any seaport in the United States from any foreign port or from any insular possession of the United States subject to the jurisdiction thereof, or arriving in the Canal Zone, shall be examined by the immigrant inspectors as to whether they belong to the excluded classes enumerated in section 3 of this Act, and the decision of the immigrant inspector shall be final as to the right of any alien to land, unless appealed to the Secretary of Labor within such time as may be prescribed by him: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, order any alien seeking admission to the United States to be detained for further examination in relation to his admissibility, and may appoint boards of special inquiry, which shall have power to administer oaths, examine witnesses, and receive evidence concerning the right of any alien to land, and may exercise such other powers as may be necessary for the purpose of such examination: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, delegate to the Commissioner of Immigration at the port of arrival the power to appoint boards of special inquiry, and may also delegate to such commissioners the power to order the deportation of aliens in the first instance, subject to appeal by the alien to the Secretary of Labor, and to such rules and regulations as he may prescribe: Provided further, That no alien shall be deported without opportunity being given him to be represented before the board of special inquiry or the Secretary of Labor by such counsel, agent, or representative as he may see fit to employ at his own cost: Provided further, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, waive the right to appeal to the Secretary of Labor in the case of any alien who is a member of a class which has been admitted generally upon appeal: Provided further, That nothing in this Act shall be construed to require the detention of any alien who shall be found upon examination by the immigrant inspectors to be entitled to admission under the provisions of this Act, but such alien may be released from custody or detention under such rules and regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe.

SEC. 21. That the head tax of $8 provided for in section 1 of this Act shall be paid to the collector of customs of the district in which the port of arrival is located at the time of the alien's arrival, and the money shall be accounted for by the collector in his return to the Secretary of the Treasury. Any alien who shall come into the United States from any foreign port or from any insular possession of the United States subject to the jurisdiction thereof, or who shall come into the United States from the Canal Zone, and who shall not have previously been admitted to the United States, who is refused a landing shall be returned to the port from which he came to the United States, at the cost of the appropriation for the expenses of the office of the Commissioner-General of Immigration, under such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, and the decision of the immigrant inspectors adverse to the admission of any alien shall be final unless reversed on appeal to the Secretary of Labor. Pending the final decision of any such case, the alien shall be detained in such manner as the immigrant inspector in charge shall direct. If any alien so returned to a foreign port shall return to the United States within one year from the date of such return, he may be excluded and returned to his former home unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor upon his application therefor that he is not thereby rendered a public charge, and the cost of his maintenance while detained and of his return passage shall be borne by the owner of the vessel bringing him to the United States on his previous arrival. Any alien who shall come into the United States in violation of law may be deported at any time within three years thereafter upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, after a hearing before a board of special inquiry, unless the Secretary of Labor shall adjudge that such alien could not have been excluded from the United States at the time of his entry or that he was at the time of entry a member of one of the classes excepted from exclusion by section 3 of this Act, or that he was not at the time of entry subject to deportation under the provisions of this Act. The decision of the Secretary of Labor shall be final as to the facts of deportation upon warrant issued within three years after entry and based upon facts existing prior to entry, but a warrant issued after three years from the date of entry for deportation for causes existing prior to entry may be issued and executed upon the certification by the Secretary of Labor that in his opinion the ends of justice and the public interest warrant deportation in such case. Warrants shall be issued only upon the certificate of the board of special inquiry, or of the Commissioner of Immigration, or of the Assistant Commissioner of Immigration, or of the Secretary of Labor, or of such other officers as the Secretary of Labor may designate, and shall specify therein the cause for the issuance thereof and the statute under which deportation is directed. No alien shall be deported or returned under the provisions of this Act except upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, unless by the consent of the immigrant inspectors in charge at the port of arrival and of the alien, or unless he shall fail for a period of one year to present himself for examination before an immigrant inspector, when he may be deported upon the certificate of the Secretary of Labor. All appeals to the Secretary of Labor provided for in this Act must be taken within two days after the decision appealed from is rendered, and not thereafter, unless for cause shown and upon the recommendation of the Commissioner of Immigration of the district in which the appeal is taken.

SEC. 23. That the head tax and the expenses for the maintenance of aliens pending the determination of their right to land, the cost of their return when ordered by the Secretary of Labor, and the value of the money and transportation furnished to aliens in accordance with the provisions of section 24 of this Act shall constitute a lien against the vessel bringing such aliens to the United States, which lien may be enforced by libel in any district court of the United States within the jurisdiction of which the vessel may arrive. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the existence of such lien, or while the same remains enforceable, or unless a bond is filed sufficient to cover the amount claimed. The Secretary of Labor may remit fines and penalties in such cases as he may deem just and reasonable.

SEC. 24. That the Secretary of Labor may establish such regulations, prescribe such forms of bond, and make such special contracts with transportation lines as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this Act; and he may order such changes in the forms of passage tickets as shall prevent the sale of passage to aliens not intending to come to the United States.

SEC. 25. That any person, including any transportation company, or any owner, agent, master, or consignee of any vessel who shall bring to the United States any alien afflicted with any of the diseases mentioned in section 3 of this Act, or who shall bring to any port of the United States any alien who has come to the United States in violation of law, or who shall refuse to return any such alien to a foreign port, or who shall refuse to pay the head tax provided for in this Act, shall be fined in the sum of $200 for each and every such alien, and in addition shall be liable for the head tax and the cost of maintenance while such alien is detained, and for the cost of his return to the port from which he came.

SEC. 26. That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, refuse to issue to any person, company, or corporation which has violated the provisions of section 25 of this Act a certificate permitting the importation of aliens under contract or agreement to perform labor in the United States, its Territories, or the District of Columbia, and may withhold such certificate until the question of the violation of said section has been finally determined.

SEC. 27. That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, refuse admission into the United States to any alien who has been deported, for a period of one year thereafter, except upon the consent of the Secretary of Labor.

SEC. 28. That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, permit masters of vessels coming to the United States to land, at the port of arrival, alien seamen employed on board such vessels, who intend to proceed to foreign ports in the pursuit of their calling, without requiring bond for the return of such seamen, under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe.

SEC. 29. That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, refuse to issue certificates in any case or class of cases in which, in his opinion, the holder thereof is not entitled to receive the same, notwithstanding the existence of any treaty or convention.

SEC. 30. That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, and under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, establish a system of identification of aliens entering or leaving the United States, and for this purpose may require aliens to be fingerprinted and photographed or measured, and to furnish such other means of identification as may be deemed necessary.

SEC. 31. That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, and under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, establish a bureau of information to which shall be reported the name, description, and address of every alien who may be admitted into the United States, and the name and address of the person to whom he is admitted, and such bureau may furnish such information upon application therefor.

SEC. 32. That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, and under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, establish registration districts and appoint registration officers, who shall have power to administer oaths and to take and consider evidence touching the right of any alien to enter, reenter, pass through, or reside in the United States, or touching any matter or question relating to the right of any alien to enter, reenter, pass through, or reside in the United States, and who shall perform such duties relative to the registration of aliens as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe. Such officers shall have power to require by subpœna the attendance and testimony of witnesses before them or any of them concerning the right of any alien to enter, reenter, pass through, or reside in the United States, and to that end may invoke the aid of any court of the United States. Any witness who shall refuse to attend upon such subpœna or to testify shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $100 or by imprisonment not exceeding thirty days, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

SEC. 33. That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, establish such regulations and prescribe such forms of bond, notice, and other papers and issue such instructions, not inconsistent with this Act, as he deems necessary to prevent any person, company, or corporation from evading or attempting to evade the direct or indirect provisions of section 3 of this Act.

SEC. 34. That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, establish a division of information in relation to the business opportunities in the United States and the best methods of reaching them, and may appoint such employees as may be necessary to conduct the same.

SEC. 35. That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, establish in connection with the immigrant stations of the United States such lodging houses, restaurants, and other places of entertainment as may be necessary for the proper detention of aliens, and may lease buildings for the use of the same, and may employ such agents, matrons, and other employees as may be necessary, and may make such rules and regulations as may be necessary for the proper government of such stations, houses, restaurants, and places of entertainment, and may charge such fees as may be necessary for the operation and maintenance of the same, not exceeding the cost thereof, to be collected from the persons using the same, and may deduct the amount of such fees from any moneys due or belonging to such persons.

SEC. 36. That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, provide for the boarding while in transit from the United States to their homes of aliens who have been excluded from admission to the United States and who are destitute and have no friends or relatives who are able to pay for their transportation, and may provide for the return to the United States of such aliens as may be admitted upon appeal within one year from the date of exclusion.

SEC. 37. That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, provide for the establishment of such stations in the United States or elsewhere as may be necessary for the detention of aliens debarred from entry to the United States under the provisions of this Act, or pending the decision of their cases by the Secretary of Labor on appeal, and may rent buildings for the use of such stations, or may authorize the detention of aliens debarred from entry to the United States under the provisions of this Act, or pending the decision of their cases by the Secretary of Labor on appeal, in such places as may be designated by the boards of special inquiry, or immigrant inspectors in charge, and may provide guards for such detained aliens.

SEC. 38. That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, and under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, establish a division of naturalization, and may confer upon such division such powers relative to the granting of naturalization to aliens as he may deem best for the purpose of making uniform decisions as far as practicable.

SEC. 39. That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, and under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, establish a division of citizenship, and may confer upon such division such powers relative to the certification of citizenship as he may deem best for the purpose of making uniform decisions as far as practicable.

SEC. 40. That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, and under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, establish a division of publications, and may employ such persons and means as he may deem necessary for the speedy publication of the decisions of boards of special inquiry, the rules and regulations established for the information of aliens and others, and such other publications as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this Act.

SEC. 41. That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, and under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, establish a division of women's work, and may employ such persons and means as he may deem necessary for the purpose of protecting women and children aliens who may be admitted into the United States, and may appoint matrons to have charge of the women detained at immigrant stations pending the decision of their cases.

SEC. 42. That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, and under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, establish a division of industrial relations, and may employ such persons and means as he may deem necessary for the purpose of securing information as to the industrial opportunities in various parts of the United States, and may furnish such information to aliens seeking admission to the United States, and may refer such aliens to the States which have made requests for such aliens.

SEC. 43. That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, and under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, establish a division of distribution, and may employ such persons and means as he may deem necessary for the purpose of distributing aliens admitted into the United States among the several States and Territories according to the needs of the industries thereof, and may enter into contracts with any of the officials of the States or Territories, or with any person, company, or corporation, to secure homes or employment for aliens, and may charge a reasonable fee for the services rendered thereby, sufficient to cover the cost of the same, which fees shall be paid by the alien.

SEC. 44. That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, and under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, establish a division of inspection, and may employ such persons and means as he may deem necessary for the purpose of inspecting aliens who have been admitted into the United States, and who have left the city in which they first settled, and who have been reported to the Department of Labor as being in destitute circumstances, or as becoming a public charge, or as having violated any of the terms and conditions under which they were admitted into the United States.

SEC. 45. That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, and under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, establish a division of criminals, and may employ such persons and means as he may deem necessary for the purpose of securing information as to the criminal records of aliens who have been admitted into the United States, and may cause the deportation of such aliens as are found to be criminals.

SEC. 46. That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, and under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, establish a division of statistics, and may employ such persons and means as he may deem necessary for the purpose of securing statistical information relative to the number, nationality, and destination of aliens admitted into the United States, the number who have departed therefrom, and the number who have been excluded therefrom, and such other statistical information relative to immigration as the Secretary of Labor may deem necessary.

SEC. 47. That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, and under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, establish a division of publications relative to naturalization, and may employ such persons and means as he may deem necessary for the purpose of securing such publications.

SEC. 48. That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, and under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, establish a division of accounts, and may employ such persons and means as he may deem necessary for the purpose of auditing such accounts as may be necessary in the administration of this Act.

SEC. 49. That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, and under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, establish a division of records, and may employ such persons and means as he may deem necessary for the purpose of securing such records as may be necessary in the administration of this Act.

SEC. 50. That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, and under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, establish a division of classification, and may employ such persons and means as he may deem necessary for the purpose of classifying such aliens as may be admitted into the United States, and may appoint boards consisting of such persons as he may deem necessary to assist in the classification of such aliens.

SEC. 51. That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, and under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, establish a division of appointments, and may employ such persons and means as he may deem necessary for the purpose of securing such employees as may be necessary in the administration of this Act.

SEC. 52. That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, and under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, establish a division of printing, and may employ such persons and means as he may deem necessary for the purpose of printing such blanks, books, circulars, and other documents as may be necessary in the administration of this Act.

SEC. 53. That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, and under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, establish a division of supplies, and may employ such persons and means as he may deem necessary for the purpose of securing such supplies as may be necessary in the administration of this Act.

SEC. 54. That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, and under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, establish a division of miscellaneous matters, and may employ such persons and means as he may deem necessary for the purpose of securing such miscellaneous matters as may be necessary in the administration of this Act.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be furnished on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for use by the master at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be delivered to the inspector in charge of the vessel. The list of aliens or others on board must include the crew (Form I-418) when ordered by the Department, and shall be delivered by the master to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival. A fee of 50 cents shall be paid for each list delivered, except that no fee shall be charged for lists delivered by masters of vessels plying between ports of Canada or Mexico and ports of the United States. The master is required to produce the crew list when requested by the immigrant inspector, and to report the name of any member of the crew who may desert. Any master who fails to deliver the list, or to report the desertion of any member of the crew, is liable to a penalty of $30 for each case. Any master who knowingly lands or permits to land elsewhere than at a port of entry any alien crewman, except in case of shipwreck, without the permission of the Secretary of Labor, is liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien landed. Any master who knowingly lands or permits to land any alien crewman who has been refused a landing by the immigrant inspector, or who has been ordered deported, is liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien landed. Any master who fails to detain any alien crewman when ordered by the Secretary of Labor, or any master who lands any alien crewman in violation of the immigration laws, is liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien landed. Any master who fails to report the illness or hospitalization of any alien crewman, or who fails to detain any alien crewman who has been afflicted with any contagious disease, is liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each case of failure to report or detain. Any master who fails to report the death of any alien crewman, or the cause of death, or who fails to bury any alien crewman who has died on board ship, is liable to a penalty of $500 for each case of failure to report or bury. Any master who fails to detain any alien crewman specially required by the immigrant inspector to be detained for special examination, is liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien crewman not detained. Any master who fails to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival the crew list required by section 12 of the Immigration Act of 1924, as amended (8 U. S. C. 212), or who knowingly delivers a false or incorrect list, or who fails to report the names of all crewmen who have been left behind, or who fails to report the cause for failure to leave with any crewman who was ordered deported, is liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each case. Any master who fails to deliver to any crewman who has been ordered deported the certificate of identification and the order of deportation issued by the immigrant inspector, or who fails to report the name and address of such crewman to the immigrant inspector at the port to which the vessel next proceeds, is liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each case. Any master who fails to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival the certificate of identification issued by the American consul at the foreign port of departure, or who fails to report the name of any alien crewman who has been issued a certificate of identification by the American consul but who fails to present himself for examination by the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, is liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each case. Any master who fails to detain any alien crewman specially required by the Secretary of Labor to be detained for the completion of the immigration records, or who fails to deliver any such alien crewman to the immigrant inspector at the time of the vessel's departure, is liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each case. Any master who fails to report the illness or hospitalization of any alien crewman, or who fails to detain any alien crewman who has been afflicted with any contagious disease, is liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each case of failure to report or detain. Any master who fails to report the death of any alien crewman, or the cause of death, or who fails to bury any alien crewman who has died on board ship, is liable to a penalty of $500 for each case of failure to report or bury. Any master who fails to detain any alien crewman specially required by the immigrant inspector to be detained for special examination, is liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien crewman not detained. Any master who fails to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival the certificate of identification issued by the American consul at the foreign port of departure, or who fails to report the name and address of such crewman to the immigrant inspector at the port to which the vessel next proceeds, is liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each case. Any master who fails to deliver to any crewman who has been ordered deported the certificate of identification and the order of deportation issued by the immigrant inspector, or who fails to report the name and address of such crewman to the immigrant inspector at the port to which the vessel next proceeds, is liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each case. Any master who fails to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival the certificate of identification issued by the American consul at the foreign port of departure, or who fails to report the name of any alien crewman who has been issued a certificate of identification by the American consul but who fails to present himself for examination by the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, is liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each case. Any master who knowingly lands or permits to land elsewhere than at a port of entry any alien crewman, except in case of shipwreck, without the permission of the Secretary of Labor, is liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien landed. Any master who knowingly lands or permits to land any alien crewman who has been refused a landing by the immigrant inspector, or who has been ordered deported, is liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien landed

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, showing the positions they respectively held in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and whether they are destined to the United States or not, and such other information as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, and shall pay the cost of the return of any such alien to the port from which he was brought. Any such master, consignee, or agent who shall refuse or neglect to deliver such lists, or who shall refuse to answer truthfully to the best of his information and belief any such question propounded to him by any such immigration officer, or who shall refuse to detain any such alien for examination, or who shall refuse to assist such immigration officer in the examination of such alien, or who shall refuse to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has been found on board such vessel, shall pay to the collector of the port for each such offense the sum of $10, and shall be liable to a penalty of not more than $20 for each alien concerning whom complaint is made, and may be refused clearance from the port until the full amount of such penalty is paid or until a sufficient bond is given to the United States to secure the payment thereof. Any such master, consignee, or agent who shall refuse to detain any such alien for examination, or who shall refuse to assist such immigration officer in the examination of such alien, or who shall refuse to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has been found on board such vessel, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any such master, consignee, or agent who shall refuse to allow any immigrant inspector to enter such vessel for the purpose of inspecting the same, or who shall refuse to allow any such immigrant inspector to remain on board of such vessel during the inspection of the same, or who shall refuse to allow any such immigrant inspector to go on board of such vessel for the purpose of inspecting

The list described below shall be furnished on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival and not in advance of such arrival. The list shall be in addition to any manifest required by the master or other officer of the vessel. The information called for in the list shall be given for each and every person, including citizens of the United States, and infants, who may be on board the vessel at the time of its arrival at the port of first arrival, whether such person is a passenger, a member of the crew, or otherwise, and whether he intends to land or remain in the United States or to depart therefrom, or to proceed in transit through the United States to some foreign country. The list or lists shall be signed by the master of the vessel or by the purser, surgeon, or chief officer of the vessel, who shall add to his signature his official designation. In order to facilitate inspection, persons of the same family should be listed on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of aliens seeking admission to the United States for permanent residence, particular care should be taken to show in the manifest the last permanent residence of such aliens. Such information should be given in response to inquiries numbered 14 to 20, inclusive.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, other than a sailor in the employ of a public vessel of the United States, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of shipwreck or other casualty or for such reasons as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States, and the cost of such removal shall be borne by the owner of the vessel bringing such alien to the United States. Any such alien who shall land in the United States, except as provided in this section, shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 of the Act of February 5, 1917 (39 Stat. 889, 8 U. S. C. 155, 156). Any such alien who shall land in the United States, except as provided in this section, shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 of the Act of February 5, 1917 (39 Stat. 889, 8 U. S. C. 155, 156).

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to deliver on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel duly intransitu to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and there inspected such seaman (which inspection shall in all cases be personal but not physical examination by the medical examiners), or who fails to deliver such seaman on board after such inspection or to obtain such seaman if removed by such immigration officer to the hospital, to be inspected by the medical officer in charge at the port of arrival, or who fails to deliver such seaman to the immigration officer at the port of departure for inspection before departure, or who fails to report the illness or death of such seaman or the cause thereof, or who fails to deliver to such seaman on demand his effects, or who fails to deliver to such seaman on the vessel on which he arrived the wages to which he is entitled, or who fails to pay the transportation expenses of such seaman to the port at which he was originally shipped, or who fails to pay the hospital dues, if any, required by law to be paid by the master of such vessel, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such fine or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to an amount not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, when such terms as the Attorney General in the discretion shall think proper.

This section as amended shall apply to all vessels arriving after enactment to June 2, 1930.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign port or place, or that he was removed by the master of a vessel, and that such vessel departed without him, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver such seaman on board such vessel.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel is detained pursuant to section 30 (a) of this Act, will result in undue hardship to such seaman, or for any other reason he deems sufficient, he may cause such alien seaman to be transferred to any vessel willing to receive him, and such vessel shall not be detained or refused clearance until such alien seaman has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General. (43 Stat. 164, 165, 28 Stat. 810; 8 U. S. C. 193 (a), 193 (c).)

SEC. 150.15 Duty of alien employees; when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer thereof has complied with the provisions of section 36 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 889, 8 U. S. C. 157), and has been furnished and has not then unless master of vessel has been advised by the Commissioner that he has complied with section 30 of said Act (39 Stat. 889, 8 U. S. C. 158). Whenever any alien employee on board any vessel duly arrived in the United States is required by section 36 of said Act (39 Stat. 889, 8 U. S. C. 157), to be detained on board, the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer thereof shall not be granted any clearance for such vessel until the alien has been duly inspected and has been furnished with a certificate to the effect that he has been found admissible to the United States, or has been otherwise lawfully permitted to land, or has been lawfully removed from the vessel, or has been delivered to the custody of the proper immigration officer for removal, or has been duly granted a hospital certificate, or has been duly deported in accordance with the provisions of the immigration laws, or has been duly granted permission to depart temporarily from the United States under the provisions of section 23 of the Act of February 5, 1917 (39 Stat. 889, 8 U. S. C. 157), and has been duly admitted upon his return. Whenever any alien employee is required by section 36 of said Act (39 Stat. 889, 8 U. S. C. 157), to be detained on board any vessel, the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer thereof shall deposit with the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization at the port of arrival the sum of $120 for each alien employee required to be detained, but not more than $1,200 in the aggregate on account of any one vessel, which sum shall be refunded to the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel upon the departure of such alien employee, or upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover the cost of his maintenance for a period not to exceed ten days from the date of such departure, in accordance with the provisions of section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917 (39 Stat. 889, 8 U. S. C. 157). Clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the question of liability upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such fine or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to an amount not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, when such terms as the Attorney General in the discretion shall think proper. This section as amended shall apply to all vessels arriving after enactment to June 2, 1930.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign port or place, or that he was removed by the master of a vessel, and that such vessel departed without him, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver such seaman on board such vessel.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel is detained pursuant to section 30 (a) of this Act, will result in undue hardship to such seaman, or for any other reason he deems sufficient, he may cause such alien seaman to be transferred to any vessel willing to receive him, and such vessel shall not be detained or refused clearance until such alien seaman has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General. (43 Stat. 164, 165, 28 Stat. 810; 8 U. S. C. 193 (a), 193 (c).)

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, and shall not be removed or altered after the vessel has been cleared. The use of symbols or ditto marks for repeating any part of the information required is prohibited. Answers must be written in ink or typewritten. Any person who knowingly makes a false statement or conceals a material fact in connection with the preparation of this list may be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than two years, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be furnished on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector stationed at the vessel at the port of arrival and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of aliens on board vessels of more than 1,000 tons shall be typewritten, and shall be in duplicate. In order to facilitate inspection, the names of aliens (Form I-418) shall be typewritten, a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection, the names of aliens should be arranged alphabetically according to the last letter of the family name, and within each family according to the first letter of the given name, and within each group according to age, the youngest first.

SEC. 30. That when written or printed in the English language both the manifest and the list of aliens required by section 12 of the immigration act of February 5, 1917, to be delivered by the master, commander, or other officer of the vessel to the immigration officer at the port of arrival shall be in the form prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, and shall be filled out and signed by the master, commander, or other officer of the vessel in the presence of the immigration officer at the port of arrival. Any master, commander, or other officer of any such vessel who shall refuse or neglect to deliver to the proper immigration officer at the port of arrival the list required by section 12 of the immigration act of February 5, 1917, or who shall refuse or neglect to answer truthfully any question propounded to him by the immigration officer at the port of arrival concerning the right of any alien to enter the United States, or who shall refuse or neglect to obey any lawful order or requirement of any such immigration officer, or who shall willfully make any false or incorrect report or statement to any such immigration officer with respect to any such alien, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, and may also be refused clearance papers by the collector of customs until the master, commander, or other officer of such vessel shall have complied with the requirements of this section to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor. (39 Stat. 892, 893; U. S. C., tit. 8, sec. 141.)

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be furnished on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspectors boarding the vessel at the port of arrival and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of passengers when furnished to the immigration officer at the port of arrival shall be the list upon which the physical examination of the passengers is to be made, and a notation in such list after the name of any passenger who has been certified by the medical examiner to be afflicted with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease shall be made opposite the name of such passenger. In order to facilitate inspection, the names of passengers should be arranged in the list in the following order: Citizens of the United States, including children born during the journey; aliens lawfully entitled to enter the United States for permanent residence, including children born during the journey; aliens entitled to enter the United States temporarily as visitors or in transit, including children born during the journey; and all other aliens, including children born during the journey. Any additional data required by the Immigration Service will be noted on the list after the names of all aliens affected.

SEC. 36. That when aliens arrive at any seaport in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the name of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the business they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those who are to be paid off and discharged in the port of arrival; or else containing no names of such persons. Such lists shall be delivered before any of the passengers are landed from the vessel, giving a description of each alien, together with any information likely to lead to his identification desired by the officer, and stating whether he has been in the habit of using opium or any other drug to excess, and whether he intends to apply in person for admission to the United States, or whether he intends to go in transit through the United States to some foreign country, and, if so, such place as far as known. Any person who shall refuse to deliver to the proper officer any list required by this section, or who shall refuse to answer any question pertaining to the information required by this section, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 and by imprisonment for not more than one year.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 38. That when aliens of any class in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the name of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the business they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those who are to be paid off and discharged in the port of arrival; or else containing no names of such persons. Such lists shall be delivered before any of the passengers are landed from the vessel, giving a description of each alien, together with any information likely to lead to his identification desired by the officer, and stating whether he has been in the habit of using opium or any other drug to excess, and whether he intends to apply in person for admission to the United States, or whether he intends to go in transit through the United States to some foreign country, and also the intended length and purpose of his stay. Any owner, agent, consignee, or master of any such vessel failing to deliver such list or any part thereof, or to furnish any information required by this section concerning any alien, or refusing to permit any immigrant inspector to board such vessel for the purpose of inspecting the same and the aliens thereon, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien concerning whom such failure is made, or refusal occurs, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each alien concerning whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. The section as amended shall apply to all branches of the service under the jurisdiction of the Secretary of Labor.

(d) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was rejected by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver such alien seaman to the immigration officer at the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel may be required to depart without discharging cargo or landing passengers, except upon the written permit of the Secretary of Labor, until a bond in the penal sum of $2,000 for each alien seaman is given with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof. Attorneys (general or special) are authorized to prosecute proceedings for the recovery of the penalties accruing under this section. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit such penalty or any part thereof if it appears that the master of such vessel had no reason to believe that such alien seaman was unlawfully in the United States and that the master has delivered to the proper officer a certificate from the consular officer of the country to which such alien seaman belongs, or, if there be no consular officer of such country at the port of departure, then from the consular officer of a friendly country, stating that such alien seaman is allowed by his government to enter such country, or that such government will not permit his return thereto after his departure from the United States. Such certificate shall be delivered by the master to the immigration officer at the time of the departure of such alien seaman from the United States. Any alien seaman who shall land in violation of law shall be deported in the manner provided by law for the deportation of aliens who have been admitted to the United States.

SEC. 150.15. Limits of alien employees; when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the last employed alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws has been duly returned, the deposit specified in §§ 150.13–150.17, has been made, or the vessel is otherwise lawfully cleared in accordance with section 38 of the act of 1917 (39 Stat. 890; 8 U. S. C. 1171), where penalties for violation of section 38 of the act of 1917 (39 Stat. 890; 8 U. S. C. 1171) have been incurred, but not upon payment, or deposit of sum sufficient to cover such penalties, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit such penalty or any part thereof if it appears that the master of such vessel had no reason to believe that such alien seaman was unlawfully in the United States and that the master has delivered to the proper officer a certificate from the consular officer of the country to which such alien seaman belongs, or, if there be no consular officer of such country at the port of departure, then from the consular officer of a friendly country, stating that such alien seaman is allowed by his government to enter such country, or that such government will not permit his return thereto after his departure from the United States. Such certificate shall be delivered by the master to the immigration officer at the time of the departure of such alien seaman from the United States. Any alien seaman who shall land in violation of law shall be deported in the manner provided by law for the deportation of aliens who have been admitted to the United States.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. (a) No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws has been employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or quarantine as the Attorney General may prescribe for the alien, or for the purpose of obtaining treatment for a dependent alien, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe to control and limit the movements of such aliens, or unless such alien seaman is in possession of a valid passport viséed by an immigration officer at the port of entry, and is otherwise admissible under the immigration laws. Any alien seaman who lands in the United States from any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, removal, or deportation of such alien seaman from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, removal, or deportation of such alien seaman from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart in accordance with the terms of his landing permit, or that he was rejected by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver such alien seaman to the immigration officer at the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel may be required to depart without discharging cargo or landing passengers, except upon the written permit of the Secretary of Labor, until a bond in the penal sum of $2,000 for each alien seaman is given with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit such penalty or any part thereof if it appears that the master of such vessel had no reason to believe that such alien seaman was unlawfully in the United States and that the master has delivered to the proper officer a certificate from the consular officer of the country to which such alien seaman belongs, or, if there be no consular officer of such country at the port of departure, then from the consular officer of a friendly country, stating that such alien seaman is allowed by his government to enter such country, or that such government will not permit his return thereto after his departure from the United States. Such certificate shall be delivered by the master to the immigration officer at the time of the departure of such alien seaman from the United States. Any alien seaman who shall land in violation of law shall be deported in the manner provided by law for the deportation of aliens who have been admitted to the United States.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place is permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or temporarily to such extent as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the contiguous territory and adjacent islands (which immediately prior to such arrival was not a part of the United States) shall be required to deliver to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and before any passenger has landed, a manifest or list or such other equivalent document or form, or such individual documents in lieu thereof, as may be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, containing such information with respect to each alien seaman employed on board such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection shall be completed before the vessel shall be granted clearance by the collector of customs or other officer authorized to perform the duties of such collector at such port), and has certified on such manifest or list his landing or temporary landing or refusal to land each such seaman. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, in his discretion, permit any alien seaman employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place to land temporarily in charge of an immigration officer for the purpose of obtaining medical treatment, or for any other reason deemed sufficient by the Attorney General, without requiring the deposit of the bond or undertaking hereinafter provided for, if adequate provision is otherwise made for the maintenance of such alien seaman while in the United States and for his departure therefrom when certified by the medical officer in charge to be able to depart or when required by the Attorney General. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States, except in pursuance of the provisions of this section, or who shall fail to obtain a certificate from the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival before any passenger has landed, or who shall fail to comply with the terms of such certificate, shall be deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such violation occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therein, remit such fine, in whole or in part, if he is satisfied that the vessel has arrived in port with such alien seaman by reason of stress of weather or other cause beyond the control of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel, and that no fault or negligence on the part of any of them contributed to the violation of the provisions of this section, and that clearance was granted such vessel without prior knowledge of such violation by the customs officer in charge. Nothing in this section shall be construed as requiring the detention of any seaman who has been certified by the medical officer in charge to be able to depart or when required by the Attorney General. Any alien seaman who shall land temporarily in charge of an immigration officer for the purpose of obtaining medical treatment, or for any other reason deemed sufficient by the Attorney General, without requiring the deposit of the bond or undertaking hereinafter provided for, if adequate provision is otherwise made for the maintenance of such alien seaman while in the United States and for his departure therefrom when certified by the medical officer in charge to be able to depart or when required by the Attorney General, shall not be deported without expense to the Government. Any such alien seaman who shall fail to depart from the United States when required so to do by the Attorney General shall be deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act. Any such alien seaman who shall land in the United States, except in pursuance of the provisions of this section, or who shall fail to obtain a certificate from the immigration officer at the port of arrival before any passenger has landed, or who shall fail to comply with the terms of such certificate, shall be deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each such alien seaman landed from his vessel in violation hereof. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 18. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to report to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival the name of all passengers who have been stowaways on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively held in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively found as stowaways, and the facts in relation to their being stowaways, and shall deliver to such immigration officer a list containing the names of all alien members of the crew employed upon such vessel, stating the positions they respectively held in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped, and the time they have been employed on board, and shall produce such list for examination and inspection by such officer whenever required. No such vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs or other officer authorized to perform the duties of such collector at the port of arrival from the United States or any foreign port until the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer thereof has obtained from such immigration officer a certificate stating that such list has been produced and that all the provisions of this section have been complied with as to all alien members of the crew of such vessel. Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each such violation, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such fine, and in the event such fine is imposed, while it remains unpaid; but such fine may be remitted or refunded: Provided, That clearance may be granted such vessel prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit such fine, in whole or in part, if he is satisfied that the vessel has arrived in port with such alien seaman by reason of stress of weather or other cause beyond the control of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel, and that no fault or negligence on the part of any of them contributed to the violation of the provisions of this section, and that clearance was granted such vessel without prior knowledge of such violation by the customs officer in charge. Nothing in this section shall be construed as requiring the detention of any seaman who has been certified by the medical officer in charge to be able to depart or when required by the Attorney General. Any alien seaman who shall land temporarily in charge of an immigration officer for the purpose of obtaining medical treatment, or for any other reason deemed sufficient by the Attorney General, without requiring the deposit of the bond or undertaking hereinafter provided for, if adequate provision is otherwise made for the maintenance of such alien seaman while in the United States and for his departure therefrom when certified by the medical officer in charge to be able to depart or when required by the Attorney General, shall not be deported without expense to the Government. Any such alien seaman who shall fail to depart from the United States when required so to do by the Attorney General shall be deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act. Any such alien seaman who shall land in the United States, except in pursuance of the provisions of this section, or who shall fail to obtain a certificate from the immigration officer at the port of arrival before any passenger has landed, or who shall fail to comply with the terms of such certificate, shall be deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each alien seaman landed from his vessel in violation hereof. (43 Stat. 164-165, 8 U. S. C. 167 (a), 167 (c).)

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list of questions below shall be printed on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall be so answered by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel. The list of questions so given must be answered in the English language, and the answers must be written in ink in the proper spaces provided on the printed form. A refusal to furnish information called for by the questions, or the willful giving of false information in response thereto, is punishable by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both, and in addition thereto the vessel may be refused clearance until such expenses have been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or unless a bond to such alien seaman guaranteed by a satisfactory surety company approved by the Attorney General in such sum not exceeding $1,000 as may be required by the Commissioner of Immigration, and in such form as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, is deposited with the Commissioner of Immigration at the port of arrival to guarantee the return of such alien seaman on board the vessel or some other vessel upon which he may be employed, or to the foreign port from which he arrived in the United States, at the option of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel upon which such alien seaman arrived, or to guarantee the payment of a sum not exceeding $300 for each such alien seaman, as determined by the Secretary of Labor, which may be expended by him in defraying the expenses of the return of such alien seaman to such foreign port or place, or to such other foreign port or place as the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel upon which such alien seaman arrived may elect and the Secretary of Labor may approve, or to guarantee the return to such foreign port or place, or to such other foreign port or place as the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel upon which such alien seaman arrived may elect and the Secretary of Labor may approve, of such alien seaman if he shall become a public charge within one year after the date of his landing, or to guarantee the payment of the cost of his maintenance and support while in the United States, not exceeding $30 per month for a period not exceeding four months, in addition to the cost of his return, as provided herein, if he shall become a public charge within one year after the date of his landing: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, waive the requirements of this section in the case of any alien seaman who shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he is a bona fide member of the crew of a vessel regularly engaged in trade between the United States and foreign countries, and that he intends to depart from the United States in the vessel on which he arrived or in some other vessel within a reasonable time, and that he is not likely to become a public charge: Provided further, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, waive the requirements of this section in the case of any alien seaman who shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he is a bona fide member of the crew of a vessel regularly engaged in trade between the United States and foreign countries, and that he intends to depart from the United States in the vessel on which he arrived or in some other vessel within a reasonable time, and that he is not likely to become a public charge: Provided further, That clearance may be refused to any vessel if the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer thereof knowingly has employed on board thereof any alien seaman who has been refused a landing permit by the Secretary of Labor, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that such alien seaman was employed with the knowledge and consent of the United States immigration officer at the port from which such vessel cleared, and that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel has complied with such rules and regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe governing the employment of alien seamen. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 188.)

SEC. 50. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman on board such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival shall have inspected each seaman (which inspection of all crews shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or shall have issued to each seaman on board such vessel a certificate of inspection or to detect such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers for the determination of the liability to payment of such sum or any part thereof, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such sum, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in the discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all boarding stations independent to June 2, 1940.

(b) That sum may be paid to any alien seaman who did not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or who appeared upon the outbound manifest of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver or account for such alien seaman by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel.

(c) If the Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe, alien seamen who shall be paid off, discharged, or who shall leave the vessel on which they arrived without the consent of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel, may be required to report to the United States immigration officer at the port of arrival; or if such communication be made to any other immigration officer, such officer shall report the fact to the immigration officer at the port of arrival; or if such communication be made to the Attorney General, shall be by registered mail to the immigration officer at the port of arrival; and such alien seamen shall not be granted clearance until such communication shall have been received, or such alien seamen have been specifically cleared by the Attorney General. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer who shall fail to report the departure of any alien seaman employed on such vessel, whether such departure occurs before or after the departure of such vessel, shall be liable to a penalty of $300 for each such alien seaman, to be recovered by action at law. Clearance may be withheld from any vessel the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of which shall have failed to pay any such penalty, or to deposit sufficient security therefor, until the same shall be finally determined by the courts, in the event suit shall be brought. Clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. (43 Stat. 164, 165; 8 U. S. C. 188 (a), 188 (c).)

SEC. 36. [Any alien arriving at any seaport in the United States from any foreign port or place is shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all alien members employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or entered, and when and where they are to be paid and discharged in the port of arrival; or lists containing so much of such information as the Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, stating a description of such alien, together with such information likely to lead to the apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all alien employees who were not employed when the vessel arrived but who have joined the vessel at the time of the arrival but who shall leave port thereon at the time of the departure, and also the names of those, if any, who have been hired to replace those discharged, and of those, if any, who have deserted, stating if such be the fact, and the circumstances connected therewith, so far as known to the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master; and in case of the failure of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver lists as herein required, or in case of any false statement in such lists concerning the number of aliens employed or discharged, or the failure to report any such desertion, such owner, agent, consignee, or master shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered, or a like report is not made as above required: and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers from the collector of the customs district in which the port of such departure is located until the amount of such fines has been paid to the collector or secured to his satisfaction, or the master has made oath that no such fines have been incurred. [8 U. S. C. 136.])

SEC. 15.[15. Limit of alien employees: when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the master thereof, or the person applying for clearance, has filed with the collector of customs a list, in triplicate, and has subscribed to the oath therein contained, which list and oath shall be in such form as may be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration with the approval of the Secretary of Commerce, containing the name, nationality, last permanent residence, and intended future permanent residence of each alien employed on board such vessel, and such other information regarding such aliens as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration with the approval of the Secretary of Commerce. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the master has complied with the requirements of this section. Any master who knowingly violates any provision of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each offense. The Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Commerce, may, in his discretion, refuse clearance to any vessel the master of which has failed to comply with the requirements of this section as to any previous departure of such vessel from any port of the United States, and may withhold clearance to any vessel the master of which has refused to allow any immigrant inspector to go on board such vessel for the purpose of inspecting the crew thereof, or has refused to detain any alien employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has had opportunity to examine such alien physically and mentally, and has certified that such alien is not affected with any contagious disease, a mental or physical defect, or any other disease or illness likely to endanger the public health, or has refused to detain any alien certified by the medical examiners). Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien assumed to be landed, and the vessel shall not be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper.

This section, as amended, shall apply to all deserting alien seamen who may not have been specifically entered on the vessel on which they arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was removed by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport such alien seaman.

(b) Fees fixed as alien seamen did not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seamen on the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel may clear without the payment of such fine, or any part thereof, as the Attorney General may deem proper.

SEC. 150.15. Limit of alien employees: when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the master thereof, or the person applying for clearance, has filed with the collector of customs a list, in triplicate, and has subscribed to the oath therein contained, which list and oath shall be in such form as may be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration with the approval of the Secretary of Commerce, containing the name, nationality, last permanent residence, and intended future permanent residence of each alien employed on board such vessel, and such other information regarding such aliens as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration with the approval of the Secretary of Commerce. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the master has complied with the requirements of this section. Any master who knowingly violates any provision of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each offense. (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 136.)

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 16. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws but employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or distress, or for the purpose of obtaining treatment in a hospital or other institution, or pending deportation of such alien from the United States as the Attorney General may prescribe for such alien seaman if treated on such immigration officer to the contrary, who fails to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman by the medical examiners). Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper.

This section, as amended, shall apply to all deserting alien seamen who may not have been specifically entered on the vessel on which they arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was removed by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport such alien seaman.

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those to be paid off and discharged in the port of arrival; or lists containing no names of aliens, if such be the fact, which lists shall be certified to by the master of the vessel. Such lists shall be in such form as the Attorney General shall by regulations prescribe, and after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with any information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all alien employees who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who left jump port thereon at the time of her departure, and also the names of those, if any, who have been hired on and discharged, and of those, if any, who have deserted or died since the last report was rendered; and it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver either of the said lists of such aliens arriving and departing respectively; and in case of the failure of such owner, agent, consignee, or master so to deliver either of the aforesaid lists, if required by the Attorney General, he shall be subject to a penalty of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or a true report is not made as above required: and no such vessel shall be cleared pending the determination of the question of the application to the payment of such penalty, or until the same shall be paid: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. (39 Stat. 878; 8 U. S. C. 131.)

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 16. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or hospital to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof shall be responsible for the payment of the hospital expenses and maintenance of any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), and for the return to the country to which such seaman belongs, or to the country from which he came to the United States, if the immigration officer at the port of arrival or the Attorney General so to do, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $500 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all vessels arriving after the date of the enactment of this Act. June 2, 1940.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign port or place shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to obtain or deposit alien treatment by the immigration officer at the United States port of arrival, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport such alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expenses have been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such alien seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expenses have been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members of crews (Form I-418) shall not be required on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate address is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of returning American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 28. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a list containing the names of all alien members of the crew employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and where they belong in the port of arrival; or if the consignee be unable to furnish such information, the master shall make such investigation thereof as may be necessary to enable him to furnish the same, and he shall be liable to the penalties provided in this section if he fails to furnish such information. Any such vessel if bound from the coast of Mexico, Central America, the West Indies Islands, Bermuda, or the adjacent islands, shall be inspected by the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, or as soon as discovered, all cases in which such alien has been found secreted on board, and the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel shall be liable to the penalties provided in this section. Any such alien found secreted on board shall be detained on board the vessel at the option of the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof, or shall be detained at the port of arrival at the option of the immigration officer in charge at the port, and in either case the cost of such detention shall be paid to the United States by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel. Every alien who shall come to the United States on any such vessel and who shall not appear to the immigration officer at the time of the vessel's arrival to be entitled to enter the United States under some law or treaty, or who shall not have in his possession the required unexpired immigration visa, if such be required by the law in force at the time of his application for admission, or who shall not have been in possession of such visa for the period required by the law in force at the time of the issuance thereof, shall be deported in the manner provided by law, unless the privilege of entering the United States or remaining therein for a longer period be duly granted by the Secretary of Labor, or unless the Secretary of Labor shall, in his discretion, permit the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel to return the alien to a foreign port. Every alien who shall come to the United States on any such vessel and who shall not appear to the immigration officer at the time of the vessel's arrival to be entitled to enter the United States under some law or treaty, or who shall not have in his possession the required unexpired immigration visa, if such be required by the law in force at the time of his application for admission, or who shall not have been in possession of such visa for the period required by the law in force at the time of the issuance thereof, shall be deported in the manner provided by law, unless the privilege of entering the United States or remaining therein for a longer period be duly granted by the Secretary of Labor, or unless the Secretary of Labor shall, in his discretion, permit the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel to return the alien to a foreign port. The cost of maintenance of any alien who is a member of the crew of any vessel arriving at a port of the United States, pending the departure of such vessel, shall be paid by the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel who shall refuse to comply with the provisions of this section shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or a true report is not made as above required; and no such vessel shall be cleared while any fine so imposed remains unpaid; and such fine may be remitted or refunded, in the event such fine is imposed, while it remains unpaid or thereafter, by the Attorney General; but no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such fine, and, in the event such fine is imposed, while it remains unpaid and pending an appeal from the decision imposing the same, such vessel may be granted clearance pending the determination of such appeal upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. (39 Stat. 886, 887; 8 U. S. C. 151.)

SEC. 150.1. Limit of alien employees; waiver clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the listed members of the crew of such vessel, employed as such at any port in the United States, have been reported to the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure, and the master, agent, consignee, owner, or charterer of such vessel has been informed in writing by the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure that such report has been made, or has been informed by telegram or telephone that such report has been made and that no reason appears why clearance should be withheld. (39 Stat. 886; 8 U. S. C. 151.), except as provided in section 30 of the Act of February 5, 1917, as amended by section 3 of the Act of May 10, 1920 (41 Stat. 594; 8 U. S. C. 151), and in §§ 150.13–150.17, have been made.

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or for hospitalization as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate deportation, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof shall cause each alien seaman employed on such vessel first the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival for inspection and examination (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), and no such alien seaman shall be permitted to land in the United States except temporarily and upon such terms as the Attorney General may prescribe, or under bond in such form and amount as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, unless and until he has been so inspected and examined and found not to belong to any of the following classes of aliens ineligible to citizenship: Anarchists; persons who believe in or advocate the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States, or of all forms of law, or the assassination of public officials; persons who disbelieve in or are opposed to organized government, or who advocate or teach the duty, necessity, or propriety of the unlawful assaulting or killing of any officer or officers, either of specific individuals or of officers generally, of the Government of the United States or of any other organized government, because of his or their official character, or who advocate or teach the unlawful destruction of property; persons who are members of or affiliated with any organization entertaining a belief in, teaching, or advocating the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States, or of all forms of law, or the assassination of public officials; persons who are members of or affiliated with any organization writing or printing, publishing or causing to be published, or knowingly circulating, distributing, printing, or displaying any book, paper, document, or any written or printed matter in any form, containing the propositions above described; persons who are members of or affiliated with any organization entertaining a belief in, teaching, or advocating the unlawful destruction of property; persons who are members of or affiliated with any organization which opposes all organized government; persons who are members of or affiliated with any organization, association, society, or group of anarchists or other persons of similar views, however designated; persons who are members of or affiliated with any organization, association, society, or group which has for one of its purposes or objects the opposition to all organized government; persons who are members of or affiliated with any organization, association, society, or group which has for one of its purposes or objects the assassination of public officials; persons who are members of or affiliated with any organization, association, society, or group which has for one of its purposes or objects the unlawful destruction of property; persons who are members of or affiliated with any organization, association, society, or group which has for one of its purposes or objects the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States, or of all forms of law; persons who are members of or affiliated with any organization, association, society, or group which has for one of its purposes or objects the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States, or of all forms of law, or the assassination of public officials; persons who are members of or affiliated with any organization, association, society, or group which has for one of its purposes or objects the unlawful destruction of property; persons who are members of or affiliated with any organization which opposes all organized government; persons who are members of or affiliated with any organization, association, society, or group of anarchists or other persons of similar views, however designated; persons who are members of or affiliated with any organization, association, society, or group which has for one of its purposes or objects the opposition to all organized government; persons who are members of or affiliated with any organization, association, society, or group which has for one of its purposes or objects

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector pondering the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members of crews (Form I 425) shall be returned on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. Where an alternate address is a "workaway", a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of aliens seaman, include names of alternate American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and whether those to be paid off at the port of arrival; or lists containing no more of such information as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, and such other information relative to such aliens, as may be required from time to time by the Commissioner General of Immigration; and it shall be the duty of the master of any such vessel to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with any information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all aliens employed or who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who will leave port thereon at the time of the departure, and also the names of those, if any, who have been paid off and discharged, and of those, if any, who have deserted or landed; and in case of the failure of such owner, agent, consignee, or master so to deliver either of the lists required, or any of the particulars contained therein, or to report the illegal landing of any alien, or in case any such owner, agent, consignee, or master shall refuse to permit any immigrant inspector to come on board such vessel or to detain the same, or to refuse or to report such cases of desertion or landing, such owner, agent, consignee, or master shall pay a sum not exceeding $300 for each alien in respect of whom such failure occurs, which sum shall be a lien upon such vessel, and may be sued for and recovered by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than the amount of such fine, or wholly remit the same, and such decision shall be final. Pending the decision of the Attorney General in the question shall retain sufficient security to secure the payment thereof. The section, as amended, shall apply to all vessels arriving subsequent to June 2, 1940.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or shall be left behind by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be taken into custody and detained pending the examination and decision by the Attorney General as to whether he shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily under bond, or shall be deported as provided in this section. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States from any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof with any alien seaman employed on such vessel shall indicate the position of such seaman on the ship's articles, and before any such seaman (which term as used in this section shall include a person employed in any capacity on board a vessel except a master, officer, or member of the crew) shall be discharged from such vessel in the United States, he shall be examined and certified by a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service designated for the purpose by the Attorney General, unless such seaman shall be specifically certified by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival to be duly qualified for and entitled to be discharged in the United States, and such certification shall be noted on the ship's articles. The Attorney General may prescribe rules and regulations governing the examination by medical officers of the Public Health Service and certification by immigration officers of alien seamen under this section, and may refuse to certify any such seaman who has been afflicted with any of the diseases or physical defects specified in section 2 of the Act of February 5, 1917, or who is found to be a member of any of the classes excluded by section 3 of said Act, if in the opinion of the Attorney General the certification of such seaman would be contrary to the best interests of the United States. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel who shall refuse or neglect to comply with the provisions of this section or with the rules and regulations prescribed thereunder, or who shall discharge or cause to be discharged any alien seaman in violation of this section, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all vessels arriving subsequent to June 2, 1940.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or shall be left behind by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be taken into custody and detained pending the examination and decision by the Attorney General as to whether he shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily under bond, or shall be deported as provided in this section. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States from any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be deported in the same manner as provided in the case of aliens who have been refused admission to the United States, except when the Attorney General is satisfied that such alien seaman was forced to land in the United States by reason of illness, injury, or peril to the life of such alien seaman, during the period the vessel remained in port, or by reason of the failure of the master to detain such alien seaman on board when the vessel left port, or by reason of the master refusing to permit such alien seaman to depart with the vessel at the conclusion of the voyage, or by reason of any cause not due to the fault of such alien seaman. Deportation under this section shall be in pursuance of such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Attorney General, and shall be effected through the agency of the Public Health Service, the cost of maintenance and treatment while in the United States, and the actual transportation and other expenses incident to such deportation, shall be paid from the appropriation for the enforcement of the immigration laws. Any alien seaman who shall have been granted shore leave while his vessel was in port shall be deported in the manner provided for the deportation of seamen who have entered the United States unlawfully. Any such alien seaman who shall fail to depart from the United States upon the vessel on which he arrived or upon any other vessel which shall be ready to depart within a reasonable time, not exceeding ten days, after such vessel shall be ready to depart, shall be deported in the manner provided for the deportation of seamen who have entered the United States unlawfully. Any such alien seaman who shall refuse to depart from the United States upon the vessel on which he arrived or upon any other vessel which shall be ready to depart within a reasonable time, not exceeding ten days, after such vessel shall be ready to depart, shall be deported in the manner provided for the deportation of seamen who have entered the United States unlawfully. Any such alien seaman who shall refuse to depart from the United States upon the vessel on which he arrived or upon any other vessel which shall be ready to depart within a reasonable time, not exceeding ten days, after such vessel shall be ready to depart, shall be deported in the manner provided for the deportation of seamen who have entered the United States unlawfully.

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof with any alien seaman employed on such vessel shall indicate the position of such seaman on the ship's articles, and before any such seaman (which term as used in this section shall include a person employed in any capacity on board a vessel except a master, officer, or member of the crew) shall be discharged from such vessel in the United States, he shall be examined and certified by a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service designated for the purpose by the Attorney General, unless such seaman shall be specifically certified by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival to be duly qualified for and entitled to be discharged in the United States, and such certification shall be noted on the ship's articles. The Attorney General may prescribe rules and regulations governing the examination by medical officers of the Public Health Service and certification by immigration officers of alien seamen under this section, and may refuse to certify any such seaman who has been afflicted with any of the diseases or physical defects specified in section 2 of the Act of February 5, 1917, or who is found to be a member of any of the classes excluded by section 3 of said Act, if in the opinion of the Attorney General the certification of such seaman would be contrary to the best interests of the United States. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel who shall refuse or neglect to comply with the provisions of this section or with the rules and regulations prescribed thereunder, or who shall discharge or cause to be discharged any alien seaman in violation of this section, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all vessels arriving subsequent to June 2, 1940.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or shall be left behind by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be taken into custody and detained pending the examination and decision by the Attorney General as to whether he shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily under bond, or shall be deported as provided in this section. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States from any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be deported in the same manner as provided in the case of aliens who have been refused admission to the United States, except when the Attorney General is satisfied that such alien seaman was forced to land in the United States by reason of illness, injury, or peril to the life of such alien seaman, during the period the vessel remained in port, or by reason of the failure of the master to detain such alien seaman on board when the vessel left port, or by reason of the master refusing to permit such alien seaman to depart with the vessel at the conclusion of the voyage, or by reason of any cause not due to the fault of such alien seaman. Deportation under this section shall be in pursuance of such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Attorney General, and shall be effected through the agency of the Public Health Service, the cost of maintenance and treatment while in the United States, and the actual transportation and other expenses incident to such deportation, shall be paid from the appropriation for the enforcement of the immigration laws. Any alien seaman who shall have been granted shore leave while his vessel was in port shall be deported in the manner provided for the deportation of seamen who have entered the United States unlawfully. Any such alien seaman who shall fail to depart from the United States upon the vessel on which he arrived or upon any other vessel which shall be ready to depart within a reasonable time, not exceeding ten days, after such vessel shall be ready to depart, shall be deported in the manner provided for the deportation of seamen who have entered the United States unlawfully. Any such alien seaman who shall refuse to depart from the United States upon the vessel on which he arrived or upon any other vessel which shall be ready to depart within a reasonable time, not exceeding ten days, after such vessel shall be ready to depart, shall be deported in the manner provided for the deportation of seamen who have entered the United States unlawfully.

SEC. 36. That alien arriving at any seaport in the United States from any foreign port or place is shall be the duty of the master, agent, owner, or consignee, or person in charge of any vessel bringing such alien to the United States from any foreign port or place, to detain such alien on board the vessel at such port or place until a physician designated by the United States public-health service shall have examined such alien for the purpose of determining whether such alien is afflicted with any of the diseases or physical or mental defects or disabilities described in section 3 of this Act, and until a certificate of such examination shall have been issued by such physician to the effect that such alien is not afflicted with any such disease or disability, except in cases arising after the vessel's departure from a foreign port or place and which could not have been detected by the physician at the time of such departure, and in cases where such alien is detained for special examination or observation by the United States public-health service. Any such alien who shall refuse to submit to such detention, examination, or observation, or who shall escape therefrom, may be taken into custody and detained for such purposes by the immigration officers at any port of the United States. The cost of such detention, examination, or observation of such alien shall be borne by the owner of the vessel bringing such alien to the United States. Any such alien who becomes a public charge within two years after his entry into the United States from any cause not affirmatively shown to have arisen subsequent to his entry shall be deported as provided by law. Any such alien who becomes a public charge within two years after his entry into the United States from any cause not affirmatively shown to have arisen subsequent to his entry shall be deported as provided by law. Any such alien who becomes a public charge within two years after his entry into the United States from any cause not affirmatively shown to have arisen subsequent to his entry shall be deported as provided by law.

SEC. 150.15. Duties of alien contrabands: when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the time required by section 34 of the immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 171) have been complied with, and the master, agent, owner, or consignee of such vessel has delivered to the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure a list or manifest of all the crew members of such vessel, and has certified thereon that the number of persons so listed is correct to the best of his knowledge and belief. Any master, agent, owner, or consignee of any vessel who refuses to deliver such list or manifest, or who refuses to deliver to any immigrant alien duly certified for admission by the Secretary of Labor a certificate of such admission, or who refuses to deliver to any such alien a landing certificate, or who refuses to detain any such alien on board such vessel when required so to do, or who refuses to pay the head tax imposed by section 2 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 874; 8 U. S. C. 172), or who refuses to deliver to the master of such vessel a certificate of payment of such head tax, or who refuses to pay the cost of maintenance of any such alien while detained on board such vessel, or who refuses to pay the cost of his removal from the United States to the port from which he came to the United States, shall be liable to a penalty of $100 for each such alien in respect of whom any such failure occurs. The amount of such penalties may be recovered by action of debt in the district court of the United States for the district in which the port is located at which such alien arrives, or in which such master, agent, owner, or consignee may be found, and the vessel on board which such alien arrived shall be liable for such penalties and may be libeled therefor in admiralty and seized and detained under the process issued pursuant to such libel, and may be sold to satisfy the judgment and costs which may be rendered in such proceedings, unless the owner of such vessel or the master thereof shall give a bond with sufficient sureties, to be approved by the court or by the collector of the district in which such vessel arrives, in the penal sum of $300 for each such alien, conditioned for the payment of such penalties as may be incurred in respect of such alien. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing, remit or cancel any such penalty or bond, or any part thereof, upon such terms and conditions as he may deem just and proper, and may ascertain, fix, and impose such terms and conditions as may be imposed or exacted for granting relief or remission in whole or in part of any such penalty, and may compromise any such case before or after the institution of any proceedings for the recovery of any such penalty. Such penalties shall be in addition to the expenses of maintenance and removal provided for in section 20 of this Act.

(b) Every alien who shall be found in the United States in violation of this Act shall be deported, except as limited by the provisions of section 19 of this Act, in the manner provided by section 20 of this Act, to the country whence he came, at any time within five years after the entry of such alien, upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor. Such warrant shall be issued only upon a hearing before the Secretary of Labor, after such alien has been notified and given opportunity to be heard, unless such alien has departed from the United States. Any such alien against whom a warrant is so issued shall be taken into custody forthwith and detained pending the completion of the proceedings, and may, pending the completion of such proceedings, be released from custody upon bail, in such amount and with such sureties as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, or upon his own recognizance, in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor. Pending the hearing before the Secretary of Labor, any such alien may be required to report to the immigration officers from time to time. Any such alien who shall willfully fail or refuse to report to the immigration officers upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, or who shall willfully fail or refuse to appear before the Secretary of Labor upon reasonable notice given in accordance with such warrant, or who shall willfully fail or refuse to deposit the amount of bail required to secure his appearance before the Secretary of Labor, or who shall willfully fail or refuse to comply with such warrant, shall be liable to a penalty of $5 for each day during which he shall willfully fail or refuse to report, to appear, to deposit such bail, or to comply with such warrant, and in addition thereto shall forfeit the amount of bail deposited by him. Such penalties may be sued for and recovered by the United States in the manner provided for the recovery of penalties imposed upon masters of vessels bringing aliens to the United States. Any such alien who shall willfully fail or refuse to comply with such warrant, and any such alien who shall willfully fail or refuse to appear before the Secretary of Labor upon reasonable notice given in accordance with such warrant, or who shall willfully fail or refuse to deposit the amount of bail required to secure his appearance before the Secretary of Labor, or who shall willfully fail or refuse to comply with such warrant, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any such alien who shall willfully return to the United States after he shall have been deported, or who shall enter or attempt to enter the United States by means of any false or fraudulent papers or by concealing himself or herself on board any vessel or other conveyance or by any other means or by any false or misleading statement, or who shall enter or attempt to enter at any time or place other than as designated by immigration officers, or who shall enter or attempt to enter the United States by eluding examination or inspection by immigration officers, or who shall enter or attempt to enter the United States at any time within five years after the date of such alien's deportation, unless prior to his reembarkation at a place outside the United States or his application for admission from foreign contiguous territory the Secretary of Labor shall have consented to his reapplying for admission, shall be deported as provided in section 19 of this Act, and shall be imprisoned for a term of not more than two years after the termination of his last deportation. Any such alien shall be taken into custody and detained pending the determination of the question of his liability to the payment of such tax, and in the event such tax is unpaid, while it remains unpaid, not shall such tax be remitted or refunded: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such tax. (39 Stat. 888-890; 8 U. S. C. 171)

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or otherwise to such extent and for such purposes as the Attorney General may prescribe, for the period of the vessel's stay in port, or for such period not exceeding five days as the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival may deem necessary. Any such alien seaman who fails to depart with his vessel or any other vessel within the period allowed by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, or who fails to report on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has been notified of the illness or hospitalization ashore of such alien seaman, shall be deported in the manner provided by section 19 of this Act. Any master, agent, owner, or consignee of any vessel bringing to the United States from any place outside the contiguous territory of Canada, Mexico, Cuba, or Newfoundland any alien seaman who is afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities described in section 3 of this Act, which were not known to the immigration officer at the time of inspection of such alien seaman for admission, shall be required to return such alien seaman to the port from which he came to the United States on the vessel on which he arrived or on the vessel on which he sailed next after he has been notified of the presence of such alien seaman, and such alien seaman shall be deported in the manner provided by section 19 of this Act. Any master, agent, owner, or consignee of any vessel bringing to the United States any alien seaman who has been refused a landing certificate by the Secretary of Labor, or who has been ordered deported pursuant to the provisions of this section, shall be required to remove such alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived or on any vessel on which he sailed next after he has been notified of the presence of such alien seaman, and such alien seaman shall be deported in the manner provided by section 19 of this Act. IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be furnished on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspectors boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be delayed by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival. When an alternate manner is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of alternate enlisted seamen as well as aliens.

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory or adjacent island shall be permitted to land in the United States except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of an emergency, and then only under such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States. (48 Stat. 1ef, 8 U. S. C. 188.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of an emergency, shall be permitted to land in the United States only such immigration officer at the port of arrival as inspected such seamen on board after such inspection or to deport such seamen if required by such immigration officer at the port of arrival (except to go ashore under such regulations as may be prescribed by the Attorney General). Any such master who refuses to deport any alien seaman when ordered by the Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all deportable aliens who shall come to the United States at any time after July 1, 1940.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to detain or deport after readmittance by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

(43 Stat. 164–165, 28 Mar. 1924; 8 U. S. C. 193 (a), 193 (c).)

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on plain white paper approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival. Each alien on the manifest (Form I-418 shall not be detained on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the boarding immigration officer at the port. When an alien is to be detained for special inquiry at the port of arrival, a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of aliens seeking admission to the United States, a notation should be made on the manifest opposite the name of each alien, indicating whether the alien is a "non-quota" or "quota" immigrant, and if the latter, the appropriate quota to which he is chargeable.

SEC. 36. That upon arrival by vessel at a port in the United States from any foreign port of a alien it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel, and of the owner, master, agent, or consignee of the vessel on which such alien last came to the port of arrival, to prepare and deliver to the immigration officer at such port a list or manifest of all aliens on board such vessel, stating the full name, age, sex, calling or occupation, nationality, last residence, seaport for landing in the United States, final destination, whether in possession of a ticket through to such destination, whether the passage is paid by himself or by others or by what other means, whether in possession of money, and if so how much, whether going to join relatives or friends, and if so what relatives or friends and their names and complete addresses, whether ever before in the United States and if so when and how long ago, whether ever in prison or almshouse or supported by charity, whether a polygamist, whether coming by reason of any offer, solicitation, promise, agreement, or prepayment of transportation, assistance, or encouragement of any kind, whether coming in pursuance of a prearranged employment, and if so the character of such employment, whether the alien has been employed as a contract laborer within one year before the date of his application for admission to the United States, whether he is a skilled laborer or a member of a profession, and if so what profession, whether he is able to read or write, the nationality, race, and last previous residence of such alien, and such other facts as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, for the proper administration of the immigration laws. The master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel shall also deliver to the immigration officer at the time of the departure of such vessel from the United States a list containing the names of all aliens employed on board such vessel, stating the nationality, last residence, and intended future residence of each such alien, and such other facts as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration with the approval of the Secretary of Labor for the proper administration of the immigration laws. Such list or manifest shall be verified by the oath of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel, taken before a United States consular officer, and shall be in such form and contain such other information as the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, may prescribe. Such list or manifest shall be produced by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel upon demand of any immigration officer at the port of arrival, and before the vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs or other officer authorized to grant clearance papers for such vessel. Such list or manifest shall be prima facie evidence in any proceeding before the Department of Labor or the courts of the right of any alien to enter the United States. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel who refuses to deliver such list or manifest, or who delivers a false list or manifest, or who refuses to allow any immigration officer to go on board such vessel for the purpose of inspecting the list or manifest of aliens, or who refuses to deliver to the immigration officer any alien on board such vessel, or who refuses to detain any such alien on board such vessel when directed so to do by such immigration officer, or who refuses to pay the tax imposed by section 2 of this Act in the case of any such alien, or who refuses to comply with the provisions of section 6 of this Act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each such offense, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. The Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, may, in his discretion, refuse to grant clearance papers to any vessel in which any alien is required by this Act to be listed, who has not been listed therein, or in case the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel has refused to deliver to the immigration officer any alien on board thereof, or has refused to allow the immigration officer to go on board such vessel for the purpose of inspecting the list or manifest of aliens, or has refused to detain any alien on board such vessel when directed so to do by such immigration officer, or has refused to pay the tax imposed by section 2 of this Act in the case of any such alien, or has refused to comply with the provisions of section 6 of this Act, until such master, agent, consignee, or owner has complied with such requirements of this section and the rules and regulations of the Commissioner General of Immigration with the approval of the Secretary of Labor made thereunder, or has furnished a bond sufficient to comply with such requirements. Clearance may be granted without the production of the list or manifest required by this section in the case of vessels making regular trips across the borders between the United States and contiguous countries, or between the United States and islands adjacent thereto, or between ports of the United States on the Great Lakes or connecting waters, or between ports of the United States and the Panama Canal Zone, or between ports of the United States and the islands under the jurisdiction of the United States, or between ports of the United States and the West Indies, or between ports of the United States and Mexico, or between ports of the United States and Central America, or between ports of the United States and South America, or between ports of the United States and Europe, or between ports of the United States and Asia, or between ports of the United States and Africa, or between ports of the United States and Australia, or between ports of the United States and New Zealand, or between ports of the United States and any other country in North America, or between ports of the United States and any other country in Europe, or between ports of the United States and any other country in Asia, or between ports of the United States and any other country in Africa, or between ports of the United States and any other country in Australia, or between ports of the United States and any other country in

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of a vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, where and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and absolutely none to be landed in the port of arrival; or lists containing no names of such aliens. Such lists shall be verified by the oath of the master, and delivered in the port of arrival to the United States immigrant inspector at the time of the vessel's entry into port, and before any of the passengers are landed or the vessel is granted pratique. Such lists shall be in such form and contain such other information as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration with the approval of the Secretary of Labor. Any master who shall refuse to deliver such lists, or who shall refuse to answer truthfully any question touching the information required to be contained therein, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien concerning whom such refusal is made, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment. Any master who shall knowingly land or cause to be landed, or who shall knowingly bring to the United States in any manner whatsoever and attempt to land, or cause to be landed, any alien not duly listed, or any alien who has been refused a landing permit by the immigration officers, or any alien who has been ordered deported by the Secretary of Labor, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien so landed or brought, or attempted to be landed or brought, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, and may be arrested either upon warrant issued upon the sworn complaint of any person, or without warrant by any officer of the United States authorized to make arrests for crimes, and may be held in custody pending the action of the grand jury upon the charge made against him, and may be admitted to bail in the discretion of the court or commissioner before whom he may be brought for hearing. Any master who shall refuse to detain any alien on board his vessel when ordered so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or any master who shall refuse to take any alien ordered deported to the country from which he came to the United States on the vessel bringing him to the United States, or who shall refuse to take on board such alien for the purpose of conveying him to such country, or who shall refuse to deliver such alien to the master of the vessel about to depart for such country, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien so refused. Any master who shall fail to report the illness or hospital treatment of any alien seaman shall be punished by a fine of not more than $500 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of any question upon the report of a surgeon, or pending the payment of any fine imposed upon the master, or while any fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the master is in custody awaiting trial, or after he has given bond, with sufficient surety, to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. Upon such remission as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. The section, as amended, shall apply to all penalties which antedate or accrue subsequent to June 2, 1920.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport after treatment by the immigration officer of the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

SEC. 150.1. Limit of alien employees: when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the limitations imposed by section 36 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 131), have been complied with to the administrative satisfaction of the district director in whose district the port of arrival is located (the mate of the vessel, if the vessel is not under the command of a master), or pending the determination of the question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. Upon such remission as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. The section, as amended, shall apply to all penalties which antedate or accrue subsequent to June 2, 1920.

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, owner, consignee, or agent thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens embarked on such vessel, stating the nationality, last residence, and destination of each alien, whether they intend to enter the United States or not, and such information as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, and prescribe those to be bound in the ship's company, when they were respectively shipped or entered, and when and where they were born, so far as the same can be ascertained by reasonable inquiry, and such other information as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration or the Secretary of Labor. Such lists shall be prepared in the port of arrival of any such vessel at the time of the departure of such vessel from such port, and shall be delivered by the master to the immigrant inspector at the time of the arrival of such vessel at the port of first arrival in the United States. Any master who refuses or neglects to deliver such lists, or who knowingly and willfully delivers incorrect lists, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each offense. Any person who knowingly and willfully refuses to allow any immigrant inspector to go on board of any vessel for the purpose of inspecting the lists required by this section, or who knowingly and willfully refuses to deliver to any such inspector the lists required by this section, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each offense. IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be furnished on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members per se (Form I-418) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate address is a "continuation," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of alternate American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That from arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival true lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and whether they are then on board or discharged in the port of arrival; or have contributed to the passage of such aliens from the foreign port to the United States, and such information as the Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with such information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all aliens employed who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who will leave port thereon at the time of the departure, and also the names of those, if any, who have been paid off and discharged, and of those, if any, who have deserted, and also the names of all aliens employed on board such vessel at the time of departure, and the intended destination of each: and in case of the failure of such owner, agent, consignee, or master so to deliver either of the lists aforesaid, if required by the Attorney General, or so to report such cases of desertion or landing, such owner, agent, consignee, or master shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $30 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or a true report is not made as aforesaid: and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. (39 Stat. 888, 889, 8 U. S. C. 171.)

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness of such alien seaman, or for the necessities of the vessel, or for such period as may be necessary to secure another crew, or pending the decision on appeal from a special inquiry officer, or pending the removal of such alien seaman on board or otherwise, under regulations to be prescribed by the Attorney General: Provided, That nothing contained in this section shall be construed to prevent any such alien seaman who has been granted shore leave by the master or agent of the vessel on which he arrived, and who has subsequently returned to such vessel, from proceeding to sea on such vessel with the intention of being admitted to the United States upon the arrival of such vessel at another port.

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof (except from foreign contiguous territory) or any transportation company operating such vessel, shall be responsible for the proper maintenance while in the United States of any alien seaman employed on board such vessel, and for the expenses of his removal, unless such alien seaman is duly discharged from such vessel in the United States with the consent of the Attorney General and the immigration officer in charge at the port of such discharge, and is entered on the crew list of a vessel departing from the United States within a period of time which, in the opinion of the Attorney General, is reasonably sufficient for the alien seaman to secure employment on board such vessel or another vessel. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer has deposited sufficient funds to defray the cost of maintenance and removal of such alien seamen for a period of one month, or has furnished a bond in such sum, not exceeding $300 for each alien seaman, and with such sureties as may be required by the Attorney General, conditioned for the performance by such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the duties imposed upon him by this section. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, authorize such deposit to be withdrawn in whole or in part when, in his opinion, the purpose for which such deposit was required has been accomplished or no longer exists. The Attorney General may prescribe the amount of deposit required under this section, and may from time to time increase or decrease the amount required. Failure to comply with any such requirement shall be ground for refusal of clearance of such vessel. All moneys deposited with the Attorney General under this section shall be covered into the Treasury as miscellaneous receipts.

(b) Every alien seaman who has been granted shore leave by the master or agent of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, and who has failed to return to such vessel or to depart from the United States within the period of time allowed him for such purpose by the Attorney General, shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 hereof, and shall be deported on the vessel on which he arrived, or on any other vessel which may be available, unless the Attorney General shall determine that deportation on such vessel is undesirable, in which case deportation may be effected on any vessel which in the opinion of the Attorney General may be utilized for the purpose without undue hardship to such seaman or undue expense to the owners of such vessel. Any such seaman who shall have been granted shore leave and who shall fail to return to the vessel on which he arrived, or to depart from the United States on any other vessel, within the period of time allowed him for such purpose by the Attorney General, shall be deemed to have remained unlawfully in the United States for the purposes of section 19 hereof.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of cabin passengers of alien members of the crew (Form I-418) shall not be furnished or noted, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate seaman is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of alternate Canadian citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a list or manifest of all persons, including the crew, on board such vessel, whether they be destined to the United States or not, or who may have been transferred from any vessel or otherwise, and whether they be passengers, members of the crew, or stowaways, and shall indicate whether each person has been examined by the consular officer at the port of departure, and shall state the nationality, last permanent residence, and destination of each alien, and such other information as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, and shall be verified by the oath of the master or commanding officer thereof, and by the oath of the surgeon, if there be one, touching the sanitary condition of the vessel and the health of the persons on board. Such list or manifest shall be delivered before the vessel shall be admitted to entry, and before any person shall be allowed to land therefrom, and before the master shall be granted a clearing certificate for the vessel. Any master who shall refuse to deliver such list or manifest, or who shall refuse to answer truthfully any question touching the matters required by this section, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each offense. Any master who shall fail to deliver such list or manifest at the time of the arrival of the vessel at the port where the inspection is to be made, or who shall fail to report and deliver a supplemental list or manifest of persons not included in the list or manifest delivered by him before the vessel shall leave the last port at which she touches before arriving at the port of destination, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $500 for each such offense. Any master who shall refuse to deliver to the proper officer the list or manifest required of him by this section, or who shall refuse to answer truthfully any question touching the matters required by this section, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $500 for each such offense. Any master who shall refuse to allow any person to land from his vessel at any port of the United States, except pursuant to the provisions of the immigration laws, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $500 for each such offense. Any master who shall refuse to detain any alien on board his vessel when ordered so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or who shall refuse to take any such alien back to the foreign port from which he came, or who shall refuse to pay the cost of such detention, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense. Any master who shall refuse to carry any alien to the port to which his vessel is destined, or who shall land any alien at any port other than the port of destination of such vessel without the consent of the Commissioner of Immigration, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense. Any master who shall refuse to report, or who shall conceal or attempt to conceal, or who shall aid or abet any alien to conceal himself or attempt to conceal himself on board his vessel, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense. Any master who shall refuse to pay the cost of the maintenance of any alien who has been ordered to be deported from the United States, or who shall refuse to pay the cost of the maintenance of any alien who has been ordered to be deported from the United States, pending the appeal of such alien's case, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense. Any master

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The act checked below, which is printed on page [illegible] of this pamphlet, has been approved by the Department and the copy for delivery to the immigration officer at the port of arrival has been certified to the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization. Please read the act carefully and see that the requirements of the law are complied with in every detail. Failure to comply with the law may result in the imposition of a penalty of $300 for each violation. Any questions concerning the application of the law should be referred to the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, Washington, D. C., or to the local immigration officer at the port of arrival.

☐ SEC. 16. (a) The master, owner, agent, consignee, charterer, or operator of any vessel bringing an alien to the United States (other than an alien crewman specified in section 252 (b) of this Act) shall, before such vessel shall depart from the port at which such alien is to be granted a visa, deliver to the immigration officer at such port a manifest, in triplicate, in such form as may be prescribed by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization with the approval of the Secretary of State, containing such information as may be required for the identification of each such alien, under the direction of the master, owner, agent, consignee, charterer, or operator of such vessel, except that in the case of aliens in transit through the United States such information may be required only to the extent necessary to complete the records and reports specified in section 238 (d) of this Act. The master, owner, agent, consignee, charterer, or operator of any such vessel shall also furnish to the immigration officer at the port of arrival a list or manifest of the aliens employed on board such vessel who are destined to the United States but who are not included in the manifest specified in section 238 (d) of this Act. Such list or manifest shall be prepared at such time before the departure of the vessel from a foreign port or place as the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization may prescribe by regulations, and shall contain such information concerning each such alien as may be required under the provisions of section 238 (d) of this Act.

☐ SEC. 17. (a) Before the master of any vessel bringing aliens to the United States shall land any such aliens (except in case of accident, stress of weather, or other unavoidable cause, of which cause a full statement shall be indorsed by him upon the manifest), he shall deliver to the immigration officer at the port of arrival a true and correct manifest, made in quadruplicate and subscribed by him, of all such aliens on board his vessel who have been examined by the consular officer, and the consular officer's certificate number and date opposite the name of each such alien, and shall certify to the correctness of such manifest. The master shall also deliver to the immigration officer at each subsequent port in the United States at which such vessel shall arrive before landing any aliens, a like manifest of all such aliens on board who have not been previously listed, and shall certify to the correctness of such manifest. The immigration officer at the first port of arrival shall indorse on the manifest the name of each alien not included in the consular certificates known to him, and shall report the name and such other information as may be required by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization to the consular officer who issued the certificate. The master shall deliver to the immigration officer at each port in the United States a list of all aliens on board his vessel who are destined to such port, and shall not permit any such alien to land elsewhere without the consent of the immigration officer in charge at such port except as provided by regulations. The master shall deliver a like list to the immigration officer at the last port in the United States from which his vessel departs for a foreign port, containing the names of all aliens on board destined to such foreign port.

(b) Any master who shall refuse or neglect to deliver such manifest and list, or who shall refuse to permit any immigration officer to board such vessel for the purpose of examining the manifest, or who shall refuse to detain on board or at such port any alien when required so to do by any such officer, or who shall refuse to deliver to such officer any alien required to be so delivered, or who shall refuse or neglect to perform any other duty required of him by the immigration laws or regulations made in pursuance thereof, or who shall refuse or neglect to pay the tax imposed by this Act, or who shall knowingly or willfully land or permit to be landed from his vessel any alien not duly entered at a port of entry as required by this Act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien in respect to whom any such violation occurs, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(c) Any master who shall refuse or neglect to deliver to any immigration officer any alien or manifest of aliens, as required by this section, or who shall land or permit to be landed any alien brought to the United States on his vessel, except as provided by this Act, shall be liable to a penalty of $300 for each such alien so landed or delivered, or for each such alien who shall not be duly entered at a port of entry as required by this Act.

(d) Any master who shall fail to detain on board his vessel any alien ordered detained by any immigration officer at the port of arrival, or who shall land or permit to be landed any alien detained on board his vessel, except for medical treatment or pursuant to such regulations as the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization may prescribe, or pursuant to such conditions as may be imposed by the Attorney General, or who shall land or permit to be landed any alien who has been ordered deported, except pursuant to such conditions as may be imposed by the Attorney General, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien so landed or detained.

(e) Any master who shall fail to remove any alien ordered removed on the vessel on which such alien arrived to the country from which such vessel proceeded to the United States, or to the country of which such alien is a subject, citizen, or national, or to any country willing to receive such alien (other than Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, Cuba, or adjacent islands), shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien, unless the master establishes to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that he has complied with such order to the best of his ability.

(f) Any master who shall fail to remove any alien ordered removed on the vessel on which such alien arrived to the country from which such vessel proceeded to the United States, or to the country of which such alien is a subject, citizen, or national, or to any country willing to receive such alien (other than Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, Cuba, or adjacent islands), shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien, unless the master establishes to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that he has complied with such order to the best of his ability.

(g) Any master who shall fail to remove any alien ordered removed on the vessel on which such alien arrived to the country from which such vessel proceeded to the United States, or to the country of which such alien is a subject, citizen, or national, or to any country willing to receive such alien (other than Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, Cuba, or adjacent islands), shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien, unless the master establishes to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that he has complied with such order to the best of his ability.

(h) Any master who shall fail to remove any alien ordered removed on the vessel on which such alien arrived to the country from which such vessel proceeded to the United States, or to the country of which such alien is a subject, citizen, or national, or to any country willing to receive such alien (other than Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, Cuba, or adjacent islands), shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien, unless the master establishes to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that he has complied with such order to the best of his ability.

(i) Any master who shall fail to remove any alien ordered removed on the vessel on which such alien arrived to the country from which such vessel proceeded to the United States, or to the country of which such alien is a subject, citizen, or national, or to any country willing to receive such alien (other than Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, Cuba, or adjacent islands), shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien, unless the master establishes to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that he has complied with such order to the best of his ability.

(j) Any master who shall fail to remove any alien ordered removed on the vessel on which such alien arrived to the country from which such vessel proceeded to the United States, or to the country of which such alien is a subject, citizen, or national, or to any country willing to receive such alien (other than Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, Cuba, or adjacent islands), shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien, unless the master establishes to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that he has complied with such order to the best of his ability.

(k) Any master who shall fail to remove any alien ordered removed on the vessel on which such alien arrived to the country from which such vessel proceeded to the United States, or to the country of which such alien is a subject, citizen, or national, or to any country willing to receive such alien (other than Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, Cuba, or adjacent islands), shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien, unless the master establishes to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that he has complied with such order to the best of his ability.

(l) Any master who shall fail to remove any alien ordered removed on the vessel on which such alien arrived to the country from which such vessel proceeded to the United States, or to the country of which such alien is a subject, citizen, or national, or to any country willing to receive such alien (other than Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, Cuba, or adjacent islands), shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien, unless the master establishes to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that he has complied with such order to the best of his ability.

(m) Any master who shall fail to remove any alien ordered removed on the vessel on which such alien arrived to the country from which such vessel proceeded to the United States, or to the country of which such alien is a subject, citizen, or national, or to any country willing to receive such alien (other than Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, Cuba, or adjacent islands), shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien, unless the master establishes to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that he has complied with such order to the best of his ability.

(n) Any master who shall fail to remove any alien ordered removed on the vessel on which such alien arrived to the country from which such vessel proceeded to the United States, or to the country of which such alien is a subject, citizen, or national, or to any country willing to receive such alien (other than Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, Cuba, or adjacent islands), shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien, unless the master establishes to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that he has complied with such order to the best of his ability.

(o) Any master who shall fail to remove any alien ordered removed on the vessel on which such alien arrived to the country from which such vessel proceeded to the United States, or to the country of which such alien is a subject, citizen, or national, or to any country willing to receive such alien (other than Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, Cuba, or adjacent islands), shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien, unless the master establishes to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that he has complied with such order to the best of his ability.

(p) Any master who shall fail to remove any alien ordered removed on the vessel on which such alien arrived to the country from which such vessel proceeded to the United States, or to the country of which such alien is a subject, citizen, or national, or to any country willing to receive such alien (other than Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, Cuba, or adjacent islands), shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien, unless the master establishes to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that he has complied with such order to the best of his ability.

(q) Any master who shall fail to remove any alien ordered removed on the vessel on which such alien arrived to the country from which such vessel proceeded to the United States, or to the country of which such alien is a subject, citizen, or national, or to any country willing to receive such alien (other than Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, Cuba, or adjacent islands), shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien, unless the master establishes to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that he has complied with such order to the best of his ability.

(r) Any master who shall fail to remove any alien ordered removed on the vessel on which such alien arrived to the country from which such vessel proceeded to the United States, or to the country of which such alien is a subject, citizen, or national, or to any country willing to receive such alien (other than Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, Cuba, or adjacent islands), shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien, unless the master establishes to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that he has complied with such order to the best of his ability.

(s) Any master who shall fail to remove any alien ordered removed on the vessel on which such alien arrived to the country from which such vessel proceeded to the United States, or to the country of which such alien is a subject, citizen, or national, or to any country willing to receive such alien (other than Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, Cuba, or adjacent islands), shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien, unless the master establishes to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that he has complied with such order to the best of his ability.

(t) Any master who shall fail to remove any alien ordered removed on the vessel on which such alien arrived to the country from which such vessel proceeded to the United States, or to the country of which such alien is a subject, citizen, or national, or to any country willing to receive such alien (other than Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, Cuba, or adjacent islands), shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien, unless the master establishes to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that he has complied with such order to the best of his ability.

(u) Any master who shall fail to remove any alien ordered removed on the vessel on which such alien arrived to the country from which such vessel proceeded to the United States, or to the country of which such alien is a subject, citizen, or national, or to any country willing to receive such alien (other than Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, Cuba, or adjacent islands), shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien, unless the master establishes to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that he has complied with such order to the best of his ability.

(v) Any master who shall fail to remove any alien ordered removed on the vessel on which such alien arrived to the country from which such vessel proceeded to the United States, or to the country of which such alien is a subject, citizen, or national, or to any country willing to receive such alien (other than Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, Cuba, or adjacent islands), shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien, unless the master establishes to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that he has complied with such order to the best of his ability.

(w) Any master who shall fail to remove any alien ordered removed on the vessel on which such alien arrived to the country from which such vessel proceeded to the United States, or to the country of which such alien is a subject, citizen, or national, or to any country willing to receive such alien (other than Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, Cuba, or adjacent islands), shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien, unless the master establishes to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that he has complied with such order to the best of his ability.

(x) Any master who shall fail to remove any alien ordered removed on the vessel on which such alien arrived to the country from which such vessel proceeded to the United States, or to the country of which such alien is a subject, citizen, or national, or to any country willing to receive such alien (other than Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, Cuba, or adjacent islands), shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien, unless the master establishes to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that he has complied with such order to the best of his ability.

(y) Any master who shall fail to remove any alien ordered removed on the vessel on which such alien arrived to the country from which such vessel proceeded to the United States, or to the country of which such alien is a subject, citizen, or national, or to any country willing to receive such alien (other than Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, Cuba, or adjacent islands), shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien, unless the master establishes to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that he has complied with such order to the best of his ability.

(z) Any master who shall fail to remove any alien ordered removed on the vessel on which such alien arrived to the country from which such vessel proceeded to the United States, or to the country of which such alien is a subject, citizen, or national, or to any country willing to receive such alien (other than Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, Cuba, or adjacent islands), shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien, unless the master establishes to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that he has complied with such order to the best of his ability.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 18. That from section 2 of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival lists containing the names of all persons on board of such vessel, stating the locations they respectively occupy on such vessel, whether they are citizens of the United States, and whether they have been naturalized, which lists shall be produced before and be open to the inspection of such immigration officer or any other officer of the United States authorized to go upon such vessel for the purpose of inspection, and the master, owner, agent, consignee, charterer, or operator of such vessel shall furnish to such immigration officer such additional information relative to persons on board of such vessel as may be required by such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, approved by the Secretary of Labor, and such additional information relative to persons on board of such vessel arriving at a seaport of the United States from a foreign port as the Secretary of State may require. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, charterer, or operator of such vessel who shall refuse or neglect to deliver such lists or to furnish such additional information relative to persons on board of such vessel arriving at a seaport of the United States from a foreign port as the Secretary of State may require, or who shall refuse or neglect to detain on board such vessel any person when required so to do by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization or any officer of the United States authorized to go upon such vessel for the purpose of inspection, or who shall refuse to allow any such officer to go upon such vessel for the purpose of inspection, or to detain on board such vessel any person when required so to do by any such officer, or who shall refuse or neglect to deliver to such officer any person required to be so delivered, or who shall refuse or neglect to perform any other duty required of him by the immigration laws or regulations made in pursuance thereof, or who shall refuse or neglect to pay the tax imposed by this Act, or who shall knowingly or willfully land or permit to be landed from such vessel any person not duly entered at a port of entry as required by this Act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each person in respect to whom any such violation occurs, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

SEC. 150.15 Limit of alien embarkation; when clearance of vessel denied. (Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the pilot conducting it to the immigration line of the United States (see 8 U. S. C. 171) has been furnished or has himself received a copy of section 16 of the Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 886; 8 U. S. C. 171), duly certified by the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure, and has indorsed upon such copy his certificate that such copy has been furnished to the master of the vessel. The pilot shall then return such copy to the immigration officer at the port of departure. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel having on board any alien who has been ordered excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel, except temporarily in case of accident, stress of weather, or other unavoidable cause, of which cause a full statement shall be indorsed by the master upon the manifest, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe; for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel which shall bring into the United States from any place outside the foreign contiguous territory of the United States any alien who has been refused a visa by the consular officer at the port of departure because such alien is afflicted with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, shall be required to return such alien to the country from which he came or to the country of which he is a subject, citizen, or national, or to any country willing to receive him, and shall be required to detain such alien on board while in port and shall be responsible for the payment of the cost of his detention on board and of his maintenance while in a hospital, and of his return to the country to which he is ordered returned, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the application of this section to the vessel in question, or while any such alien remains on board, except that such clearance may be granted upon the deposit of sufficient funds to pay the cost of such detention, maintenance, and return, or the giving of a bond satisfactory to the collector of customs, with sufficient sureties, in a sum sufficient to cover such cost, or in a sum sufficient to cover the cost and any tax which may be imposed under the provisions of section 2 of this Act, conditioned upon the payment of such cost and tax. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such bond or cancel it upon the payment of only such part of the cost as he may deem just in cases where it appears that the vessel has been required to bring back aliens who were not entitled to enter the United States, but who were not afflicted with any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, and that the master of the vessel had no reason to believe that any such alien was afflicted with any such disease at the time he departed from the foreign port.

(b) Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien in respect to whom any such violation occurs.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving at the United States from any foreign port or place, except temporarily in case of accident, stress of weather, or other unavoidable cause, of which cause a full statement shall be indorsed by the master upon the manifest, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe; for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel which shall bring into the United States from any place outside the foreign contiguous territory of the United States any alien who has been refused a visa by the consular officer at the port of departure because such alien is afflicted with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, shall be required to return such alien to the country from which he came or to the country of which he is a subject, citizen, or national, or to any country willing to receive him, and shall be required to detain such alien on board while in port and shall be responsible for the payment of the cost of his detention on board and of his maintenance while in a hospital, and of his return to the country to which he is ordered returned, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the application of this section to the vessel in question, or while any such alien remains on board, except that such clearance may be granted upon the deposit of sufficient funds to pay the cost of such detention, maintenance, and return, or the giving of a bond satisfactory to the collector of customs, with sufficient sureties, in a sum sufficient to cover such cost, or in a sum sufficient to cover the cost and any tax which may be imposed under the provisions of section 2 of this Act, conditioned upon the payment of such cost and tax. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such bond or cancel it upon the payment of only such part of the cost as he may deem just in cases where it appears that the vessel has been required to bring back aliens who were not entitled to enter the United States, but who were not afflicted with any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, and that the master of the vessel had no reason to believe that any such alien was afflicted with any such disease at the time he departed from the foreign port.

(b) Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien in respect to whom any such violation occurs.

This section, as amended, shall apply to all boarding stations irrespective of dates of enactment.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory or adjacent island, or touching at any port of the United States on any such voyage, shall be permitted to land in the United States except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of shipwreck or other casualty, or by reason of illness, injury, or quarantine certified by the medical officer in charge at the port of arrival, or because of the necessity for obtaining surgical treatment which cannot be furnished on board vessel, or for such other cause as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, and then only under such conditions as he may prescribe. Any such alien who is permitted to land temporarily as provided in this section shall be deported as provided in section 19 of this Act. (43 Stat. 164.)

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the foreign contiguous territory specified in section 3 of this Act, or any person who shall bring into the United States from any such place any alien, shall take such alien before the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival for inspection. Such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, master, or person shall not allow any such alien to land in the United States except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of shipwreck or other casualty, or by reason of illness, injury, or quarantine certified by the medical officer in charge at the port of arrival, or because of the necessity for obtaining surgical treatment which cannot be furnished on board vessel, or for such other cause as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, and then only under such conditions as he may prescribe. Any such alien who is permitted to land temporarily as provided in this section shall be deported as provided in section 19 of this Act. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 168.)

(b) Any owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel who shall refuse or fail to comply with the requirements of the immigration laws or to detain any alien on board any vessel when ordered by the Secretary of Labor, or any immigrant inspector, or who shall refuse or fail to deliver any such alien to the immigration officer at the port of arrival, or who shall refuse or fail to comply with the regulations of the Secretary of Labor for the safekeeping, care, or hospital treatment of any such alien, or who shall refuse or fail to detain on board any alien seaman ordered detained for special inquiry at the request of the Secretary of Labor, or who shall refuse or fail to deliver on board any vessel any such alien seaman for the return of such alien seaman, or who shall refuse or fail to remove any such alien seaman from the United States when ordered by the Secretary of Labor, or who shall refuse or fail to pay the cost of the maintenance of any such alien seaman while detained at a hospital, or who shall refuse or fail to pay any fine or penalty imposed upon him by the Secretary of Labor under the provisions of this section, shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such default occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty or remit the same upon such terms as he may deem just. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 168.)

(c) If the Attorney General finds that adequate deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

(43 Stat. 164, 165; 8 U. S. C. 169 (a), 169 (c).)

(d) Every alien seaman who shall not depart from the United States as required by this section shall be deported as provided in section 19 of this Act. (43 Stat. 165; 8 U. S. C. 169 (b).)

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 38. That when arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the immigrant inspector officer in charge of the port of arrival a list or manifest of all persons, including the crew, who may be brought on board such vessel at any foreign port or place, whether or not destined to the United States, and shall further deliver to such inspector officer in charge of the port of arrival such information in regard to the persons named in such list or manifest as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, and shall also deliver to such inspector officer in charge of the port of arrival a separate report or statement with respect to each alien in such list or manifest who is to be landed in the United States, stating whether such alien has been in prison or in a almshouse or an asylum, hospital, or institution for the insane or supported by charity, and the cost and source of the money with which the passage was paid, the name and complete address of the person or persons in the United States by whom such alien was sent for, assisted, or induced to come, the purpose for which such alien comes to the United States, whether such alien has a ticket through to his destination, whether he has been in the United States before, whether he has a relative or friend in the United States, and if so, what relative or friend, and whether he is going to join him or her, the kind of labor for which he has been engaged, his occupation, whether skilled or unskilled, and the amount of money in his possession, which list or manifest and statement shall be sworn to by the master or commanding officer of the vessel at the time of the departure of the vessel from the last foreign port or place from which it sails for the United States, and shall be subject to such further inspection and examination by inspection officers as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, and such officers shall have the right to board any such vessel at quarantine or elsewhere for the purpose of such inspection and examination, and to detain such vessel for that purpose. Any master or commanding officer who refuses to deliver such list or manifest, or who refuses to answer any question concerning any alien on board his vessel, or who makes a false answer to any such question, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense. Any master or commanding officer who fails to deliver to any immigrant inspector at the time of departure of his vessel from the last foreign port or place the list or manifest and statement in relation to each alien on board his vessel, as required by this section, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense. Any master or commanding officer who refuses to allow any immigrant inspector to board his vessel for the purpose of inspecting the list or manifest and statement of the aliens on board, or who refuses to detain any alien on board his vessel when requested to do so by such inspector, or who refuses to allow any such alien to be taken before the proper inspection officer, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense. Any master or commanding officer who refuses to allow any such alien to be sent back on his vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, or who refuses to pay the cost of the maintenance of any such alien while detained at a hospital, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense. Any master or commanding officer who shall refuse or fail to comply with the requirements of the immigration laws or to detain any alien on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspec-

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on board such vessel, arranged and bound together in the order hereinafter provided, which lists shall be delivered to and inspected by such immigration officer before any of such aliens shall be allowed to land in the United States from any foreign vessel at any port: Provided, That the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel, arriving at the boarding station of the district in which the port of arrival is located, shall be permitted to land in the United States from such vessel, prior to the inspection of the alien passengers and crew thereon by the immigration officers, such persons as are necessary to operate the vessel during the inspection, and such persons as are employed by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel, arriving at the boarding station of the district in which the port of arrival is located, for the purpose of assisting the passengers and crew in the debarkation of the vessel, and such persons as are employed by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel, arriving at the boarding station of the district in which the port of arrival is located, for the purpose of repairing the vessel, and such persons as are employed by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel, arriving at the boarding station of the district in which the port of arrival is located, for the purpose of transporting the passengers and crew of such vessel from the vessel to the immigration station, and such persons as are employed by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel, arriving at the boarding station of the district in which the port of arrival is located, for the purpose of transporting the passengers and crew of such vessel from the immigration station to the vessel when departing from the port of arrival, but no person employed by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel, arriving at the boarding station of the district in which the port of arrival is located, for the purpose of transporting the passengers and crew of such vessel from the vessel to the immigration station, shall be permitted to land from the vessel prior to the inspection of the alien passengers and crew thereon by the immigration officers, unless such person is a member of the crew of such vessel and is employed on board such vessel in the capacity of a member of the crew during the inspection of the alien passengers and crew thereon by the immigration officers, and such person shall not be permitted to land from such vessel at any port other than the port of arrival in which the inspection of the alien passengers and crew thereon by the immigration officers is conducted, except in case of an emergency, and then only upon the written permission of the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival, which permission shall state the number of persons who have been permitted to land, and the name of the vessel from which they landed, and the port at which they landed, and the reason for such landing, and such persons shall be subject to such rules and regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe: Provided, That the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel, arriving at the boarding station of the district in which the port of arrival is located, shall be permitted to land from such vessel, prior to the inspection of the alien passengers and crew thereon by the immigration officers, such persons as are EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, owner, or consignee, or master, inspector, or person in charge of the port of arrival, each respectively, both in the spoken and written languages, to report to the proper immigration officer, in addition to the information required from all passengers, the name, nationality, last permanent residence, and final destination (if any) of each seaman (including masters) employed on board such vessel; the date, place, and manner of his arrival in the United States, whether he intends to depart therefrom, and, if so, whether he has procured a certificate of identity from the Secretary of Labor, and if not, the reasons therefor; whether he has been deported or has ever been refused admission to the United States, or is under a penalty of law, and such other information relative to the history, character, and identity of such seamen as may be required by rules or regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. Such reports shall be verified by the oath of the master or agent of the vessel, and shall be in addition to, and not in substitution for, any other reports required by law. Any master, agent, owner, consignee, or master, inspector, or person in charge of the port of arrival who shall fail to comply with any requirement of this section, or who shall refuse to answer to the best of his knowledge any question therein propounded by any immigrant inspector, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien concerning whom any such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to the payment of such fine, or while the master thereof is under arrest upon a charge of violating this section, unless a sufficient bond shall be given to the collector of customs conditioned for the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not obtain from the consular officer of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or that he was refused by the immigration officer at the port of arrival, a certificate, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to obtain or deliver to the Secretary of Labor such certificate when required.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be detained on board vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 16. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, to such destinations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the ultimate deportation, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 35. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who shall fail to obtain on board the said vessel before its departure from such port the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival the information required by section 30 of the Act of February 5, 1917, or who shall fail to detain such seaman on board until the immigration officer has granted a certificate of identity to such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who shall fail to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to the payment of such fine, or while the master thereof is under arrest upon a charge of violating this section, unless a sufficient bond shall be given to the collector of customs conditioned for the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not obtain from the consular officer of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to obtain or deliver to the Secretary of Labor such certificate when required, and shall be sufficient ground for the detention of such seaman on board vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

Form 521
Revised Feb 1920
U.S. DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE
IMMIGRATION AND NATURALIZATION SERVICE

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 3. That from and after the passage of this act it shall be unlawful for any person or persons to depart from or enter or attempt to depart from or enter the United States in any manner whatever, except at such time or place as the President may designate and under such rules, regulations, and exceptions as shall be prescribed by the President, and by proclamation which he may make from time to time hereafter, setting aside limits of time or localities to which such rules, regulations, and exceptions shall apply: Provided, That the President may withhold and withdraw passports from citizens of the United States when he shall find that the withholding thereof is necessary to the best interests of the United States, and may make such rules and regulations with respect to, and may require from any and all persons applying for passports, such evidence of citizenship as he may deem necessary: Provided, That nothing in this section shall be construed to abridge the existing right of asylum or the privilege of any person to seek the shelter of an embassy, legation, consulate of the United States, or public armed vessel or military camp of the United States in a foreign country, or the right of such person to depart therefrom when such person would be in danger of his life or liberty unless actually engaged in violation of the criminal laws of the United States or of a State, Territory, or District thereof at the time of such departure: Provided further, That any person who shall willfully make any false statement in an application for a passport with intent to procure a passport either for himself or for another person, which statement is false or which he does not believe to be true, or who shall willfully furnish any false evidence in connection with such application, or who shall willfully use a passport issued or purporting to be issued for another person or issued for a person other than himself, or who shall violate any of the conditions or restrictions of a passport when he knows that he is violating the same, or who shall knowingly and willfully violate any rule or regulation which the President may make hereunder, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $2,000 or by imprisonment for not more than five years, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

SEC. 4. That the President is hereby authorized to vise passports for such persons as he may deem to be entitled thereto, and to refuse to vise passports for persons whose previous conduct in connection with the issuance or use of passports gives reasonable cause to believe that they would violate or abuse the same, and to cancel any passport in the possession of any person who violates the conditions of the same, or who is convicted of violating any of the laws relating to passports, or who is convicted of any felony, or who is in communication with any person, group, or government engaged in unlawful activities prejudicial to the public welfare of the United States, during the period of such communication.

SEC. 15. That no alien shall enter or attempt to enter the United States except at such time or place as may be designated by the President and under such conditions as may be imposed by the President if the President finds that the interests of the United States so require. Any alien who enters or attempts to enter the United States in violation of this section shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment not exceeding two years, or by both such fine and imprisonment, and may be required to remain in custody pending the completion of his examination, and if found to be unlawfully in the United States shall be deported as provided in section 19 of this act. Any alien who shall willfully depart or attempt to depart from the United States in violation of this section or of any rule, regulation, or order made or duly issued by the President hereunder shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $5,000 or by imprisonment not exceeding five years, or by both such fine and imprisonment, and may be required to remain in custody pending the completion of his examination, and if found to be unlawfully in the United States shall be deported as provided in section 19 of this act. Any person who shall knowingly aid or assist any alien to depart from the United States in violation of this section or of any rule, regulation, or order made or duly issued by the President hereunder, or who shall knowingly aid or assist any alien to enter the United States in violation of this section or of any such rule, regulation, or order, or who shall connive or conspire with any person or persons, alien or citizen, for the purpose of violating this section or any such rule, regulation, or order, or who shall knowingly harbor in the United States any alien who has entered or remained therein in violation of this section or of any such rule, regulation, or order, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $5,000 or by imprisonment not exceeding five years, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

SEC. 16. (a) That the President of the United States is hereby authorized to establish such zones of the United States, from which persons may be excluded, as he may from time to time deem necessary, and to make such regulations with respect to persons entering, leaving, or remaining in such zones as he may think necessary, and such regulations may provide that no person shall enter, leave, or remain in any such zone except by permit from such officer as may be designated to issue such permit, and may provide that no person shall enter or leave any such zone except at such time or place as may be designated by such officer, and may provide that no person shall remain in any such zone for more than a specified time, and may provide for such person being arrested and removed from such zone to such place in the United States as may be specified by the President, and may provide that any person who knowingly violates any such regulation shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $5,000 or by imprisonment not exceeding five years, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

(b) That the President of the United States is hereby authorized to establish such military areas in the United States, from which any or all persons may be excluded, as he may from time to time deem necessary, and to make such regulations with respect to persons entering, leaving, or remaining in such military areas as he may think necessary, and such regulations may provide that no person shall enter, leave, or remain in any such military area except by permit from such officer as may be designated to issue such permit, and may provide that no person shall enter or leave any such military area except at such time or place as may be designated by such officer, and may provide that no person shall remain in any such military area for more than a specified time, and may provide for such person being arrested and removed from such military area to such place in the United States as may be specified by the President, and may provide that any person who knowingly violates any such regulation shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $5,000 or by imprisonment not exceeding five years, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

SEC. 150.15. Limit of alien employees: when clearance of vessel denied. (Clearance shall not be granted and vessel shall not be permitted to depart from the United States, except temporarily pursuant to section 3 of the immigration Act of 1917, 39 Stat. 878, 8 U. S. C. 1171, when any master, purser, or other person in charge of any vessel shall refuse or fail to deliver to any immigrant inspector at the port of departure a complete list, or sufficiently complete list, of the persons employed on such vessel, or shall refuse or fail to make oath to such list when required by the immigrant inspector, or shall refuse or fail to answer truthfully and fully to the best of his knowledge and belief all questions touching the employment of persons on such vessel propounded to him by the immigrant inspector, or shall refuse or fail to comply with the provisions of section 3 of the immigration Act of 1917, 39 Stat. 878, 8 U. S. C. 1171, when any person shall be prevented from entering the United States at the port of arrival, or shall be deported within three years after entering the United States, on account of any violation of the contract labor laws, the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel in which such person arrived shall pay to the collector of customs of the district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $100 for each and every such violation unless it appears to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer had no reason to believe that the person or persons employed were aliens, or that such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer, or his or their employees, did not know that such person or persons were aliens, and had taken from every person employed by him who was an alien a statement in writing, subscribed by such alien, setting forth such facts as may be required by the Secretary of Labor to establish the status of such alien, and had taken such other steps as may be reasonably required to establish the status of such alien under the provisions of this act and the rules and regulations made pursuant thereto. Clearance may be granted vessels prior to the payment of penalties imposed by this section upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such penalties with a bond approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing made before the vessel has departed from the port of arrival, remit such fines as may have been incurred under the provisions of this section in such manner and upon such terms and conditions as he may deem just and proper. 39 Stat. 878; 8 U. S. C. 171. [T.D. 51164, 15 F.R. 1709, Mar. 15, 1950, as amended by T.D. 51218, 15 F.R. 4178, June 30, 1950]

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign country shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for the ordinary purposes of his employment, or hospital treatment, or because of sickness or injury requiring his removal, or for the purpose of obtaining treatment for such sickness or injury, or for the purpose of rendering assistance in such cases as may be determined by the Secretary of Labor, or pursuant to such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, except upon a bond in the penal sum of $500, with sufficient surety, or in such cash deposit, as shall be required by the Secretary of Labor, conditioned that such alien will depart from the United States within the period limited by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and will comply with all the requirements of the immigration laws as to aliens temporarily admitted thereunder. Any such alien who shall fail to depart from the United States within the period limited by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, or within such further time as may be allowed by the Secretary of Labor, shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 of this act. Any such alien who shall depart from the United States within the period limited by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, or within such further time as may be allowed by the Secretary of Labor, shall be deported as provided in section 19 of this act, unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he was prevented from departing from the United States within the period limited by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, or within such further time as may be allowed by the Secretary of Labor, by reasons beyond his control and that no fault or negligence on his part contributed to such failure. 39 Stat. 886; 8 U. S. C. 213.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be furnished on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration officer at the port of arrival of the vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place, before any member of the crew leaves the vessel. Failure to furnish a complete list may result in the imposition of a penalty of $100 for each person not listed. Any false statement in answer to any question may subject the master to a penalty of $1,000 and imprisonment for not more than 5 years. (Section 3 of the act of February 2, 1917, as amended by the act of May 22, 1924.)

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The law described below—that no passenger on board vessels engaged in the foreign trade may be taken to the United States unless he has been examined by the immigration officer at the port of entry—is rigidly enforced. Masters of vessels should see that their passengers are not landed in the United States without such examination. Any person who lands or attempts to land in the United States without such examination is liable to a fine of $1,000 or imprisonment for one year, or both, and the vessel on board of which he arrives is liable to a fine of $1,000. Masters of vessels should see that no passengers leave the vessel before the immigration officer has examined them. Masters of vessels should also see that all passengers are provided with the proper documents required by the immigration laws.

Any person who knowingly brings into the United States any alien not duly admitted by an immigration officer at the time and place designated by him is liable to a fine of $1,000 for each alien so brought, and may be imprisoned for not more than one year. Masters of vessels are liable to a fine of $1,000 for each alien they bring in who is afflicted with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, if the existence of such disease might have been detected by means of a reasonable medical examination of such alien before the departure of the vessel from the foreign port from which such alien sailed. Masters of vessels are also liable to a fine of $1,000 for each alien they bring in who is found to be a person who has been convicted of a felony or other crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, unless it is shown that such alien sailed from a foreign port in which the vessel did not touch, or that such alien was in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa at the time of departure from the foreign port from which he came to the United States.

Masters of vessels are also liable to a fine of $1,000 for each alien they bring in who is found to be a person who has been deported from the United States under the provisions of the immigration laws, unless such alien has received from the Secretary of Labor a special permission to reapply for admission to the United States, or unless prior to the departure of such alien for the United States the Secretary of Labor has given to the transportation company bringing such alien notice of the fact that such alien has been deported.

Masters of vessels are also liable to a fine of $1,000 for each alien they bring in who is found to be a person who has been convicted of a felony or other crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, unless it is shown that such alien sailed from a foreign port in which the vessel did not touch, or that such alien was in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa at the time of departure from the foreign port from which he came to the United States

The list described below shall be prepared on plain paper approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration officer at the first port of entry. When it is necessary to prepare more than one list, each list in its numbered sequence is to be headed "continuation sheet" and the last name on the preceding sheet shall be repeated at the beginning of the succeeding sheet. The list shall be typewritten or printed legibly with pen and ink and shall be verified by the master or commanding officer or first or second officer by his signature on the last sheet. Each sheet shall be numbered consecutively at the bottom.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the immigration officer in charge at the port of entry, or if there be no such officer, then to the collector of customs, a manifest of all persons on board such vessel, whether cabin passengers or steerage passengers, or in any other part of such vessel, and whether destined to the United States or not, and such manifest shall be prepared and delivered in such form and manner and contain such information as may be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration with the approval of the Secretary of Labor. The said manifest shall show the full name, age, sex, calling or occupation, nationality, last permanent residence, final destination, whether in possession of a ticket through to such destination, whether the passage is paid by himself or others, whether in possession of money, and how much, whether going to join relatives or friends, and if so, what relatives or friends, and whether ever before in the United States, and if so, when and where last, whether going to join a specific employer, and if so, whether such employer has complied with the requirements of the contract labor laws, whether ever in prison or almshouse or supported by charity, whether a polygamist, whether coming by reason of any offer, solicitation, promise, or agreement, expressed or implied, to perform labor in the United States, and the condition of health, mental and physical, of each alien, and such other items of information as may be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration with the approval of the Secretary of Labor. The said manifest shall be signed by the master or commanding officer or first or second officer of the vessel, and shall be sworn to before the immigration officer at the port of entry, or if there be no such officer, then before the collector of customs, or his deputy, or before a commissioner of deeds, or before a notary public, or before a United States consular officer at the port of departure of the vessel, or before the master or commanding officer or first or second officer of the vessel upon the arrival of the vessel at the port of entry. Any master or commanding officer or first or second officer of any vessel who shall refuse to deliver to the immigration officer at the port of entry, or if there be no such officer, then to the collector of customs, the manifest required by this section, or who shall refuse to answer truly any question relative to the information required by this section to be shown in such manifest concerning any alien on board such vessel, shall pay a penalty of $10 for each such alien concerning whom such information is not furnished, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the delivery of such manifest or the answering of such questions, or the payment of such penalty. For any willful false statement in a manifest concerning any such alien, the master or commanding officer or first or second officer making such statement shall pay a penalty of $1,000 or be imprisoned for a term not exceeding one year, or both. The master or commanding officer of any vessel bringing an alien who is afflicted with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, which would be likely to endanger the health of persons residing in the United States, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000, unless it is shown that said alien had such disease when he embarked, and that the master or commanding officer did not know, and could not have known by the exercise of reasonable diligence, prior to the departure of the vessel, that said alien was afflicted with such disease. The penalties provided for in this section shall not be remitted or refunded except that head money erroneously collected from any person who is subsequently found not to be entitled to admission to the United States may be refunded if application therefor is made within two years after the payment of such head money.

SEC. 50. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof with any alien on board who has been refused a visa by a consular officer, or who has been certified by the medical officer at the port of arrival pursuant to section 23 of this Act to be afflicted with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, shall be required to detain such alien on board such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has personally inspected such alien (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or has taken such other action as he may deem necessary concerning the detention or removal of such alien. Such detention shall not exceed five days unless the Attorney General shall so direct. The Attorney General may prescribe rules governing the detention on board vessels or at quarantine stations of aliens detained under this section, and the administrative fees to be charged therefor, and may enter into contracts with appropriate State or municipal agencies for the detention of such aliens at such stations or other places designated by him. Nothing in this section shall be construed to limit the right of any alien to enter the United States under section 3 of this Act.

(b) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States from any place outside thereof any alien who has been refused a visa by a consular officer, or who has been certified by the medical officer at the port of arrival pursuant to section 23 of this Act to be afflicted with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, shall be required to detain such alien on board such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has personally inspected such alien (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or has taken such other action as he may deem necessary concerning the detention or removal of such alien. Such detention shall not exceed five days unless the Attorney General shall so direct. The Attorney General may prescribe rules governing the detention on board vessels or at quarantine stations of aliens detained under this section, and the administrative fees to be charged therefor, and may enter into contracts with appropriate State or municipal agencies for the detention of such aliens at such stations or other places designated by him. Nothing in this section shall be construed to limit the right of any alien to enter the United States under section 3 of this Act.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that adequate facilities for the detention of aliens afflicted with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease are not available at a port of entry, he may authorize the owner, agent, consignee, master, commanding officer, or first or second officer of any vessel bringing such aliens to such port of entry to detain such aliens on board such vessel or at such other place as may be designated by the Attorney General, subject to such conditions as he may prescribe, pending examination by the immigration officer at the port of entry and such further action as may be required in accordance with the provisions of this section. The Attorney General may prescribe rules governing the detention on board vessels or at quarantine stations of aliens detained under this section, and the administrative fees to be charged therefor, and may enter into contracts with appropriate State or municipal agencies for the detention of such aliens at such stations or other places designated by him. Nothing in this section shall be construed to limit the right of any alien to enter the United States under section 3 of this Act.

(d) Any alien who shall willfully refuse or fail to appear before the immigration officer for examination in accordance with the provisions of this section, or who shall depart from the United States without the permission required by this section, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

(e) The Attorney General may issue rules and prescribe such forms as may be necessary to carry into effect the provisions of this section.

SEC. 16. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory or adjacent islands, or touching at any port of the United States on the way to the United States, shall be permitted to land in the United States except temporarily and solely for the purpose of obtaining medical treatment, or because of illness, or for the purpose of visiting a consular officer for the purpose of applying for a visa, and then only under such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the administration of this section, and such seaman may be required to deposit with the immigration officer at the port of entry a sum sufficient to cover the cost of his passage to the port of foreign departure, and reasonable expenses during detention, or to furnish a bond for such purpose. Any such seaman who remains in the United States for a period in excess of that prescribed by the Attorney General shall be deported in the same manner as provided for the deportation of aliens who entered the United States unlawfully. Any such seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported in the same manner as provided for the deportation of aliens who entered the United States unlawfully. The cost of maintenance while on shore and of deportation of any such seaman shall be a lien against the vessel on which he arrived, and shall not be granted clearance until such lien is discharged. The Attorney General may, in his discretion, waive the provisions of this section in favor of any seaman employed on board any vessel touching at ports of the United States solely for the purpose of taking on board seamen for vessels of the same nationality as the vessel on which they are to be employed.

SEC. 150.15 Limit of alien employees; when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the master or commanding officer has complied with section 16 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 880; 8 U. S. C. 1717), unless such vessel shall depart without the intention of the master or commanding officer to comply with such section, or to that effect has been granted permission by the Secretary of Labor to depart without compliance therewith.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 10. No alien seaman excepted from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or touching at any port of the United States on the way to the United States, shall be permitted to land in the United States except temporarily and solely for the purpose of obtaining medical treatment, or because of illness, or for the purpose of visiting a consular officer for the purpose of applying for a visa, and then only under such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the administration of this section, and such seaman may be required to deposit with the immigration officer at the port of entry a sum sufficient to cover the cost of his passage to the port of foreign departure, and reasonable expenses during detention, or to furnish a bond for such purpose. Any such seaman who remains in the United States for a period in excess of that prescribed by the Attorney General shall be deported in the same manner as provided for the deportation of aliens who entered the United States unlawfully. Any such seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported in the same manner as provided for the deportation of aliens who entered the United States unlawfully. The cost of maintenance while on shore and of deportation of any such seaman shall be a lien against the vessel on which he arrived, and shall not be granted clearance until such lien is discharged. The Attorney General may, in his discretion, waive the provisions of this section in favor of any seaman employed on board any vessel touching at ports of the United States solely for the purpose of taking on board seamen for vessels of the same nationality as the vessel on which they are to be employed.

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival [list containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, whether the positions they respectively hold in the same be those of officers or members of the crew or otherwise, and the nationality, last permanent residence, and calling of each and every such person. Such list shall be prepared and delivered by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel, giving a description of each alien, together with such information likely to lead to his apprehension: and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of each master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with such information likely to lead to his apprehension: and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of each master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all alien employees who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who shall have been employed on board such vessel within four months next preceding the departure of such vessel from such port, and also the names of those, if any, who have been paid off and discharged, and those, if any, who have deserted, and all such lists shall be certified to by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel as correct. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner failing to deliver either of the lists required by this section, or any master, agent, consignee, or owner who refuses or neglects to report, or who conceals or attempts to conceal, or who assists any alien employee to conceal himself, upon the departure of the vessel from any port in the United States, or who refuses or neglects to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival any such alien employee, or who assists any such alien employee to escape from the vessel before the inspection provided for in this section has been made, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each such alien employee in respect of whom any such failure occurs, and by imprisonment for not more than one year: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the delivery of the list required by this section upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit any fine imposed under this section, as aforesaid, which in his opinion should not be collected: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the delivery of the list required by this section upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit any fine imposed under this section, as aforesaid, which in his opinion should not be collected: Provided further, That clearance may be granted prior to the delivery of the list required by this section upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit any fine imposed under this section, as aforesaid, which in his opinion should not be collected: And provided further, That clearance may be granted prior to the delivery of the list required by this section upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit any fine imposed under this section, as aforesaid, which in his opinion should not be collected.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 15. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the alternate deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside contiguous territory who fails to deport on board vessel such alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to deport such alien seaman on board vessel after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit any fine imposed under this section, as aforesaid, which in his opinion should not be collected.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside contiguous territory, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport after reshipment by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival. Failure to deport such alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, unless such failure is excused as hereinafter provided, shall cause the master, agent, consignee, owner, charterer, and such vessel to be severally liable to the penalty prescribed.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

SEC. 19. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof may land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General shall prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 180.)

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to detain on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival is notified that such alien seaman (master excepted) has been inspected and examined by a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service, or who fails to detain such alien seaman on board after such notification, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question whether any fine has been incurred under this section, and the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized to withhold clearance in such cases and in cases where fines imposed under this section remain unpaid. The Attorney General may remit or mitigate any fine imposed under this section.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart upon the discharge granted to him by the master of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or who shall depart from the United States without the consent of the master, or who fails to report on board such vessel at the time of her departure from any port in the United States, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment. Any such alien seaman who departs from the United States within five years of the date of his arrival in the United States shall be presumed to have departed without the consent of the master unless the master obtains from the alien seaman before his departure a certificate stating that the master consents to his departure, or unless the alien seaman establishes to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that he was prevented from obtaining such certificate by circumstances beyond his control.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman, he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be required to carry any person not destined to a place to which it is willing to go, or any person who has been convicted of a felony or who is afflicted with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease. Any vessel which shall refuse to receive on board any alien seaman ordered to be deported under this section, or which shall fail to deport such alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, shall be liable to a penalty of $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. Upon application in writing therefor, withholding and remitting any fine or penalty for the deportation of any alien

(Rev. 4-1-43)

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on plank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival and shall be so delivered on board but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When no alternate examination is required on board but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of first arrival (form I-418) shall not be required. The list of changes of alien crewmen shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of clearance (form I-419) shall not be required. "Nationality" is a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of alternate American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 38. That when arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival a list or manifest of all persons, including the crew, whether citizens of the United States or aliens, on board such vessel, stating the full name, age, sex, and occupation of each person, the country of which he is a citizen or subject, the country whence he last came, the port for which he has taken passage, the number of pieces of baggage belonging to each, whether he has a ticket through to destination, whether the passage is paid for by himself or by others, whether he has been in prison or almshouse or supported by charity, whether he is a polygamist, whether he is an anarchist, whether he believes in or advocates the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States or of all forms of law, whether he is a member of or affiliated with any organization entertaining and teaching such disbelief in or opposition to all organized government, whether he has ever been deported from the United States or removed from any insular possession thereof, and whether he is coming in pursuance of a prearranged contract or agreement to perform labor in the United States, and if so, what the contract or agreement is, as far as may be known at the time of inspection, and such other information regarding the history, occupation, and character of each person as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration with the approval of the Secretary of Labor. Nothing in this section shall be construed to require the physical examination of any cabin passenger who is a citizen or national of the United States, or who has received an immigration visa, or who is not destined to the United States, except in such cases as the Commissioner General of Immigration may by rule prescribe. (39 Stat. 886; 8 U. S. C. 136.)

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws but employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or unavoidable detention at a hospital, or because of quarantine regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the alternate detention of such alien from the vessel. Upon the departure of the vessel from the United States, every such alien seaman shall be deported on the vessel or vessels on which he arrived, unless the Secretary of Labor shall find that he has become a bona fide resident of the United States and shall grant him a certificate to that effect. Any such alien seaman who fails to depart with the vessel or vessels on which he arrived, or on any vessel on which he may be found within the United States, shall be deported at any time within five years after arrival at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of the immigration laws. (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 155.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the contiguous territory of Mexico shall be responsible for the deportation of each alien coming to the United States on board such vessel, unless such alien is duly admitted by an immigration officer at the port of arrival. Such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside of the contiguous territory of Mexico shall, before the departure of such vessel from the port of arrival, deliver to the immigration officer at the port a list containing the name, age, occupation, nationality, and last permanent residence of each alien coming to the United States on such vessel, and the intended length and address of his temporary stay in the United States, and shall report the name of each alien concerning whom such information is not given. Such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside of the contiguous territory of Mexico shall, before the departure of such vessel from the port of arrival, report to the immigration officer at such port the name of each alien, if any, who has been brought to the United States on such vessel and who has been found ineligible to be admitted to the United States, or who has been treated for any contagious disease during the voyage, or who has been committed to any institution or placed in charge of any society or individual within one year before the date of arrival of such vessel at such port, and shall report the manner in which each such alien has been disposed of. Such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside of the contiguous territory of Mexico shall, before the departure of such vessel from the port of arrival, report to the immigration officer at such port the name of each alien, if any, who has been ordered deported from the United States, and shall deliver to such immigration officer a description of such alien, together with any information likely to lead to the apprehension of such alien, and shall furnish the immigration officer with such assistance as may be necessary to secure the departure of such alien from the United States. Such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside of the contiguous territory of Mexico shall, before the departure of such vessel from the port of arrival, report to the immigration officer at such port the name of each alien, if any, who has been permitted to land temporarily under bond, and shall furnish such information in regard to such alien as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration with the approval of the Secretary of Labor. Such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside of the contiguous territory of Mexico shall, before the departure of such vessel from the port of arrival, report to the immigration officer at such port the name of each alien, if any, who has been granted a stay of deportation by the Secretary of Labor, and such other information in regard to such alien as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration with the approval of the Secretary of Labor. Such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside of the contiguous territory of Mexico shall, before the departure of such vessel from the port of arrival, report to the immigration officer at such port the name of each alien, if any, who has been granted a visa by a consular officer, and such other information in regard to such alien as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration with the approval of the Secretary of Labor. Such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside of the contiguous territory of Mexico shall, before the departure of such vessel from the port of arrival, report to the immigration officer at such port the name of each alien, if any, who has been refused a visa by a consular officer, and such other information in regard to such alien as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration with the approval of the Secretary of Labor. Such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside of the contiguous territory of Mexico shall, before the departure of such vessel from the port of arrival, report to the immigration officer at such port the name of each alien, if any, who has been granted a visa by a consular officer after the vessel has left the port of arrival, and such other information in regard to such alien as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration with the approval of the Secretary of Labor. Such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside of the contiguous territory of Mexico shall, before the departure of such vessel from the port of arrival, report to the immigration officer at such port the name of each alien, if any, who has been refused a visa by a consular officer after the vessel has left the port of arrival, and such other information in regard to such alien as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration with the approval of the Secretary of Labor. Such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside of the contiguous territory of Mexico shall, before the departure of such vessel from the port of arrival, report to the immigration officer at such port the name of each alien, if any, who has been granted a stay of deportation by the Secretary of Labor, and such other information in regard to such alien as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration with the approval of the Secretary of Labor. Such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside of the contiguous territory of Mexico shall, before the departure of such vessel from the port of arrival, report to the immigration officer at such port the name of each alien, if any, who has been granted a visa by a consular officer, and such other information in regard to such alien as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration with the approval of the Secretary of Labor.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the contiguous territory of Mexico shall be responsible for the deportation of each alien coming to the United States on board such vessel, unless such alien is duly admitted by an immigration officer at the port of arrival. Such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside of the contiguous territory of Mexico shall, before the departure of such vessel from the port of arrival, deliver to the immigration officer at the port a list containing the name, age, occupation, nationality, and last permanent residence of each alien coming to the United States on such vessel, and the intended length and address of his temporary stay in the United States, and shall report the name of each alien concerning whom such information is not given. Such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside of the contiguous territory of Mexico shall, before the departure of such vessel from the port of arrival, report to the immigration officer at such port the name of each alien, if any, who has been brought to the United States on such vessel and who has been found ineligible to be admitted to the United States, or who has been treated for any contagious disease during the voyage, or who has been committed to any institution or placed in charge of any society or individual within one year before the date of arrival of such vessel at such port, and shall report the manner in which each such alien has been disposed of. Such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside of the contiguous territory of Mexico shall, before the departure of such vessel from the port of arrival, report to the immigration officer at such port the name of each alien, if any, who has been ordered deported from the United States, and shall deliver to such immigration officer a description of such alien, together with any information likely to lead to the apprehension of such alien, and shall furnish the immigration officer with such assistance as may be necessary to secure the departure of such alien from the United States. Such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside of the contiguous territory of Mexico shall, before the departure of such vessel from the port of arrival, report to the immigration officer at such port the name of each alien, if any, who has been permitted to land temporarily under bond, and shall furnish such information in regard to such alien as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration with the approval of the Secretary of Labor. Such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside of the contiguous territory of Mexico shall, before the departure of such vessel from the port of arrival, report to the immigration officer at such port the name of each alien, if any, who has been granted a stay of deportation by the Secretary of Labor, and such other information in regard to such alien as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration with the approval of the Secretary of Labor. Such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside of the contiguous territory of Mexico shall, before the departure of such vessel from the port of arrival, report to the immigration officer at such port the name of each alien, if any, who has been granted a visa by a consular officer, and such other information in regard to such alien as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration with the approval of the Secretary of Labor. Such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside of the contiguous territory of Mexico shall, before the departure of such vessel from the port of arrival, report to the immigration officer at such port the name of each alien, if any, who has been refused a visa by a consular officer after the vessel has left the port of arrival, and such other information in regard to such alien as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration with the approval of the Secretary of Labor.

(b) Proof shall be filed as above provided by the master of each vessel with the immigration officer at the port of arrival that there has been compliance with the requirements of this section, and no vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located until the master has been interrogated under oath by the immigration officer at the port of arrival as to the compliance with the requirements of this section, and has delivered to the immigration officer at the port of arrival a certificate, approved by the collector of customs, stating that the master has been so interrogated and that to the best of his knowledge and belief full compliance with the requirements of this section has been made. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the master has been interrogated and such certificate delivered in accordance with the provisions of this subdivision (b).

(c) Any master, owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel violating any of the provisions of this section shall be fined $1,000 for each alien concerning whom such violation occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, in his discretion, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such violation occurs. Upon application in writing therefor, the Attorney General in his discretion shall remit any fine in excess of the sum of $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such violation occurs.

(d) Proof shall be filed as above provided by the master of each vessel with the immigration officer at the port of arrival that there has been compliance with the requirements of this section, and no vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located until the master has been interrogated under oath by the immigration officer at the port of arrival as to the compliance with the requirements of this section, and has delivered to the immigration officer at the port of arrival a certificate, approved by the collector of customs, stating that the master has been so interrogated and that to the best of his knowledge and belief full compliance with the requirements of this section has been made. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the master has been interrogated and such certificate delivered in accordance with the provisions of this subdivision (d).

(e) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The Immigration Act of 1917 requires that on board vessels bringing aliens to the United States, certain lists of information concerning each alien must be filed with the immigration officer at the port of arrival. You will be required to file such lists, and to furnish additional information concerning aliens, as may be required by the Immigration Service officers. Failure to file lists or to furnish information required may result in the imposition of a fine of $300 for each offense.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That the Secretary of Commerce may, in his discretion, refuse clearance to any vessel which has on board any alien who is afflicted with any of the physical or mental disorders which would be ground for the exclusion of such alien from the United States under section 2 of this Act, and may require the physical examination by a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service of any alien on board any vessel clearing or departing from any port of the United States, and may refuse clearance to any such vessel the master or owner of which shall refuse or neglect to comply with any requirement of the Secretary of Commerce in pursuance of the provisions of this section. Any master who shall violate the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

EXTRACT FROM 8 CFR 150

•SEC. 150.13. Time of filing manifests. Except as provided in section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, as amended by section 2 of the Act of May 10, 1920, manifests required by section 33 of the Immigration Act of 1917 to be delivered to the immigration officer at the port of arrival may be delivered at any time after the vessel has been cleared by the customs officers, but before the vessel departs from the limits of the port. Any master who fails to deliver manifests as required by section 33 of the Act of 1917, as amended by section 2 of the Act of May 10, 1920, may be fined not more than $1,000 for each offense.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924, AS AMENDED

ALIEN SEAMEN.

SEC. 16. (a) No alien seaman employed upon a vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, temporarily or permanently, shall be permitted to land from any such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (except inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner) or has failed to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to obtain such seaman's physical examination by the medical examiner). Attorney General is to do so shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs or any other officer authorized by the Secretary of Commerce to grant clearance papers while the master or owner thereof is liable to the collector of customs for any penalty or forfeiture imposed or incurred under this section, or while any alien seaman on the vessel with respect to whom a penalty has been incurred under this section is on board such vessel, except that clearance may be granted before the determination of the liability to payment of such penalty or forfeiture upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such penalty or forfeiture or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not appear upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or that he was refunded by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver on demand such seaman on board such vessel upon the departure thereof from the United States.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel may be detained or another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such expenses has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be printed on plain white stationery approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration officer at the port of arrival of each vessel. The list of aliens or alien members of the crew required to be delivered to the immigration officer at the port of arrival must be complete in every detail before any member of the crew is allowed to leave the vessel. Write a description of each alien, covering such information likely to lead to his identification: his name in full; his age; whether married or single; his calling or occupation; the name and birthplace of his father or mother or other relative last contiguous to his residence abroad; the country of which he is a subject; the place of his last permanent residence; whether he has been in the United States before, and if so, when, where, and how long he resided there; whether he has a ticket to his final destination; whether he has been assisted in coming, and if so, by whom; whether he has the means to pay his passage, and if not, who paid for it; whether he is going to join relatives or friends, and if so, what relatives or friends, their names and complete addresses, and relationship, if any; whether he has been in prison or almshouse or supported by charity; whether he is a polygamist; whether he is an anarchist; whether he believes in or advocates the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States or of all forms of law; whether he is coming in pursuance of a previously made contract or agreement to perform labor in the United States, and if so, what the contract or agreement is; whether he has ever been in the United States before, and if so, when and how long he remained; whether he has been deported, and if so, why; whether he has ever been refused admission to the United States, or deported, or ordered deported, and if so, why; whether he has ever been arrested or imprisoned for any crime or misdemeanor, and if so, for what crime; whether he is a person who believes in or advocates the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States or of all forms of law; whether he is a person who disbelieves in or is opposed to organized government; whether he is a member of or affiliated with any organization entertaining or teaching such disbelief in or opposition to organized government; whether he is a person who advocates or teaches the unlawful destruction of property; whether he is coming to perform labor, and if so, whether he has a ticket or has been furnished with passage, by whom such ticket or passage was furnished; whether he has been employed by any person or company who induced him to come to the United States to perform labor, and if so, what person or company; whether he is coming to the United States because he was promised employment, and if so, what employment was promised him; whether he intends to become a citizen of the United States; whether he is a person who is coming for an immoral purpose; whether he is a professional beggar; whether he is a person who has been or is likely to become a public charge; whether he is afflicted with tuberculosis in any form or with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease; whether he is afflicted with a mental defect; whether he is deaf, dumb, blind, or otherwise physically disabled; whether he has been in the United States as a member of the crew of a vessel or as a stowaway, and if so, whether he intends to return to his foreign residence in the vessel in which he arrived or by some other vessel; whether he intends to leave the United States within thirty days after his arrival; whether he has been convicted of a felony or other crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, or is a vagrant, or has been practicing prostitution or has been importing persons for the purpose of prostitution or for any other immoral purpose; whether he is a polygamist or is coming in pursuance of any such practice; whether he is under sentence of death for any crime; whether he is coming in pursuance of any offer, solicitation, promise, agreement, or assistance of any kind to perform labor in the United States; whether he is in possession of $50 in money, and if not, how much less than $50 he has in his possession; whether he is going to the United States to join a husband, wife, father, mother, brother, sister, child, grandparent, grandchild, uncle, aunt, nephew, or niece, and if so, which one, and the name and complete address of such relative or friend in the United States; whether he is going to the United States to engage in any kind of employment, and if so, what kind; whether he has a ticket through to his destination, and whether he has been assisted in obtaining it; whether he has been deported from the United States, and if so, how many times; whether he has ever been a prostitute or procured prostitutes for others; whether he has ever been a procurer or pimp or in any way connected with the procurement of prostitutes or prostitution; whether he has ever been connected with the white-slave traffic; whether he has ever been a keeper of or connected with a house of prostitution or assignation house or other place for immoral purposes; whether he has ever been employed as a prostitute or in any other immoral occupation; whether he has ever been employed in connection with the importation of prostitutes or women or girls for immoral purposes; whether he has ever been engaged in the white-slave traffic; whether he has ever been a manufacturer or seller of intoxicating liquors; whether he has ever been a habitual drunkard; whether he has ever been a user of or addicted to the use of opium or other drugs; whether he has ever been a user of or addicted to the use of cocaine or other habit-forming drug; whether he has ever been a professional beggar; whether he has ever been a vagrant; whether he has ever been afflicted with or suffered from any form of contagious or infectious disease; whether he has ever been afflicted with tuberculosis in any form or with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease; whether he has ever been found insane or feeble-minded; whether he has ever been found insane or feeble-minded by any institution or department of the Government of the United States or of any State or Territory; whether he has ever been imprisoned or confined in any penitentiary, workhouse, or jail for the commission of any crime or misdemeanor, and if so, what crime or misdemeanor; whether he has ever been a member of the anarchistic or any other class of persons excluded from admission to the United States under the law now in force; whether he has ever been a member of the Communist or any other party which believes in or advocates the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States or of all forms of law; whether he has ever been a member of the Communist or any other party which believes in or advocates the duty, necessity, or propriety of the unlawful assaulting or killing of any officer or officers, either of specific individuals or of officers generally, of the Government of the United States or of any other organized government, because of his or their official character; whether he has ever been a member of the Communist or any other party which believes in or advocates the unlawful destruction of property; whether he has ever been a member of the Communist or any other party which believes in or advocates sabotage; whether he has ever been a member of the Communist or any other party which believes in or advocates the doctrine that industry should be controlled or managed exclusively by and in the interests of the workers; IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be furnished on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of persons of alien immigrants, whether they intend to remain in the United States or to pass through the country to another destination, shall be written legibly by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of the vessel, or by the surgeon in charge of the hospital, if there be one, or a person to whom such duties devolve, and shall be signed by the person who writes the same, who shall add to his signature his occupation and the number of days he has been employed in such capacity on board such vessel. Should the list contain names of persons who are not to be carried to the United States, the word "not" should be written before the name of each person. The last column on the right-hand side of the list is to be used by the inspector at the port of arrival to record the admission or detention of each alien immigrant. In order to facilitate inspection at ports of heavy immigration, it is recommended that the list be written on the typewriting machine, using a sheet for each family group.

SEC. 2. That the following classes of aliens shall be excluded from admission into the United States: All persons who have been convicted of or who admit having committed, or who have been convicted of or admit having committed, a felony or other crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, except political offenses; all persons who have been confined in a prison or other institution or place for the punishment of such crimes; all persons who have been adjudged insane or afflicted with mental disease; all persons who have had two or more attacks of insanity at any time previously; all epileptics; all persons who are mentally or physically defective, such defect being of such a character as may affect the ability of such alien to earn a living, unless it is affirmatively shown that such person is not coming for the purpose of earning a living, but is coming to join a father, husband, wife, mother, grandparent, child, brother, sister, orphan child, uncle, aunt, nephew, or niece, who is a citizen of the United States, or who has a sufficient sum of money or property to support such person

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of members of each crew must be prepared and signed by the master or commanding officer of the vessel, or in case of his illness or absence from the vessel by the first officer or second officer or person next in charge. Any person who knowingly and with intent to deceive shall refuse to list any member of the crew, or who shall land or attempt to land any seaman not regularly shipped and listed on the ship's articles, or who shall secrete or harbor any seaman who may have deserted, or who shall refuse to render any assistance required by any officer of the United States charged with the enforcement of the immigration laws of the United States in the boarding or search of the vessel, or in the arrest of any such seaman, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

(a) The master or commanding officer of any vessel bringing an alien crewman to the United States who intends to land temporarily and solely in pursuance of his calling as a member of the crew of the vessel on which he arrives and who intends to depart on the vessel or some other vessel within the period of time allowed by the immigration officer at the time of application for admission, shall present to the immigration officer at the port of arrival a list containing the name, nationality, last foreign residence, date and place of birth, and description of each such alien crewman, and such other information relative thereto as may be required by the immigration officer. Such list shall be prepared in accordance with instructions issued by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, approved by the Secretary of Labor, and shall be subject to such changes in form as the Commissioner may from time to time prescribe with the approval of the Secretary of Labor. Such list shall be signed by the master or commanding officer of the vessel, who shall certify thereon that the crewmen listed therein are all the aliens employed on the vessel who intend to land temporarily in the United States and that the crewmen listed therein are all the aliens employed on the vessel who intend to depart on the vessel or some other vessel within the period of time allowed by the immigration officer at the time of application for admission. Such list shall be prepared in quadruplicate, and the master or commanding officer of the vessel shall deliver the original and duplicate to the immigration officer at the port of arrival, and the triplicate and quadruplicate to the immigration officer at the port of departure, unless the vessel is destined to a foreign port, in which case the quadruplicate shall be delivered to the immigration officer at the last port of departure in the United States. Such list shall be prepared in the manner prescribed in the instructions of the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization approved by the Secretary of Labor, and shall be subject to such changes in form as the Commissioner may from time to time prescribe with the approval of the Secretary of Labor. Such list shall be signed by the master or commanding officer of the vessel, who shall certify thereon

LIST OR MANIFEST OF ALIENS EMPLOYED ON THE VESSEL AS MEMBERS OF CREW

Pursuant to the provisions of section 2 of the Act of Congress of February 27, 1917, as amended by the Act of May 10, 1920, and section 251 of the Immigration Act of 1924, this list or manifest must be delivered to the immigration officer at the port of first arrival of the vessel at a port in the United States.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be furnished on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list or manifest of aliens hereinafter required to be delivered to the immigration officer at the port of arrival shall be prepared by the master, purser, or agent of the vessel, and shall be delivered by the master to the immigration officer at the port of arrival before any passenger is allowed to leave the vessel. Where no surgeon is employed, a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. It shall be the duty of the master to facilitate inspection by the immigration officer at the port of arrival, and for this purpose to have the list or manifest of aliens easily accessible and to furnish such additional information as may be required by the said officer beyond the particulars contained in the list or manifest. Said list or manifest may be typewritten or printed, but in every case it must be legible and in the English language. Copies of the list or manifest will be required as follows: Vessels arriving at ports in the Philippine Islands, Hawaii, Porto Rico, Canal Zone, Guam, Tutuila, Samoa, Panama, Cuba, Mexico, Canada, Newfoundland, or adjacent islands, one copy; vessels arriving at ports in Alaska, two copies; vessels arriving at all other ports in the United States, three copies.

SEC. 36. That when arriving at a seaport in the United States from any foreign port or a port in the district of Panama, or the Canal Zone, or the Virgin Islands of the United States, every alien, including an alien in transit through the United States, shall be inspected by the immigrant inspectors at the discretion of the Secretary of Labor, which inspection may be conducted either on board the vessel or at the immigrant station. Said inspection shall include an examination of his head, face, eyes, ears, nose, throat, and respiratory system; his hands, skin, and general appearance; his lungs, by the use of a stethoscope; his heart, by the use of a stethoscope; his reflexes, by the use of such rubber hammer as may be employed by the medical officer making the examination; his gait, by observation as he walks a sufficient distance to disclose any limp or other defect; his mentality, by such tests as may be employed by the medical officer making the examination; his identity, by such means as may be employed by the immigrant inspector; and such other examination of the body and mind, including the taking of the Binet test, as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor in pursuance of law. The medical officer making the examination shall certify the condition of the alien with special reference to the mental and physical defects set forth in the preceding clauses of this section, which certificate shall be filed with the manifest of the vessel in which the alien arrives. Any alien certified for any of the said defects shall be detained for examination in accordance with the rules and regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, and a certified copy of the certificate of the medical officer setting forth the said defects of the alien shall be furnished to him for use before the Board of Special Inquiry hereinafter provided for. Any alien who refuses to submit to any test or examination required by this section shall be deemed to be an alien who has been found to be afflicted with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease. Any alien who conceals or attempts to conceal, or who helps another to conceal, by false statement or otherwise, his true nationality, the fact that he belongs to any of the anarchistic classes, or his connection with any organization entertaining a belief in or teaching the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States, or of all forms of law, or the assassination of public officials, or his views, beliefs, or connection with any such organization or propaganda, shall be excluded and deported in the manner provided by law. Any person, including any transportation company, other than a steamship company, which shall bring to the United States any alien who is excluded from admission by any of the provisions of this section, other than at the request of the Government of the United States, shall be fined not more than $1,000 and imprisoned not more than one year.

SEC. 37. (a) That the Secretary of Labor shall cause to be examined by the medical officer of the port, or by surgeons of the United States Public Health Service detailed for the purpose, each alien who is an applicant for admission to the United States, or who may be detained for further examination by the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, and if he shall certify that any such alien is suffering from a mental disorder of such a character or degree that such alien may become a public charge, or may endanger the welfare of the United States, or may become a menace to the health, safety, or good order of society, such alien shall not be admitted to the United States. Such certificate shall specify the mental defect upon which it is based, and a copy thereof shall be forwarded to the Secretary of Labor and a copy furnished to the alien. Such alien shall be entitled to have reviewed by a board of special inquiry the certificate of the medical officer, and to appeal to the Secretary of Labor from the decision of the board of special inquiry, and to introduce before the board of special inquiry and the Secretary of Labor additional evidence bearing upon the mental condition of such alien. Pending the decision of the Secretary of Labor, such alien shall be detained under such safeguards as he may prescribe. Such alien shall be deported in the manner provided by law for the deportation of aliens who have been admitted to the United States, if the Secretary of Labor shall within five years after the entry of such alien determine that the alien became a member of the excluded classes, or was excludable at the time of entry, or that he entered the United States in violation of any law thereof, or that he was excludable at the time of entry because of the existence of a mental defect which was not then known or disclosed, or that he was admitted to the United States upon the certificate of a medical officer which was issued through error, mistake, or inadvertence, or that he was admitted to the United States without inspection by an immigrant inspector, or that he was admitted to the United States by reason of the willful misrepresentation or concealment of a material fact. The provisions of this section shall not apply to the admission of any alien who is returning after a temporary absence to an unrelinquished domicile of seven consecutive years in the United States, unless the Secretary of Labor shall, in his discretion, otherwise direct.

(b) That the Secretary of Labor shall cause to be examined by the medical officer of the port, or by surgeons of the United States Public Health Service detailed for the purpose, each alien who is an applicant for admission to the United States, or who may be detained for further examination by the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, and if he shall certify that any such alien is suffering from a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, such alien shall not be admitted to the United States. Such certificate shall specify the disease upon which it is based, and a copy thereof shall be forwarded to the Secretary of Labor and a copy furnished to the alien. Such alien shall be entitled to have reviewed by a board of special inquiry the certificate of the medical officer, and to appeal to the Secretary of Labor from the decision of the board of special inquiry, and to introduce before the board of special inquiry and the Secretary of Labor additional evidence bearing upon the disease from which he is alleged to be suffering. Pending the decision of the Secretary of Labor, such alien shall be detained under such safeguards as he may prescribe. Such alien shall be deported in the manner provided by law for the deportation of aliens who have been admitted to the United States, if the Secretary of Labor shall within five years after the entry of such alien determine that the alien became a member of the excluded classes, or was excludable at the time of entry, or that he entered the United States in violation of any law thereof, or that he was excludable at the time of entry because of the existence of a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease which was not then known or disclosed, or that he was admitted to the United States upon the certificate of a medical officer which was issued through error, mistake, or inadvertence, or that he was admitted to the United States without inspection by an immigrant inspector, or that he was admitted to the United States by reason of the willful misrepresentation or concealment of a material fact. The provisions of this section shall not apply to the admission of any alien who is returning after a temporary absence to an unrelinquished domicile of seven consecutive years in the United States, unless the Secretary of Labor shall, in his discretion, otherwise direct.

SEC. 150.15. Duties of alien employees; wages; clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the list required by section 36 of the immigration act of 1917 (39 Stat. 884; 8 U. S. C. 171) has been furnished, and not then unless masters of vessels arriving in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, shall be furnished by said masters so that they transmit to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival a list containing the names of all aliens employed on board such vessel, stating the duties for which employed, the wages paid and where they were respectively engaged. Masters of vessels shall furnish to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival a description of such alien, including all such information likely to lead to the identification of the alien as the Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of such vessel it shall be the duty of the master, purser, or agent, to furnish the Attorney General, or immigrant inspector, or other officer of the United States, such additional information relative to the names of all aliens employed upon the vessel, and their wages and where they were respectively employed on such vessel, as may be required by the Attorney General, or immigrant inspector, or other officer of the United States. Any master, purser, or agent who refuses to furnish the information required by this section shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each alien concerning whom such information is not furnished. Any master, purser, or agent who knowingly makes a false statement in the list of the crew or in the information furnished to the immigrant inspector, or other officer of the United States, concerning any alien employed on such vessel, shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each such false statement. Any master, purser, or agent who refuses to deliver to any such immigrant inspector, or other officer of the United States, the list of the crew, or any part thereof, or refuses to permit any such immigrant inspector, or other officer of the United States, to examine the crew, or any part thereof, or refuses to deliver to the immigrant inspector, or other officer of the United States, any information in his possession concerning any alien employed on such vessel, shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each such refusal. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the list has been delivered to the immigrant inspector, or other officer of the United States, and the master, purser, or agent has certified to the correctness of the list, and has answered all questions concerning the employment of aliens on such vessel. Clearance may be granted prior to the delivery of the list by the master, purser, or agent, upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover the fines provided for in this section, which deposit shall be returned to the master, purser, or agent upon the delivery of the list and the certification thereof by the immigrant inspector, or other officer of the United States, to the collector of customs. Vessels arriving at ports in the Philippine Islands, Hawaii, Porto Rico, Canal Zone, Guam, Tutuila, Samoa, Panama, Cuba, Mexico, Canada, Newfoundland, or adjacent islands, one copy; vessels arriving at all other ports in the United States, three copies. Upon the delivery of the list or manifest of aliens employed on such vessel, and the payment or deposit of the fine, if any, the master, purser, or agent shall receive a certificate to that effect, which certificate shall be delivered to the collector of customs before clearance of the vessel will be granted. Clearance may be granted prior to the delivery of the list or manifest of aliens employed on such vessel, and prior to the payment or deposit of the fine, if any, upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, to such extent and for such time as may be certified by the medical officer in charge at the port of debarkation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 25. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States shall cause to be detained on board such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has been notified of such arrival and has had full opportunity to go on board such vessel and inspect the alien crew. Such inspection shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner.

(b) Upon the arrival of any vessel from any foreign contiguous territory, it shall be the duty of the master, purser, or agent of such vessel to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival a complete list or manifest of all aliens employed on board such vessel, showing the correct name, age, sex, calling, last permanent residence, and nationality of each alien employed on such vessel, whether he intends to land in the United States, his final destination if known, whether he has been in the United States before, and if so, when and where, whether he has a ticket through to his destination, whether he has been in prison or almshouse or supported by charity, whether he is connected with any anarchistic or similar organization, whether he is a polygamist, whether he has ever been deported, and if so, when and where, and whether he has been assigned to any compartment or space aboard such vessel in excess of the number for which such compartment or space is certified, and such other information regarding each such alien as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. Such list or manifest shall be prepared at such time before the vessel's departure for the United States as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, and shall be subscribed and sworn to by the master, purser, or agent before a consular officer of the United States at the port of departure, if there be a consular officer at such port, and if there be no consular officer at such port, then before the consular officer at the nearest port. The master, purser, or agent shall deliver such list or manifest to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival before any alien shall be allowed to land from such vessel, and shall at the same time report the sickness or death of any alien on board during the voyage, and produce the log book for examination by the immigrant inspector. Any master, purser, or agent who shall fail to comply with the requirements of this subdivision shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each such failure. Any master, purser, or agent who shall refuse to permit the immigrant inspector to examine the list or manifest, or the log book, or the crew, or any part thereof, or who shall refuse to deliver to the immigrant inspector any information in his possession concerning any alien employed on such vessel, shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each such refusal. Clearance may be granted prior to the delivery of the list or manifest of aliens employed on such vessel, and prior to the payment or deposit of the fine, if any, upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. (39 Stat. 890; 8 U. S. C. 171.)

SEC. 150.15. Duties of alien employees; wages; clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the list required by section 36 of the immigration act of 1917 (39 Stat. 884; 8 U. S. C. 171), have been furnished, and not then unless masters of vessels arriving in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, shall be furnished by said masters so that they transmit to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival a list containing the names of all the crew, provided in said vessel from and for or have ceased from and for or have ceased from and for or have ceased

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival like certificate or manifest of all the persons on board such vessel, whether they be passengers or members of the crew, or other persons carried on such vessel, stating the position they respectively hold in the ship's company, what their nationality is, the country to which they belong, their last permanent residence, whether they have been in the United States previously or not, the number and length of their intended stay if admitted, whether they have been in prison or almshouse or supported by charity, whether they are polygamists, whether they have a ticket through to their destination, whether they have the money required by law, and such other information as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, touching the right of any and all persons to enter the United States, which certificate or manifest shall be prepared at the time of the departure of such vessel from the last foreign port or place, and shall be delivered by the master to the immigration officer at the port of arrival before any of the persons on board such vessel shall be allowed to land. Such certificate or manifest shall be signed by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel, and shall be sworn to before the consul of the country to which the vessel belongs, or some other officer designated by the Secretary of State, at the port or place from which the vessel sails, or if there be no such officer at such port or place, then before a notary public or other person authorized by law to administer oaths in such port or place, and shall be in such form and contain such other information touching each and every person on board as the Commissioner General of Immigration may prescribe; and the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel shall also furnish to the immigration officer at the port of arrival a list or manifest containing such additional information touching the persons on board such vessel as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel who refuses or neglects to comply with any of the requirements of this section shall pay a penalty of $300 for each and every such refusal or neglect, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the payment of such penalty or the determination of the question of liability by the collector of customs, subject to review by the Secretary of Labor. Any fine or penalty imposed under the provisions of this section may be remitted or mitigated by the Secretary of Labor upon such terms and conditions as he shall deem just, and shall be paid into the Treasury of the United States; and the Secretary of Labor is hereby authorized to refund any fine or penalty paid hereunder which, in his judgment, is unjust or excessive, or imposed through inadvertence or error of fact.

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States, or employed on board any vessel leaving any port of the United States for any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily to the extent and for the purpose of the medical examination of such alien seaman by the medical officer of the port unless upon the certificate of the master of the vessel on which he arrived or other evidence satisfactory to the Commissioner General of Immigration, he is found to be a bona fide seaman who intends to depart from the United States in the vessel on board which he arrived or in some other vessel, and the medical officer of the port is satisfied that the refusal to permit such alien seaman to land temporarily will not result in his becoming a public charge: Provided, That the Commissioner General of Immigration may, in his discretion, waive the physical examination of any alien seaman who is in possession of a valid passport issued by the country to which he belongs, or which has been issued to him by the consul general, consul, or vice consul of such country in the United States, and who is in transit through the United States to join a vessel in foreign trade at a port other than that at which he arrived: Provided, That the Commissioner General of Immigration may require a deposit of not exceeding $30 from each alien seaman applying for a temporary landing permit, to insure his departure from the United States within the period of his permit, such deposit to be refunded upon the departure of the alien seaman within the period of his permit: Provided further, That the Commissioner General of Immigration may, in his discretion, waive the deposit required of any alien seaman who is in possession of a valid passport issued by the country to which he belongs, or which has been issued to him by the consul general, consul, or vice consul of such country in the United States, and who is in transit through the United States to join a vessel in foreign trade at a port other than that at which he arrived: And provided further, That the Commissioner General of Immigration may, in his discretion, waive the physical examination

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the first port of arrival, but shall in no instance be turned over to the inspector until the vessel is docked or moored. Failure to prepare and have such list ready for delivery as required will subject the master to a fine of $10 for each person concerning whom complete information is not furnished. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, including names of alternate American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That alien seamen in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of any vessel on which such alien seamen arrive in the United States from any foreign port or place to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of first arrival a complete manifest of all such alien seamen on board such vessel, which manifest shall be prepared and delivered in such form as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, and shall contain such information as may be required by the Secretary of Labor for the proper identification of such alien seamen, including the name in full of each such alien seaman, his nationality, his last foreign residence, the country of which he claims to be a subject, the port at which he was admitted to the United States, the date of such admission, whether he is in possession of a passport, and if so, by what country, city, and date issued, whether he intends to return to the country whence he came, and his calling or occupation. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of any vessel who shall refuse or neglect to deliver such manifest, or who shall refuse or neglect to answer truthfully and completely any question touching the particulars required to be stated in such manifest, or who shall refuse or neglect to detain on board such vessel any alien seaman whose detention may be required by the immigrant inspector at the time of inspection or examination of such vessel, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect to whom such default occurs, or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. The Attorney General shall prescribe rules and regulations governing the manner of inspection of alien seamen, the report to be made to the immigrant inspector, and the record to be kept thereof, and may require any such alien seaman to be detained on board such vessel or at such port of arrival pending such inspection, or may take the affidavit of such alien seaman in relation to any matter appertaining to the right of such alien seaman to enter the United States, and may administer oaths to such alien seamen and to masters, owners, agents, consignees, or pursers of such vessels in relation to any matter connected with such inspection. Any alien seaman who refuses to be detained on board such vessel or at such port of arrival when required so to be detained by the immigrant inspector, or who goes on board such vessel without the consent of the immigrant inspector, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $500 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. The Attorney General shall prescribe rules and regulations governing the landing in the United States of alien seamen employed on vessels arriving at ports of the United States, and may require the payment of a bond sufficient in amount to insure that any alien seaman entering the United States for temporary shore leave will not remain in the United States beyond the period of his authorized stay ashore, and may prescribe the amount of such bond and the conditions upon which it shall be given. Any alien seaman who violates the conditions of his shore leave shall be deported in the manner provided by law for the deportation of aliens who have been admitted to the United States. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of any vessel who shall refuse or neglect to pay the head tax imposed by section 2 of this Act in the case of any alien seaman employed on such vessel shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $500 for each such offense. (43 Stat. 154–155; 8 U.S.C., 1940 ed., Supp. I, 2 C. 191.)

SEC. 19. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws may be employed on board a vessel arriving at a port of the United States from any foreign port or place, and the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of any such vessel shall be severally liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien seaman so employed, and such vessel shall be detained by the collector of customs until such penalty is paid or until a sufficient bond is given to indemnify the United States against such penalty. Such penalty may be remitted or refunded, and such bond may be canceled, in whole or in part, by the Secretary of Labor, whose decision shall be final. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel while the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser refuses or neglects to pay the head tax imposed by section 2 of this Act in the case of any alien seaman employed on such vessel. (43 Stat. 154; 8 U.S.C., 1940 ed., Supp. I, 2 C. 191.)

EXTRACT FROM 8 CFR 150

SEC. 150.15 Time of alien entrants. Alien crewmen shall be considered lawfully admitted for the period of time during which they are permitted to land temporarily under section 14 of the Immigration Act of 1924, as amended. Crewmen shall not be permitted to land temporarily for more than 29 days, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of the vessel on which the crewman arrived shall have obtained from the district director having jurisdiction over the port of arrival an extension of the period of temporary landing, which extension shall not be granted for more than a total period of 29 days from the date of arrival of the vessel at the port of arrival. Crewmen who have been granted temporary landing privileges may be required to deposit with the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of the vessel on which they arrived a sum sufficient to cover the cost of their passage to the port of departure, unless they present passports containing unexpired nonimmigrant visas. Crewmen who have been granted temporary landing privileges may be required to deposit with the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of the vessel on which they arrived a sum sufficient to cover the cost of their passage to the port of departure, unless they present passports containing unexpired nonimmigrant visas. Crewmen who have been granted temporary landing privileges may be required to deposit with the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of the vessel on which they arrived a sum sufficient to cover the cost of their passage to the port of departure, unless they present passports containing unexpired nonimmigrant visas.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 22, 1924, AS AMENDED

SEC. 13. (a) The Attorney General may, in his discretion, admit to the United States under the immigration laws a seaman otherwise excludable who is destined to a vessel in the service of the United States or to a vessel of a country contiguous to the United States, or to a vessel touching at a port of the United States on the way to a port of a country contiguous to the United States, for the purpose of shipping as a seaman on such vessel, and who is in possession of a valid passport issued by the country to which such vessel belongs, or by such other country as the Secretary of State may designate, and who is destined to a vessel which will depart from a port of the United States within the period of time for which he is admitted under this section. Such seaman may be granted permission to proceed to such vessel in pursuance of such shipping, and to depart from the United States on such vessel, under such rules and regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe, without being subject to the provisions of section 2 of this Act relating to the payment of the head tax and to the provisions of section 10 of this Act relating to the production of visas: Provided, That no such seaman shall be admitted into the United States under this section if there is reason to believe that he intends to land therein permanently or to become a public charge, or that his landing would be contrary to the public safety or welfare or the quarantine laws of the United States. The Attorney General may by regulations provide for the inspection by immigrant inspectors of seamen admitted under this section, and for the detention on board or at the port of arrival of any such seaman who may be certified by the immigrant inspector as a person who should not be permitted to land, and for the removal of any such seaman who shall land in the United States at any time or place other than as permitted by the Attorney General, and for the payment by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of the vessel on which any such seaman arrives in the United States from any foreign port or place of a sum sufficient to pay the cost of maintenance while detained under this section and of his deportation in case he is deported, and for the deposit of such sum before the vessel on which such seaman arrived shall be granted clearance.

(b) Every alien seaman admitted to the United States under this section shall be deported in the manner provided by law for the deportation of aliens who have been admitted to the United States, and the cost of his deportation shall be paid from the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of any vessel on which any alien seaman arrives in the United States from any foreign port or place who shall refuse or fail to deport any such alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, or on such other vessel as the Attorney General may direct, shall be severally liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien seaman, and such vessel may be detained by the collector of customs until such penalty is paid or until a sufficient bond is given to indemnify the United States against such penalty. Such penalty may be remitted or refunded, and such bond may be canceled, in whole or in part, by the Secretary of Labor, whose decision shall be final. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel while the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser refuses or neglects to pay the head tax imposed by section 2 of this Act in the case of any alien seaman employed on such vessel. (43 Stat. 154–155; 8 U.S.C., 1940 ed., Supp. I, 2 C. 191.)

SEC. 36. That alien seamen in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of any vessel on which such alien seamen arrive in the United States from any foreign port or place to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of first arrival a complete manifest of all such alien seamen on board such vessel, which manifest shall be prepared and delivered in such form as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, and shall contain such information as may be required by the Secretary of Labor for the proper identification of such alien seamen, including the name in full of each such alien seaman, his nationality, his last foreign residence, the country of which he claims to be a subject, the port at which he was admitted to the United States, the date of such admission, whether he is in possession of a passport, and if so, by what country, city, and date issued, whether he intends to return to the country whence he came, and his calling or occupation. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of any vessel who shall refuse or neglect to deliver such manifest, or who shall refuse or neglect to answer truthfully and completely any question touching the particulars required to be stated in such manifest, or who shall refuse or neglect to detain on board such vessel any alien seaman whose detention may be required by the immigrant inspector at the time of inspection or examination of such vessel, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect to whom such default occurs, or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. The Attorney General shall prescribe rules and regulations governing the manner of inspection of alien seamen, the report to be made to the immigrant inspector, and the record to be kept thereof, and may require any such alien seaman to be detained on board such vessel or at such port of arrival pending such inspection, or may take the affidavit of such alien seaman in relation to any matter appertaining to the right of such alien seaman to enter the United States, and may administer oaths to such alien seamen and to masters, owners, agents, consignees, or pursers of such vessels in relation to any matter connected with such inspection. Any alien seaman who refuses to be detained on board such vessel or at such port of arrival when required so to be detained by the immigrant inspector, or who goes on board such vessel without the consent of the immigrant inspector, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $500 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. The Attorney General shall prescribe rules and regulations governing the landing in the United States of alien seamen employed on vessels arriving at ports of the United States, and may require the payment of a bond sufficient in amount to insure that any alien seaman entering the United States for temporary shore leave will not remain in the United States beyond the period of his authorized stay ashore, and may prescribe the amount of such bond and the conditions upon which it shall be given. Any alien seaman who violates the conditions of his shore leave shall be deported in the manner provided by law for the deportation of aliens who have been admitted to the United States. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of any vessel who shall refuse or neglect to pay the head tax imposed by section 2 of this Act in the case of any alien seaman employed on such vessel shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $500 for each such offense. (43 Stat. 154–155; 8 U.S.C., 1940 ed., Supp. I, 2 C. 191.)

(c) If the Attorney General finds that any person has been granted the privilege of entering the United States as a seaman under this section and has remained therein for a period in excess of the period for which he was granted such privilege, such person shall be deported as provided in the case of aliens who have been admitted to the United States. Any alien who shall land in the United States at any time or place other than as designated by the immigrant inspector, or who shall remain beyond the period for which he is granted such privilege, shall be deported as provided in the case of aliens who have been admitted to the United States. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of any vessel who shall refuse or fail to deport any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, or on such other vessel as the Attorney General may direct, shall be severally liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman, and such vessel may be detained by the collector of customs until such penalty is paid or until a sufficient bond is given to indemnify the United States against such penalty. Such penalty may be remitted or refunded, and such bond may be canceled, in whole or in part, by the Secretary of Labor, whose decision shall be final. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel while the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser refuses or neglects to pay the head tax imposed by section 2 of this Act in the case of any alien seaman employed on such vessel. (43 Stat. 154–155; 8 U.S.C., 1940 ed., Supp. I, 2 C. 191.)

CERTIFICATE OF THE MASTER OR COMMANDING OFFICER, OR FIRST OR SECOND OFFICER

I, ALFRED PETERSEN, master of the AM S/S EVENING STAR, do declare that the foregoing is a full and true list of all the crew, principle in addition thereto, and boys or boys shipped for transient service, and that I have noted the copy of section 30 of the Act of February 3, 1917, entitled "An Act to regulate the immigration of aliens to, and the residence of aliens in, the United States," as amended by section 18 of the Act of May 26, 1924, which appears on page 875 of the Code of Federal Regulations, and that I understand it.

Sworn to before me this 21st day of July, 1949

Master, First or Second Officer

Immigrant Inspector

21-7/810

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigrant inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival. The list of changes of alien members of the crew, if any, shall be prepared in duplicate, one copy to be delivered to the immigrant inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and the other copy to be delivered to the immigrant inspector at the port of departure. Failure to deliver the list of changes of alien members of the crew may result in the imposition of a penalty of $300 for each alien member in respect of whom such failure occurs. Also such terms as the Attorney General in the discretion shall think proper. The section as amended shall apply to all immigrant aliens employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the Panama Canal Zone, or from any place in the Panama Canal Zone on the arrival of such vessel as a result of a transfer of such alien from a vessel of the United States to a vessel not of the United States.

(b) That if an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was rejected by the master of such vessel as a deserter, and he prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver after treatment by the immigration officer of the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be printed on plain forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the last port of entry. Where an alien is destined to a point other than the port of entry, the master shall also be required to deliver to the immigrant inspector at that port a duplicate list. Where no alien passengers are carried, a negative report must be rendered. Any discrepancy found in the lists or in the number of aliens landed from the vessel will be reported to the Secretary of Labor and may result in the imposition of the penalty provided by section 16 of the immigration act of February 5, 1917. EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the immigrant inspector officer in charge of the port of arrival a complete list of all aliens employed on board such vessel, showing the nationality, last permanent residence, and destination of each alien employed, and such other information as the Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of such vessel at the port of arrival, or place contiguous to such port of arrival, no alien employed on board such vessel shall be allowed to land in the United States from such vessel, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because detained by the immigrant inspector, until the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival has granted a permit therefor, and such alien shall be subject to the head tax and to the application and inspection provided for in this act in the case of aliens arriving in the United States from foreign contiguous territory. Any person, company, or corporation bringing an alien to the United States who fails to comply with the provisions of this section shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each alien so brought, and may also be imprisoned for not more than one year: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, and under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, authorize the discharge from any vessel in the United States of any alien seaman for the purpose of allowing such alien seaman to accept employment on board any vessel about to depart from the United States, and may, in his discretion, and under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, issue a permit to any alien seaman who has been lawfully admitted into the United States and who is employed on board any vessel about to depart from the United States to return to such vessel without being inspected or examined by an immigrant inspector: Provided further, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, and under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, authorize the transfer of any alien seaman employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof to any other vessel about to depart from the United States for the purpose of enabling such alien seaman to be employed on board such vessel in replacement of any alien seaman who has been discharged or who is unable, by reason of illness, to proceed on board such vessel: And provided further, That any alien seaman who has been granted a permit to land temporarily as provided in this section and who fails to report on board the vessel at the time of her departure from the port where such alien seaman was granted such permit, unless such failure is excused by the master of such vessel and the circumstances reported to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival within twenty-four hours after the departure of such vessel, shall be deemed to have landed unlawfully and to be subject to the head tax and to the provisions of this act applicable to such aliens.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to furnish or deliver such alien seaman's certificate of identity for examination by the immigration officer at the port of arrival, and such vessel shall be liable to the head tax payable in respect of such alien seaman unless the master establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that the failure of such alien seaman to appear upon the outbound manifest was occasioned by the desertion of such alien seaman from such vessel without fault on the master's part, and that the master has complied with the provisions of this section with respect to such alien seaman.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that a deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman by reason of the relationship of such seaman to a person living in the United States, the Attorney General may, in his discretion, waive the deportation of such seaman and permit him to be naturalized if otherwise admissible under the naturalization laws, and may also waive the payment of the head tax imposed by this section in the case of any such seaman who is found to be unable to pay such tax. (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 142.)

SEC. 16. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or entering any port of the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because detained by the immigrant inspector, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because detained by the immigrant inspector, or pending the action of the Secretary of Labor in the case of such alien seaman, and any such alien seaman who shall land in the United States, except as provided in this section, shall be deported in the same manner as provided for in the case of other aliens illegally in the United States and at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this act. (39 Stat. 884; 8 U. S. C. 152.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof to which section 36 of the immigration act of 1917 (39 Stat. 889) has been extended, who knowingly violates any of the provisions of said section, or who knowingly or willfully refuses or neglects to comply with any of the requirements of said section or of any rules or regulations made thereunder, or who knowingly or willfully makes any false statement in any list required by said section, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien with respect to whom such violation occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therein, mitigate such penalty to not less than $500 for each seaman in respect of whom such fine has occurred. Upon such remission the vessel may be granted clearance.

The section, as amended, shall apply to all immigration districts established to June 5, 1940.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver such alien seaman's certificate of identity for examination by the immigration officer at the port of arrival, and such vessel shall be liable to the head tax payable in respect of such alien seaman unless the master establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that the failure of such alien seaman to appear upon the outbound manifest was occasioned by the desertion of such alien seaman from such vessel without fault on the master's part, and that the master has complied with the provisions of this section with respect to such alien seaman.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman by reason of the relationship of such seaman to a person living in the United States, the Attorney General may, in his discretion, waive the deportation of such seaman and permit him to be naturalized if otherwise admissible under the naturalization laws, and may also waive the payment of the head tax imposed by this section in the case of any such seaman who is found to be unable to pay such tax. (39 Stat. 884; 8 U. S. C. 152.)

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924, AS AMENDED

SEC. 15. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or entering any port of the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because detained by the immigrant inspector, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pending final action on the question of his deportation in the case of any alien seaman who has been lawfully admitted and is employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, and who is destined to a port of the United States, but such alien seaman may be granted a permit to go in transit without visa to the consulate of the country to which he belongs, or from which he came to the United States, if the immigration officer in charge of the port is satisfied that such alien seaman is in possession of a valid passport and has been certified by the consul of such country in the United States, or if specifically or generally exempted by treaty or convention between the country to which such alien seaman belongs and the United States from the requirements of passports or the requirements as to the visé of passports by consuls of the United States, and that such alien seaman is in possession of the means and intention to depart from the United States within the period of his permit. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States, except as provided in this section, shall be deported in the same manner as provided for in the case of other aliens illegally in the United States and at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this act. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 168.)

SEC. 30. IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration officer at the port of arrival and shall not be destroyed or removed from the vessel. The list or manifest is to be delivered to the immigration officer at the port of arrival. (Form I-420 shall not be furnished on board but shall be obtained at the office of the immigration officer at the port.) When an alternate seaman is a "conscript," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen [Form I-420] shall be prepared in duplicate, and shall be in addition to the manifest to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival. Any alien seaman who is a "conscript" is a national of that country which has conscripted him for military service.

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or ports it shall be the duty of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival a complete manifest of all persons on board such vessel, whether cabin passengers or in the steerage, who may have been originally destined to the United States or to any insular possession thereof, or who may have embarked at any foreign port or place for the United States or for any such insular possession, whether destined to the United States or not, and whether they intend to land at the port of arrival or at some subsequent port or place, which manifest shall be prepared and delivered in quadruplicate, and shall be in such form and contain such information as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. The said manifest shall show the full name, age, sex, calling or occupation, nationality, last permanent residence, and final destination of each such person, whether he or she has been in the United States previously or not, and if previously, when and where, how long ago, and how long he or she resided in the United States; whether in possession of money, and how much; whether in possession of a ticket, and whether the ticket is complete to destination; whether going to join relatives or friends, and if so, what relatives or friends, and their names and complete addresses; whether ever in prison or almshouse or supported by charity, and if so, what institution or place; whether a polygamist; whether an anarchist; whether coming by reason of any offer, solicitation, promise, agreement, or assurance of employment or otherwise to perform labor in the United States, and if so, what kind or character of work and for how much money; whether having a contract, express or implied, made previous to sailing, and if so, what the contract was; whether the intending immigrant has been deported or excluded from the United States previously and if so, when and what the cause thereof; whether the intending immigrant is coming to the United States to perform any specific work, and if so, what that work is, whether assisted to come, and if so, by whom; whether the intending immigrant has a ticket through to his or her final destination, and whether any part of his or her passage has been paid for by any corporation, association, society, municipality, or foreign government, and if so, what part; IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

Type not specified below shall be inserted on blank forms furnished by the Department and no copy for delivery to the immigration officer at the port of entry of any alien shall be prepared in any manner which will obscure, alter, or render illegible any printing on such copy. Any such violation may be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both. Any master who refuses to deliver to the immigration officer at the port of entry any such copy may be refused clearance from the United States port at which he is applying for clearance, and in addition to other penalties prescribed by law, may be fined $300 for each alien concerning whom such violation occurs. Any master who refuses to deliver to such immigration officer at the port of entry any such copy may be refused clearance from the United States port at which he is applying for clearance, and in addition to other penalties prescribed by law, may be fined $300 for each alien concerning whom such violation occurs. Any master who refuses to deliver to such immigration officer at the port of entry any such copy may be refused clearance from the United States port at which he is applying for clearance, and in addition to other penalties prescribed by law, may be fined $300 for each alien concerning whom such violation occurs.

SEC. 38. [And when entire list of such vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the first port of entry where inspection is provided for a list or manifest of all such aliens, which list or manifest shall contain such information concerning each alien as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, and such list or manifest shall be signed by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel, and verified by him before the immigrant inspector at the time of the departure of such vessel from the last foreign port or place. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel who shall refuse to deliver such list or manifest, or who shall refuse to answer truthfully and fully to the best of his knowledge and belief all questions propounded to him by the immigrant inspector at the time of the departure of such vessel from the last foreign port or place, or who shall refuse to furnish such additional information concerning such alien as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration at any time prior to the departure of such vessel from the United States, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of entry is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom such certified list or manifest is not delivered, or concerning whom such information is not furnished as aforesaid, which sum shall be a lien upon such vessel, and may be recovered by the United States in an action at law. The master of any vessel bringing an alien who is in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa and who is destined to the United States shall deliver to the immigration officer at the port of entry the unused portion of the ticket or tickets by which such alien has arranged to make the journey, and the failure of the master to deliver any such ticket or tickets shall be prima facie evidence of a violation of this section. Any person who knowingly forges, counterfeits, alters, or falsely makes any ticket or order described in this section, or who knowingly sells, exchanges, transfers, gives away, offers, or exposes for sale any such forged, counterfeited, altered, or falsely made ticket or order, or who knowingly possesses any such ticket or order with intent to sell, exchange, transfer, give away, offer, or expose for sale the same, shall be guilty of a felony and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $5,000 or by imprisonment for not more than five years, or by both such fine and imprisonment.]

SEC. 150.15 Liens of alien employees; waiver; clearance of vessel; denial. Clearance shall not be withheld nor vessel held under the provisions of section 3 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 876; 8 U.S.C. 171), upon deposit with the collector of customs of the district in which the port of entry is located of the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom certified lists are not delivered as required by section 38 of the Act of February 5, 1917, or concerning whom such information is not furnished as required by section 38 of the Act of February 5, 1917, unless prior to the departure of the vessel from the last foreign port or place at which it touches en route to the United States the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel has been notified by the Commissioner of the district in which the vessel is destined to the United States that the certified list or manifest is not required. Such deposit shall constitute a lien upon the vessel, which may be recovered by the United States in an action at law. The Commissioner of the district in which the vessel is destined to the United States may, in his discretion, waive the requirement for the certified list or manifest in the case of any vessel touching at ports in Canada, Mexico, Cuba, Newfoundland, Bermuda, or adjacent islands, or plying between such ports and ports of the United States. Clearance shall not be withheld nor vessel held under the provisions of section 3 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 876; 8 U.S.C. 171), upon deposit with the collector of customs of the district in which the port of entry is located of the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom certified lists are not delivered as required by section 38 of the Act of February 5, 1917, unless prior to the departure of the vessel from the last foreign port or place at which it touches en route to the United States the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel has been notified by the Commissioner of the district in which the vessel is destined to the United States that the certified list or manifest is not required. Such deposit shall constitute a lien upon the vessel, which may be recovered by the United States in an action at law. IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be furnished on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival. The list of members of crew must be complete in every detail and no information to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection, names of members of crew should be arranged in the order in which they are to be examined. Where there are more than one sheet, number consecutively and show total number of sheets on the last sheet. Where no members of crew are to be landed, a "no-manifest" should be filed with the immigration officer at the port of arrival. Each manifest must be verified by the oath of the master or commanding officer or the first or second officer, or the purser of the vessel, taken before a consular officer of the United States, or, if there be no consular officer at the place, before a person authorized by the Secretary of Commerce and Labor to administer oaths for the purposes of the immigration laws. Any person who knowingly makes a false statement in the manifest with respect to the name, nationality, last residence, or intended destination of any alien may be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than two years, or by both such fine and imprisonment (34 Stat. at L., 1228, sec. 42).

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory or adjacent islands, except Canada, Newfoundland, Mexico, Cuba, Porto Rico, the Canal Zone, the Republic of Panama, the Virgin Islands, or the Republic of Haiti, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily and solely for medical treatment, or because of an emergency as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States, except in the manner prescribed by section 33 of said Act (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 150).

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to detain on board the vessel any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty in such amount as he may deem appropriate. The section as amended shall apply to all penalties which accrue after the date of its approval.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart from the United States with the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or with any vessel within the period of time allowed by the immigration officer at the port of arrival, or within such further time as may be granted by the Attorney General, shall be deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of said Act (39 Stat. 889, 890; 8 U. S. C. 155, 156), as amended by section 1 of the Act of May 26, 1924 (43 Stat. 162; 8 U. S. C. Supp. V, 156).

(c) If the Attorney General shall find that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States is unreasonably delayed or that such alien seaman has been duly discharged in the port of arrival, or that circumstances do not require such alien seaman to be detained on board the vessel, he may cause him to be detained on shore pending the completion of his inquiry and determination as to his deportation, upon the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel furnishing a bond or undertaking approved by the Attorney General in such amount, not exceeding $500 for each seaman, as he may require, conditioned upon the delivery of such alien seaman on board the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or on board such other vessel as may be designated by the Attorney General for the deportation of such alien seaman. Upon the failure to deliver any such alien seaman on board such vessel or other vessel designated by the Attorney General within such time as he may prescribe, the bond or undertaking shall be forfeited and collected in like manner as customs duties are collected, and in addition to the penalty prescribed by section 16 of said Act (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 152). Any such alien seaman who shall depart from the United States without the permission of the Attorney General shall be deported as provided by section 19 of said Act (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 155).

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list of races and peoples printed on blank forms approved by the Department and to be used for delivery to the immigration officer at the port of first arrival must be followed literally. The word "Hebrew" is not to be substituted for any of the races or peoples listed therein, nor is any other variation in the list to be permitted. Any variation may result in delay to the vessel and the return of the list for correction. Additional space for writing races or peoples not listed may be obtained on board ship, but shall not be substituted for the races or peoples listed. The term "Negro" includes all persons of African descent, whether born in Africa, America, or elsewhere. Indians of North, Central, and South America are to be listed as "American Indians," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection at ports of first arrival, vessels having on board aliens destined to different ports should, if practicable, carry a separate manifest for aliens destined for each port.

SEC. 36. That when arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place is shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel, before the boarding officer has given pratique, to deliver to the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a list containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and where they intend to be landed and discharged in the port of arrival; or have continuous transportation to their destination, as the case may be. Such list shall be delivered in duplicate, and the immigration officer to whom delivered shall certify on both lists the correctness of the same, and return one list to the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel, to be produced on demand at the time of the vessel's departure from each port in the United States at which such vessel shall touch for passengers or for the discharge of alien passengers. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel who shall refuse or neglect to deliver such list, or who shall refuse or neglect to produce such list on demand at the time of departure from any such port, or who shall refuse or neglect to certify to the correctness of the same, shall pay a penalty of $10 for each alien concerning whom any of the required information is not furnished, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs or other officer authorized to grant clearance papers until the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof shall have delivered to such collector or other officer a true list, certified by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel, of all aliens employed on such vessel who have not previously been reported on the list or lists required to be delivered at previous ports, and of the sums paid to or collected from each of such aliens for head tax and for the expenses of their maintenance during detention, if any, and of the amounts refunded to them, if any, on account of such detention. Any such master, agent, consignee, or owner who shall refuse or neglect to pay any such head tax, expenses of maintenance during detention, or refunds, shall be liable to the same, and the payment thereof may be enforced in the same manner, as the payment of the head tax required to be collected from masters of vessels by section 2 of this Act. (43 Stat. 154; 8 U. S. C. 132.)

SEC. 37. (a) The master, purser, surgeon, or person in charge of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the Canal Zone shall deliver to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival a manifest and such additional lists or statements as may be required by the Secretary of Labor relative to the persons on board such vessel, whether they are passengers or members of the crew, or otherwise, and whether they are citizens of the United States or aliens, and shall answer truthfully all questions propounded to him by such officer concerning the same. Such manifest, lists, or statements shall be prepared and delivered at such time before the vessel's departure from the last port outside the United States as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, and shall be in such form and contain such information as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe and as may be necessary to the enforcement of the immigration laws. The master, purser, surgeon, or person in charge of any vessel failing to prepare or deliver any such manifest, list, or statement, or to answer truthfully any such question, or any other person who knowingly makes any false statement in connection therewith, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both.

(b) The master, purser, surgeon, or person in charge of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the Canal Zone shall deliver to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival a complete list of the persons on board such vessel, showing the full name of each person, his sex, age, calling, nationality, last permanent residence, final destination, whether he has been in prison or in a almshouse or asylum, whether he is a polygamist, whether he is coming in pursuance of a prepaid or other special ticket or otherwise, whether he has paid his own passage or whether it has been paid by others, whether he has in his possession $50 or more and by whom such amount was furnished, whether he has ever been in the United States before and if so when and how long he remained and where he last resided, whether he has been deported from the United States and if so when and why, whether he has a ticket through to the place of his destination, whether he has been assisted by others in coming and if so by whom, whether he has a relative or friend in the United States and if so whether such relative or friend is the person who paid for his passage or ticket, and whether he intends to return to the United States at some future time. Such list shall be delivered in duplicate, and the immigration officer to whom delivered shall certify on both lists the correctness of the same, and return one list to the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel, to be produced on demand at the time of the vessel's departure from each port in the United States at which such vessel shall touch for passengers or for the discharge of alien passengers. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner who shall refuse or neglect to deliver such list, or who shall refuse or neglect to produce such list on demand at the time of departure from any such port, or who shall refuse or neglect to certify to the correctness of the same, shall pay a penalty of $10 for each alien concerning whom any of the required information is not furnished, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs or other officer authorized to grant clearance papers until the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof shall have delivered to such collector or other officer a true list, certified by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel, of all aliens employed on such vessel who have not previously been reported on the list or lists required to be delivered at previous ports, and of the sums paid to or collected from each of such aliens for head tax and for the expenses of their maintenance during detention, if any, and of the amounts refunded to them, if any, on account of such detention. Any such master, agent, consignee, or owner who shall refuse or neglect to pay any such head tax, expenses of maintenance during detention, or refunds, shall be liable to the same, and the payment thereof may be enforced in the same manner, as the payment of the head tax required to be collected from masters of vessels by section 2 of this Act. SEC. 150.15. Duty of alien employees: when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof has delivered to the administrative officer in charge of the port of arrival a list containing the information required by section 36 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 880; 8 U. S. C. 171), as amended by section 28 of the Act of May 26, 1924 (43 Stat. 166; 8 U. S. C. 172), and has been furnished with a certificate by the master, agent, consignee, or owner that the list is correct and complete. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the list required by section 36 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 880; 8 U. S. C. 171), as amended by section 28 of the Act of May 26, 1924 (43 Stat. 166; 8 U. S. C. 172), has been delivered to the administrative officer in charge of the port of arrival, and certified by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel, that the information required by such section 36 has been furnished, and no such clearance shall be granted if the master, agent, consignee, or owner has refused or neglected to pay any head tax, expenses of maintenance during detention, or refunds required by section 36 of said Act (39 Stat. 880; 8 U. S. C. 173), and has been notified by the administrative officer in charge of the port of arrival that such head tax, expenses of maintenance during detention, or refunds are due. (39 Stat. 886, 887; 8 U. S. C. 171.)

ALIEN SEAMEN

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924, AS AMENDED

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or quarantine requirements, or for the purpose of obtaining treatment for the relief of such illness, injury, or quarantine requirements, or because of the necessity of replacement, or because of shipwreck, or other casualty, or for such other reasons as may be deemed sufficient by the Secretary of Labor, and then only under such conditions as he may prescribe. Any such alien seaman who is permitted to land temporarily as provided in this section shall not be deported as a condition of his obtaining a visa, but shall be deported in accordance with the provisions of section 19 of this Act, as if he had entered the United States illegally. Any such alien seaman who shall land in the United States, except as provided in this section or in case of shipwreck, or other casualty, or who shall land in the United States at any time or place other than as designated by the immigration officer, or who shall remain in the United States for a longer time than permitted by the immigration officer, or who shall not depart on the vessel or some other vessel within the period specified by the Secretary of Labor, shall be deported as provided in section 19 of this Act. Any such alien seaman who is employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or who is detained on board because he is suffering from any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities specified in section 3 of this Act, shall be deported to the country to which the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States shall be required to return him, or, if such master, agent, consignee, or owner refuses to receive him, to the country to which he belongs or from which he came to the United States. Any such alien seaman who is deported shall be deported at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act, or at the expense of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, as the Secretary of Labor may direct. Any such master, agent, consignee, or owner who refuses to receive any such alien seaman when ordered to do so by the Secretary of Labor, or who refuses or fails to deport any such alien seaman when required so to do, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs or other officer authorized to grant clearance papers until a sum sufficient to cover such penalty has been deposited with the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit any penalty incurred under this section, or any part thereof, upon such terms as he may deem proper and just, and may refund any sum deposited as security for the payment of such penalty, or any part thereof, which may be remitted.

The provisions of this section shall apply to all foreign seamen employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that may be withheld by the immigration officer at the port of arrival and certified to the Secretary of Labor, notwithstanding the fact that any such seaman may have been granted a visa by an American consular officer abroad.

(a) Upon the arrival in the United States of any vessel from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, purser, surgeon, or person in charge thereof, or the agent, consignee, or owner thereof, to deliver to the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a complete list of the persons on board such vessel, showing the full name of each person, his sex, age, calling, nationality, last permanent residence, final destination, whether he has been in prison or in a almshouse or asylum, whether he is a polygamist, whether he is coming in pursuance of a prepaid or other special ticket or otherwise, whether he has paid his own passage or whether it has been paid by others, whether he has in his possession $50 or more and by whom such amount was furnished, whether he has ever been in the United States before and if so when and how long he remained and where he last resided, whether he has been deported from the United States and if so when and why, whether he has a ticket through to the place of his destination, whether he has been assisted by others in coming and if so by whom, whether he has a relative or friend in the United States and if so whether such relative or friend is the person who paid for his passage or ticket, and whether he intends to return to the United States at some future time. Such list shall be delivered in duplicate, and the immigration officer to whom delivered shall certify on both lists the correctness of the same, and return one list to the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel, to be produced on demand at the time of the vessel's departure from each port in the United States at which such vessel shall touch for passengers or for the discharge of alien passengers. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner who shall refuse or neglect to deliver such list, or who shall refuse or neglect to produce such list on demand at the time of departure from any such port, or who shall refuse or neglect to certify to the correctness of the same, shall pay a penalty of $10 for each alien concerning whom any of the required information is not furnished, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs or other officer authorized to grant clearance papers until the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof shall have delivered to such collector or other officer a true list, certified by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel, of all aliens employed on such vessel who have not previously been reported on the list or lists required to be delivered at previous ports, and of the sums paid to or collected from each of such aliens for head tax and for the expenses of their maintenance during detention, if any, and of the amounts refunded to them, if any, on account of such detention. Any such master, agent, consignee, or owner who shall refuse or neglect to pay any such head tax, expenses of maintenance during detention, or refunds, shall be liable to the same, and the payment thereof may be enforced in the same manner, as the payment of the head tax required to be collected from masters of vessels by section 2 of this Act. (43 Stat. 154; 8 U. S. C. 132.)

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not obtain a visa upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was rejected by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver or cause to be delivered such alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, but such seaman may be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or the payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such seaman shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or the payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 180.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, who fails to depart on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival (and, if such officer is not himself a medical officer, a medical officer) has certified that such alien seaman has been examined and found not to be afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities set forth in section 3 of the Immigration Act of 1924, as amended, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman so departing.

(b) Except as otherwise provided in this section, no vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the liability to payment of the tax or while the case is being reported to the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization for such determination. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing, remit or refund any tax collected under this section, as he may deem to be justified by reason of new evidence or other cause, under such regulations as he may prescribe. All moneys collected under this section shall be paid into the Treasury as a part of the head tax provided for in section 2 of the Immigration Act of 1924, as amended.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that a master has refused without sufficient cause to deliver for special inquiry any alien seaman who is employed on any vessel on which he arrived at a port of the United States, such master shall be liable to a penalty of not more than $500 for each such alien seaman.

(d) Penalties under this section shall not attach when the owner, agent, charterer, master, or consignee of the vessel on which the alien seaman arrived shall prove to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that such alien seaman deserted from a vessel while in good standing on the articles of the vessel, without any fault or negligence on the part of the master or officers thereof, and that all reasonable efforts have been made by the master and owner of the vessel to prevent the desertion of such alien seaman. (43 Stat. 164–165; 8 U. S. C. 181 (a), 181 (c).)

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master, charterer, or lessee to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the position they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and description thereof as to be had on the forms prescribed by the Attorney General, and the said officer shall thereupon proceed to examine, in the manner provided by this Act, all such aliens, touching matters relating to their right to enter the United States, and the said officer shall have power to administer oaths and to employ interpreters when necessary for the proper performance of his duties. Every such owner, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel who fails to deliver such lists, or who wilfully adds the name of any alien who has been examined to such lists after the same have been delivered to the immigration officer, or who refuses to answer questions, or gives false answers thereto, concerning any such alien, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both. Any such alien shall be detained for examination in relation to his right to enter the United States, and if he is found to be unlawfully in the United States he shall be deported in the manner provided by law. Any such alien who shall willfully remain on board of any vessel arriving at a port of the United States after the immigration officer in charge of the port has given notice that such alien is not to be allowed to land, or who shall land in the United States from any such vessel without having been duly inspected, shall be deported in the manner provided by law. Any such alien who shall land in the United States from any such vessel at any time or place other than as designated by the immigration officer in charge of the port, or who shall enter the United States by any means or in any manner not designated by the immigration officer in charge of the port, or who shall remain in the United States for a longer time than permitted by the immigration officer in charge of the port, shall be deported in the manner provided by law. Any such alien who shall be deported shall be deported with the cost of his maintenance and transportation charged to the appropriation for the enforcement of the immigration laws current at the time of deportation. Any such alien who shall be deported shall be deported to the country whence he came, or to the country of which he is a subject, citizen, or denizen, as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor, at the option of the Secretary of Labor. If any such alien shall not be deported within five years after the entry of the order of deportation, the Secretary of Labor may cancel proceedings against him, or stay execution of the order of deportation, under such conditions as he may prescribe. SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or quarantine requirements, or for such other reasons as may be approved by the Attorney General, from the vessel on which he arrived, during the period such vessel remains in port, to an amount not exceeding $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except fine clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $500 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. The section, as amended, shall apply to all deportation matters subsequent to June 2, 1940.

(b) Every fine, as aforesaid, shall not apply to a deportation matter of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or fine he was temporarily by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver such alien for deportation after reasonable notice by the Immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be cleared clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector at each port of entry at which any alien seaman shall land in the United States (Form I-418). Where no alien seaman is to be landed, the list shall not be furnished on board, but shall in no instance be delivered by the master to the immigration officer at the port of entry. When an alien seaman is a "non-immigrant," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, including names of relatives, addresses, and other citizenship information, the list of changes to the immigration officer at the port of entry should be made on the manifest.

SEC. 36. That alien seamen, including those employed on vessels of the United States arriving from any foreign port or place if shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a list or manifest of all such alien seamen employed on such vessel, showing the full name, last known permanent address, nationality, last foreign port from which vessel sailed, and such other information as may be required by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, and to deliver to such immigration officer at the time of the departure of such vessel from such port a list or manifest of all such alien seamen employed on such vessel, showing the full name, last known permanent address, nationality, last foreign port from which vessel sailed, and such other information as may be required by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, and to deliver to such immigration officer at the time of the arrival of any such vessel at a port of the United States a list or manifest of all such alien seamen employed on such vessel, showing the full name, last known permanent address, nationality, last foreign port from which vessel sailed, and such other information as may be required by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization. Such list or manifest shall be prepared at the time of the departure of such vessel from each port, and at the time of arrival at the port of destination in the United States, and shall be delivered to the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival before any of the crew or passengers shall be allowed to land. Such list or manifest shall be prepared in quadruplicate, and the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization may require such additional copies as he may deem necessary. The master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel shall be liable to a penalty of $10 for each alien seaman employed on such vessel whose name is not entered on such list or manifest, unless the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel establishes to the satisfaction of the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization that such alien seaman was employed on such vessel at a foreign port or place because of shipwreck or other unavoidable cause over which the master, agent, consignee, or owner had no control, and that the master, agent, consignee, or owner has made due effort to bring such alien seaman to the United States on the vessel on which he was employed, or that such alien seaman was left behind at the request of the consul-general, consul, vice consul, commercial agent, or consular agent of the United States at the foreign port or place where such seaman was left behind, and has reported the cause of such seaman's failure to arrive, and has furnished the name, last known address, and such other information as he may have concerning such seaman to the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel who shall refuse to deliver to the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival the list or manifest required by this section, or who shall refuse to deliver to any such officer at the time of the departure of such vessel from such port a list or manifest of all such alien seamen employed on such vessel, showing the full name, last known permanent address, nationality, last foreign port from which vessel sailed, and such other information as may be required by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, or who shall refuse to deliver to any such officer at the time of the arrival of any such vessel at a port of the United States a list or manifest of all such alien seamen employed on such vessel, showing the full name, last known permanent address, nationality, last foreign port from which vessel sailed, and such other information as may be required by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, or who shall refuse to permit any such officer to make such examination of the crew of such vessel as may be provided by this Act, or who shall refuse to deliver to any such officer at the time of the departure of such vessel from such port a list or manifest of all such alien seamen employed on such vessel, showing the full name, last known permanent address, nationality, last foreign port from which vessel sailed, and such other information as may be required by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, or who shall refuse to deliver to any such officer at the time of the arrival of any such vessel at a port of the United States a list or manifest of all such alien seamen employed on such vessel, showing the full name, last known permanent address, nationality, last foreign port from which vessel sailed, and such other information as may be required by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, or who shall refuse to permit any such officer to make such examination of the crew of such vessel as may be provided by this Act, or who shall refuse to deliver to any such officer at the time of the departure of such vessel from such port a list or manifest of all such alien seamen employed on such vessel, showing the full name, last known permanent address, nationality, last foreign port from which vessel sailed, and such other information as may be required by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, or who shall refuse to permit any such officer to make such examination of the crew of such vessel as may be provided by this Act

SEC. 18. [Any alien arrival at a port of the United States from any foreign port or place is shall be the duty of the owner, agent, master, consignee, or charterer of the vessel in which such alien arrives to prevent any such alien from landing at such port or place, and it shall be the duty of the master of such vessel to detain such alien on board such vessel or to remove such alien to the custody of the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival there to remain until a certificate has been issued by the Secretary of Labor or his authorized representative to the effect that such alien may land in the United States, or that such alien is clearly and beyond a reasonable doubt entitled to be admitted to the United States under this Act, or is subject to deportation only in lieu of detention, or until such alien shall be otherwise lawfully entitled to land in the United States. Any such alien may be required to be detained on board such vessel or removed to such custody pending the inspection of such alien by the immigration officers at the port of arrival and pending such further investigation or examination as may be deemed necessary. The owners, agents, masters, consignees, or charterers of such vessel shall be severally liable to the United States for the payment of a sum not exceeding $1,000 for each such alien so detained on board or removed to such custody, and for the payment of a sum not exceeding $300 for each such alien landed from such vessel, except as otherwise provided by this Act or by regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. Such sums shall be a lien upon such vessel, and clearance may be withheld or the vessel may be detained until such sums are paid or until a bond or undertaking approved by the Secretary of Labor is given to the United States sufficient to cover such sums. Such sums shall be remitted when it is shown to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that such alien was prevented from landing by sickness, accident, or other cause for which the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel was not responsible, and that such alien has been returned to the country whence he came or has been otherwise disposed of as the Secretary of Labor may direct, or that such alien was allowed to land temporarily under bond as provided in section 23 of this Act. Such sums shall be refunded when it is shown to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that no part of the cause of detention existed prior to the vessel's departure from the last foreign port or place in which such alien embarked, or that the vessel was detained for the sole purpose of landing such alien for treatment in a hospital, or that such alien was a stowaway, and the master of the vessel has complied with all the requirements of the immigration officers for the detention and removal of stowaways. No vessel shall be cleared while any such sum is due and unpaid hereunder, but clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the question of the liability to pay any such sum upon the deposit of such sum with the collector of customs, pending such determination. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate any penalty or remit any such sum or any part thereof, upon such terms and conditions as he may deem just, or may ascertain and remit the amount due to the master or owner of any vessel by reason of the remission or mitigation of any penalty imposed upon the master or owner under the provisions of this section, as amended. Such remission or mitigation may be granted only upon a petition filed within two years after the date of the final determination of the case and after notice and hearing to such parties as the Attorney General may by regulation prescribe; and when a petition is filed as herein provided no such penalty shall be remitted or mitigated until the Attorney General has given due notice of and full opportunity to such customs officer as the Secretary of the Treasury may designate to be represented before the Attorney General in the consideration of the petition. All moneys collected under the provisions of this section, as amended, shall be paid into the Treasury of the United States and shall be reported to Congress in detail by the Secretary of the Treasury in December of each year. (43 Stat. 161–162, as amended; 8 U. S. C. 151 (a), (b), (c).)

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws has employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or treatment of such illness as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate deportation, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 161, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 32. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof with alien to desire on board via alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection it all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or to desire on board via alien seaman employed on such vessel until such inspection or to report such seaman if required by such immigration officer at the Attorney General to do so, shall pay the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1.00 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be cleared prior to the determination of the liability to payment of such sum, or while the same remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate any penalty so not less than $500 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all vessels arriving in the United States after the expiration of sixty days after the date of enactment of the Act of 1940.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outgoing vessel in respect of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, to limit of new reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to depart after requirement by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such expense shall not be charged against the vessel or the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel in the absence of negligence on the part of any such person. Any such seaman may be required to give a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, conditioned upon the departure of such seaman on the vessel or another vessel within such time as may be fixed by the Attorney General. Such bond shall not be required of any seaman who is a national of the country to which he is deported. (43 Stat. 164–165, 8 U. S. C. 181 (a), 181 (c).)

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States (except temporarily for medical treatment, or detained by order of the Attorney General under proper bond for the alleged violation of any law regulating the admission of aliens), or who shall have been granted a conditional landing, and has not then been granted a permanent admission, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of shipwreck or other casualty or emergency, or for such time as may be necessary to secure repairs to the vessel on which he arrived, or pending the departure of such vessel or the substitution of other seamen in his place, or pending the decision of the Attorney General as to any application for a conditional landing, or pending an appeal taken from the decision of the Attorney General refusing a conditional landing, or pending the removal of such alien to a country willing to receive him, or pending the settlement of proceedings against such alien to enforce a fine or penalty imposed upon the master or owner of such vessel, or pending the deposit of funds sufficient to pay such fine or penalty: Provided, That a conditional landing shall not be granted to any such alien who has been convicted of a felony or of two misdemeanors involving moral turpitude, unless the Attorney General in his discretion shall think that such landing would not be contrary to the public interest: Provided further, That any such alien who has been convicted of a crime which is punishable by imprisonment for a term of one year or more may be granted a conditional landing in the discretion of the Attorney General, but shall not be admitted to the United States: Provided further, That any such alien who has been convicted of a crime involving moral turpitude committed within five years after the date of his entry to the United States for which a sentence to confinement for one year or longer may be imposed, shall be subject to deportation as provided in section 19 of this Act.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States (except temporarily for medical treatment, or detained by order of the Attorney General) may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 31. (a) Any owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States who shall refuse to permit any immigrant inspector to go on board such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who shall refuse to detain on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who shall refuse to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such sum, or while the same remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such sum, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all deserting alien seamen on and after July 1, 1940.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport after reimbursement by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General shall find that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

(43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 35. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof (other than Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, the Canal Zone, the Republic of Panama, Cuba, Haiti, the Dominican Republic, or the Virgin Islands of the United States) with any alien employed on board such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or such alien employed on board such vessel after such inspection or to depart such seaman on board such vessel, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or in a case in which a bond fully sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. The section, as amended, shall apply to all deportation cases pending on June 2, 1940.

(d) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was rejected by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver or deport alien seamen as required by this section.

(e) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States would cause undue hardship or expense, he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such expense shall not be finally cleared clearance until such expense has been paid to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be printed on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of aliens to be furnished upon departure of aliens (Form I-418) shall not be delivered on board but shall be delivered by the master to the boarding immigration officer at the port of departure. When no alien departs, a "none" notation is to be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of aliens seeking admission, include names of returning American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or from a possession of the United States (except Guam, Samoa, and the Virgin Islands) to any port in the district of Alaska, Hawaii, or Puerto Rico, the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer thereof shall present to the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel; stating the position they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifically those in the position of head waiter, second cook, and second steward; and stating the intended movements of such aliens while in the United States. Such lists shall be prepared in quadruplicate forms to be furnished by the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival; or plain copies of such lists, typewritten, may be used in lieu of such forms. Such lists shall be subscribed and sworn to before the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer thereof, as the case may be, before the departure of any such vessel from the port of arrival, and shall be delivered to the immigration officer in charge of the port of departure by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel at the time of the departure of such vessel from the port of arrival. Such lists shall contain such information with respect to each alien named therein as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, and shall be in such form as the Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe. Such lists shall contain the names of all aliens employed on such vessel who have been discharged or who have died since the departure of the last preceding vessel from the port at which the list is required to be delivered, and the cause of such death, if known, and the name of the country to which each such alien was subject. Such lists shall contain the names of all aliens employed on such vessel who have been left behind at the time of the departure of such vessel from the port at which the list is required to be delivered, and the cause for such alien's detention, if known, and the country to which each such alien was subject. Such lists shall contain the names of all aliens employed on such vessel who have been signed on or transferred to such vessel in any foreign port or ports, and the date of the shipping or transfer of each such alien, together with such information likely to lead to his identification: and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer thereof to report to the immigration officer in charge of the port of departure the name of each alien, if any, who has been employed on such vessel and who is not listed on the lists required to be delivered at the time of the departure of such vessel from the port of arrival, and who has not been reported as a deserter from such vessel, and the cause of such alien's failure to be so listed, if known, and the country to which each such alien was subject. Such lists shall be prepared in such manner as may be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, and shall contain such other information as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, to enable the immigration officers at ports of arrival to properly examine and care for alien seamen employed on such vessels. Upon the refusal of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel to deliver the lists required by this section, or to present any alien seaman employed on such vessel for examination by the immigration officers at the port of arrival, such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom such refusal occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the payment of the tax imposed by this section, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance if the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer thereof shall have refused to deliver the lists required by this section, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel shall deposit with the collector of customs a sum sufficient to cover the tax imposed by this section, as determined by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, and such deposit shall be held to await the decision of the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, as to whether the tax is payable. Upon the payment of the tax or the giving of a bond with sufficient surety, to be approved by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, to indemnify the United States against the payment of the tax, the vessel may be granted clearance. Pending the decision as to the tax, the vessel may depart from any port in the United States in charge of a pilot licensed by any State, or in charge of a master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer who shall have given bond to the United States in such sum, not exceeding $1,000, as may be required by the collector of customs, conditioned to report to the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, the name and description of each alien employed on such vessel who has been left behind in the United States, and to pay the tax imposed by this section in case it is finally decided that the same is payable. Upon the payment of the tax or the giving of a bond sufficient to cover such tax, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, and upon the production of the certificate of the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, that no tax is payable under the provisions of this section, the collector of customs shall deliver to the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel the bond given to secure the payment of such tax. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit the whole or any part of the tax imposed by this section, and any part of a bond given to secure the payment thereof, in such cases as he may deem proper. (43 Stat. 162; 8 U. S. C. 136.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States, except foreign vessels temporarily in distress, shall be required to deliver to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and before any of the passengers are landed, a manifest, in duplicate, of all aliens, including those in transit through the United States to foreign countries, destined to the United States, on board such vessel, whether destined to the port of arrival or to some other port, and shall be required to deliver to the immigration officer in charge at each port in the United States at which the vessel may call after leaving the port of arrival, before any of the passengers are landed, a manifest, in duplicate, of all aliens destined to the United States and on board such vessel when leaving such port. Such manifests shall be prepared on forms furnished by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, and shall be verified by the oath of the master and the commanding officer. Such manifests shall contain such information as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, for the identification of aliens, and shall be prepared in such manner as may be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit the whole or any part of the tax imposed by this section, and any part of a bond given to secure the payment thereof, in such cases as he may deem proper. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 136.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or any transportation company engaged in the business of bringing aliens to the United States, except temporarily, for the purpose of landing them in foreign contiguous territory, shall be required to deliver to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival a manifest (in duplicate, if by vessel, and in triplicate, if by aircraft) of all aliens destined to the United States, except those in transit through the United States to foreign countries, who have been taken on board such vessel at any place outside thereof, whether destined to the port of arrival or to some other port in the United States, and shall be required to deliver to the immigration officer in charge at each port in the United States at which the vessel may call after leaving the port of arrival, before any of the passengers are landed, a manifest, in duplicate, of all aliens destined to the United States and on board such vessel when leaving such port. Such manifests shall be prepared on forms furnished by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, and shall be verified by the oath of the master and the commanding officer. Such manifests shall contain such information as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, for the identification of aliens, and shall be prepared in such manner as may be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit the whole or any part of the tax imposed by this section, and any part of a bond given to secure the payment thereof, in such cases as he may deem proper. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 136.)

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens sentenced or subject to be sentenced more than one year after their arrival for crimes or felonies committed subsequent to their admission to the United States, and also lists containing the names of all aliens who have been treated for a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease subsequent to their admission to the United States, and it shall be the duty of the officers of the vessel, severally, to detain such aliens on board or at the station at the option of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master of the vessel, and the cost of such detention shall be paid to the United States by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master of the vessel bringing such aliens to the United States. Any such alien so detained shall be subject to such examination and treatment as may be required by the Attorney General, and the cost of such detention and treatment shall be borne by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master of the vessel bringing such alien to the United States. Any such alien shall be detained on board the vessel bringing him to the United States or shall be transferred to the station of the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival, at the option of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master of the vessel bringing such alien to the United States, and the cost of such detention shall be paid to the United States by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master of the vessel bringing such alien to the United States. Any such alien shall be subject to such medical examination at the time of arrival and under such regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury, and the cost of such medical examination shall be borne by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master of the vessel bringing such alien to the United States. Any such alien who shall not be duly admitted into the United States shall be immediately removed from the United States in the manner prescribed for the deportation of aliens who have been admitted to the United States. The cost of such removal shall be borne by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master of the vessel bringing such alien to the United States. Any such alien who shall come in violation of any of the provisions of this Act shall be deported in the manner prescribed by sections 19 and 20 hereof. The cost of such deportation

That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port to a place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, showing the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and where they were born, and the last permanent residence of each alien, so far as known to the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master, and such other information relative to such aliens as may be required by the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival; or lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel at the time of the arrival of the vessel at such port, and such other information relative to such aliens, including a description of each alien, as may be required by the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival, which lists shall be certified by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master to be true and correct to the best of his knowledge and belief, and shall be delivered in the port to the officer of the customs who first demands the same, or to the officer of customs who may be designated for the purpose by the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival, before any of the passengers shall be landed from the vessel. Every master or commanding officer of any such vessel is hereby required to report and deliver to the officer in charge of the port of arrival the names of all aliens employed on such vessel who may have been left behind at any foreign port or place, and the cause for leaving them behind, so far as known to the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof, and to report and deliver to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival the names of all aliens employed on such vessel who may have been shipped at any foreign port or place for the purpose of working their passage to the United States, but who have refused to work, and the cause of their refusal so far as known to the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof, and to report and deliver to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival the name of any alien employed on such vessel who may desert while in port, and the cause of such desertion so far as known to the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof. Any master or commanding officer of any such vessel who refuses or neglects to report or deliver any such list or to report or deliver to any such immigration officer any such alien or the cause for leaving behind any such alien as herein provided shall pay to the collector of customs for the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or a true report is not made as above required; but no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the remission of the fine, and, in the event such fine is imposed, while it remains pending; nor shall such fine be remitted or refunded: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. (39 Stat. 888–890; 8 U. S. C. 191.)

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 19. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws but employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or quarantine as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or quarantine as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

(a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be prohibited from landing or permitting to be landed any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), and certified that such seaman is entitled to a landing on board the vessel after such inspection or to report such seaman at a medical examination at a time and place specified by the immigration officer at the port of arrival. The Attorney General is authorized to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located for the use of the United States, $10 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. The section, as amended, shall apply to all deportation aliens unapprehended on June 2, 1940.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that such vessel as a passenger, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to detain or deport alien, testimonial by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be cleared clearance papers pending such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General. (43 Stat. 164–165, 58 Stat. 818; 8 U. S. C. 191 (a), 191 (c).)

SEC. 10. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the foreign contiguous territory, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or quarantine as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside foreign contiguous territory (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), arriving and inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall be conducted by such immigration officer at the port of arrival as the Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all deserting seamen subsequent to June 2, 1924.

(b) Every such alien seaman who does not depart upon the discharge thereof, or who may leave the vessel with the permission of the master, shall be taken into custody upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, and shall be deported to the country whence he came, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this act, unless security is furnished to the satisfaction of the Attorney General in an amount not exceeding $300 that such alien will depart within such time as may be allowed for his departure.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship, such alien may be permitted to depart upon any vessel and at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General. IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on plain forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members of crews (Form I-418) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate seaman is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of alternate American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival there containing the names of all alien employees on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those to be paid off and discharged in the port of arrival; or there continue on board of such vessel, and such alien shall not be allowed to land from the vessel, except in accordance with such regulations as the Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe; and while in the port of arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with any information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all alien employees who may have been employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who may have ceased to be employed thereon at the time of its departure, and the cause of such severance, and the intended movements of such employees so far as known. Any owner, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel who shall fail to comply with the provisions of this section shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or a true report is not made as above required; or in the event such alien is improperly landed, or remains unduly, not until such time as the required or attempted: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such tax. (39 Stat. 888–890; 8 U. S. C. 171.)

SEC. 150.18. Lists of alien employees; when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the list required by section 38 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 171), have been furnished, and not then unless notice of intention to the administrative time prescribed by said section or to that prescribed by section 32 of said Act (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 168) have been served, the deposit specified in § 150.13–150.17, has been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws has employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of sickness or injury requiring hospital treatment as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 188.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside contiguous territory, or any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the Canal Zone, shall be required to have inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), before such seaman is allowed to land, and shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such liability upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty or remit the same upon such terms and conditions as he may deem just. Any fine imposed under this section, as amended, shall apply to all vessels subject to the provisions of section 2 of the Act approved June 2, 1924.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart upon the outgoing vessel of the owner on which he arrived in the United States from a foreign port or place outside contiguous territory, or any vessel by the master of which he is required to depart, shall be taken into custody upon the warrant of the Attorney General and detained on board or at such place as the immigration officer in charge may designate until such time as he can be deported. Such seaman shall be deported to the country to which he belongs, or in which he resided prior to coming to the United States, unless the Attorney General, in his discretion, shall direct otherwise. The cost of maintenance while in custody pending deportation shall be borne by the owner of the vessel on which he arrived.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be required to pay the cost of maintenance of such alien seaman in excess of the sum of $3 per day for the period during which he is detained on board or at such place as the immigration officer in charge may designate. Such seaman shall be deported to the country to which he belongs, or in which he resided prior to coming to the United States, unless the Attorney General, in his discretion, shall direct otherwise. The cost of maintenance while in custody pending deportation shall be borne by the owner of the vessel on which he arrived.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 15. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the deportation of such alien from the United States, except on board the vessel on which he arrived, or on board some other vessel or aircraft, or at the expense of the transportation line which brought him to the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the Canal Zone, Puerto Rico, or the Virgin Islands, who fails to deliver to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival a complete and accurate list, or any supplement thereto, of the persons on board such vessel, including the nationality, place of birth, and last foreign residence of each such person, or who fails to deliver such list or supplement at the time of the departure of such vessel from the port of arrival, or who fails to comply with such regulations governing the embarkation and landing of persons on board such vessel while in port as the Attorney General shall prescribe, or who fails to detain on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel when ordered to do so by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, or who fails to deliver to the immigration officer at the port of departure, or at the first port thereafter in the case of the failure of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list of persons on board such vessel, similar in form to the list required to be delivered at the time of arrival, but containing only the names of those persons who were not embarked, or the names of those persons on board at the time of such departure who were not included in the list last theretofore delivered to such immigration officer, in addition to those persons who have been lawfully landed from such vessel, shall pay to the Attorney General a sum not to exceed $300 for each person in respect of whom such failure occurs. The amount of any such fine may be remitted or mitigated by the Attorney General upon such terms as he shall deem just, and any such fine may be recovered by the Attorney General in an action of debt in the district in which the port of arrival is located (the sum so recovered to be paid into the Treasury as miscellaneous receipts), or may be deducted from any moneys which may be due or become due to the master or owner of such vessel, and such vessel may be libeled therefor in the district court of the United States having jurisdiction of the port of arrival. Clearance may be withheld from any vessel failing to deposit the money deducted or sued for, or to file a sufficient bond with sureties approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sureties satisfactory to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in the discretion shall think proper. This section as amended shall apply to all deserting alien crewmen as to the Attorney General in the discretion shall think proper.

(b) Fees shall be paid by the master or owner of any vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport after reemployment by the immigration officer of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or after failure to detain on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel when ordered to do so by the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival, unless such seaman shall have been lawfully granted permission to land temporarily or to depart from the United States.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States is impracticable or inadvisable, he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival duly corrected lists and manifests required by section 12 hereof, respectively, both in the alien's native tongue and in the English language, containing additional information as follows: Full name and whether they were temporarily or permanently in the United States and last permanent residence; whether married or single; calling or occupation; whether able to read or write; nationality, race, and tribe; last country of which citizen or subject; seaport for which destined; final destination if in transit across the United States; whether ever before in the United States, and if so when and where; whether ever in prison or almshouse or supported by charity; whether a polygamist; whether coming by reason of any offer, solicitation, promise, agreement, or prepaid ticket or otherwise, and by whom such person was induced to emigrate; whether having a ticket or passage paid for by himself or by others, and if by others whether by relatives or friends, by a corporation or society, or by the United States or by the government of any foreign country; whether in possession of money, and if so how much, and whether any person or corporation has advanced the money for the passage; whether going to join a relative or friend, and if so what relative or friend, and the name, complete address, and relationship, if any, of such relative or friend; whether ever before deported from the United States or any insular possession thereof, and if so when and the cause thereof; whether in the United States in pursuance of a previous contract or agreement to perform labor, skilled or unskilled, and if so what kind; whether engaged by any agent, company, society, or foreign government to perform labor in the United States, and if so what kind; whether the person intends to perform labor in the United States, and if so what kind, and where, and at what; whether a person of constitutional psychopathic inferiority; whether afflicted with tuberculosis in any form or with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease; whether a person who has been convicted of or admits having committed a felony or other infamous crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude; whether a person previously or subsequently sentenced to imprisonment for an offense; whether a person's ticket is complete to destination; whether the immigrant has been in receipt of relief from any public or private charitable institution or source; whether any of the immigrant's expenses in connection with coming to the United States are paid by the United States Government, State, county, municipality, or private charitable institution or source, and, if so, which one; whether the immigrant intends to become a citizen of the United States; whether the immigrant is connected with any criminal organization or association; whether the immigrant is coming to the United States to follow a specific contract, offer of employment, or solicitation, and if so, a copy of the same shall be appended to the list; whether the immigrant has a ticket, and if so, whether it is a through ticket; whether the immigrant has sufficient money or other means to land in the United States, and if so how much; whether the immigrant is in possession of a return ticket; whether the immigrant has been assisted to come by any society or person, and if so what society or person; whether the immigrant is going to the United States to avoid religious persecution, and if so in what manner; whether the immigrant is an anarchist; whether the immigrant believes in or advocates the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States or of all forms of law; whether the immigrant is a polygamist; whether the immigrant believes in the practice of polygamy; whether the immigrant is coming to the United States to practice polygamy; whether the immigrant is a prostitute; whether the immigrant is coming for an immoral purpose; whether the immigrant is a professional beggar; whether the immigrant is or has been at any time insane; whether the immigrant is an epileptic; whether the immigrant is a person of constitutional psychopathic inferiority; whether the immigrant is deaf, dumb, blind, or otherwise physically defective; whether the immigrant is crippled or otherwise physically defective, and if so, from what cause; whether the immigrant is a professional beggar; whether the immigrant is a vagrant; whether the immigrant is under contract, express or implied, to labor for any person or persons, company, partnership, or corporation in the United States; and such other facts as may be necessary to the proper administration of the immigration laws. Such lists shall be verified by the oath of the master or commanding officer of such vessel, taken before the consul of the country from which the vessel sails, or before the consul of a country adjacent thereto, or before such officer as may be designated by the Secretary of State, and shall be in such form as the Secretary of State may prescribe. The verification shall state that each and all of the statements in the lists are true to the best knowledge and belief of the master or commanding officer, and that he has made a full inquiry into the facts necessary to the preparation of the lists. The master or commanding officer shall also deliver to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival a list certified by the surgeon who shall have inspected the crew, showing the condition of each member of the crew with respect to mental and physical defects or diseases noted by the surgeon. Any master or commanding officer who refuses to deliver to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival the lists required by this section, or who refuses to deliver to such immigration officer a further list of persons on board such vessel, similar in form to the lists required by this section, touching persons who have been taken on board at any foreign port or place since the departure of the vessel from the last port, or who refuses to deliver such lists to the Attorney General when demanded by him, or who refuses to make oath to the same when required, shall pay to the Attorney General a sum not exceeding $1,000 nor less than $100 for each person in respect of whom such lists are not delivered or such oath is refused, and no vessel shall be granted clearance until such sum has been paid or a sufficient bond given to the Attorney General to secure the payment thereof. The Attorney General may remit or mitigate such fine upon such terms as he shall deem just, and any such fine may be recovered by the Attorney General in an action of debt in the district in which the port of arrival is located (the sum so recovered to be paid into the Treasury as miscellaneous receipts), or may be deducted from any moneys which may be due or become due to the master or owner of such vessel, and such vessel may be libeled therefor in the district court of the United States having jurisdiction of the port of arrival. Clearance may be withheld from any vessel failing to deposit the money deducted or sued for, or to file a sufficient bond with sureties approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in the discretion shall think proper.

(b) Fees shall be paid by the master or owner of any vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport after reemployment by the immigration officer of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or after failure to detain on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel when ordered to do so by the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival, unless such seaman shall have been lawfully granted permission to land temporarily or to depart from the United States.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States is impracticable or inadvisable, he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration officer at the port of arrival. Separate lists shall be prepared for cabin passengers and for steerage passengers. The list of members of crew shall not be required on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival. Where an alternate manifest is a "workpaper," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection by immigration officers (Form I-418) shall be prepared on board and shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival. Where an alternate manifest is a "workpaper," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection by immigration officers (Form I-418) shall be prepared on board and shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival.

In order to facilitate inspection of aliens seaman, include names of alleged American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place at the port of arrival shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or shipwreck, until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner). Attorney General to do so, shall pay, to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit or cancel any such fine, or any part thereof, if he is satisfied that it was imposed without fault on the part of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel, and that such vessel has not been granted clearance during the pendency of the proceedings for the collection of such fine. This section, as amended, shall apply to all penalties which shall have accrued under section 2 of the Act of June 2, 1910 (36 Stat. 263; U. S. C., title 8, sec. 142), irrespective of the date when such penalties accrued.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign country outside contest, or that he was detained by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver to the immigration officer at the port of arrival such alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman by reason of any change which may be made in the nationality of the territory to which deportation would be made, or for any other reason, the Attorney General may, upon the recommendation of the immigration officer at the port of arrival, grant such seaman a period of time, not to exceed four months, within which to depart from the United States. Such seaman shall depart to the country designated by the Attorney General, unless the Attorney General, in his discretion, shall extend the time granted for such departure. Any such seaman who fails to depart within the time granted shall be deported in the manner provided by law. Any such seaman who, prior to the expiration of the time granted for his departure, commits any act which would be a ground for deportation under the immigration laws shall be deported as provided by law. (43 Stat. 164, 165; 28 Stat. 218; 8 U. S. C. 161 (a), 161 (c).)

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival like counterpart the manifest of all aliens employed on such vessel, showing the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and absolutely those to be held on board discharged in the port of arrival; or state conspicuously on such manifest that no such aliens are employed on such vessel. Such manifest shall be verified by the oath of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to the effect that it contains a full and true statement of all aliens employed on such vessel at the time of the arrival of such vessel at such port, and that no such alien has been employed on such vessel at any time prior to the departure of such vessel from the foreign port from which she last sailed, to the knowledge of such owner, agent, consignee, or master, except as stated in such manifest. Such manifest shall be prepared in quadruplicate, and the master of such vessel shall deliver the same to the immigration officer at the port of arrival before any such alien shall be landed from such vessel. Such manifest shall be in such form as may be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, and may be changed from time to time by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor. Such manifest shall contain such information as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, as to the sex, marital condition, age, race, last occupation, last permanent residence, final destination, whether in possession of money and how much, whether going to join relatives or friends and if so what relatives or friends and their names and complete addresses, whether ever before in the United States and if so when and where, whether ever in prison or almshouse or supported by charity and if so what and where, whether a polygamist, whether coming by reason of any offer, solicitation, promise, or agreement, expressed or implied, to perform labor in the United States, and such other items of information as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, as to each alien listed. Such manifest shall be signed by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel, and by the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival, and shall be sworn to before the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival. Such manifest shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration officer at the port of arrival at least twenty-four hours before the vessel is ready to depart from the port. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who shall refuse or neglect to deliver such manifest, or who shall refuse or neglect to answer truthfully and fully to the best of his knowledge any question concerning any alien seaman on board such vessel asked by any immigration officer, or who shall refuse to permit any immigration officer to board such vessel for the purpose of inspecting the crew thereof, or who shall refuse to detain any alien seaman on board such vessel when requested so to do by any immigration officer, or who shall refuse to carry any alien seaman on board such vessel to the port of departure, or who shall refuse to pay the cost of maintenance of any alien seaman detained on board such vessel, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each such offense, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, and in addition to such penalty shall be liable to a penalty of $300 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit or cancel any such fine, or any part thereof, if he is satisfied that it was imposed without fault on the part of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel, and that such vessel has not been granted clearance during the pendency of the proceedings for the collection of such fine. This section, as amended, shall apply to all penalties which shall have accrued under section 2 of the Act of June 2, 1910 (36 Stat. 263; U. S. SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the immigrant inspector in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the nationality, last residence (that is, country in which they were respectively born), and intended future residence of each alien, and the compensation paid to each, and such information as may be required by the Attorney General and the Secretary of Labor concerning the right of any alien to enter the United States, under the provisions of this Act, or the reasons for the detention of any such alien for further examination before a decision as to his right to enter is reached, and such other information pertaining to the movements of such aliens as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe; and it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master of any such vessel to deliver to such immigrant inspector such further information relative to such aliens as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. It shall be the duty of the master of any such vessel before the departure of such vessel from any port of the United States to deliver to the immigrant inspector in charge of the port a list containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel who were not employed, previous to the arrival of such vessel at such port, and the nature of the employment in which each such alien is to engage, the amount of money in possession of each such alien, and his destination, and such other information relative to such aliens as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel who refuses to deliver to such immigrant inspector any list required by this section, or who refuses to answer to the best of his knowledge any question relative to any alien employed on such vessel, or who knowingly lands any alien employed on such vessel at any port of the United States from any foreign port or place in violation of this section, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such alien so landed, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, permit the master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel to land any alien employed on such vessel at any port other than the port of arrival, and may cancel any list or portion thereof required by this section to be delivered upon the departure of such vessel from any port other than the port of arrival, upon the production of such evidence as he may deem sufficient that such alien has been regularly admitted to the United States, or is lawfully entitled to enter the United States without production to the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel of a certificate from an immigrant inspector.

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a list or manifest of all persons on board such vessel, whether they are destined to the United States or not, and whether they are passengers or members of the crew, and whether they are citizens of the United States or not, before any such vessel shall be admitted to make a landing in the United States from any foreign port or place. Such list or manifest shall be prepared in the port of departure, or elsewhere, and shall contain information likely to lead to the ascertainment of the admissibility of each person under the immigration laws, including the following: Name in full; age; sex; whether married or single; calling or occupation; whether able to read or write; nationality; last residence; whether in possession of a ticket through to destination; whether the expenses of the journey are paid by himself or by others, and if by others, their relationship, if any, to the alien; whether in possession of $50 in money or not, and if not, whether the deficit is more than $50 or less than $50; whether ever before in the United States, and if so, when and where; whether ever in prison or almshouse or supported by charity; whether a polygamist; whether under a contract or agreement to perform labor in the United States, its Territories, or the District of Columbia; whether going to join a relative or friend, and if so, what relative or friend, his name and complete address; whether ever deported or excluded from admission to the United States, and if so, why; whether coming by reason of any offer, solicitation, promise, agreement, or prepayment of transportation, or otherwise, assisted, encouraged, or solicited to emigrate to the United States by any person, company, or corporation in the United States, and if so, what person, company, or corporation; whether in good health, mental and physical; whether deformed or crippled, and if so, how; height; complexion; color of hair and eyes; and marks of identification. The said list or manifest shall also state the name, birthplace, and last residence of every alien who may be admitted to the United States on an immigration visa, and the date and place where such visa was granted. The said list or manifest shall also state the name and address of the nearest relative or friend in the country whence he came who intends to join him in the United States, and the name and complete address of the relative or friend in the United States whom the alien intends to join. The said list or manifest shall also state whether the alien has been in prison or in a poorhouse; whether he has been supported by charity; whether he is a polygamist; whether he is an anarchist; whether he believes in or advocates the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States or of all forms of law; whether he is a member of or affiliated with any organization entertaining or teaching such disbelief in or opposition to organized government, or which advocates or teaches the duty, necessity, or propriety of the unlawful assaulting or killing of any officer or officers, either of specific individuals or of officers generally, of the Government of the United States or of any other organized government, because of his or their official character; whether he advocates or is connected with the authorship, publication, circulation, distribution, exhibition, or sale of printed or published matter of any character whatsoever taking such views or teaching such doctrines; whether he is coming to the United States to perform labor, and if so, what kind of labor; whether he has a ticket to his final destination; whether he has been deported from the United States, and if so, how many times; whether he intends to become a citizen of the United States; whether he is a person of constitutional psychopathic inferiority; whether he is afflicted with tuberculosis in any form or with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease; whether he is a person who has been convicted of or admits having committed a felony or other crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude; and whether he is coming to the United States for an immoral purpose; and such other facts as may be deemed necessary by the Secretary of Labor for the proper administration of the immigration laws of the United States. The said list or manifest shall also state whether the alien has been in the United States before, and if so, when, how long he remained, and what occupation he followed while here; whether he has been in the military or naval service of any country, and if so, which country, and whether he is still liable for service in such country; whether he has resided in or visited any country, and if so, which country, for what purpose, and for how long; and whether he has a trade or profession, and if so, what trade or profession. The said list or manifest shall also state the nationality of the alien, the race to which he belongs, the last country from which he came, the port at which he intends to land in the United States, the final destination of the alien if not intending to remain in the United States, and whether he has a ticket to such destination. The said list or manifest shall also state whether the alien is in possession of a valid passport, and the number, place, and date of issue thereof. (43 Stat. 154; 8 U. S. C. 136 (a).)

SEC. 39. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the foreign contiguous territory of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 154; 8 U. S. C. 136 (a).)

SEC. 40. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the foreign contiguous territory of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 154; 8 U. S. C. 136 (a).)

SEC. 41. No alien seaman shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of an emergency rendering his detention on board dangerous to the safety of the vessel or those on board, or unless specifically certified by the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival to the master of the vessel on which he arrived as a deserter from a vessel in port, or as destined to join a vessel about to depart, and upon the departure of such vessel shall cause such alien to be deported on board thereof or on board some other vessel owned by the same interests, or, if that be impracticable, on board some vessel sailing to the country to which such alien belongs, or to the country in which the master shall have shipped such alien, or to the country from which such alien last entered the United States, or to such other country as may be designated by such alien, and the cost of such deportation shall be paid by the master of the vessel on which such alien arrived in the United States. Any master who shall refuse or fail to comply with the requirements of this section shall pay a penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. Clearance may be refused any vessel in the case of which a penalty has been incurred and remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such penalty, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $500 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. Upon such remission the amount remitted shall be covered into the Treasury as miscellaneous receipts. (43 Stat. 154; 8 U. S. C. 136 (b).)

SEC. 42. (a) Any alien seaman who shall desert while his vessel is in any port of the United States shall be deported as provided in section 19 of this Act upon the certification by the master of the vessel from which he deserted to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival that such alien seaman has deserted, and the date of such desertion, if known, and the vessel, if any, on board of which such alien seaman was employed at the time of desertion. Such certification shall be conclusive of the facts therein stated as to the desertion by such alien seaman and the date thereof, if known, and the vessel on board of which such alien seaman was employed at the time of desertion, in the absence of evidence sufficient to overcome the same. Such certification shall be prima facie evidence of the truth of the matters therein stated as to the cause and circumstances of such desertion.

(b) Proof shall be taken before the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, or at such other port as the Secretary of Labor may designate, of the cause and circumstances of the desertion of any alien seaman who shall desert while his vessel is in any port of the United States, and the immigrant inspector shall report his findings to the Secretary of Labor, who shall, if he finds that the desertion was with reasonable cause, refund to such alien seaman the head tax collected from the master of the vessel on account of such alien seaman's coming to the United States, and such alien seaman shall not be deported as a deserter. Such refund shall be made out of the appropriation for the enforcement of the immigration laws.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that the deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be refused clearance until such expense is paid or adequately guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General. (43 Stat. 154–155; 22 Stat. 814; 8 U. S. C. 137 (a), (b), (c).)

SEC. 15. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside foreign contiguous territory, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of an emergency rendering his detention on board dangerous to the safety of the vessel or those on board, or unless specifically certified by the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival to the master of the vessel on which he arrived as a deserter from a vessel in port, or as destined to join a vessel about to depart, and upon the departure of such vessel shall cause such alien to be deported on board thereof or on board some other vessel owned by the same interests, or, if that be impracticable, on board some vessel sailing to the country to which such alien belongs, or to the country in which the master shall have shipped such alien, or to the country from which such alien last entered the United States, or to such other country as may be designated by such alien, and the cost of such deportation shall be paid by the master of the vessel on which such alien arrived in the United States. Any master who shall refuse or fail to comply with the requirements of this section shall pay a penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. Upon such remission the amount remitted shall be covered into the Treasury as miscellaneous receipts. (43 Stat. 154; 8 U. S. C. 137 (a).)

SEC. 16. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the foreign contiguous territory of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 154; 8 U. S. C. 137 (b).)

SEC. 17. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the foreign contiguous territory of such alien from the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of an emergency rendering his detention on board dangerous to the safety of the vessel or those on board, or unless specifically certified by the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival to the master of the vessel on which he arrived as a deserter from a vessel in port, or as destined to join a vessel about to depart, and upon the departure of such vessel shall cause such alien to be deported on board thereof or on board some other vessel owned by the same interests, or, if that be impracticable, on board some vessel sailing to the country to which such alien belongs, or to the country in which the master shall have shipped such alien, or to the country from which such alien last entered the United States, or to such other country as may be designated by such alien, and the cost of such deportation shall be paid by the master of the vessel on which such alien arrived in the United States. Any master who shall refuse or fail to comply with the requirements of this section shall pay a penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. Upon such remission the amount remitted shall be covered into the Treasury as miscellaneous receipts. (43 Stat. 154; 8 U. S. C. 137 (c).)

SEC. 150.13. Limit of alien employees. When clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside foreign contiguous territory, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of an emergency rendering his detention on board dangerous to the safety of the vessel or those on board, or unless specifically certified by the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival to the master of the vessel on which he arrived as a deserter from a vessel in port, or as destined to join a vessel about to depart, and upon the departure of such vessel shall cause such alien to be deported on board thereof or on board some other vessel owned by the same interests, or, if that be impracticable, on board some vessel sailing to the country to which such alien belongs, or to the country in which the master shall have shipped such alien, or to the country from which such alien last entered the United States, or to such other country as may be designated by such alien, and the cost of such deportation shall be paid by the master of the vessel on which such alien arrived in the United States. Any master who shall refuse or fail to comply with the requirements of this section shall pay a penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. Upon such remission the amount remitted shall be covered into the Treasury as miscellaneous receipts. (43 Stat. 154; 8 U. S. C. 137 (c).)

Clearance shall not be granted any vessel with respect to which the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer thereof has been notified by the Commissioner General of Immigration that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer has failed to deport any alien seaman who has been ordered deported, unless security has been given to the satisfaction of the Commissioner General of Immigration that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer will comply with the order of deportation. (43 Stat. 154; 8 U. S. C. 137 (d).) Fees have been transmitted, but not fines unless notice of intention to the Commissioner General of Immigration under section 10 of the Act of February 5, 1917 (39 Stat. 886; 8 U. S. C. 146). Fines have been transmitted, but not fines unless notice of penalty has been served, the deposit specified in §§ 150.13–150.17, has been made.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The use of symbols or abbreviations other than those appearing on such forms will not be permitted, but shall be deleted by the master or the person in charge of the vessel, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such deletions have been made. In order to facilitate inspection, each alien shall be assigned a number in a consecutive series, and the number assigned to each alien should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of aliens in transit through the United States, the master of the vessel shall furnish the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival three additional copies of such manifest, which shall show the name of the vessel, the name and number of each alien in transit, the port of arrival, the port of departure, and the destination of each alien. The master of any vessel bringing aliens to the United States from any foreign port shall furnish to the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a complete list of all aliens employed on such vessel, which list shall show the name, age, sex, nationality, last permanent residence, calling, and final destination of each alien employed. Such list shall be delivered to the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival before any such alien shall be allowed to land from such vessel, and any alien employed on such vessel who fails to appear on the date and at the time and place designated by the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival for examination shall be reported to the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, Washington, District of Columbia, and a warrant may be issued for his apprehension and deportation.

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel to deliver to the immigrant inspector in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens who shall be on board such vessel, stating the nationality, race, and last permanent residence of each such alien, whether they have immigrant visas or not, and such other information as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, which lists shall be delivered before the vessel shall be granted clearance papers, and the immigrant inspector shall indorse upon the list the name of each alien who is to be admitted, and shall report to the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel the name of each alien who is not to be admitted and who is to be detained on board or at quarantine. Such list shall be prepared in such form and contain such other information concerning each alien as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel who shall refuse or neglect to deliver such list, or deliver an incorrect or imperfect list, or refuse to allow any immigrant inspector to come on board such vessel for the purpose of inspecting the passengers and crew thereof, or refuse to detain any alien on board such vessel when required so to do by any such inspector, or refuse to allow any such alien to be taken before the proper immigrant inspector at the time and place designated by him, or refuse to detain any such alien on board such vessel after notice that the Commissioner of Immigration has decided that such alien is not to be admitted, or refuse to deliver lists, or any other information in relation to such aliens required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, or shall violate any of the provisions of this Act relating to the carriage of aliens who are not to be admitted to the United States, or any rule, regulation, or order made by the Commissioner General of Immigration not inconsistent with this Act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each and every such violation, or by imprisonment for a period not exceeding one year, or both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court, and in the event such fine is imposed, may in addition thereto be punished by forfeiture of not more than $300 for each alien in respect to whom any such violation occurs. Until such fine is paid or imprisonment suffered, such vessel shall not be granted clearance except in the discretion of the Secretary of the Treasury. Jurisdiction of such offenses shall be the same as that provided for the trial of misdemeanors. The Commissioner General of Immigration may, in his discretion, refund fines imposed and collected under the provisions of this section when in his opinion the same ought not to have been imposed or collected.

SEC. 15015. Duty of alien employees; navy clearance of vessel denied.—Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the head

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside foreign contiguous territory, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or quarantine as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside contiguous territory, shall deliver to the immigrant inspector in charge of the port of arrival a complete list of the persons on board such vessel, stating the full name, last permanent residence, nationality, and final destination of each alien (whether in transit through the United States or destined thereto), and such other information concerning each alien as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, and shall indorse upon the list the name of each alien who is to be admitted, and report to the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel the name of each alien who is not to be admitted and who is to be detained on board or at quarantine. Such list shall be prepared in such form and contain such other information concerning each alien as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, which lists shall be delivered before the vessel shall be granted clearance papers, and the immigrant inspector

The list described below shall be printed on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector at the port of arrival not less than 24 hours before the vessel is due to arrive. The list of aliens on board vessels arriving at ports other than the first port of arrival must show the names of all aliens destined to such ports.

When an alien seaman is a "continuous" or "through" passenger, the fact should be noted on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, including those to be landed temporarily, the names of such seamen should be listed consecutively on the manifest.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States (except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness which arises subsequent to such alien's arrival in the United States) shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily to the extent and under such conditions as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the contiguous territory of Canada, Newfoundland, Mexico, Cuba, Haiti, Santo Domingo, the Canal Zone, or the islands adjacent thereto, shall be responsible for the proper maintenance while in the United States of each alien seaman employed on board such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival shall have granted such seaman (whether such alien seaman continues in the employ of such vessel or is discharged) a permit to land temporarily or shall have otherwise given him a landing certificate, or shall have granted him a visa as an immigrant, a nonimmigrant visitor, or a temporary visitor, and shall have issued to him a certificate of identification. Such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master shall furnish to such alien seaman a valid passport containing a photograph of such alien seaman, and shall furnish to such alien seaman a valid certificate of identity containing a photograph of such alien seaman, issued by the Secretary of Labor, or by such other person as he may designate for the purpose, and shall furnish to such alien seaman such other documents as may be required by the immigration officer at the port of arrival. Such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any person in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel bringing such person to the United States, and of the transportation company, whether operating on such vessel, railroad, railway car, steamship, or otherwise, to which such person may be transferred, to report the name, nationality, last residence, and destination of such person, whether he has in his possession a ticket through to his destination, and whether any person has paid for such ticket, or by whom it was paid, and whether any person has paid the head tax for such person, and if not, why not, and whether such person has been in the United States before, and if so, when and where, and whether such person has been in custody or confinement in any public institution, and if so, of what kind and for how long, and whether such person is coming in pursuance of a previously existing contract, and if so, a true copy thereof shall be produced, and whether such person has been deported, and if so, when and why, and whether such person intends to return to his former home, and whether such person has any trade, profession, or occupation, and if so, what the same is, and whether such person is a polygamist, and whether such person is an anarchist, or is opposed to organized government, or is a member of or affiliated with any organization entertaining or teaching such opposition, or advocating or teaching the duty, necessity, or propriety of the unlawful assaulting or killing of any officer or officers, either of specific individuals or of officers generally, of the Government of the United States or of any other organized government, because of his or their official character, or advocating or teaching the unlawful destruction of property, and all such facts as may be ascertained by reasonable examination of such person, concerning his or her admissibility to the United States, which report shall be prepared by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of such vessel or transportation company in such form and detail as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, and any master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of such vessel or transportation company who refuses to report, or who reports falsely or fraudulently, or who fails to comply with such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe concerning the admission of aliens to the United States, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, for each and every such offense; and the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of such vessel or transportation company shall, in addition to such punishment, be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each and every alien not duly reported, or for each and every false statement or omission in reference to any such alien, which penalty may be sued for and recovered by the United States of America in a civil action; and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty, or while the same remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. The section as amended shall apply to all proceedings pending unterminated on June 5, 1940.

(d) Every alien seaman who shall not depart from the United States in the manner as the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or any alien seaman who shall not depart from the United States in the manner as a passenger, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to depart after treatment by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(e) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue and shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness requiring his removal for hospital treatment, or for burial, or until the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of such vessel or transportation company has furnished a bond in such sum, not exceeding $1,000, and with such sureties as may be required by the Attorney General, conditioned that such seaman will depart from the United States on board the vessel on which he arrived or some other vessel, or by some other means within such period as may be allowed by the Attorney General, and will comply with all the requirements of the immigration laws with respect to such seaman. Such seaman shall be detained on board the vessel on which he arrived or on board such other vessel as the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge may designate, pending the granting of such permission to land, and shall depart on the vessel or vessels designated by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge, unless the Attorney General shall otherwise direct. Any such seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported in the manner provided by section 19 of this Act (43 Stat. 166; 8 U. S. C. 168).

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or engaged on board any such vessel departing from the United States for any place outside thereof, who shall desert while in port, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, or distress, until the master, owner, consignee, or agent of such vessel furnishes to the immigration officer in charge at the port of landing a bond in the penal sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman, conditioned to indemnify the United States against any expense which may be incurred in the maintenance, medical treatment, and burial in case of death of such alien seaman, and in the return of such alien seaman to the country whence he came, or to the country in which he resided at the time of his entry into the United States, if required so to be done. Such bond shall be in addition to the bond required by section 4 of this Act. (38 Stat. 888; U. S. C., Supp. IV, title 8, sec. 1004.)

SEC. 50. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, who fails to deliver on board any vessel from which a seaman has deserted, or to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival when such vessel has no surgeon, any sick or injured seaman employed on such vessel, until the immigration officer at the port of landing has had an opportunity to visit such seaman, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which such port of arrival is located the sum of $100 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit such fine, or any part thereof, if he is satisfied that the vessel has been operated in good faith and without negligence in connection with the desertion of such seaman, and that remission is not contrary to public interest. (38 Stat. 1168; U. S. C., Supp. IV, title 8, sec. 1001.)

(b) Every such alien seaman who shall depart from the United States or from any place under the jurisdiction thereof, or who shall be found in the United States, shall be presumed to have deserted unless he establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his failure to depart was due to illness or other cause beyond his control, or that he was removed by the owner, master, or agent of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, or that he was prevented from departing by any public enemy. Any such alien seaman who departs from the United States or from any place under the jurisdiction thereof, or who is found in the United States, shall be taken into custody and returned to the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, or to any vessel on which he can be placed for return to the country whence he came, or to the country in which he resided at the time of his entry into the United States, at the option of the Secretary of Labor. Any such alien seaman who shall refuse to return to the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, or to any vessel on which he can be placed for return to the country whence he came, or to the country in which he resided at the time of his entry into the United States, shall be deported in the manner provided in section 19 of this Act. (38 Stat. 1168; U. S. C., Supp. IV, title 8, sec. 1001.)

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment Guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 3. That from and after the expiration of one year from the passage hereof no person unless exempted by the provisions of this section or the next succeeding section shall be admitted into the United States who can not read the English language or who has not reasonably sufficient knowledge of the English language to read the following: Provided, That any admissible immigrant who is otherwise qualified to enter the United States and who is over fifty years of age may be admitted without regard to his ability to read: Provided further, That any admissible immigrant who is otherwise qualified to enter the United States and who is physically incapable of reading may be admitted without regard to his ability to read: Provided further, That nothing contained in this section shall apply to any person who is duly admitted into the United States by the Secretary of Labor or by any officer to whom he may delegate such duty within three years from the passage of this Act, who shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he was actually domiciled in the United States at the time of the passage of this Act, who was prevented by the outbreak of the present European War from sailing for the United States within the period of four months from the date of the passage of this Act, who shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he is returning to the United States within one year from the date of his departure therefrom, and who is otherwise admissible under the immigration laws in force at the time of his return: Provided, That nothing contained in this section shall exempt from the operation thereof any person who is a member of the following classes: Persons who have been convicted of or admit having committed a felony or other crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, except persons who have committed only one misdemeanor of which the maximum punishment prescribed by the statute does not exceed imprisonment for one year and a fine of not more than $200, persons who have been deported under any of the provisions of this Act, persons who have sought admission to the United States within two years of the date of the passage of this Act and have been excluded therefrom, persons who are coming to the United States in pursuance of a prearranged labor contract, except as otherwise provided in this Act, persons who are ineligible to citizenship, and members of the following races: All males over sixteen and under sixty years of age, physically capable of reading, who can not read the English language or some other language or dialect, including Hebrew or Yiddish: Provided, That any admissible immigrant who is otherwise qualified to enter the United States and who is the father or grandfather of a person who is a citizen of the United States, or who has a wife lawfully residing in the United States, may be admitted without regard to his ability to read: Provided further, That any admissible immigrant who is otherwise qualified to enter the United States and who is coming to the United States to join a father, grandfather, husband, wife, mother, grandmother, or unmarried child over sixteen years of age, who is a citizen of the United States, or who has a lawful permanent residence in the United States, and who has sufficient means to support such relative or relatives, may be admitted without regard to his ability to read: Provided further, That nothing contained in this section shall apply to any person who is duly admitted into the United States by the Secretary of Labor or by any officer to whom he may delegate such duty within four months from the passage of this Act, who shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he was actually domiciled in the United States at the time of the passage of this Act, who was prevented by the outbreak of the present European War from sailing for the United States within the period of four months from the date of the passage of this Act, who shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he is returning to the United States within one year from the date of his departure therefrom, and who is otherwise admissible under the immigration laws in force at the time of his return: Provided, That nothing contained in this section shall exempt from the operation thereof any person who is a member of the following classes: Persons who have been convicted of or admit having committed a felony or other crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, except persons who have committed only one misdemeanor of which the maximum punishment prescribed by the statute does not exceed imprisonment for one year and a fine of not more than $200, persons who have been deported under any of the provisions of this Act, persons who have sought admission to the United States within two years of the date of the passage of this Act and have been excluded therefrom, persons who are coming to the United States in pursuance of a prearranged labor contract, except as otherwise provided in this Act, persons who are ineligible to citizenship, and members of the following races: All males over sixteen and under sixty years of age, physically capable of reading, who can not read the English language or some other language or dialect, including Hebrew or Yiddish: Provided further

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list questioned below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector posting the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of crewmen of alien seamen must be delivered to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of crewmen of alien seamen must include names of alternate American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That alien arrivals of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, owner, consignee, or agent thereof to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival a list or manifest of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the business for which each alien employed on such vessel was shipped or employed, and in what capacity each alien is to be employed during the time such vessel remains in port, and such other information relative thereto as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, which list or manifest shall be certified to by the master of such vessel, and by the surgeon, if there be one, concerning the sanitary condition of the vessel, the health of the crew, and the number of passengers carried thereon, and such other information relative thereto as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, which certificate shall be sworn to before the consul-general, consul, vice consul, commercial agent, or consular agent of the United States at the port or place where such vessel may depart from a foreign port or place, and shall be produced by the master of such vessel upon his arrival at a port of the United States and delivered to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, together with such other information relative to the persons on board such vessel as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, and before the vessel shall be admitted to entry at the port of arrival the master shall deliver to the immigrant inspector at such port a list certified to in the manner above provided of all aliens employed on such vessel who are reported sick or injured on board, specifying the nature of the sickness or injury complained of in each case, and the length of time each person has been sick or injured on board such vessel prior to the date of arrival at such port. Any master of a vessel who knowingly fails to deliver such list or manifest, or who refuses to subscribe to the oath required in connection therewith, or who fails to report, or who conceals, or attempts to conceal, any alien on board his vessel, or who refuses to allow any immigrant inspector to go on board such vessel and examine the same and the passengers and crew thereof, or who refuses to detain any alien on board his vessel when ordered by the Commissioner General of Immigration or any immigrant inspector, or who refuses or fails to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the time of the departure of any such vessel a full and complete list of all the persons on board such vessel, or who refuses to answer truthfully any question propounded to him by the Commissioner General of Immigration or any immigrant inspector in relation to any matter connected with the administration and enforcement of the immigration laws of the United States, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both, for each offense. The master of any vessel who fails to detain any alien on board thereof when ordered so to do by the Commissioner General of Immigration or any immigrant inspector, or who lands or permits to land any alien at any port or place in the United States from such vessel, except in case of accident, or in case of the actual necessity for the relief of the sick or injured, or for the saving of life on such vessel, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both, for each alien so landed or permitted to land. Any person who shall knowingly bring into the United States any alien not duly certified to by the examining surgeon at the last port of departure prior to the departure of the vessel upon the vessel's arrival at the port into the United States, or who shall knowingly bring into the United States any alien who has been refused a certificate by the examining surgeon at the last port of departure prior to the departure of the vessel upon the vessel's arrival at the port into the United States, unless such alien has been specially admitted by the Commissioner General of Immigration or his appointed inspector in charge at the port of arrival, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both, for each such alien so brought. The penalties provided in this section shall not be remitted or discharged except upon the certificate of the Commissioner General of Immigration that in his opinion the ends of justice and the interests of the United States require remission, discharge, or mitigation of the penalties in the particular case.

SEC. 15. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof to which he belongs on board the vessel on which he arrived, or on board any other vessel sailing to the port or district in which the vessel on which he arrived is entered, or to any port or district designated by the Commissioner General of Immigration, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of shipwreck, or other casualty, or distress, or for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 50. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof to which he belongs on board the vessel on which he arrived, or on board any other vessel sailing to the port or district in which the vessel on which he arrived is entered, or to any port or district designated by the Commissioner General of Immigration, shall be required to detain such seaman on board his vessel after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner).

Affidavit (general to do so) shall be filed by the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located [as the case may be] with the immigration officer at the port of arrival for inspected seamen on board such vessel, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit such fine in whole or in part as to him may seem just. An appeal shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit such fine in whole or in part as to him may seem just. An appeal shall be granted from the decision of the Attorney General to the district court of the United States in which the port of arrival is located: and no such vessel shall be granted clearance while any such fine is unpaid, or while it remains subject to such appeal. Such fine may be remitted or refunded. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the fine imposed by section 36 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 886; 8 U. S. C. 171), have been transmitted, and not then unless notice of intention to file application for remission or refund of such fine, and in the event such fine is imposed, while it remains unpaid, not until such fine be remitted or refunded. Clearance shall not be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. (39 Stat. 886, 890; 8 U. S. C. 171.)

SEC. 150.15. Duty of alien crewmen: when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the master has complied with the requirements of section 30 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 886; 8 U. S. C. 171), where such requirements have been transferred to the administrative authorities by said section or to some inspector by section 23 of said Act (39 Stat. 886; 8 U. S. C. 166). Clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. (39 Stat. 886, 890; 8 U. S. C. 171.)

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the contiguous territory of Canada, Newfoundland, Mexico, Cuba, Puerto Rico, the Canal Zone, the Virgin Islands, or the Republic of Panama, for the purpose of performing labor or service as a seaman, except temporarily and solely in case of actual emergency to the vessel, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except for such time as may be necessary to enable the vessel to depart from a port of the United States, and pending such departure he shall be detained on board or at such place as may be designated by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival. Pending the final determination of any case arising hereunder, the decision of the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival shall be subject to review by the Secretary of Labor upon such terms and conditions as he may prescribe. Such review may be had upon application in writing by the alien or by the master or agent of the vessel on which the alien arrived or by the consul general, consul, or commercial agent of the country to which the alien belongs, if such application is filed with the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival within five days after the decision sought to be reviewed. Pending such review the decision of the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival shall be final as to the right of the alien to land, but shall not be final as to the right of the alien to enter the United States if he subsequently shall be found to belong to any of the classes excluded by section 3 of this Act. Such review shall be based upon the evidence submitted to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and such additional evidence as may be secured by the Secretary of Labor. Nothing contained in this section shall be construed to require the detention of any alien seaman who has been lawfully admitted to the United States and who has proceeded to a port of the United States for the purpose of shipping on board a vessel for the purpose of departing from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 188.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing in the United States from any place outside contiguous territory who fails to detain on board such alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to detain on board such alien seaman after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer so to do, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of any question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty or cancel the same in respect of whom such failure occurs upon such terms as the Attorney General in the discretion shall think proper. $500 for each seaman

This section as amended shall apply to all boarding alien seamen subsequent to June 2, 1940

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside contiguous territory, or that he was refused by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to detain or deport alien seaman as required by the immigration officer at the port of arrival.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seamen on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel may not be cleared clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States under the provisions of section 36 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 171), upon being informed, and not upon mere notice of illegality to the administrative officers charged by said section 36 of said Act (39 Stat. 886; 8 U. S. C. 158) primarily with the duty of deporting aliens, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical attention from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 168.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to detain on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to detain such seaman on board after inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Food, fuel, or other supplies shall not be furnished to any vessel as a general ship's store, nor shall any seaman be discharged from any vessel in the United States from any place outside thereof, or allowed to depart therefrom, except in accordance with such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the administration of this section, and no vessel shall be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which employed would cause undue hardship or the return of such seaman to such country would be unreasonable, he may cause such alien to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or adjacent islands, or transiting to such territory as a bona fide member of the crew of such vessel, may be permitted to land in the United States except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or distress, certified by the master of the vessel, and in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor, under such rules and regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the medical examination of such alien and the certification of the necessity for his temporary landing. Such seaman may be required to furnish a bond in such sum and with such sureties as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, conditioned upon the departure of such alien with the vessel on which he arrived or upon another vessel within such time as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe. Such seaman may be required to deposit with the immigration officer at the port of arrival a sum sufficient to cover the cost of his maintenance while in the United States pending the departure of the vessel on which he arrived or upon another vessel, and such deposit shall constitute a lien upon such vessel in favor of the United States for the payment of such cost of maintenance. Such seaman may be required to deposit with the immigration officer at the port of arrival a sum sufficient to cover the cost of his passage to the port of his last foreign embarkation, or to the port of his embarkation for the United States, or to any other port, in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor, and such deposit shall constitute a lien upon such vessel in favor of the United States for the payment of such cost of passage. Such seaman may be required to furnish a bond in such sum and with such sureties as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, conditioned upon the departure of such seaman from the United States within such time as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe. Such seaman may be required to deposit with the immigration officer at the port of arrival a sum sufficient to cover such cost of passage

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of shipwreck or other casualty, or by reason of the sickness or injury of such seaman necessitating his removal from such vessel, or for such other cause as may be approved by the Secretary of Labor, and then only under such conditions as he may prescribe for the protection of the United States against the becoming of such seaman a public charge, and for the safeguarding of his personal effects during his detention, and for his return upon the vessel or other vessel sailing to the country whence he came, or to the country to which he belongs or in which he resided at the time of his last departure for the United States, or to such other country as may be designated by him and which may be willing to receive him: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may require such seaman to be kept under guard during his detention on board or on shore, and may require the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel on which such seaman arrived to take him back to the country to which such vessel belongs or to pay the cost of his maintenance while detained on shore and of his return to such country. Any seaman who refuses to return on board the vessel on which he arrived, or to proceed on board any vessel which has been designated for his return to the country to which he belongs or in which he resided at the time of his last departure for the United States, shall forfeit any claim or right to the payment of any wages due him. Any seaman who deserts from any vessel in the United States after she has cleared from a port of the United States shall be liable to the penalties provided by section 4578 of the Revised Statutes (U. S. C., 1934 ed., title 46, sec. 701). (43 Stat. 164, 165; 8 U. S. C. 203 (a), 203 (c).)

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be printed on blank forms supplied by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes in such manifest, "Master to retain." A notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of aliens entering the United States on a through ticket, the Alien Immigration Law requires that the master of a vessel shall furnish to the immigration officer at the port of arrival, before the landing of any such aliens, a list containing the names of all such aliens, together with the information likely to be required as to each alien by the immigration officer at the time of inspection. Such list must be delivered by the master of the vessel to the immigration officer at the port of arrival before the landing of any such aliens, and a failure to deliver such list will subject the master to the penalty provided by section 34 of the act of February 20, 1907 (34 Stat. 904; U. S. C., title 8, sec. 151).

I, ... John R. Stevens, Master ..... of the American oil tanker F. E. Lovejoy ..... do declare that the foregoing is a full and true list of all the crew, principle in said vessel from and port or place shipped for January service. I further instruct the copy of section 36 of the Act of February 20, 1907, extract from Title 8, Copy of Federal Regulations, and that I have complied with the requirements of said section 36 and said regulations. Last, within thirty days, port of destination, I will deliver to the immigration officer at the port of arrival a list containing the names of all persons employed on board the vessel who have been discharged or left the vessel during the period intervening between the date of arrival at the port of arrival and the date of departure from the port of destination, and the cause of the absence of each person from the vessel.

Sworn to before me this fourth day of October, 1951.

Immigrant Inspector.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 16. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or quarantine requirements, until a certificate has been issued by the Secretary of Labor or by such immigration officer as the Secretary of Labor may designate, stating that in his opinion the landing of such alien will not be inimical to the welfare, economic or national, of the United States. Such certificate may be revoked at any time and the alien ordered deported in the manner provided by law. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of any vessel bringing to the United States any alien seaman employed on such vessel who has not been certified as provided in this section, or who has been certified and such certification revoked, shall pay a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien seaman so employed, and such alien seaman shall be deported in the manner provided by law. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of any vessel bringing to the United States any alien seaman employed on such vessel who fails to deport such alien seaman when required so to do, shall pay a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien seaman so employed, and such alien seaman shall be deported in the manner provided by law. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of any vessel bringing to the United States any alien seaman employed on such vessel who fails to report the illness or injury of any such alien seaman, or who fails to deliver to the immigration officer at the port of arrival a certificate from a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service or a medical officer of the service of the country to which the vessel belongs, or in the absence of such officers from a reputable physician, stating that in his opinion such alien seaman is not suffering from any contagious disease, a statement of the sanitary conditions existing on board the vessel while such alien seaman was employed thereon, and the name and address of each alien seaman employed on board who has been left behind, shall pay a penalty of $500 for each such alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers or a permit to depart from a port of the United States while any penalty imposed by this section remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of a claim for remission or mitigation of such penalty upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such penalty, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit such penalty or any part thereof upon such terms as he may deem proper and consistent with the public interest and with the provisions of existing treaties between the United States and foreign countries. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of remission or mitigation of such penalty, or while any such alien seaman employed thereon who is required by this section to be detained is detained on board or otherwise by reason of the failure to comply with any of the requirements of this section. Such penalty shall be a lien upon the vessel, which may be enforced by libel in rem in the district court of the United States for the district in which the vessel may be found. The word "vessel" as used in this section shall be construed to include all types of water craft, aircraft, and amphibious contrivances used in navigation, irrespective of whether propelled by machinery, sail, or otherwise.

(As amended by act June 5, 1936, c. 546, 49 Stat. 1482; 8 U. S. C. 201.)

SEC. 16 (a). The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or quarantine requirements, until a certificate has been issued by the Secretary of Labor or by such immigration officer as the Secretary of Labor may designate, stating that in his opinion the landing of such alien will not be inimical to the welfare, economic or national, of the United States. Such certificate may be revoked at any time and the alien ordered deported in the manner provided by law. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States who fails to deport on board such vessel any alien seaman employed on such vessel who has been certified as provided in this section, or who has been certified and such certification revoked, shall pay a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien seaman so employed, and such alien seaman shall be deported in the manner provided by law. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of any vessel bringing to the United States any alien seaman employed on such vessel who fails to report the illness or injury of any such alien seaman, or who fails to deliver to the immigration officer at the port of arrival a certificate from a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service or a medical officer of the service of the country to which the vessel belongs, or in the absence of such officers from a reputable physician, stating that in his opinion such alien seaman is not suffering from any contagious disease, a statement of the sanitary conditions existing on board the vessel while such alien seaman was employed thereon, and the name and address of each alien seaman employed on board who has been left behind, shall pay a penalty of $500 for each such alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers or a permit to depart from a port of the United States while any penalty imposed by this section remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of a claim for remission or mitigation of such penalty upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such penalty, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit such penalty or any part thereof upon such terms as he may deem proper and consistent with the public interest and with the provisions of existing treaties between the United States and foreign countries. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of remission or mitigation of such penalty, or while any such alien seaman employed thereon who is required by this section to be detained is detained on board or otherwise by reason of the failure to comply with any of the requirements of this section. Such penalty shall be a lien upon the vessel, which may be enforced by libel in rem in the district court of the United States for the district in which the vessel may be found. The word "vessel" as used in this section shall be construed to include all types of water craft, aircraft, and amphibious contrivances used in navigation, irrespective of whether propelled by machinery, sail, or otherwise.

(As amended by act June 5, 1936, c. 546, 49 Stat. 1482; 8 U. S. C. 201.)

SEC. 16 (b). The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, or if there be no inspector at the port, to the collector of customs thereof, a manifest containing such information as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, and such manifest shall be prepared in the form and manner and contain such information as the Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe. Such manifest shall be verified by the oath of the master, or purser, or surgeon, or person in charge of the vessel, and by the oath of each alien in relation to whom information is required, before the immigration officer at the port of arrival, or before a consular officer of the United States at the port of departure. Such manifest shall be prepared and verified at the time of the departure of the vessel from the last port outside the United States, except that additions may be made to the manifest with respect to persons coming on board at intermediate ports, and such additions shall be verified when the vessel arrives at the port of arrival. Such manifest shall be delivered to the immigration officer at the port of arrival before the vessel is granted clearance papers, and such officer may require the master, purser, surgeon, or person in charge of the vessel to appear before him and answer, under oath, such questions touching the information required to be contained in the manifest as may be deemed necessary. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of any vessel who shall refuse or fail to deliver such manifest, or who shall refuse or fail to appear before the immigration officer and answer questions under oath, or who shall refuse or fail to detain on board the vessel any alien seaman who is required by the immigration officer to be detained, or who shall refuse or fail to deport any alien seaman when required so to do, shall pay a penalty of $10 for each alien concerning whom such refusal or failure occurs: Provided, That clearance may be granted to any vessel prior to the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty, or while it remains pending, upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit such penalty or any part thereof upon such terms as he may deem proper and consistent with the public interest and with the provisions of existing treaties between the United States and foreign countries. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of remission or mitigation of such penalty, or while any such alien seaman employed thereon who is required by this section to be detained is detained on board or otherwise by reason of the failure to comply with any of the requirements of this section. Such penalty shall be a lien upon the vessel, which may be enforced by libel in rem in the district court of the United States for the district in which the vessel may be found. The word "vessel" as used in this section shall be construed to include all types of water craft, aircraft, and amphibious contrivances used in navigation, irrespective of whether propelled by machinery, sail, or otherwise.

(As amended by act June 5, 1936, c. 546, 49 Stat. 1482; 8 U. S. C. 201.)

SEC. 15. Duties of alien employees: when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the master thereof has complied with the requirements of section 34 of the immigration act of 1917 (39 Stat. 890; 8 U. S. C. 151), when such requirements are applicable to the master of such vessel, and the owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or purser has complied with the requirements of section 35 of said act (39 Stat. 890; 8 U. S. C. 160), when applicable to him, and the master has delivered to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival a list containing the name of each alien employed on board the vessel at any time during the period of its employment in the service of the United States, and has certified that he has not knowingly employed on board the vessel any alien not included in such list, and that he will not knowingly employ on board the vessel any alien not included in such list between the date of the certification and the departure of the vessel from the port of arrival, and has delivered to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival a list containing the name of each alien so employed and specifying the cause of the absence from the vessel of each alien who was included in the list furnished the immigrant inspector at the port of entry, and has certified that the list contains the names of all aliens employed on board the vessel during the period of its employment in the service of the United States prior to the departure of the vessel from the port of arrival, and has delivered to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival the effects of each alien employed on board the vessel who died during the period of employment, and has delivered to the proper authorities at the port of arrival the money and effects of each alien employed on board the vessel who died during the period of employment in the service of the United States prior to the departure of the vessel from the port of arrival, and has caused the vessel to be properly inspected by the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, and has obtained a certificate from the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival that the vessel has been properly inspected, and has delivered such certificate to the collector of customs at the port of arrival before the departure of the vessel from the port of arrival, and has paid the cost of the removal of any alien who may be found on board the vessel at the time of its departure from the United States, or who may have been permitted to land temporarily and has failed to return to the vessel within the period prescribed, and has reported to the Secretary of Labor the cause of the failure of any such alien to return to the vessel, and has paid the cost of the removal of any such alien to the place from which he was brought to the United States, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of the vessel has been relieved from the payment of such cost by the Secretary of Labor, the master shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(As amended by act June 5, 1936, c. 546, 49 Stat. 1482; 8 U. S. C. 201.)

SEC. 16. (a) No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or quarantine requirements, until a certificate has been issued by the Secretary of Labor or by such immigration officer as the Secretary of Labor may designate, stating that in his opinion the landing of such alien will not be inimical to the welfare, economic or national, of the United States. Such certificate may be revoked at any time and the alien ordered deported in the manner provided by law. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States who fails to deport on board such vessel any alien seaman employed on such vessel who has been certified as provided in this section, or who has been certified and such certification revoked, shall pay a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien seaman so employed, and such alien seaman shall be deported in the manner provided by law. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of any vessel bringing to the United States any alien seaman employed on such vessel who fails to report the illness or injury of any such alien seaman, or who fails to deliver to the immigration officer at the port of arrival a certificate from a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service or a medical officer of the service of the country to which the vessel belongs, or in the absence of such officers from a reputable physician, stating that in his opinion such alien seaman is not suffering from any contagious disease, a statement of the sanitary conditions existing on board the vessel while such alien seaman was employed thereon, and the name and address of each alien seaman employed on board who has been left behind, shall pay a penalty of $500 for each such alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers or a permit to depart from a port of the United States while any penalty imposed by this section remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of a claim for remission or mitigation of such penalty upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such penalty, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit such penalty or any part thereof upon such terms as he may deem proper and consistent with the public interest and with the provisions of existing treaties between the United States and foreign countries. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of remission or mitigation of such penalty, or while any such alien seaman employed thereon who is required by this section to be detained is detained on board or otherwise by reason of the failure to comply with any of the requirements of this section. Such penalty shall be a lien upon the vessel, which may be enforced by libel in rem in the district court of the United States for the district in which the vessel may be found. The word "vessel" as used in this section shall be construed to include all types of water craft, aircraft, and amphibious contrivances used in navigation, irrespective of whether propelled by machinery, sail, or otherwise.

(b) If the Attorney General shall be satisfied that the immigration officer at the port of arrival was deceived or misled in the issuance of a certificate in favor of any alien seaman, or if he shall be satisfied that any alien seaman has been permitted to land temporarily or has been temporarily detained in the United States because of the negligence of the master of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel has sailed from the port of arrival before such alien seaman could be returned on board, but shall be detained by the immigration officer at the port to which such vessel is destined, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such alien seaman has been returned on board, and the cost of the maintenance of such alien seaman while detained, and the cost of his return to the port of arrival, and the cost of his passage from the United States to the country to which he belongs, shall have been paid to the collector of customs at the port of arrival.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspectors boarding the vessel at the port of arrival and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list or manifest of aliens or alien immigrants required by section 12 of the act of February 5, 1917, to be delivered to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival (Form I-418) shall not be furnished or posted, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving seaman is a "non-quota" immigrant a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of arriving American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival like continuous the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, showing the locations they respectively held in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or entered, and discharged in the port of arrival; or lists containing so much of such information as the principal officers (agent shall determine, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel. Should a description of such alien, together with any information likely to lead to his apprehension, and penalty for the deficiency of any such vessel exceed 3 shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, at which the vessel may arrive, the name of such alien and the cause of his detention, if known, and the final disposition of his case. If any such alien has been landed from such vessel, the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof shall also furnish a description of such alien, together with any information likely to lead to his apprehension; and such master, agent, consignee, or owner shall furnish to such immigration officer, at which the vessel may arrive, the name of each alien employed on such vessel at the time of its departure from a foreign port or place, and not specified in the list delivered to the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival, and shall furnish information in regard to the cause for the absence of such alien from the vessel. If any such master, agent, consignee, or owner shall fail to comply with the requirements of this section, he shall pay to the collector of customs for the district in which the port of arrival is located a sum not exceeding $10 for each alien concerning whom complete information is not furnished, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to payment of such sum, or while any such alien remains on board thereof, unless or until such sum shall be paid or a bond sufficient to cover the same executed to the United States by a surety company organized under the laws of the United States or of any State, Territory, or District thereof, qualified to become sole surety upon official bonds under the provisions of an act entitled "An act relating to bonds of certain officers and agents of the United States, and for other purposes," approved March 2, 1911, or by two individual sureties, approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Every alien so arriving shall be examined by an immigrant inspector, and such examination shall be conducted having due regard to the decency and privacy due to sex, custom, and the like. Such immigrant inspector may detain for special examination any alien who arrives at a port of the United States on board any vessel, and such alien shall not be allowed to land in the United States except as provided in section 3 of this act, and shall be subject to such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien arriving on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such alien and not be contrary to the interests of the United States, he may, in his discretion, permit such alien to be admitted temporarily to the United States under such conditions as he may prescribe, irrespective of the class to which such alien is chargeable, but no such alien shall be regarded as lawfully admitted while in the United States.

(d) Every alien so arriving shall be subject to such physical and mental examination and such processing as may be prescribed by the Attorney General in accordance with the provisions of this act and the rules and regulations made thereunder. Such examination shall be made by immigrant inspectors, or boards of special inquiry, or boards of review, as the Attorney General may direct.

(e) Every alien who shall arrive at a port of the United States from any foreign port or place if found to be unlawfully in the United States shall, at any time within five years after such arrival, be taken into custody and deported in the manner provided by section 19 of this act, upon the warrant of the Attorney General, unless such alien shall be lawfully admitted to the United States or shall have become a citizen thereof.

(f) Any alien who shall, after his arrival in the United States, be found advocating or teaching the unlawful destruction of property, or who is a member of or affiliated with any organization entertaining a belief in, teaching, or advocating the unlawful destruction of property, shall be deported in the manner provided in this act.

SEC. 37. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the Panama Canal Zone or any insular possession of the United States (except Guam, Samoa, and the Virgin Islands of the United States) with any alien on board who is afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities described in section 3 of this act, or who does not appear to the examining immigrant inspector to be clearly and beyond doubt entitled to enter the United States under this act, shall be required to detain such alien on board such vessel at such port or place until a certificate has been issued by an immigrant inspector that such alien may be admitted to the United States or has been duly certified by the Secretary of Labor for special inquiry, and shall cause such alien to be detained on board or at such place as shall be designated by such immigrant inspector pending the examination of such alien by a special board of inquiry. Such detention shall be at the expense of the owner, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel, unless the alien is certified by the special board of inquiry within five days after the completion of the physical and mental examination of all aboard, in which case the cost of detention subsequent to the certification shall be borne by the United States. Such detention shall not exceed five days unless the Secretary of Labor shall determine that the circumstances require a longer detention.

(b) Any alien who shall arrive at a port of the United States from any foreign port or place and who is certified by the examining surgeon to be afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities described in section 3 of this act, or who does not appear to the examining immigrant inspector to be clearly and beyond doubt entitled to enter the United States under this act, shall be temporarily landed in the United States for observation and special inquiry in accordance with such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, but such temporary landing shall not be considered an entry into the United States within the meaning of the immigration laws.

(c) Any alien who shall arrive at a port of the United States from any foreign port or place and who is certified by the examining surgeon to be afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities described in section 3 of this act, or who does not appear to the examining immigrant inspector to be clearly and beyond doubt entitled to enter the United States under this act, shall be temporarily landed in the United States for observation and special inquiry in accordance with such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, but such temporary landing shall not be considered an entry into the United States within the meaning of the immigration laws.

(d) Every alien who shall arrive at a port of the United States from any foreign port or place and who is certified by the examining surgeon to be afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities described in section 3 of this act, or who does not appear to the examining immigrant inspector to be clearly and beyond doubt entitled to enter the United States under this act, shall be temporarily landed in the United States for observation and special inquiry in accordance with such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, but such temporary landing shall not be considered an entry into the United States within the meaning of the immigration laws.

(e) Every alien who shall arrive at a port of the United States from any foreign port or place and who is certified by the examining surgeon to be afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities described in section 3 of this act, or who does not appear to the examining immigrant inspector to be clearly and beyond doubt entitled to enter the United States under this act, shall be temporarily landed in the United States for observation and special inquiry in accordance with such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, but such temporary landing shall not be considered an entry into the United States within the meaning of the immigration laws.

(f) Every alien who shall arrive at a port of the United States from any foreign port or place and who is certified by the examining surgeon to be afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities described in section 3 of this act, or who does not appear to the examining immigrant inspector to be clearly and beyond doubt entitled to enter the United States under this act, shall be temporarily landed in the United States for observation and special inquiry in accordance with such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, but such temporary landing shall not be considered an entry into the United States within the meaning of the immigration laws.

(g) Every alien who shall arrive at a port of the United States from any foreign port or place and who is certified by the examining surgeon to be afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities described in section 3 of this act, or who does not appear to the examining immigrant inspector to be clearly and beyond doubt entitled to enter the United States under this act, shall be temporarily landed in the United States for observation and special inquiry in accordance with such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, but such temporary landing shall not be considered an entry into the United States within the meaning of the immigration laws.

(h) Every alien who shall arrive at a port of the United States from any foreign port or place and who is certified by the examining surgeon to be afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities described in section 3 of this act, or who does not appear to the examining immigrant inspector to be clearly and beyond doubt entitled to enter the United States under this act, shall be temporarily landed in the United States for observation and special inquiry in accordance with such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, but such temporary landing shall not be considered an entry into the United States within the meaning of the immigration laws.

(i) Every alien who shall arrive at a port of the United States from any foreign port or place and who is certified by the examining surgeon to be afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities described in section 3 of this act, or who does not appear to the examining immigrant inspector to be clearly and beyond doubt entitled to enter the United States under this act, shall be temporarily landed in the United States for observation and special inquiry in accordance with such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, but such temporary landing shall not be considered an entry into the United States within the meaning of the immigration laws.

(j) Every alien who shall arrive at a port of the United States from any foreign port or place and who is certified by the examining surgeon to be afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities described in section 3 of this act, or who does not appear to the examining immigrant inspector to be clearly and beyond doubt entitled to enter the United States under this act, shall be temporarily landed in the United States for observation and special inquiry in accordance with such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, but such temporary landing shall not be considered an entry into the United States within the meaning of the immigration laws.

(k) Every alien who shall arrive at a port of the United States from any foreign port or place and who is certified by the examining surgeon to be afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities described in section 3 of this act, or who does not appear to the examining immigrant inspector to be clearly and beyond doubt entitled to enter the United States under this act, shall be temporarily landed in the United States for observation and special inquiry in accordance with such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, but such temporary landing shall not be considered an entry into the United States within the meaning of the immigration laws.

(l) Every alien who shall arrive at a port of the United States from any foreign port or place and who is certified by the examining surgeon to be afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities described in section 3 of this act, or who does not appear to the examining immigrant inspector to be clearly and beyond doubt entitled to enter the United States under this act, shall be temporarily landed in the United States for observation and special inquiry in accordance with such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, but such temporary landing shall not be considered an entry into the United States within the meaning of the immigration laws.

(m) Every alien who shall arrive at a port of the United States from any foreign port or place and who is certified by the examining surgeon to be afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities described in section 3 of this act, or who does not appear to the examining immigrant inspector to be clearly and beyond doubt entitled to enter the United States under this act, shall be temporarily landed in the United States for observation and special inquiry in accordance with such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, but such temporary landing shall not be considered an entry into the United States within the meaning of the immigration laws.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival like continuous the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, showing the locations they respectively held in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or entered, and discharged in the port of arrival; or lists containing so much of such information as the principal officers (agent shall determine, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel. Should a description of such alien, together with any information likely to lead to his apprehension, and penalty for the deficiency of any such vessel exceed 3 shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, at which the vessel may arrive, the name of such alien and the cause of his detention, if known, and the final disposition of his case. If any such alien has been landed from such vessel, the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof shall also furnish a description of such alien, together with any information likely to lead to his apprehension; and such master, agent, consignee, or owner shall furnish to such immigration officer, at which the vessel may arrive, the name of each alien employed on such vessel at the time of its departure from a foreign port or place, and not specified in the list delivered to the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival, and shall furnish information in regard to the cause for the absence of such alien from the vessel. If any such master, agent, consignee, or owner shall fail to comply with the requirements of this section, he shall pay to the collector of customs for the district in which the port of arrival is located a sum not exceeding $10 for each alien concerning whom complete information is not furnished, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to payment of such sum, or while any such alien remains on board thereof, unless or until such sum shall be paid or a bond sufficient to cover the same executed to the United States by a surety company organized under the laws of the United States or of any State, Territory, or District thereof, qualified to become sole surety upon official bonds under the provisions of an act entitled "An act relating to bonds of certain officers and agents of the United States, and for other purposes," approved March 2, 1911, or by two individual sureties, approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Every alien so arriving shall be examined by an immigrant inspector, and such examination shall be conducted having due regard to the decency and privacy due to sex, custom, and the like. Such immigrant inspector may detain for special examination any alien who arrives at a port of the United States on board any vessel, and such alien shall not be allowed to land in the United States except as provided in section 3 of this act, and shall be subject to such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien arriving on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such alien and not be contrary to the interests of the United States, he may, in his discretion, permit such alien to be admitted temporarily to the United States under such conditions as he may prescribe, irrespective of the class to which such alien is chargeable, but no such alien shall be regarded as lawfully admitted while in the United States.

(d) Every alien so arriving shall be subject to such physical and mental examination and such processing as may be prescribed by the Attorney General in accordance with the provisions of this act and the rules and regulations made thereunder. Such examination shall be made by immigrant inspectors, or boards of special inquiry, or boards of review, as the Attorney General may direct.

(e) Every alien who shall arrive at a port of the United States from any foreign port or place, if found to be unlawfully in the United States shall, at any time within five years after such arrival, be taken into custody and deported in the manner provided by section 19 of this act, upon the warrant of the Attorney General, unless such alien shall be lawfully admitted to the United States or shall have become a citizen thereof.

(f) Any alien who shall, after his arrival in the United States, be found advocating or teaching the unlawful destruction of property, or who is a member of or affiliated with any organization entertaining a belief in, teaching, or advocating the unlawful destruction of property, shall be deported in the manner provided in this act.

SEC. 37. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the Panama Canal Zone or any insular possession of the United States (except Guam, Samoa, and the Virgin Islands of the United States) with any alien on board who is afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities described in section 3 of this act, or who does not appear to the examining immigrant inspector to be clearly and beyond doubt entitled to enter the United States under this act, shall be required to detain such alien on board such vessel at such port or place until a certificate has been issued by an immigrant inspector that such alien may be admitted to the United States or has been duly certified by the Secretary of Labor for special inquiry, and shall cause such alien to be detained on board or at such place as shall be designated by such immigrant inspector pending the examination of such alien by a special board of inquiry. Such detention shall be at the expense of the owner, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel, unless the alien is certified by the special board of inquiry within five days after the completion of the physical and mental examination of all aboard, in which case the cost of detention subsequent to the certification shall be borne by the United States. Such detention shall not exceed five days unless the Secretary of Labor shall determine that the circumstances require a longer detention.

(b) Any alien who shall arrive at a port of the United States from any foreign port or place and who is certified by the examining surgeon to be afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities described in section 3 of this act, or who does not appear to the examining immigrant inspector to be clearly and beyond doubt entitled to enter the United States under this act, shall be temporarily landed in the United States for observation and special inquiry in accordance with such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, but such temporary landing shall not be considered an entry into the United States within the meaning of the immigration laws.

(c) Any alien who shall arrive at a port of the United States from any foreign port or place and who is certified by the examining surgeon to be afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities described in section 3 of this act, or who does not appear to the examining immigrant inspector to be clearly and beyond doubt entitled to enter the United States under this act, shall be temporarily landed in the United States for observation and special inquiry in accordance with such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, but such temporary landing shall not be considered an entry into the United States within the meaning of the immigration laws.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master, thereof to deliver to the proper immigration officer at the port of entry a list or manifest of all aliens employed on board, which list or manifest shall be prepared in the exact form and manner prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, and shall contain such additional information relative to each alien as the Commissioner General of Immigration may require, which list or manifest shall be sworn to before a commissioner of deputy commissioner of immigration or other immigration officer at the port of arrival by the master of the vessel or by the purser, surgeon, or other officer of the vessel acting in the master's behalf. The master, purser, surgeon, or other officer of the vessel making the list or manifest shall certify at the footing thereof that he has caused the physical examination required by law to be made of each alien mentioned therein, and that to the best of his knowledge and belief each alien is correctly described therein. Any master, purser, surgeon, or other officer of the vessel who knowingly or willfully makes a false statement in any such list or manifest as to the foregoing matters, or any of them, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and on conviction thereof in any court of the United States shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any master, purser, surgeon, or other officer of the vessel who knowingly or willfully refuses to deliver to the proper immigration officer at the time of the arrival of the vessel at the port where such list or manifest is required by this section to be delivered, or who knowingly or willfully delivers a false list or manifest, or who refuses to answer any question put to him by the proper immigration officer concerning any alien carried in the vessel, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and on conviction thereof in any court of the United States shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any master, purser, surgeon, or other officer of the vessel who knowingly or willfully refuses to deliver to any immigration officer at the time of the arrival of the vessel at the port where such list or manifest is required by this section to be delivered, or who knowingly or willfully delivers a false list or manifest, or who refuses to answer any question put to him by the proper immigration officer concerning any alien carried in the vessel, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and on conviction thereof in any court of the United States shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any master, purser, surgeon, or other officer of the vessel who knowingly or willfully refuses to answer any question put to him by the proper immigration officer concerning any alien carried in the vessel, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and on conviction thereof in any court of the United States shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Immigrant Inspector.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of crewmen of alien merchant vessels (Form I-418) shall not be returned on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival. When an alternate vessel is a "motorship," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of alternate American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of an emergency rendering his detention on board dangerous to the life or safety of the vessel or those on board, or for the purpose of obtaining a passport, or for such other reasons as the Attorney General may prescribe, but in such cases only under such conditions as he may prescribe. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 168.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel, arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to detain on board the vessel any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Attorney General so to do, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit such penalty or any part thereof. $500 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the onward manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign outside contact, or that he was rejected by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to detain or deport alien crewmen by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman, he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master, charter to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival like conclusive the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and the ports at which they have touched during the journey, and such information as the Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to and make declaration before such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with any information likely to lead to his apprehension; and upon the completion of the unloading of the vessel it shall be the duty of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a written list containing the names of all aliens employed on the vessel who have not previously been reported as left the country, or concerning whom reports have been made to the commissioner general of immigration, and the intended destination of each such alien. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or master of any such vessel who shall refuse or neglect to comply with the provisions of this section shall pay a penalty of $10 for each alien in respect of whom such default occurs, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty, or while the same remains unpaid, except upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such penalty. (39 Stat. 886, 887; 8 U. S. C. 171.)

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws has employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or has been employed on board any such vessel during her last trip in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 108.)

SEC. 50. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, who fails to detain on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a bond with sufficient sureties to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. Upon such terms as the Attorney General may prescribe, he may remit or cancel any fine, or any part thereof, incurred under this section.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States to which he has contracted to depart, or shall depart from the United States on any vessel as a member thereof, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver such alien seaman on such vessel, and shall be punished by the fine and imprisonment provided in section 10 of this Act.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be cleared clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

SEC. 36. That when written of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold on the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and the ports at which they intend to leave the vessel; and such lists shall be delivered to such immigration officer at the time of the arrival of the vessel at the port of arrival; or if lists containing the names of all such aliens have been delivered to the collector of customs at the port of departure, and certified by him to the immigration officer at the port of arrival, then the master of such vessel shall deliver to such immigration officer at the port of arrival a list of the names of all such aliens who have been discharged or have died on board such vessel during the voyage, and the cause of discharge or death of each, and the name of each alien who may have left the vessel at any port in pursuance of the provisions of this section, and the cause of such departure, and the destination of each such alien, together with any information likely to lead to his apprehension; but before the departure of any such alien employee who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who will leave port thereon at the time of the departure of all alien employees who were employed thereon at the time of the arrival, the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer shall deliver to the proper immigration officer a further list containing the names of those, if any, who have been discharged or have died on board during the voyage, and the cause of such discharge, and the name of each alien seaman who has been signed on in the place of each alien employee so discharged or who died, and the name of each alien employee who has left the vessel at any port in pursuance of the provisions of this section, and the cause of such departure, and the destination of each such alien, together with any information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any vessel from any port of the United States, the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer thereof shall deliver to the proper immigration officer at such port a list of all alien seamen who have been signed on the vessel at any port or place in the United States, stating the name, nationality, last residence, and destination of each such alien seaman, the date and place where he was shipped, the name of the vessel in which he arrived, and the date and port of his arrival, and shall furnish such other information in regard to such alien seamen as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor. Upon the refusal of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel to deliver to the proper immigration officer, or his representative duly authorized thereto, any list required by this section in the manner and at the time herein specified, such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer shall pay to the collector of customs for the district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or a true report is not made as above required: and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such fine, and, in the event such fine is imposed, while it remains unpaid; nor shall such fine be remitted or refunded: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a bond with sufficient to cover such fine. (39 Stat. 886, 887; 8 U. S. C. 171.)

I hereby declare that the foregoing is a full and true list of all the crew, brought in said vessel from and port or place entered for present voyage, and that the information is given in accordance with the provisions of section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, entitled "An Act to regulate the immigration of aliens to, and the residence of aliens in, the United States," and that I have made a personal physical examination of each alien seaman as required by section 23 of said Act, and that I have found each alien seaman to be free from any of the diseases or mental or physical defects described in said section, except as follows:

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of shipwreck or other casualty or for the purpose of obeying a summons as the attorney general may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal or deportation of such alien from the United States, or for the purpose of participating in a public celebration as the attorney general may by regulations prescribe, and not then unless such alien is in possession of a valid passport and a nonimmigrant visa, if such be required by this Act or regulations made thereunder, or a waiver thereof, and unless such alien is in possession of a valid certificate of registry or a permanent certificate issued to him in accordance with the provisions of section 30 of this Act, or a special certificate of identity issued to him by the commissioner general of immigration, or unless such alien establishes to the satisfaction of the attorney general that he is clearly and beyond doubt entitled to enter the United States under the terms of section 3 of this Act, or any other law or treaty now or hereafter in force, or unless such alien is in transit through the United States in pursuance of an agreement between the government of the United States and the government of a foreign country contiguous to the United States, or is a bona fide alien seaman serving as a member of the crew of a vessel arriving at a port of the United States and seeking to depart therefrom with the vessel upon which he arrived (or upon some other vessel) and is in possession of a valid seaman's identity certificate or equivalent document prescribed by the attorney general, or is an alien lawfully admitted to the United States for permanent residence who is returning from a temporary visit abroad, or is an alien who has been lawfully admitted to the United States for permanent residence and who is returning from a visit abroad made necessary by the illness or death of a parent, child, husband, wife, or sibling of such alien, if such alien proves to the satisfaction of the attorney general that he has been so returning with reasonable promptness, or is an alien who has served honorably in the armed forces of the United States during the period July 1, 1947, to June 25, 1950, and who has been honorably discharged from such service, or is the spouse or child of such alien if accompanying or following to join him, or is an alien who has served honorably in the armed forces of the United States during the period July 1, 1947, to June 25, 1950, and who has been honorably discharged from such service, or is the spouse or child of such alien if accompanying or following to join him, or is an alien who has served honorably in the armed forces of the United States during the period July 1, 1947, to June 25, 1950, and who has been honorably discharged from such service, or is the spouse or child of such alien if accompanying or following to join him. Any alien seaman employed on any vessel which arrives at a port of the United States who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such violation occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The attorney general may, upon application in writing, remit such fine, in whole or in part, if he is satisfied that the vessel has left the United States and that the failure to deliver such alien seaman on board was not intentional or due to gross negligence. Any alien seaman employed on any vessel which arrives at a port of the United States from any place outside thereof, who shall remain in the United States after the vessel on which he arrived has departed therefrom, without the permission of the attorney general, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $500 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. This section as amended shall apply to all seamen arriving after its enactment. The attorney general may prescribe rules and regulations for the enforcement of the provisions of this section, and shall have the power to take and consider evidence concerning any matter which is material or relevant to the enforcement of this section and the administration of the Service in respect thereto, whether or not such evidence is or would be competent in the courts of law. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 1063)

SEC. 150.13. Limit of alien employees; when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the immigration laws and regulations applicable to the admission of aliens crewmen have been complied with, and the master or agent of the vessel has been notified by the district director that clearance will be granted. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel if the district director finds that the vessel has on board as crewmen aliens in excess of the number allowed by section 30 of the Act of 1952 (66 Stat. 206; 8 U. S. C. 1101), plus any persons transferred from another vessel which has been wrecked, the number specified in 8 CFR 251.2, 8 CFR 1951 Supp., or any persons for whom the master has been unable to obtain passports or other travel documents required by section 221 of the Act (66 Stat. 190; 8 U. S. C. 1201), plus any persons who have been ordered excluded from the United States by a special inquiry officer and with respect to whom no appeal is taken or the decision of the special inquiry officer is affirmed by the Board of Immigration Appeals, unless the district director finds that the vessel has left the port of departure with the number of crewmen specified in this section, or that the vessel has left the port of departure with the number of crewmen specified in this section, or that the vessel has left the port of departure with the number of crewmen specified in this section, or

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, but shall be retained on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the immigrant inspector at the port of departure.

(a) If the Secretary of Labor shall determine that any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue peril to the welfare of the United States if permitted to land, he may cause him to be detained on board the vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

(b) Section 23 of the immigration Act of 1917 is repealed, but shall remain in force as to all vessels [illegible] vessels, conveyances and aircraft, and as to all seamen, arriving in the United States prior to the enactment of this Act.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, where and where they were respectively applied or engaged, and specifying those to be paid off and discharged in the port of arrival; to list containing so much of such information as the Secretary of Labor shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, and to deliver to such immigration officer a description of such alien, together with any information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a list containing the names of all alien employees who were not employed therefor at the time of the arrival [illegible] way from foreign to the time of her departure, and also the names of those, if any, who have been discharged and left behind in the port, and the cause or reason therefor, and also the names of those, if any, who have left the vessel for any cause, with the time, place, and cause thereof. Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. The Secretary of Labor shall prescribe such rules and regulations as may be necessary for the enforcement of the provisions of this section, and may employ such additional inspectors as may be necessary for the proper execution thereof.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 6

PAR. 6. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the [illegible] required by section 36 have been furnished, and not then unless, notice of liability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to [illegible] prescribed by section 35 prompt deposit specified in Rule 55 has been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws has employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or internment to such destination as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the ultimate deportation, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside [illegible] who fails to detain on board such alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has completed such examination (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), or who fails to detain such seaman on board such vessel until such inspection or to deport such seaman if the [illegible] warrant that [illegible] shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to the payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign port or part of the same, or that he was temporarily by the master of such vessel as a necessity, shall be prima facie evidence that he was employed on board such vessel during her stay in port, and the burden of proof shall be upon the master or owner of such vessel to establish that such seaman was not employed on board such vessel during her stay in port.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall determine that any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue peril to the welfare of the United States if permitted to land, he may cause him to be detained on board the vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

(d) Section 23 of the immigration Act of 1917 is repealed, but shall remain in force as to all seamen, arriving in the United States prior to the enactment of this Act.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector portside the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list or manifest of alien passengers required to be delivered to the master of a vessel by section 12 of the Act of February 20, 1907, as amended, may be used for this purpose if it contains all the information required by section 30 of the immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 890; 8 U. S. C. 171), even though inasmuch as the list required by section 12 of the Act of 1907 is not required to be verified before a notary public or other person authorized to administer oaths, the verification required by section 30 of the Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 890; 8 U. S. C. 171) may be omitted from the list used.

I hereby declare that the information contained in the foregoing list is true to the best of my knowledge and belief.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place in North, Central, or South America, or adjacent islands, or between ports of the United States, or between ports of the United States and the Canal Zone, or between ports of the Canal Zone, or between ports of the United States and any of its insular possessions, or between ports of any such insular possessions, shall be permitted to land in the United States except temporarily for medical treatment, or unless specially admitted as a member of the crew of the vessel on which he arrived and shall be required to depart on such vessel or some other vessel: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, waive the provisions of this section in favor of any seaman who is a national of a country which does not impose similar restrictions on seamen who are nationals of the United States.

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the foreign contiguous territory of the United States, or any person bringing an alien to the United States from any place outside the foreign contiguous territory, who fails to deliver on board such alien seaman employed on such vessel duly the immigration officer at the port of arrival for inspection all seamen (whether such inspection is required by the immigration laws now in force or hereafter enacted) employed on such vessel, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such sum or while the same remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such sum, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit such penalty or any part thereof if he is satisfied that it was incurred without intention on the part of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel to violate the provisions of this section, and that such action will not be detrimental to the interests of the United States.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from a foreign contiguous territory, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver such seaman on board such vessel for departure.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to present for examination the proper vessel's manifest and crew list to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival, there to remain on board of such vessel until completion of the examination of the crew, unless otherwise directed by such officer, and to deliver to such officer, at the time of examination, lists or manifests of all persons employed on board such vessel, showing the full name, nationality, last permanent residence, and intended final destination of each alien member of the crew who intends to land in the United States, and such additional information relative to such persons and the vessel as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, and shall furnish to the proper immigration officer at the port of arrival any further information required by him as to the movements of the vessel while in port and as to the sailing thereof. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel who refuses or fails to deliver such lists or manifests, or who refuses or fails to furnish such information, or who presents or delivers incorrect or false lists or manifests, or who refuses or fails to present such vessel for examination, or who refuses or fails to detain on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has personally inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who refuses or fails to detain on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has personally inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who refuses or fails to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Attorney General so to do, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all vessels arriving subsequent to June 2, 1940.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was temporarily by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to detain or deport alien crewmember by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of such temporary illness as the Attorney General may prescribe for the alien's departure, removal, or deportation at such alien time from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside contrary to the provisions of section 13 hereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of such temporary illness as the Attorney General may prescribe for the alien's departure, removal, or deportation at such alien time from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all vessels arriving subsequent to June 2, 1940.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector posted at the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of cabin passengers of alien members of crews (Form I–418) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate seaman is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of returning American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all alien employees on such vessel, arranged the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those to be paid off in the port of arrival; or lists containing no more of such information as the Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe; and take from the master of such vessel a bond in the sum of $300 for each alien named in the lists, conditioned that the master will deliver to the proper immigration officer at the time of the departure of such vessel from the port of arrival a true list of all such aliens employed on board such vessel who have been discharged from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with information likely to lead to his apprehension; and also that the master will report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all alien employees who were not employed fourteen days at the time of the arrival but who will leave port fourteen days at the time of the departure, and also the names of those, if any, who have been discharged and the cause of their discharge, if any, who have deserted or landed; and in case of the failure of such owner, agent, consignee, or master so to deliver either of the lists aforesaid, he shall pay to the Attorney General the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or a true report is not made as above required, and in the event such fine is imposed, while it remains unpaid; not shall such fine be remitted or refunded: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. (39 Stat. 892–893; 8 U. S. C. 171.)

EXTRACT FROM 8 CFR 150

SEC. 150.15. Limit of alien employees; when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the lists required by section 36 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 898; 8 U. S. C. 171), have been furnished, and not then unless notice of intention to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to that prescribed by section 35 of said Act (39 Stat. 898; 8 U. S. C. 198) prompt payment thereof, the deposit specified in §§ 150.13–150.17, has been made.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924, AS AMENDED

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 14. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws has employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of shipwreck or other casualty, or by reason of the act of the master in compelling him to leave the vessel, or for such other reasons as the Attorney General may prescribe for the alternate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 188.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside contiguous territory, shall before such vessel shall be granted clearance by the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located (or, if there is no collector at such port, then by the collector at the most convenient adjacent port), pay to the collector of customs a tax of $8 for each alien seaman on board (other than an alien seaman employed on such vessel while touching at a foreign port in the course of a voyage originating at a port in the United States and returning thereto without touching at any port or place in foreign territory), or two tax of $12 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such tax, or while the tax remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such tax, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all vessels arriving subsequent to June 2, 1924.

(b) Every alien seaman who did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or who has been temporarily by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to detain or deport after employment by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.
